No, it generally has an error of vision as a cause. This error causes eye strain and the eye strain causes the squinting. To prevent the squint, start at the beginning —correct the error of vision. In most cases when that is done there is no more squinting. We have corrected many cases of this kind. Are you interested?

Heavy Loss of Property in Hamburg and Bremen— Flying Tiles Kill Two.

LONDON, Aug 12 (Canadian Press).—The tornado which swept through Eastern Holland Monday night with the loss of 12 lives and the destruction of several towns continued into Northern Germany yesterday. Meagre reports indicate further destruction was wrought to villages and farms in this sparsely populated district. Uetersen, 15 miles northwest of Altona in Schleswig-Holstein, is reported to have been almost completely demolished.

The storm continued to the neighborhoods of Hamburg, Bremen and Lubrect causing heavy property loss. Two persons were killed at Neuendeich by flying tiles from roofs, but thus far no other deaths are reported from Germany, although several hundred persons were injured by falling debris.

The record of loss of life in the devastated districts of Holland increased as communication with outlying villages grually was re-established. Deaths now number 12, the injured 400, and the homeless more than 2,000.

SUB STATIONS GIVEN CUSTOMS

Postal Service For Remote Sections Get Much Patronage.

MAY EXTEND SERVICE.

Since the postal sub-stations have been established it has been found that the conveniences which they give warrant their maintenance. Every facility of the large central office is available with the sole exception of the money order and postal note services and they will be adopted as soon as the bulk of business makes it advisable.

The conveniences of insuring parcels and obtaining stamps are alone the means of conserving steps for many in the remote sections of the city.

The four stations are so placed that they take in practically all of the outlying territory and as their presence is not as yet universally known, the list is given again:

Sub-station Number 2, at the grocery store of Fitzpatrick and Geraghty on Charlotte street, at the junction of Downey and Park.

BRITISH TESTING NEW AIR DEFENSE TORPEDO

New Zealander's Invention Directed From Ground By Wireless.

LONDON, August 12. — United Press. — In the hope of finding a successful defence against air raids in a future war, the British ministry next week will test a remarkable invention designed by Captain Any Roberts of New Zealand.

According to the claims advanced for this invention the torpedo can be sent in any direction in the air and manoeuvred through the ether as the man controlling the wireless apparatus on the ground below desires.

It is reported that the machine can wreak destruction in a radius of 100 miles and has a safety device to prevent the torpedo from exploding below a certain altitude.

YOUNG MAN DIED IN SUCCESSFUL RESCUE EFFORT

STRENGTH FAILED.

Got Boys Ashore, But Was Unable to Climb Out Himself.

SAINT ESPRIT, Que., Aug. 12.—(Canadian Press).—Drowned while saving the lives of his two brothers, the heroic sacrifice of 17-year-old Luc Vezina has just become known here. Vezina met his death in his successful effort to rescue Jean and Gerard Vezina, aged eight and ten years respectively.

The children had been playing on a raft and had suddenly been precipitated into the river. Attracted by the cries of two other children, Fernand and Oswald Gregoire, Vezina dashed to the river bank, and, without waiting to disrobe, plunged in. He succeeded in bringing Gerard back to the bank, and after some difficulty rescued Jean, who was going down for the last time. At this point, however, the strength of the brave young man failed him, and he disappeared from view.

His body was recovered half an hour later. Attempts at resuscitation were unavailing.

MURDERER WANTS HEAD CHOPPED OFF

Condemned German Prisoner Berates Counsel For Getting Him Reprieved.

BERLIN, Aug. 12.—Otto Leest, murderer and robber was highly indignant recently when German officials refused to "chop his head off," and instead commuted his death sentence to life imprisonment. He also berated the lawyer who saved his neck. He has no choice now, however, but to keep his head on for a commutation represents a sovereign act and may be annulled.

Leest had previously waived the right of appeal and insisted on being executed. In themeantime, and unknown to him, his counsel had petitioned for commutation, which was granted. The moment Leest heard of the change in sentence he became very much incensed and immediately wrote the following petition to the minister of justice:

"I won't accept this pardon and insist on having my head chopped off under all circumstances. It is I who have the right to decide about myself and not my lawyer. He is altogether too officious."

DWELLERS OF LONDON'S SLUMS REFUSE TO LISTEN TO AMERICAN APARTMENT SCHEME

Stepney Crowd Broke Up Meeting at Which Construction of Flats Was Proposed—Residents Oppose Health Department's Plans.

LONDON, Aug. 12 (United Press Cable).—Slum dwellers of Stepney, in London East End, broke up a meeting which had been called by the Ministry of Health at Limehouse Town Hall, Tuesday, to consider spending £2,000,000 for the construction of flats in the American style. They did not want flats and wanted to be left in their present houses, and they raised such a rumpus that the inquiry had to be abandoned for the day.

When testimony was offered that Stepney was one of the unhealthiest districts in London, they yelled "Rubbish, Rot"; when an inspector testified that their roofs were leaky and rain fell into their living rooms, they shouted out angry denials.

When testimony was offered that the district was covered with worn-out unsanitary houses, there was a long sustainend shout of "Liar." So the chairman adjourned the meeting.

Londons East End is notoriously the worst slum area in Europe and the Ministry of Health is determined to clean it up. But the attempt is being met by obstinate opposition by the residents. Their chieif objections are in being forced to move to some other area and then living in flats.

Many Stepney residents are against flats, because they cannot breed pigeons and chickens in them.

6,000 TONS LACKING.

EDMONTON, Alta., Aug. 12 — (Canadian Press).—It looks now as if there will be a shortage of the 25,000 tons of coal that Alberta mines were given the opportunity of shipping to Ontario. The Drumheller mines will be unable, according to reports, to make up their quota, the operators and miners having not yet come to terms on a new agreement. There is still something over six thousand tons wanting of the full amount and the special seven-dollar freight rate is good only to August 15.

Dunning, of Saskatchewan, is still silent in regard to negotiations for his entry into the Dominion Government which, it is understood, are in progress. He said that he did not know at present how long he would remain in Ottawa.

MORE TROUBLE FOR BALDWIN

Deadlock in Textile Trade in Yorkshire Succeeds Coal Dispute.

REFUSE REDUCTION.

LONDON, Aug. 12. — (Canadian Press).—Almost before it has finished with the coal dispute, the Government appears likely to become involved in another industrial dispute, the deadlock in the textile trade in Yorkshire, where nearly 200,000 operatives have been on strike for the past three weeks against their employers' demand for a reduction of 8.7 per cent. in wages. The men's leaders have refused to agree to any reduction whatever, but both sides have agreed to accept the findings of a court of investigation.

The employers want the men to resume work at a five per cent. reduction in wages, pending the report of this court of investigation. This the men refuse to do, and all efforts to find a compromise hitherto have failed.

HEIRS OF YPRES SHARE $250,000

Britain's Grant to Field Marshal Not Included in His Estate.

LONDON, Aug. 12 (Canadian Press).—In connection with the will of the Earl of Ypres, which was filed for probate yesterday and which makes no mention of the Earl's widow or his two sons or daughter, it is pointed out that by the state grant of £50,000 made in 1919 to the Earl in recognition of his war services, this sum is held in trust by public trustee for the beneficiary and his descendants and therefore is outside the scope of the estate disposed of by the Earl's will. The estate disposed of in the will is valued at £25,161, and is left entirely to Edward Geoffrey Cox, the Earl's solicitor.

FIVE POUND DIVORCE SUITS SEEM ASSURED

British Proposal To Extend Number of Divorce Courts.

LONDON, Aug. 12 (Canadian Press Cable).—Divorce for £5 appears to be assured by the Supreme Court's proposal to extend the number of assize courts at which divorce proceedings brought by any poor person and divorce suits which are not defended may be heard. "A poor person in the eyes of the law is one earning not more than £4 a week and whose capital does not exceed £100."

The new order, which is expected to come into operation on New Year's Day, applies to 24 provincial towns. It is calculated to obviate possible heavy travelling expenses of an appelant, who under the present rule must come to London or go to the nearest divorce assize court, either of which may be some considerable distance from the appellant's home town.

NURSES TRAINING IN CANADA BEST IN WHOLE WORLD

Canada Superior Also in Hospital Administration and Public Health Work.

NURSE RETURNED.

Miss Moag Was in Attendance at International Council of Nurses.

MONTREAL, Aug. 12.—(Canadian Press).—The superiority of Canada over the rest of the world in the matter of nurses' training schools, hospital administration, and public health work, was the fact that impressed her most at the discussions of the International Council of Nurses, held recently at Helsingfors, Finland, and from which she has just returned, according to Miss Margaret L. Hoag, superintendent of the Victorian Order of Nurses in Montreal.

Miss Moag expressed gratification over the reception of the 60 Canadian nurses who attended the conference and at the interest evoked in the representatives of other countries by the Canadian exhibits of books, maps and slides. She was struck by the progress made in Europe since the war in the matter of public health work and by the devotion of the nurses in the war-scarred areas who are still pioneering in this branch of activity.

A touch of color was contributed to the convention by Chinese and Japanese nurses in their Oriental dress, while present also, in addition to representatives from nearly every country in the world, were nurses from Lapland and Iceland. Miss Moag was full of praise for the hospitality of the Finlanders and the manner in which the delegates had been entertained.

The next quadriennial convention will be held in China in 1929.

NEW SOUTH WALES CAN BORROW MONEY

Will Not Join Loan Council as It Would Retard Development.

SYDNEY, Australia, Aug. 12. — (Canadian Press Cable via Reuter's) —In connection with the announcement that the New South Wales government had decided to withdraw from the Commonwealth Loan Council because that body had decided that the Commonwealth government should be the sole borrower of new money and that no other public borrowing should be made, Premier Lang, New South Wales, declared yesterday that his government had been guaranteed ten million pounds sterling in loans annually for three years with the promise of more if required. The Premier does not endorse the Loan Council's decision to stop borrowing because he claims it would affect the development of New South Wales.

BIG GROCERY MERGER TO JOIN TEN STORES IN PETERBOROUGH IN "RED AND WHITE" COMBINE

Move Expected To Spread All Over Province of Ontario.

FIGHT CHAIN STORE.

City Dealers Already Busy in Touching Up Store Fronts.

Next week will see the initial move of what may ultimately be the greatest grocery combine in the Province of Ontario when the Red and White Stores spring into active business, sponsored by the John Sloan Wholesale Groceries Compa:

In Peterboro there will be ten or twelve of the leading grocery merchants in all parts of the city who will come into the ranks of the Red and White Union, and and it is expected that the movement for union will spread throughout the province in every city, town and village. In Kitchener, Orillia, Barrie, Toronto and Peterboro the combine has a foundation and from these central points the branches will strike out. Other wholesale concerns, it is expected, will join the move by becoming affiliated with the John Sloan Company, but each concern will retain its individual character.

This concerted move will be an effort to counteract the inroads of the chain store into the territories of individual grocers, who will be fighting back with their enemies' weapons, which are admittedly mass buying and selling through the medium of quick turnover.

Already some of the grocery store managers have touched up their store fronts with the emblematic Red and White paints, and it is considered that by the latter portion of next week the stores will be ready for the campaign.

FIRE FIGHTERS GET UPPER HAND

Gales Have Died Down and Forst Fires Are Being Conquered.

RAINFALL NEEDED.

VANCOUVER, B.C., Aug. 12. — (Canadian Press).—After a week of desperate warfare against forest fires, settlers and other volunteer fighters are reported to be gaining an upper hand in nearly all sections of the province affected.

The gales which whipped forest fires into a fury during the week-end have died away, removing one of the worst obstacles in the way of the fire fighters. A rainfall would terminate the menace altogether.

The south side of the Fraser Valley yesterday was a vast smoulder ing cauldron, and unless the wind rises again to fan the embers into flames, the most fires which have swept Surrey and Langley in years will be under control.

Two returned soldier settlers in Surrey, fighting fires for a week which threatened to destroy their homes, have been taken to the mental hospital, crazed by the strain of continuous struggle.

SASKATOON, Sask., Aug. 12. — (Canadian Press). — Mayor Allan McFadden, of Star City, Sask., died yesterday at Lady Minto Hospital, Melfort, after a brief illness, resulting from the heat. He was born 58 years ago in Kirkfield, Ont., home of Sir William Mackenzie and Sir Donald Mann, with whose railway construction firm he was associated in his early life. He took an active interest in public affairs in the northern part of the province, and was a member of the delegation from Saskatchewan that visited Ottawa in April, 1924, to urge the completion of the Hudson Bay Railway.

MELBOURNE, Australia, Aug. 12 —(Canadian Press Cable via Reuter's).—"It is an authoritative endorsement of the policy supported by all the Dominions which cannot fail to awaken the Imperial Government and the British people to a realization of the necessities of their position and also to a realization that the feeling is Empire-wide," said Premier Bruce yesterday, commenting on the report of the Imperial Economic Committee. Information has been received with credence by mining men in Quebec, who point to the fact that rock formation in that part of Abitibi is similar to Ontario nickel belt formation.

Prospectors have been active in the district, staking claims.

LLOYD GEORGE SEEMS DRIFTING TOWARD THE GOVERNMENT PARTY

LABOR PROTECTION.

LONDON, Aug. 12.—Only Lloyd George was able to infuse any life into the attack on Premier Baldwin Thursday and it is significant that newspapers like oLrd Beaverbrook's which have been most persistent in denouncing the government, give especial prominence to Lloyd George's speech. Several of the parliamentary correspondents emphasize, too, that Tory back benchers enjoyed Lloyd George's speech to the full, and this has forced several Labor members to come to the rescue of Baldwin, a course which was not appreciated by the Liberal left wing, which thinks Baldwin did the right thing under the circumstances.

The drifting of Lloyd George towards the left and to Tories is thus continuing and arousing much speculation. Happily for the government, the reduction in the bank rate has come at an opportune moment, when the return to the gold standard is being violently attacked and will serve for the time being to stifle silencing of its critics.

Inquiry Board.

Having succeeded in getting the appropriations voted, the attention of the government will now be turned to the commission, which it promised would examine into the state of the coal industry.

The government is severely scored on a variety of grounds by editorial commentators today and Premier Baldwin is especially attacked for telling the miners and owners that no subsidy would be granted, and then granting one.

Aside from this, the Westminister Gazette charges that the government did nothing to avert a deadlock, although it saw it coming.

Declaring that the ministry lacks statesmanship and a sense of business, the Mail explains: "No wonder the country's business is suffering when its methods of administration are what they are."

Sweated Labor.

The Labor party, which is likely to be renamed the Socialist party at the next congress, will most probably endorse the action of their executive ins parliamentary and national labor parties, approving the protection against all imports produced by sweated labor.

Such imports would be refused admission to the country. The scheme was started by Tom Johnston, the Dundee member, and editor of Forward of Glasgow, and is supported by Wheatley, and now Philip Snowden, who is a staunch free trader, is among members who have endorsed it. Foreign manufacturers under this scheme would have to conform to hours and labor conditions laid down by the Washington convention. When labor returns to power it is expected to put its protection scheme into force.

ARMOUR KNOLL LIGHTED AGAIN

Last night, two automobiles, one carrying a large wooden cross, wrapped around with some old gasoline-soaked clothes, halted on Armour Hill about 10.30. The occupants got out and proceeded, with a great deal of deliberation, to erect a cross at the top of the hill. The work was not accomplished without difficulty, some of the initiates being obviously very much out of condition, but after much moil and toil, the cross was safely put up. At 12.20 a match was applied, and the whole affair went up in a blaze. Then like the Arabs, the entire delegation silently stole away, and when a policeman, attracted by the glare, came on the scene, he found nothing more formidable than two small boys who were revelling in the luxury of having a huge bonfire all to themselves. "The Ku Klux Klan," said some who saw the blazing cross from afar. "That is a signal that they have admitted an additional hundred members to their body." Every cross burned is an indication of a fresh hundred to the hooded order—which explanation has innumerable merits minus the not unessential one that it is not true. As a matter of fact, an Examiner reporter was informed this morning by one very much in the know that the exact strength of the local branch of the Order is 180.

Of course the law in Canada forbids the wearing of masks at night. While the Ku Klux Klan does not hide its light under a bushel, it is a very modest Clan, but the law unfeelingly says the handsome countenances must be open for inspection by any casual passerby. But there is no reason in the world why they should not wear hoods and sheeted dresses. In fact this is perhaps desirable as the use of sheets might act as a stimulus to a languishing industry. It is understood that the practice of wearing an old bedspread is frowned upon by the Chief Wizard. Regulation dresses are the thing for all true Klansmen, but so far the issue of free kits to the faithful has not formed part of the initiatory rites of either the Ku Klux Klan of Canada or the Ku Klux Klan of the British Empire.

Apropos of these midnight rambles, the suggestion is denied that the K. K. K. of either variety propose to amend the Scriptural phrase to "men love darkness rather than light because the sun hurts their eyes."

U. S. FARMERS TOLD ABOUT COMPETITION

Warrant That Newer Countries Cause Lower Buying Power.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 12 (Canadian Press) — Farmers in the United States must face increased competition from newer countries such as Canada and Argentine as well as reduced buying power in their former European markets.

Dr. E. G. Nourse of Washington, D.C., chief of the agricultural division of the institute of economics, warned members of the American Institute of co-operation today.

AN EVEN BREAK.

Travel Between Mexico and United States is Well Balanced.

CALEXICO, Cal., Aug. 10.—(Associated Press).—Figures released by the United States immigration office here showed that 9,830,708 persons passed through the Calexico-Mexicali international port during the fiscal year of 1924-1925.

Of 4,900,681 persons who travelled from the United States into Mexico, 3,627,883 were aliens and 1,281,778 were Americans. Statistics for the travel into the United States from the Central American country were 3,639,277 aliens and 1,281,770 Americans.

The heaviest travel through the port was recorded during the summer months of June and July and the minimum movement in February.

Compilations of the United States Customs Office here revealed that the total imports into the United States at the port during the last fiscal year amounted to $5,165,601, of which $1,447,369 were dutiable and $4,718,202 were free.

Exports to Mexico during the period of July 1, 1924, to July 1, 1925, aggregated $4,068,621 and collections at the port were $315,639.

IT PAYS TO ADVERTISE

SOFT COAL MINERS TO AIR GRIEVANCE

Agreement Broken and Wages Cut, They Allege.

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J., Aug. 12.—(Canadian Press).—The United Mine Workers of America expect that if there is any government intervention aiming to avert or shortening the hard coal suspension September 1, their grievances in the soft coal industry will be considered as well.

This was learned on reliable authority to-day.

Re-dress of alleged wrongs, growing out of what the miners say is wholesale wage-cutting and repudiation of the Jacksonville agreement in the bituminous coal territory, has become virtually the union's price of peace in the anthracite fields, according to this information.

COMPLETE ACCORD ON FRENCH REPLY

Briand and Chamberlain Reach Agreement on Note to Germany.

LONDON, Aug. 12 (Canadian Press)—Complete accord between Aristide Briand and Right Hon. Austen Chamberlain, foreign ministers of France and Great Britain in regard to reply to Germany regarding proposed security pact was announced in communique issued at two o'clock this afternoon by a member of M. Briand's staff.

The communique says: "Conversations between M. Briand and Mr. Chamberlain have resulted in a complete accord on terms of the answer which is to be sent by the French Government in agreement with the allied powers in reply to the latest note from the German Reich concerning treaties of mutual guarantee and arbitration.

"These conversations have furnished an occasion for exchange of views on the subject of the projected security pact. Such pact cannot take definite form until conversations have been engaged in on this subject between representatives of all interested parties.

Conversations in London have largely contributed in hastening the time for eventual conversations which it will permit of definite final results."

M. Briand and Mr. Chamberlain were luncheon guests at the French embassy where Winston Churchill, chancellor of the exchequer, was one of the guests invited to meet the French foreign minister.

ENGLAND'S NEW INDIAN POLICY

INDIA PROSPERS.

The important event in London was the announcement by Lord Birkenhead of the new English policy toward India.

Birkenhead pointed out that the experiment of partial self-government, begun in India six years ago, has been a flat failure, because of the opposition of Indian politicians.

He announced that England will not act in India as she acted in Egypt. She will not abandon India to the so-called "Nationalist" party.

"India is not an entity," said Birkenhead. "India is not a nation, but a group of nations. She is as much split up as Europe is, and can never have a national government.

"Our offer of a constitution to India has not been accepted. It remains inoperative and we must now consider what is next to be done. Everything will be thrown into the melting-pot."

Firmness Effective.

Already Lord Lytton, Governor of Bengal, has set aside the new Legislature of Bengal and is governing without its assistance. He was obliged to do this, to put down the secret terrorist societies that have recently sprung up in Calcutta.

In short, the India reform scheme, which was drafted in a hurry in 1919, has now come to an inglorious end.

A small handful of Indian politicians asked for home rule. They were given a certain amount of self-government. This they refused to accept and demanded that England should clear out of India, bag and baggage.

England has now learned that these Indian politicians represented only 1 per cent. of the people of India.

Also, she has learned that her offer of partial home rule has been taken as a sign of weakness; and a large section of India has become disorderly. There have been more riots and disorders, for instance, in the last six years than there were in the preceding 60 years.

Agents from Moscow have stirred up rebellion in Calcutta and Bombay. They have incited students to rebel against British rule. They have sent cargoes of arms and munitions into India.

Wiping Out Terrorists.

A bill to set up a special secret tribunal was introduced into the Legislature of Bengal. It was defeated, whereupon Lord Lytton set up a tribunal in defiance of the vote of the Legislature. This tribunal is now in full operation and is putting an end to the terrorist societies of Bengal.

The leader of the Home Rule movement—Chitta Ranjan Das, died recently, and this has left the home rulers in a bad way. Das was the Parnell of India. He was an able wealthy lawyer of Calcutta, who gave up his practice and his fortune to become the leader of the anti-British party in India. It was he who wrecked the attempt of England to give a representative system of government to India.

So, what with the passing of Das and the entry of Birkenhead, the whole situation is now changed, as between England and India.

Birkenhead has stiffened up Lord Lytton and Lord Reading, who are the resident Governors of India; and India's brief experiment in party politics will now be brought to an end.

Lord Reading, the present Viceroy of India, is now in London, conferring with Birkenhead. He will shortly return to India, and it is rumored that he will remain until 1927.

Never So Prosperous.

The fact is that India has never been as prosperous as she is today. Her credit stands high. And her 320,000,000 people are slowly moving up to higher standards of living.

Most of India's loans are now internal. She borrows what she needs from her own capitalists, instead of from London.

India is now the sixth largest commercial country in the world. She bought $440,000,000 worth of British goods in 1924.

She comes second to the United States as a cotton-growing country. She has 23,000,000 acres in cotton, and produces about a third as much per acre as American farmers do. She grows all the jute of the world and most of the tea, besides large crops of wheat, coffee and rice.

India is England's best customer. About 58 per cent. of all India's imports come from Britain; and 7 per cent. more from the British colonies.

India is only 5,600 miles from England. She stands half way between England and Australia. A journey from London to India now takes 15 days by train and steamship, and only five days by air.

In the matter of population, India is 70 per cent. of the British Empire. Take India out of the Empire and there would only be 140,000,000 people left.

Helping the Natives.

In size, India is 20 times as large as Great Britain, or seven times as large as Texas. There are only about 4,000 British officials in the whole of it and very few British soldiers. This means that the British hold India, not by force, but by the consent of the nations of India.

On the whole, it may be said that Britain is quite as useful to India as India is to Britain. Britain has built 38,000 miles of railroad in India, and done much to improve the condition of the people, most of whom live by the soil.

At the moment, the chief need of India is not more politics, but more new capital for railroads and irrigation. And now that the fires of sedition have burned themselves out, this new capital will, no doubt, be provided by London.

Elderly Woman Strangled Helping Push Automobile

PRESCOTT, Aug. 12.—(Canadian Press).—A most unusual automobile fatality occurred near the village of Hammond, when Mrs. Louisa Akin, aged 70, was strangled by her clothing catching in the rear wheel of a car which she was helping to push over a hill. The towing machine did not have power to haul it over the hill, and the driver asked the occupants of the car in which Mrs. Akin was seated to get out and push. She became entangled in the wheel, and when released it was found that her neck and back were broken.

RUM QUESTION SPLITS EUROPE

13 Nations, Each With Own Problem, Seeks Solution on Liquor Traffic.

The thirsty American and the thirsty Swede and Finn are brothers under the skin, and the minute temperance or abstinence is forced on any of them their minds turn to bootlegging, moonshining and hijacking.

Six years he has spent in Europe since the Armistice, during which he was able to make a first-hand study of the alcohol question in 13 countries, has led to this conclusion by George R. Witte, he says in the New York Evening World.

Undoubtedly the most sensible and at the same time the most efficient temperance system in Europe is that introduced in Sweden by Dr. Ivan Bratt, says the writer Under this system adults are allowed four quarts of "hard liquor" a month, but wine may be purchased in any quantity with the exception of sweet dessert wines.

Persons having meals in public eating places are allowed seven and a half centilitres, or about one good drink of whiskey, brandy or schnaps, with their lunch, and twice that quantity with their dinner. Beer is made in two qualities, one containing about 1.5 per cent. alcohol, the other 3.5 per cent. It is fairly hard to get bootleg liquor, but obliging hotelkeepers are only too willing to furnish guests who have been staying at their places for only a few days with the coveted "motbok" (monthly book), entitling them to the full monthly ration of four quarts of hard liquor.

Drunkenness Less.

According to the official figures given me by Dr. Bratt himself, drunkenness in Stockholm, the capital of Sweden, has dropped from 50.42 cases per 1,000 population in 1913, the year before the Bratt system became effective, to 19 cases per 1,000 last year.

Norway was completely dry for a year or two toward the end of the war, but she was not permitted to remain abstemious. The wine-producing countries, France, Spain and Portugal, which were accustomed to sell large quantities of wine to Norway, threatened to put an embargo on Norwegian fish products unless Norway promised to buy the same quantity of wines as in the days of yore. So Norway went wet again, prohibiting, however, the sale of whiskey, brandy, gin and liqueurs.

Finland is the only country that is supposed to be completely dry, but prohibition is everything but a success there. The bellhop, the hotel porter, or the waiter in the restaurant offers to supply you with any quantity and any kind of liquor at reasonable prices. The prohibition law is being violated so flagrantly in the big cities in Finland that the Women's Party wants to have it repealed, because "it inspires only disrespect for the law without attaining its real object—temperance."

Denmark Wet To Core.

Denmark is the only Scandinavian country that is wet through and through, but there, too, the question of prohibition threatens to become a vital issue before long, especially since the temperate labor elements became the most powerful political party. Of the other countries on the Baltic, Esthonia is about the wettest, one of her chief industries being the distillation of vodka from potatoes. Poland forbids the sale of wines and liquor between noon Saturday and 6 a.m. Monday.

In England the sale of liquor is restricted to certain hours, which vary according to districts. Even in the heart of London these hours are different. In the city of Westminster, for instance, liquor is on sale in shops and may be served in public bars and restaurants from 11.30 a.m. until 3 p.m. and from 5.30 p.m. and 6 p.m. until 10.30 p.m., respectively, so that every afternoon and night there is a mad rush across the river to the Westminster district for a final drink. There are no restrictions as to the quantity one may purchase and as to any particular kind of liquor. The big department stores, Selfridge's and Harrod's, do a thriving business in their spirits departments, and deliver any kind and any quantity of liquor at your door.

In Holland there are no restrictions, whereas Belgium forbids the sale of hard liquor. France is about the wettest country in Europe, drinks of all kinds being obtainable at every hour of the day and night.

In Germany the Workingmen's Temperance League, a Socialist organization, is rapidly gaining in membership, and it is more than likely that the question of restrictions on the distillation and sale of hard liquor will receive the serious attention of the Reichstag and the Parliaments of the Federated States of Germany during their sessions this fall and winter.

MONOPOLIES SWELL POLAND'S TREASURY

Profits This Year Will Be About 15 P.C. of Government Revenue.

NEW YORK, Aug. 12—The establishment of a match monopoly by the Polish government which, as recently announced, will be operated for a period of 20 years jointly by an American and a Swedish corporation, brings the number of state monopolies in Poland up to four. The others are alcohol, tobacco and salt.

Revenues from the existing monopolies during the first quarter of 1925, official reports received by the American Polish Chamber of Commerce show, amounted to $15,000,000. The budget estimates for the current year anticipate total net receipts from the existing monopolies exclusive of the match monopoly, at $78,000,000. Profits from the monopolies will constitute about 18 per cent of the government's revenues this year.

The alcohol monopoly is expected to yield $20,000,000 in 1925, the first year of its operation.

CLEARING BOGS WASTE OF TIME

Omemee People Say Work Was Not Properly Finished.

FISHING ONLY FAIR.

OMEMEE, Aug. 12.—A couple of months ago, the citizens of Omemee petitioned the Government to have the river dredged, and the bogs removed. In response to this petition, Harwood's steamboat, with three men and Mr. Killaly, the superintendent of the Trent Waterways, assisted by three local men of the village, was on the scene last week. The time allotted for this work was one week, and it was all spent on the bogs near Thomas Wood's, which were cut but not securely fastened and the guides and fishermen deem the time, labor and money expended was all for nought. Guide Parsons spent an afternoon towing logs for the boom. These were fastened to stakes driven into the loose mud and in the course of a day the wind washed them out and the bogs filled in the passage as before. Interested citizens are expressing much dissatisfaction at the work done.

Fishing Fair.

The fishing in Pigeon River is nothing wonderful at present, but enough fine specimens of maskinonge and bass are being caught daily to keep the interest among the fishermen alive. Messrs. Elmo Kalendar of Astabula and brother Leonard, of Texas, hold the records for catching the largest fish this season. Shortly after the season opened in June, Elmo arrived and was successful in landing a 22 lb. "maski." The joy was so great that he had it mounted in Peterborough, and sent home. On Sunday, he arrived at Fee's Landing accompanied by his wife and family, mother, father, sister and brother from Texas, and with Guide Parsons on Monday the brother hauled in a beauty measuring 40 inches long by 8 inches deep and tipping the scales at 17 lbs.

NEW WHEAT RESISTS BLACK RUST ATTACK

South Dakota Farmer Declares It Has Been Long Tested.

ABERDEEN, S.D., Aug. 12.—(Canadian Press)—R. S. McFadden, grain grower, announced yesterday that he had discovered a brand of wheat which he described as invulnerable to attacks of black rust. His discovery followed fifteen years' experimentation on his farm, and the success of his work has been tested by United States experiment stations, where his claims were borne out. The new blend of wheat is composed of a mixture of hard red spring wheat crossed with the emmer or spletz stem. This grain has stood six years of thorough tests, and during this time has repulsed every effort to inflict the rust.

NEAR SOLUTION.

LONDON, Aug. 12 (Canadian Press)—The conference yesterday between the Brtish and French foreign ministers, Chamberlain and Briand, assisted by their respective experts, resulted in almost complete agreement regarding the terms of France's reply to Germany's latest note on a security pact, and it is hoped the few remaining points will be settled today.

The terms of this reply, it is said, are intended to put an end to the exchange of notes between Berlin and Paris on the pact and to draw from the German government the direct suggestion of conference with Britain, France and Belgium.

Pool Suggested

Great Britain, Belgium and Germany are agreed, in the main, as to the form the pact should take. It would be a pool among the nations involved guaranteeing the eastern border of France, with the proviso that Germany should enter into the League of Nations and abide by its terms. Germany has some reservations as to entrance, which it is felt should be cleared in a general conference.

On the other hand, France has raised a difficult question in that she wants freedom to aid Poland militarily, without sanction of the League of Nations, in event that nation is attacked by either Germany or Russia.

Germans Object

This would mean that France would be free to send across Germany, in case of a Russian attack on Poland, French troops; in other words, she would obtain the privilege of sending forces through a presumably neutral territory. To this the Germans have objected vigorously, while the British have not sided so far with the French standpoint. In fact, it is reported that Britain is in favor of a passage in the pact which would put the problem definitely in the hands of the league, thereby stripping France of any power of individual initiative as to aiding her eastern ally.

BEATING THE LAW.

The great game in the United States today is "beating the law." A case in point is that of Russell Scott, convicted murderer. Scott's case was fought out in the lower courts, and in the appeal courts, without the results desired by his friends, self-appointed and otherwise. A fake telegram from Detroit managed to get him past the day originally set for the execution; then the bright idea occurred of having him put on trial to see if he had become insane since his conviction. It was the trump card, and it won.

Now the law-evaders can rejoice, and with them rejoicing are the law-breakers. Respect for law and order, at a low ebb in many parts of the United States, has been given another blow. A few more like it, and the country will be completely in the hands of the criminals.—St. Thomas Journal.

CAMP ROTARY.

Up at the splendidly situated and equipped Rotary Camp at Clear Lake a bunch of Peterboro youngsters are just now the guests of the Peterboro Rotary Club at what is for the majority of them the first real outing they have had in their young lives.

There are those who scoff at such things—"spoiling the boys by putting big ideas into their heads" was the way one critic was heard to describe the Rotary plan.

The fault-finders, as usual merely destructive, are wrong.

If the Rotary Camp did nothing more than give half a hundred boys a holiday under conditions hitherto impossible for them, it would be well worth its establishment.

But it does more than that.

It is an experiment in citizenship that deserves general support.

The opportunity is given to implant in fertile soil the seed of ambition, to fire the young mind with the ideal of service, to instil the spirit of play-the-game into boys, some of whom at least have not had a chance to learn the code of good sportsmanship.

Not all boys who go to Camp Rotary will feel the effect of this training—but if one in every ten does the camp experiment will have more than justified itself.

THE VETERANS' SUCCESS.

The local branch of the Great War Veterans' Association deserves general thanks for restoring to Civic Holiday something of what should be the real purpose of the occasion.

In recent years the occasion has come to mean a holiday on which Peterboro people showed their love for their home city by getting as far away from it as possible.

When no attempt was made to provide anything at home for their entertainment they could not perhaps be blamed for this desertion.

The Great War Veterans have succeeded in proving that a worth-while programme will keep many people in the city, and it is to be hoped that the experiment so energetically perserved in by the ex-service men will become a permanent feature in connection with Civic Holiday.

It is Peterboro's holiday—the only one in the year that can be claimed by this community as its own—and it is fitting that the occasion should be marked by a celebration worthy of the day.

The veterans have blazed the trail, have shown that the idea can be successfully put over, and it is not too much to hope that a programme such as given on Monday can be permanently adopted in connection with Peterboro's observance of its own day.

SHOULD CARRY LIGHTS.

Press despatches in regard to the tragedy in Lake Rosseau when a young Toronto visitor was drowned as the result of a midnight collision between the disappearing propeller boat he was driving and a larger power boat, do not say whether or not the smaller craft carried lights.

If it did not, it is not difficult to understand the accident.

There are too many small power craft running around without lights in this district, particularly at Stoney Lake, where many of the outboard motor and disappearing propeller type are not carrying the signals called for by the regulations.

It is true that they are noisy enough to sound a warning, but when two or three are humming in the same district at the one time it is difficult to accurately locate their whereabouts, and the absence of lights is a menace to the safety of the occupants of such boats and of those in canoes, while steamer crews have constantly to be on the alert.

The regulations provide for all such craft to carry proper lights, and in the general interest these regulations should be enforced, not only at Stoney Lake but in other waters around Peterboro, not excluding the Otonabee River, where, it is complained, that power launches have been operating at night without the signals set forth as necessary.

THE NEW BRUNSWICK RESULT.

Various causes are assigned for the turnover in New Brunswick, where on Monday the Liberal Government of Premier Veniot was badly beaten in a Provincial election in which two-thirds of the 48 seats were captured by the Conservative opposition.

To Ontario people, however, the chief interest of the result hinges upon the effect, if any, the verdict of New Brunswick will have upon the Federal situation.

There are those who say that the Liberal defeat in New Brunswick, closely following upon the landslide in Nova Scotia, will convince Premier King that his appeal to the country should be deferred as long as possible.

Ottawa despatches yesterday, however, seemed to indicate that the result of Monday's voting has not had any effect upon the plans of the Federal Government, and that before long an announcement of a Federal election before Christmas can be expected.

One outstanding feature of the New Brunswick campaign was the fact that the Progressive party is no longer a factor in that Province.

The Farmers, who held seven seats in the last Legislature, could only muster three candidates in this campaign, and not one was elected.

This development is significant because it justifies the assumption that in the next Federal fight the Progressive party, outside of its stronghold in the three Prairie Provinces, will not be a formidable contender—and there is reason to expect that even in the West the party of Hon. Mr. Crerar will not score as complete a success as in the last election.

SAVING MONEY.

Make one Province out of the Maritimes, and save money, says Le Canada, Montreal, in an editorial urging economy. Le Canada quotes the suggestion from other sources, and comments on it, calling the situation abnormal. The territory is small and the population less than one million, yet there are three Provinces, each with a Lieutenant-Governor, an expensive Government and an unwieldy Parliament.

The available figures bear out Le Canada's argument, says the Border Cities Star. Nova Scotia, with 523,837 people at the 1921 census, has carried a Government of ten, six of them without portfolios, an elected assembly of 43 members, and a legislative council of 21.

New Brunswick, with 387,876 people, at the last census, has a Government of eight and an elected assembly of 48. Prince Edward Island, with 88,615 people, has a Government of nine, six without portfolios, and 30 members in assembly and council.

That is only part of the cost. A vast network of civil service and law enforcement staff spreads out, and there are annual parliamentary expenses and election costs to boot.

Maritime Province interests are by no means identical, but they are not divergent enough to need three Governments. One Ministry of four or five, with an Assembly of about 30 could handle the situation much more efficiently than the present system, and leave the money they saved to be used in economic and industrial affairs.

But the Maritime problems are not always ours, and it is easy to sit back and tell them what to do. What of ourselves? In Ontario we have a population of about three millions (it was 2,993,662 at the last census) and a Government of 13, four of them without portfolios, while no less than 112 men are sacrificing themselves on the altar of public service as Assembly members, in return for an indemnity of $2,000 a year. We should have an Assembly of not more than 50 at the most, and a smaller Government, and we should set the Dominion authorities such a good example in economy that Canada would cut its Federal Government costs in half without any further delay.

Opportunities for economy do not lie with the Maritimes alone. They are over-governed and taxed far beyond reason, but other Provinces have the same amazing weight of Government extras and the Dominion itself has done nothing toward setting us a model. A million saved is a million earned, but it does not stop there. Every million saved can be put to productive wor and multiply itself. That is the beauty of well-directed economy. It builds.

THE RESERVES IN WASTE.

Three of Nature's raw products upon which the world industrially largely depends are rapidly being used up, although her known supply is still large and may easily be increased by new discoveries. These are oil, coal and timber. The first two are used for power and fuel, and the third, in addition to its use for structural purposes, is being increasingly used for the manufacture of newsprint—the paper on which newspapers are printed.

At the rate at which gasoline is being eaten up by millions of automobiles and auto trucks, by railways and steamships, aeroplanes and the war fleets of the world, the exhaustion of the oil fields, although possibly a good long distance off yet, is at least dangerously in sight. The area in Western Ontario, for instance, is largely depleted, and the Imperial Oil Company is constantly prospecting for other oil fields in Canada, and as they are discovered keeping them in reserve for the future.

All of us know how rapidly the visible supply of timber is diminishing, much more rapidly than the rate of growth. In fact, our forestry officials tell us that the loss from fire and parasitic diseases, decay and waste is quite equal to the total cut for commercial purposes. The product of a pulp mill is employed in the production of a single daily newspaper in New York. Where, when Nature has run her course in these respects, are the substitutes to come from?

It seems, however, that Nature, with the aid of man, is equal to all emergencies. When Germany was in search of nitrates for fertilizing and other purposes, when the outside markets were closed to her, her scientists discovered a process of extracting them from the air. Chemists have been long at work on experimenting for a substitute for gasoline in some modified form of wood alcohol or oils extracted from waste vegetable products, anything at all starchy in substance, nearly all of which, like the waste from pulp factories, is lost. The waste from kitchens alone is enormous, though utilization has not yet become economically profitable. Readers of Victor Hugo will remember in his "Les Miserables" how he lectured Paris on the waste of fertilizing wealth represented by the cloacal contents of its immense sewers.

It has just been announced that an Iowa chemist has perfected a process of making an excellent quality of paper out of cornstalks, which are all practically wasted if the crop is harvested for the cob. Iowa lets from 20,000,000 to 25,000,000 tons of stalks rot each year, and the whole of the United States about 100,000,00 tons. Each ton is estimated to be worth $50 for paper-making, and the inventor sees a way of dotting our western prairies with paper mills. It may even yet be possible to utilize the grain straw of that vast territory now being each year burned as waste, for compressed fuel or for the distillation of some useful by-product. It has been found to be too short in fibre to make other than wrapping paper, and, of course, the consumption of that is comparatively small.

In Sweden they are now using a by-product of pulp for coating the streets. The tides have been successfully harnessed for power purposes, although practical results in a large way are still in the future. Thereafter, the potential activities of the long years to come will largely depend upon what we now throw away as useless.—Ottawa Journal.

A THOUGHT.

THE SMILE HELPS

You may always expect some disagreeable surprises and should never be surprised when they come. With this thought in mind, you will be better fitted to face trouble with a smile.

And the smile is necessary, for when you scowl, you advertise your fear or perplexity and this you do not want others to know about.

By a smile, I do not mean a grin—I mean a smile that turns the curves on your lips—up.

When you look peeved or act cross over some disappointment your countenance is pretty good proof that you are licked.

The most serious, persevering and successful salesman I ever met, always smiles when things go wrong; and of course, he always smiles when things go right.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE.

To the Editor of The Examiner:

Sir: To the discoverer of the new high-powered microscope must be given the credit of at last discovering the cancer germ, the greatest triumph of the age and one for which the age was anxiously waiting. Last week's Illustrated London News has a picture of the microscope and, what is more important, of cancer itself. Cancer is the product of an extremely minute germ. Both the germ and the cancer are there for any one to see for the first time in history. What a relief that is to those afraid of cancer. It is now known why cancer is increasing so rapidly. It is contagious. The transference of one germ of cancer to the butter-plate would infect the whole table with cancer as with smallpox, diphtheria or consumption. Everybody eating out of the same dish, one of our good old customs, will have to go. The butter-plate would ook like a spider's nest with all the spiders at home when the new microscope gets at it.

The cure for cancer, that is the killer of the germ, is expected any moment. All quick-acting diseases, such as diphtheria and smallpox, are easily antitoxined. The slow diseases, like consumption, are harder to fight. Cancer will now meet its fate, but we will just go on slanging the doctors as before. Now we see why alcohol was considered by some a remedy for cancer. It acts as a powerful deterrent and is nature's best remedy which we throw away.

However, if you want to see the arch-enemy of the human race, cancer, caught in the act, just look at the Illustrated London News of last week. —Spectator.

Toronto, Aug. 8, 1925.

The Examiner, Peterboro', Ont.

Dear Sirs: My attention has just been called to an article in your issue of August 6th, in which you make certain statements concerning myself that are discriminating and frankly libelous.

1. You place my title, "Dr.", in this manner. I want to inform you that I hold the legal title Doctor from one of the largest colleges in the U. S. It is no self-assumed title.

2. You state I am the self-appointed Imperial Wizard in the Ku Klux Klan of the British Empire. This statement is a falsehood. I am not the Imperial Wizard of said Order, and will not be, but the Imperial Wizard will be a leading citizen of Canada and who lives in Canada and not in New York City.

3. You say I was expelled from the original Klan in Canada. The original Klan in Canada is the Ku Klux Klan of the British Empire that was organized at Niagara Falls in April 1924, or almost one year before the Ku Klux Klan of Kanada came into existence. On June 25th the Ku Klux Klan of Kanada sent out the following official notice:

"At a meeting of the Imperial Kloncilium held at headquarters on June 24th, 1925, Doctor J. H. Hawkins resigned from all connection with the Knights of the Ku Klux Klan of Kanada."

This was the official notice sent to all workers for the Klan of Kanada.

4. Your article states that the Ku Klux Klan of Kanada has a charter from the Government of Canada. This is untrue as any one can learn by investigation at th Provincial Secretary's office in Toronto. They cannot comply with the laws of the Province in re-securing a charter without swearing to false statements. They are not the original Klan but merely a copy of the Ku Klux Klan of the British Empire. Let your informant furnish dates and etc., that said charter was issued.

5. You say I was expected in Peterboro' but did not arrive as expected. This is untrue as I was not expected in Peterboro', had no appointment to be there and no arrangements had been made for any meeting. I did, however, hold a real Klan meeting at Marmora on Wednesday night. Possibly the organizer of the Ku Klux Klan of Kanada has been having some vivid dreams of a visit I might take to Peterboro' to give real information as to why I resigned from the Ku Klux Klan of Kanada, which would make interesting reading for the public.

In closing, I want to say that I will come to Peterboro' or to any other place that the organizer or his Imperial Officers will meet me and lay my hand squarely before the public if they will do the same, and if I am shown to be wrong, I will leave Canada on the next train out. I have demanded that they meet me time after time, only to have them refuse. Neither am I afraid to use my name and there is no law that prevents a man coming out in the open that I have ever been able to find in the Klan, and I am letting the people of Canada know frankly who and what I am. Will they do the same?

I am asking you in fairness that you will give this article, or correction, the same prominence that you gave the article on the 6th, publishing the picture of myself as you did then.

Thanking you for your action, which I think you will see is only justice to me, I am

—Dr. J. H. Hawkins,
Chief of Staff, Ku Klux Klan of the British Empire, P. O. Box 741, Toronto, Ontario.

TORONTO CATTLE

TORONTO, Aug. 12.—Trading on the cattle market yesterday was practically at a standstill. Two thousand cattle, mostly of common quality, were carried over from the day before. Buyers were picking up a few baby beeves and some canning cattle. Indications are that prices on the common cattle will have to be materially reduced before they will be sold, as packers are receiving heavy supplies of cheap cattle from the western markets.

There was a light run of calves for an active market, with the prices a shade higher than yesterday for good calves. Tops are bringing $11.

There is a weak undertone to the hog market but with a light run prospects are that prices will remain steady at $13.75 for thick, smooths and $15.08 for selects off cars.

The lamb market is strong to a quarter higher. The best lots of lambs are making $15. Sheep are steady.

CHICAGO CATTLE

CHICAGO, Aug. 12 (Canadian Press).—Cattle, 9,000; grain fed steers, mostly 12.00 to 15.25; top 16.00; paid for 1,406 to 1,515 pound averages; choice kind firm, in between grades closing dull, fairly active trade on liberal run of grass steers at 8.00 to 9.00; mostly 8.50 to 9.00 to killers; plainer kind downward to 7.00 and below; grass cows predominating at 6.00 downward; grass heifers 7.50 and below, mostly 6.00 to 7.00; light bulls lower; vealers 50 cents higher.

MONTREAL PRODUCE

MONTREAL, Aug. 12 Canadian Press). — Extreme dullness again marked the foreign trade in Canadian grain on the Montreal market yesterday. There was practically no demand from any source for any kind of supplies. The market for spot oats was quiet and steady.

The feature of the flour situation was the stronger tone displayed by winter wheat grades and prices were marked up 10 cents per barrel. The rise is attributed to the excessive buying of wheat from Ontario by United States buyers, who are in turn exporting it. Trading in spring wheat flour continued normal and prices were unchanged.

A few orders over the cable was the only business transacted on the millfeed market, but prices were steady. A fairly active trade was transacted in standard grades of rolled oats and the tendency was steady.

Receipts of eggs in Montreal yesterday were 2,198 as compared with 1,654 on the previous day and 1,246 on the same day a year ago. Trading in eggs was more brisk, most of the extra orders coming from local dealers. Prices were unchanged from the previous day.

There was a good export demand in the local cheese market and there was a fair amount of home trade done. Prices were unchanged. Receipts were 17,324, as compared with 11,722 on the previous day and 6,421 on the same day last year.

Receipts of butter in Montreal yesterday were 2,227 as compared with 2,312 of the previous day and 2,741 on the same day a year ago. Apart from a little export business trading was rather quiet, but prices remained firm.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, Aug. 12 (Canadian Press).—The wheat market showed sharp price reductions yesterday on the Chicago Board of Trade with the longs still hanging on and looking for sympathy.

Eastern houses poured a large volume of wheat into the pit and this was augmented by pressure from scared longs. While the close was well above the low for the day, the market showed a loss for wheat of from 3 7-8 to 5 7-8 cents as compared with the previous close.

Corn, oats and rye also fell off in the late trading. Corn closed 5-8c lower to 7-8c higher, oats ended 1 1-8 to 1 3-8 cents lower, and rye wound up 3 3-4 to 4 1-8 cents lower.

September wheat ended at $1.60 1-4 September corn at $1.06; september oats at 40 3-4c, and September rye at $1.07 1-2.

STERLING EXCHANGE

Sterling demand $4.85 1-8; sterling cables $4.85 5-8.

MODERNIST'S TRANSLATION OF CREATION STORY SAYS ACCOUNT IN GENESIS IS JEWISH FOLKLORE AND ITS HERO IS NOT THE SUPREME COSMIC GOD

Extracts From Yet Unpublished Book Tell Views of Eminent Professor.

ACCORDING TO JEWS

Attacks Credibility of Creation of Universe in Only Six Days.

By CHARLES P FAGNANI

The controversy between the Fundamentalists and the Modernists turns largely upon their opposing views of the first eleven chapters of Genesis, especially the first three. The former ask us to believe that what is therein contained is inspired of God and therefore absolutely true and historically trustworthy; that if we do not accept these stories literally we cannot be Christians, cannot join the Church, and, moreover, run the risk of everlasting condemnation in hell; that the results of modern science in almost every department, notably the universally accepted theories of evolution, are to be rejected because they conflict with the Bible.

Let us consider some of these things which are claimed to be divinely inspired, to see how far these claims are justified by the facts. We are told:

That the universe—all of it, planets, suns stars, nebulae—was created in six days. Is that credible? That this work was all completed only some 6,000 years ago. Is that credible? That God spoke the Hebrew language and gave names in that tongue to the light, the darkness, the earth, the seas, &c. Is that credible? That all species of animals were created separately and exist to this day unchanged. Is that credible?

All this and much more of the same kind the Fundamentalists believe as firmly as they believe in the multiplication table; and they demand that we shall believe such things or be excommunicated. For the sake of these tales they turn their backs on modern science and forbid that it shall be taught in the public schools.

Set Down as Folklore

Now what are the facts in the case? Genesis i-xi consists of myths and primitive folklore (much of it borrowed from Babylonian or other sources) which were current among the Jews. The god who is the hero of these stories is not the Supreme Cosmic God, the Father of the Lord Jesus Christ, in whom we live and move and have our being, but the tribal god of the Hebrews, according to their earliest and crudest conception of his character.

He is known by two names—Elohim, meaning god, in general, and Yaho. The latter is a proper name. He is only one god out of many. Every nation and people has one or more gods. The Hebrews were forbidden to worship any other god but Yaho, generally but less correctly given as Yahveh and Jehovah (better Yehovah). To use the word God or Lord God instead of Elohim or Yaho is misleading and disastrous. It conceals from the unsuspecting reader that the ungodlike sayings and doings recorded are those of an imagined aboriginal, primitive deity, not those of the God of the New Testament.

When the Fundamentalist quotes, impressively, "In the beginning God * * *," he does not know that it only means, "In the beginning Elohim * * * * *," the early god of the Hebrews as they naively conceived him. What has been said thus far has had reference to the English version of Genesis; but the English version is not the Bible—it is only a translation of the Bible, and a translation more or less imperfect and incorrect. The Old Testament is in Hebrew; and when the King James revision of previous English Bibles appeared in 1611 but little was known of the Hebrew language, and particularly of its literature.

Any serious conclusion as to the meaning, nature and value of the Old Testament—especially of such material as is found in Genesis, i-xi—must be based, therefore, not on an ancient translation, but on the study of the Hebrew original. No one is competent to speak with authority on any Old Testament matter unless he is able to read it in the language in which it was written.

Three Distinct Stories

Hence it is that the Fundamentalist and the ordinary Bible reader are ignorant of many facts such as these:

That the first chapter of Genesis ends in the middle of the fourth verse of the second chapter. That the word "create" does not mean to originate from nothing, but merely to form or fashion. That two clauses in the second verse of the first chapter belong elsewhere. That the first chapter and the second and the third are totally distinct stories, dating from widely different times. The second is not a continuation of the first going into greater detail. That Yaho is surrounded with a heavenly court of subordinate gods, whom he addresses when he says, "Let us make man in our image," and "Let us go down now and see." That "sons of God" is a Hebraism and means simply gods. That there is no such word as Jehovah.

It may confidently be averred that no one reading the stories of the origin of the Sabbath, the making of the first man, the Flood, the Tower of Babel anywhere else but in the Bible, would think for a moment of taking them for historical sources. Their naive and primitive character is too self-evident. No one would dare to claim them divine inspiration.

The mere unprejudiced reading of the first three chapters of Genesis, even in the English version, is enough to render unthinkable the position of the Fundamentalists. The warfare between science and theology would in a great measure disappear if these stories were stripped of the adventitious validity which comes to them as the result of being in the Bible and of being associated with God.

Christ's Religion Not Involved

The work of the Church in bringing Christ to men is enormously handicapped by associating with it the imposed belief in the veracity and historicity of what are patently early myths and naive childish, primitive folklore. It is of supreme importance to remember that a proper understanding of these stories, while necessarily working havoc with the ideas of Paul and the elaborate theology that is based on them, in no-

NEW TRANSLATION

When the first stage of the Tennessee evolution trial passed into history, it left behind, in more intense form than ever, a heated debate between those who believe in a literal acceptance of the account of the creation contained in the first chapters of Genesis and those who do not. Because the King James Version of the Bible is not an original account but a translation, a valuable contribution to the discussion is a scholarly examination of the earliest Genesis texts available in Hebrew, the original language of the Old Testament. What follows is an extract from a forth coming book, 'The Beginnings of History According to the Jews,' by Dr Fagnani, Professor of Old Testament Literature and Exegesis at Union Theological Seminary. The publishers of the book are Albert and Charles Boni. This extract is given as testimony and without editorial implication.

The following translation is made from the original Hebrew. This Hebrew text exists only in its traditional, or so-called Massoretic, form. This form was settled by the Jews in the first centuries of our era, and has remained fixed ever since. Originally this Hebrew text was without vowels, without separation between words, without verses, chapters or even, in many instances, without separation between books.

A suitable editing of the text for modern use, such as is made in the translation which follows, requires not only the proper marking of these various divisions, but also the removal from the main body of the text of notes, comments explanations, repetitions and the indication of transpositions, all of which are now indistinguishably and confusingly incorporated in one continuous narrative.

The terms "earlier" and "later" correspond to the generally accepted analysis of the documents of which Genesis is composed. "Earlier" refers to the Judean source, known as J, dating from the ninth century B. C. "Later" refers to the priestly documents or P, originating after the destruction of Jerusalem in 586 B. C. This analysis to "earlier," J, and "later," P, is one recognized by almost all Biblical scholars.

THE ACCOUNT OF THE CREATION

Day I—The First Work
(Gen. i, 1-5.)

At the beginning of Elohim's forming (2) the heavens and the earth, (3) when darkness was upon the face of the abyss, (4) Elohim said,

"Let there be light," and there was light.

Elohim saw that the light was excellent.

And Elohim separated the light from the darkness and he called the light Day and the darkness he called Night.

Evening came, and Morning came,
One Day. (5)

1. This Jewish story dates from the period after the destruction of Jerusalem, in 586 B. C., when the observance of the Sabbath became rigorous. Ancient material was adapted for the purpose.
2. "Forming"—The Hebrew word does not mean "create," in the sense of "creating out of nothing," it is practically a synonym of "make."
3. The omitted clause, "When the earth was waste and desolate," belongs in the following narrative. It describes an arid and desolate solitude such as the earth was when it had no water, vegetation or inhabitants. At first, when the story opens, nothing exists but the primeval deep, from which the earth, the dry land, is not separated until later.
4. The omitted clause, "And the spirit (or wind) of Elohim moved (?) upon the face of the waters," is a fragment from a different creation story wherein perhaps the world as an egg is represented as being brooded over by the power of Elohim.
5. The evening is mentioned first because the Jewish day began at sunset. The works of creation are separated into days in order to bring the Sabbath in as a seventh day. The refrain, which recurs at the end of each day, is simply a literary device to separate the works of creation into six parts; this made it necessary to crowd two works each into the third and sixth days.

Note: The first three verses might be paraphrased as follows:

"When there was nothing in existence but darkness and the abyss, Elohim began his creative work by saying, 'Let there be light.'"

When the darkness and the waters came that preceded the creation the narrative does not say.

Day II—The Second Work
(Gen. i, 6-8.)

And Elohim said, "Let there be a vault (1) in the midst of the waters to divide the waters. And it was so. (1)

Elohim saw that it was excellent. (2)

Thus Elohim made (3) the vault and separated the waters which were under the vault from those which were above it.

And he called the vault Heaven. (4)

Evening came and Morning came,
A Second Day.

1. The word "vault" should not be translated "expanse." It describes a solid partition holding in the upper waters.
2. This clause is missing in the Hebrew; it is found in the Greek translation at the end of the next verse.
3. The "making" of a vault is inconsistent with its origin by fiat. The same duplication is found in subsequent works; it comes from the combination of two different creation stories.
4. The clause "And it was so" has been transposed to its proper place.

Day III—The Third and Fourth Works
(Gen. i, 9-13.)

And Elohim said, "Let the waters under the heavens gather themselves together into one mass, (1) that the dry land may appear." And it was so.

Elohim saw that it was excellent. (4)

And Elohim called the dry land Earth; and the mass of the waters he called Seas.

And Elohim said, "Let the earth put forth verdure, plants yielding seeds, and trees (2) bearing fruit (3) wherein is their seed, upon the earth." And it was so.

Elohim saw that it was excellent. (4)

The earth put forth verdure, plants yielding seed of every species, and trees bearing fruit wherein is their seed of every species.

Evening came, and Morning came,
A Third Day.

1. "Mass"—This is the reading of the Greek translation; the Hebrew has "place."
2. The text adds "of fruit," which is probably due to mistake.
3. The text adds of "every species," by mistake from the next verse.
4. These clauses originally followed "And it was so" in the fiat form of the story.

Primitive Myths Do Not Concern Christ's Religion, Says Writer.

THREE STORIES

First, Second and Third Chapters Are Distinct Tales Widely Apart.

Day IV—The Fifth Work
(Gen. i, 14-19.)

And Elohim said, "Let there be Lights in the vault of the heavens to separate the day from the night; and let them be for signs of seasons, days and years; and let them be for lights in the vault of the heavens to shine upon the earth." And it was so.

Elohim saw that it was excellent. (1)

So Elohim made the two great lights: the greater light for dominion of the day, and the lesser light for dominion of the night: and the stars. And he set them in the vault of the heavens to give light upon the earth, and to rule over the day and over the night, and to separate the light from darkness. (2)

Evening came, the Morning came,
A Fourth Day.

1. This clause is transposed as usual.
2. The great elaboration in describing the function of the lights and their non-mention by name is due to polemic against astral worship.

Day V—The Sixth Work
(Gen. i, 20-23.)

And Elohim said, "Let the waters teem with living creatures, (1) and let birds fly about under the vault of the heavens." And it was so. (2)

Elohim saw that it was excellent. (3)

So Elohim formed the great sea-monsters, and all the living creatures (4) with which the waters teemed of every species, and every species of winged bird.

Elohim blessed them, saying, "Be fruitful, and multiply, and fill the waters in the seas, and let the birds multiply in the earth."

Evening came, and Morning came,
A Fifth Day.

1. The text adds "teeming things."
2. The words, and it was so are supplied from the Greek translation; they were omitted by oversight.
3. This clause is transposed from the end of the verse.
4. The text add. "the crawling things."

Day VI—The Seventh and Eighth Works
(Gen. i, 24-31.)

And Elohim said, "Let the earth put forth living creatures, (1) cattle, and crawling things and wild animals." (1) And it was so.

Elohim saw that it was excellent. (2)

So Elohim made the wild animals of every species, and the cattle of every species, and all the crawling things of the ground of every species.

Then Elohim said, "Let us (3) make Mankind in our image, (4) that they may have dominion over the fish of the sea, and over the birds of the heavens, and over the cattle, and over the wild animals, (5) and over the crawling things that crawl upon the earth."

And it was so. (6).

Elohim saw all that he had made, and behold, it was very excellent. (7)

Thus Elohim formed mankind in his image, (8) a male and a female he formed them. Elohim blessed them, and said to them, "Be fruitful, and multiply, and fill the earth and subdue it; and have dominion over the fish of the sea, and over the birds of the heavens, and over every living thing that crawls upon the earth."

Moreover Elohim said to them, (9) "Behold, I have given you every plant yielding seed, which is upon the face of all the earth, and all the trees in which is fruit (10) yielding seed; to you it shall be for food. And to all the wild animals, and to all the birds of the heavens, and to very crawling thing of the earth, in which is breath of life, I have given (11) every green plant for food."

Evening came, and Morning came,
The Sixth Day. (12)

1. The text adds "of every species", these words belong in the next verse.
2. These words are transposed from the next verse.
3. "Let us"—Elohim, coming to the most important of all his works, takes counsel with the other heavenly beings. Mankind is to be made in appearance like the gods.
4. The text adds "according to our likeness." This is a gloss, to soften the notion that man was actually the image of God.
5. "And over all the wild animals"—The text has "and over all the earth," which makes no sense, and is due to the accidental omission of the word for "animals."
6 and 7. These two clauses are transferred from just before the refrain.
8. The text adds, "In the image of Elohim he fashioned him"; note the change in the number of the pronoun; both statements cannot be original.
9. "To them" has been omitted by accident.
10. The text adds unnecessarily "of a tree."
11. The verb "I have given" needs to be repeated.
12. The definite article is used with Sixth Day, probably because it is the final day of the creative activity.

Day VII—The Blessing of the Sabbath.
(Gen. ii., 1-4a. 1)

Thus the heavens and the earth were finished and all their contents; (2) and Elohim having finished (3) all (4) his work which he had made, rested on the seventh day. (5)

Elohim blessed the seventh and declared it sacred, because in it he rested from all his work which he had formed. (6)

Such is the story of the origin (7) of the heavens and the earth. (8)

1. Note the incorrect division of the chapters. Chapter ii should begin properly in the middle of verse 4.
2. The word translated "contents" means properly "hosts," or "armies"; but in this sense it is used of the heavenly bodies only, and is not appropriate for plants and animals.
3. The text adds "on the seventh day," but the works were finished on the sixth day, which indeed is the reading of the Greek translation. The phrase is probably an accidental repetition of the same words later.
4. "All" is added.
5. The text adds "from all his work which he had made," a careless repetition.
6. The text adds after "formed, to make."
7. The one word translated "Story of the origin," mean literally "begettings, generations, genealogy," none of which is strictly appropriate here.
8. The text adds "in their being formed," probably to explain the unusual use of the word "begettings."

THE STORY OF ADAM.

The Making of the First Man.
(Gen. ii, 4b-6.)

At the time when Yaho Elohim (1) made the earth, (2) when the earth was waste and desolate, (3) when no plant of the field was yet in the earth, and no herb of the field had yet sprung up, for Yaho Elohim had not caused rain on the earth, and there was no man to till the ground, (4) then it was that Yaho Elohim moulded the (first) man (5) out of the ground and breathed into his nostrils the breath of life, and the man became a living creature.

1. The double name of the god is due to the fusion together of two narratives. Yaho (or Yahu) is the personal name of the Hebrews, by which he was differentiated from other gods, such as Chemosh, Dagon, Asshur, &c. Its meaning is not known. Elohim is generic; it is an abstract plural meaning "godhead."
2. "The earth"—The article, though omitted in the text, is necessary. The words "and heavens" follow, but the subsequent narrative says nothing about the heavens.
3. The sentence "When the earth was waste and desolate," from Chapter 1, 2, belongs here.
4. Verse 6, 'And an overflow (?) used to go up, from the earth and water the whole face of the ground," is probably out of place. It is inconsistent with the context, which implies aridity and lack of moisture, and belongs later in the description of the watering of the park.
5. The text adds "dust," but the word duplicates the statement "out of the ground."

The Man Is Put In a Park.
(Gen. ii, 8-9, 15-17.)

And Yaho Elohim planted a park in the East, and put there a man whom he had moulded. And Yaho Elohim made to grow from the ground every tree that is pleasant to the sight and good for food, and in the middle of the park the Tree of Universal Knowledge. (1)

An overflow used to go from the earth and water the whole face of the ground. (2)

So Yaho Elohim took the man and put him in the park of Eden to dress it and to care for it. And Yaho Elohim commanded the man, "Of every tree of the park you may freely eat; but of the fruit of the tree that is in the middle of the park, (3) you shall not eat of it; for at the time you eat thereof you shall be put to death." (4)

1. The narrative knows but one tree in the middle of the park. The "Tree of Life" comes from a variant story; this form of the story appears again in Chapter iii, 22.
2. "Tree of Universal Knowledge"—The text has "The tree of the knowledge of good and evil" (note, not "good or evil"). To know good and evil is a Hebrew idiom for knowing everything, having divine knowledge, omniscience. Yaho Elohim does not intend that his creature should enjoy the prerogatives of the heavenly beings.
3. This is Verse 6 transposed. The meaning of the word translated "overflow" is not certain; but it has to do with the lavish water supply of the park. A glossator, wishing to make more impressive the exceeding fertility of the park, and also from an archaeological interest in its location, adds Verses 10-14 (omitted), which state that, after watering the park abundantly, there was sufficient water left over to form the four great rivers of the world. Two of the rivers are the well-known Tigris and Euphrates; the other two cannot be identified.
3. This text has "The tree of the knowledge of good and evil," but this is an overslight, for the man is not supposed to know the mysterious virtue of the tree.
4. This is the regular formula for capital punishment.

(Gen. ii, 18-20.)

And Yaho Elohim said, "It is not good for the man to be alone; I will make him a helper as his counterpart." So out of the ground Yaho Elohim moulded all the beasts of the field (1) and brought them unto the man (2) to see what he would call them; and whatsoever the man (3) called them, (4) these are their names (to-day). And the man (5) gave names to all the beasts of the field (6), but for the man (7) there was not found a helper as his counterpart.

1. The text adds "and all the birds of the heavens," but this is probably a scribal addition.
2. "Unto the man"—The English Authorized Version reads, "Adam," but the Hebrew has the article. The name Adam, as a proper name, appears first in Gen. v; it does not belong in this narrative.
3. "The man," not "Adam."
4. The text adds a gloss, "living creatures."
5. "The man," not Adam."
6. A scribe has amplified the list by adding "to all the cattle, and to the birds of the heavens."
7. "The man"—not "man," the article of the Hebrew has been omitted by oversight.

The Second Attempt.
(Gen. ii, 21-25.)

Then Yaho Elohim caused a deep sleep to fall upon the man, (1) and while he slept he took one of his ribs and closed up flesh under them. (2). And the rib which Yaho Elohim had taken from the man (3) he shaped into a woman, and brought her to the man. And the man (4) said, "This female, (5) this time, is bone of my bones, and flesh of my flesh. She shall be called Woman, because she was taken from man."

Therefore does a man abandon (6) his father and his mother, and cleave unto his woman, so that they become one flesh. (7) Now both the man and the woman were naked, but they were not ashamed in each other's presence.

1. "The man," not "Adam."
2. "Under them," by a slight change in the text, rather than "instead thereof."
3. "The man," not "man," as in the English version.
4. "The man," not "Adam."
5. "This female," the word "this" is feminine.
6. The word "abandon" is a very strong word; why should a man completely forsake his father and mother? They are bone of his bones and flesh of his flesh, much more than his wife is. Perhaps the text originally read "The animals," instead of "his father and his mother."
7. The verse "Therefore does a man, &c.," are not the words of the man, but belong to the author.

PROCEEDING SATISFACTORILY IS ONLY ANNOUNCEMENT MADE ON SECURITY PACT CONVERSATIONS

Briand Was Received By King George Before Negotiations.

PROGRESS MADE.

Chamberlain Has Gone Over Proposed Note Word by Word With Briand.

LONDON, Aug. 12. — (Canadian Press).—The conversations between Aristide Briand, the French Foreign Minister, and Austen Chamberlain, the British Foreign Secretary, dealing with a security pact with Germany 'are proceeding satisfactorily.'

This was the laconic announcement made in a communication issued by the Foreign Office last night. It tended to confirm the impression prevailing unofficially that everything thus far is moving smoothly between the British and French statesmen with regard to a joint reply of their Governments to Germany's last note on the security problem.

M. Briand received the newspapermen at the conclusion of yesterday's conference. While he declined to answer questions in any detail, he said he was very much satisfied with the progress that had been made. He and Mr. Chamberlain had gone over the proposed French reply to the German note word by word, but they had not yet finished their task.

"But we hope to do so tomorrow," M. Briand added. "I expect to leave for Paris on Thursday."

The conversations are taking place under the best feeling on the part of the British, and with every desire to secure such an understanding as will make the security negotiations successful. The French visitors are guests of the Government, and prior to yesterday's conversations, M. Briand had a forty-minute talk with King George.

Visited Palace.

The King's action in inviting M. Briand to the Palace had not generally been anticipated. It is considered to have given a favorable start to the conversations. M. Briand was extremely gratified by the attention shown him by King George, who expressed to the French statesman his sincere hope that his visit to England would promote an amicable understanding between the French and British Governments.

It is assumed that Mr. Chamberlain will put no unnecessary impediments in the way of an agreement with France on the reply that is to be made to the German security note. His one anxiety is to get together a conference of the Powers concerned in the security question. In a recent speech the British Foreign Secretary expressed regret that the German note tended rather to a continuance of negotiations by writing than to a conference. Therefore, although difficulties may be experienced in agreeing to the French draft of the proposed pact, which has been submitted to the British Government for consideration, it is considered that this would not likely interfere with a prompt agreement on a reply to the German note.

In political circles there would be no surprise if during the present conversations, it were agreed to postpone for future negotiation difficult questions, such as whether the Council of the League of Nations should be the sole arbiter in possible future disputes arising under the proposed pact, as desired by Great Britain, but up to the present opposed by France.

M. Briand and his colleagues and all the officials concerned in the present conversations dined with Mr. Chamberlain last evening. The guests also included the United States, French, Italian and Belgian Ambassadors.

Beats Wife For Pleasure Is Plea Made In Court

The defence plea of Emil Schwartz, 48 years old, arraigned in a Chicago avenue court recently on a charge of wife beating, was that it "was his only pleasure."

The wife, Katrina, and a son, Emil, Jr., told Judge Phillip Finnegan that Schwartz, who has been living on the meager salary of the son, who is employed as a clerk, gets drunk on moonshine and returns to his home to beat Mrs. Schwartz. Saturday night, when the boy found his mother unconscious on the floor of their home from her most recent alleged beating, he called the police, who arrested Schwartz.

The judge fined him $200 and costs.

DOGS DEMONSTRATE AGAINST CITY TAX

5000 Cars Assembled By Owners Opposite Breslau Town Hall.

BRESLAU, Aug. 12.—Five thousand barking, yelping dogs of every imaginable breed, from Newfoundlands, to Pekinese, created a tremendous din outside Breslau Town Hall as a protest against the yearly tax which the city imposes upon dogs.

The owners marched through the town with their dogs in leash and some of the dogs bore placards with sarcastic remarks. The procession halted outside the Town Hall, where the dogs as if by command and to the delight of the crowd, raised their voices in unison and filled the air with their complaints, which will be investigated by the astonished city fathers.

W. S. CAPITAL SEEKS OIL CONCESSIONS

Agreement Contingent on Making Loan of Ten Millions to Persia.

BAGDAD, Aug. 12.—American capital will be mobilized for the exploitation of the oil resources of Northern Persia if Dr. C. A. Millspaugh, formerly of the United States state department, now financial adviser to the Persian government, succeeds in his mission to the United States.

Dr. Millspaugh is returning from Teheran to the United States, where he will confer with American oil interests about the granting of oil concessions in Persia. These concessions it is stated, will depend on the concessionaires making the Persian government a loan of $10,000,000. At one time arrangements were practically completed with the Sinclair Oil interests to take over the concession on this condition. This agreement failed over some details and the concession lapsed. Other American oil interests, it is understood, as well as some foreign companies, are now competing for the monopoly.

Persia is encouraging the investment of American capital for the building of railways, port facilities, and other public works.

FIRST PROPOSAL FOR REFUNDING BELGIAN DEBTS TO AMERICA WAS UNACCEPTABLE TO COMMISSION

Officials Say It Will Serve as Basis For Further Discussion.

TERMS WITHHELD.

Members of the Commission Refused to Confirm Moratorium Reports.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12.—(Canadian Press).—Belgium's first proposal for the refunding of its $480,000,000 debt to the United States was found unacceptable yesterday by the American commission.

Some officials said it was not at all surprising that the commissions were unable to agree on the first proposition put forward; that usually this becomes merely the working basis from which the negotiations proceed.

Attention was called to that an identical situation arose at the outset of the parleys between the British and United States commissions and thereafter a speedy agreement was reached. Some of those participating expressed the opinion that the present negotiations might be concluded by the end of the week.

In compliance with an understanding reached at the outset, members of the commission declined to discuss the terms which the Belgians had proposed, nor would they confirm reports that a moratorium had been included in the proposal.

The Belgian proffer of settlement was made at a joint session held early in the day. It was taken under advisement, and at a separate meeting later the United States representatives decided that the proposal was not such as might be expected to meet with the approval of Congress.

The Belgians were informed of this decision at a second joint session, and then adjournment was taken until to-day.

Postmaster General Asks Co-operation Of Public In Sending Toronto Mail

With the object of speeding up the sortation and delivery of letters and other mail addressed to Toronto, the Post Office Department has divided Toronto into ten postal districts or zones.

Local citizens and business people having relatives, friends or business connections in Toronto will be notified by their Toronto correspondents of the number of their Postal district, and the Postmaster General asks each and every citizen and busines concern to kindly co-operate with the Post Office to make the new system a success by always placing the number of the postal district after the word "Toronto" whenever addressing letters and other mail to Toronto.

For example, a letter for a person residing in Postal District No. 2, would be addressed:

Mr. John Smith,
196 College St.
Toronto, 2,
Ontario.

The figure "2" would be placed directly after the word "Toronto" For Postal District No. 3 the figure "3" would be written immediately after Toronto—Toronto, 3. District No. 4, would be Toronto, 4, and so on.

One thing is most important. Please remember that the full street and number address must always be given otherwise delayed delivery or non-delivery will result.

Help to expedite the delivery of your letters in Toronto by always placing the postal district number in the address.

Find Urn and Bangles Among Rhodesian Ruins; Experts Figure They May Be 10,000 Years Old

JOHANNESBURG, Aug. 12.—An ancient copper urn, containing five thick copper bangles, supposedly taken from the legs of dead slaves, has been found among the wonderful terraced ruins of Rhodesia. When exposed to the air the urn crumbled into dust.

The find is said to be of first importance archaeologically. The age of the urn which was found ten feet deep under alluvial soil, and which is the only man made article ever found in these terraced ruins, is estimated by the finder to be from 8,000 to 10,000 years.

The Ivanga district is noted for its ruins, which cover an area of sixty by forty miles. They consist of the remains of stone buildings, aqueducts and terraces. No clue has hitherto been obtained regarding the builders of these ruins.

South Africa has long been a centre for archaeological research and has yielded important discoveries in the last few months. Many scholars are inclined to look upon the region as the cradle of humanity as a result of the recent discovery there of a skull of a native who died a few weeks ago which corresponds entirely to the famous Boskop skull, one of the most primitive known.

The Taungs area is particularly rich in fossils of archaeological and anthropological importance, and is now being combed for data by several expeditions.

The Rhodesian skull found at Broken Hill, considerably farther north than Taungs, has been taken by some students to show the migration south of the ancestors of man who from the equatorial regions of Central Africa to the open forests and short grass plains of South Africa.

At the root of many a bad temper, there's a corn. It is hard to keep the disposition serene when a corn is jabbing and baiting it with pain. You can cover the tip of a corn with a match-head. But this tiny pain-center makes one feel mean all over—and act that way. Doctors know that a corn may irritate the whole nervous system—so the patient with a corn is told to use Blue-jay. SEWER TAXES ARE TOO HIGH

ROCK CONSTRUCTION.

CAMPBELLFORD, Aug. 12. — Some of the ratepayers on Second Street are objecting to the assessment of $2.85 per foot front for the construction of the sewer on that thoroughfare, and a communication signed by John Hall was sent to the Council Monday night, asking for a reduction. The property owners interested compare their assessment with that of the ratepayers on Market Street, which is $1.40 a foot, and on Sebastapol Street, where the rate is $2.71.

Members of the Council draw attention to the fact that it is unfair to institute a comparison such as the above. The assessment for the Second Street sewer, like that of the other has been based on the engineer's estimate of the Market Street and Oliver Road sewer is low because there is no rock on those thoroughfares.

The construction of the Second Street sewer has proved to be a laborious process, as there is rock from one end to the other. To make matters worse, there is about four feet of sand on the surface for a considerable portion of the route and this makes the task more difficult than if the excavation had to be made entirely through rock. When the rock in the bottom is blasted the sand on the top caves in, and it is useless to attempt to prevent this by putting in support timber, as these would be blown out by the explosions.

The excavation through the hill from Rear to Ranney Streets is 16 feet deep to reach the proper level, and this means a heavy expenditure of labor, especially when the other difficulties of construction are taken into consideration.

The by-law for the building of this sewer has already been passed, and the work is well under way. The members of the Council say that it is too late now to consider a request for a revision of the assessment. Second Street is one of the most desirable residential sections in town, and the installation of a sewef and waterworks will increase the value of property benefitted.

EX-KAISER SUES FOR PROPERTIES

NO SALARY.

"The House of Hohenzollern vs. Prussia" is the designation of the gigantic lawsuit which is being fought in German courts. Millions of dollars and a landed property of nearly a million acres are the prizes for which the ex-kaiser and his kin are fighting, while their former fief, the erstwhile Kingdom of Prussia is struggling to retain at least part of this immense wealth.

Now hat Wilhelm II is no longer emperor of Germany thepossibility is given of estimating the wealth of the ruler who but a decade ago was one of the most powerful kings of the world. An irreverent subject of the kaiser, Richard Lewinsohn, better known in Germany as "Morus," began the investigation into the fortunes of the former imperial, royal grandduccal and ducal families of the reich. This work has been taken up by several other writers, so that today the secret of howm uch the ruling families had cost Germany and ohw much they cost at present is revealed.

Generous Prussia

Strange to say, the kaiser had no salary for being Germany's emperor The amount of $720,000 he received annually to cover the current expenses of the imperial court was scarcely sufficient to defray the cost of his Potsdam household alone. And he had many households, manned by hosts of gorgeously attired courtiers and servants. Consequently, the kaiser had to depend upon his civil list which he received as the king of Prussia.

The Prussian kingdom was one of the most generous sovereignties in endowing her kings. At the beginning of the inineteenth century, when a yearly income of a million thalers was fabulous wealth the king was given a civl list of 2,500,000 thalers. This amount had been gradually increased until at the beginning of the world war the Prussian kings, who by that time had become German emperors, had an income of 4,560,000 annually. This amount was to cover not only the expenses of the imperial court and of the households of 40 Prussian princes and princesses, but also served as a trust fund of the Berlin Royal theatre and o fthe many agllerles and museums which the emperor had endowed.

The prevalent notion about the great riches of the members of the imperial family is refuted by learning that those princes who ranked at the bottom of the court register and who had small families received an annual civl lst of 30,000 marks, which is equal to 7,000. The highest amount received by a non-ruling member of the imperial family was $192,000 yearly.

Among the number registered at Fee's Inn, are: M. Payne and family, Mr. J. Hewitt and family, Mr. and Mrs. Regall, all of Ashtabula. Mr. and Mrs. Schelpe and daughters of Cleveland.

PRUSSIAN LADY M.P.'S ARE ABSENT MINDED

Jewelry and Gloves Left Behind—All Kinds of Ladies' Hand Bags.

BERLIN, Aug. 12.—Female members of the Prussian Diet it would seem are far ahead of their male colleagues in point of forgetfulness and losing things. A large blackboard, representing the Diet's lost and found office, bears testimony to the preoccupation of the lady parliamentarians. Feminine bags of every description are here reported to be found. They have ceased to be a problem, however, for in the course of time the personnel of the house has become so well drilled that they are now able to designate the owner of almost every bag at first sight.

Four pairs of women's gloves are not quite so easy to restore, any more than the string of pearls, a gold brooch, a ring, numerous handkerchiefs and a Chinese shawl. A silver drinking cup has for several days proved a source of much conjecture among male and female parliamentarians.

SCHOOL BY-LAW WAS LAID OVER

Hastings Council Has Not Yet Made a Decision About New School.

On the motion of Councillor Dodd which was seconded by Councillor Macdonald, the above request was granted. The new poles will be placed under the supervision of the streets committee. POLISH POST BOXES ROUSE RESENTMENT

Unnecessary in Danzic, Says President Sahm—Scorns Ineffiency Imputation.

DANZIG, Aug. 12.—There is no economic, commercial or business reason whatsoever why Poland should have her own postboxes in the harbor of Danzig, in the opinion of President Heinrich Sahm. Explaining the so called postbox conflict further for The Associated Press, Dr. Sahm, popularly known as the "tallest president of the smallest state in Northern Europe," said:

"Under the Treaty of Versailles the right is given to Poland to maintain her own postboxes in the harbor of Danzig. Mail arriving in Danzig and intended for Poland can be handled just as expeditiously by us as it can possibly be handled by a Polish post office in the port.

What we chafe under particularly is the implication that Danzig is on a plane with Chinese cities like Shangha, where the foreign residents have their own facilities because the natives are not, or have not been, adequate. Danzig is a proud Nanseatic town which resents such an imputation of inefficiency."

A further complication in the postbox question arises from Poland's contention that by the term "harbor of Danzig" is meant the whole city. The Danzigers hold—and in this they have repeatedly been sustained by the British high commissioner assigned to Danzig by the League of Nations to arbitrate disputes between Poland and Danzig—that the term was intended only to include the port proper.

KIWANIS VISITED LAKEFIELD AYPA

Rev. Wm. Allan and G. N. Gordon, of Peterboro, Were Speakers.

LAKEFIELD, Aug. 11.—Monday night the Kiwanis Club of Peterboro were the guests of the Lakefield St. John A.Y.P.A. and Kiwanian Rev. W. Cox. About one hundred and four people sat down to tables which were laid out in the Memorial Hall. The color scheme was blue and white, these being the Kiwanis colors. The proceedings were in charge of the able and popular president, Mr. C. D. Cook. The banquet was like any other of the Kiwanis affairs, abounding in the feeling of good fellowship and humour. The guest of the evening was introduced by Rev. Mr. Patterson of Peterboro, who in a few words wished to make known to them the Rev. William Allan, who is at present in charge of St. Paul's Church. Mr. Allan then rose amid general applause and expressions of good will. Mr. Allan expressed great pleasure at being present. He himself was a rolling stone, having the saying in mind, "A rolling stone gathers no moss, but it sometime managed to get a little polish in its roaming." He was a Scotchman and proud of it, having been born in the smallest county in Scotland, whose county town had the longest name. In speaking of the alleged meanness of the Scotch Mr. Allan pointed out that it was not meanness, but thrift. He delighted the company with numerous stories and anecdotes which he had gathered in his travels which included Australia.

Mr G. N. Gordon, M.P., then spoke a few words in which he welcomed Mr Allan. He touched upon the relation which Lakefield bore to Peterboro and said the day was not far off when Peterboro would be included in the suburbs of Lakefield.

Mr. Cook then called the company to order for the singing of "O Canada.' After the hall had been cleared, dancing was indulged in. During the evening the village band played for the guests in the village band stand, and their efforts were much appreciated.

Mr. A. La Rush took a slight stroke on Tuesday night. His condition is not much changed and little hope is held for his recoivery.

MOTORISTS HIKE BRIGHTON ROAD

ORLAND, Aug. 12.—Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Huycke spent the week end in Peterboro visiting friends and neighbors.

Many motorists from nearly every State of the Union are enjoying the excellent piece of county road from here to Brighton which is kept in the pink of condition by the vigilant overseer.

Mr. Dewey, who recently moved here and purchased a home, is making some minor improvements to the property since he has finished running an engine sawing lumber at the boom in one of Sam Clarke's, M.P.P., lumber mills. Mr. Dewey expects to go to Salem soon, where he will run an engine in the new canning factory there.

Farmers are very busy at present as the frequent rains have ripened all kinds of grains very rapidly and crops generally are excellent.

Carpenters are busy tearing down Marshall Tyler's barn and preparing for a raising early in the week. Mr. C. McDonald of Dundonald has the contract and is rushing the work to enable Mr. Tyler to house his crop.

Mr. Schiestel, a machinist from Kitchener, is here attaching a spraying outfit on the wind stacker of Willett Simpson's threshing outfit. The spray from this attachment so moistens the dust that danger of fire is practically eliminated. Mr. Simpson had a fire last season and nearly lost his whole outfit.

Rev. Mr. Woodland's congregation has nearly trebled since he assumed the pastorate here. He intends erecting a tent in the vicinity in the near future and conducting a series of revival meetings.

Walter Reycraft has completed a new hog pen and Marshall Franklin is getting material on the spot to build one too.

C.N.R. PLOT ENTERED.

Alpine Macnab, Station Master, Favors Lawn Competition.

Entries continue to pour in to the Secretary's office, for the Annual Lawn and Garden Competition to be held next week. Mr. A. McNab in entering the lawns at the Canadian National Depot has the following to say regarding the work carried on by the Peterborough Horticultural Society.

"It is very pleasant to hear our visitors enthuse over the lovely flower gardens in Peterboro and I believe these annual competitions have been largely responsible for getting many people started in this line. After they are once started the very love for the pastime carries them on to greater efforts, and the end is not yet."

Entries should be made at 358 George street. "Phone 1360. Classes published in previous edition.

There was a row among the caddies at the 'Swell-and-swank" golf club.

Now, all polite golfers know that rows among the caddies are not permitted. That is, in anything but undertones. This row was so far beyond undertones that the Caddy Master and the "Pro" seemed helpless to settle it and in a few moments half a dozen fat and jovial golfers were among the caddies, trying to stop the noise, which they managed to do. But the point at issue was beyond them. They knew even less about it than the boys.

Some of the boys said "Wess" Johnson had told them that a bird can count up to two, but can't count up to three.

Don Bonter was among the caddies and one or two other boys belonging to the Merry Men of the Greenwood, and sides had been taken in the dispute. It seemed to be the Merry Men of the Greenwood against the others.

A few quiet questions, asked by the jovial looking golfers, got it all down to this: Can birds count two but not three men?

Naturally, the golfing folks soon began to ponder over it and kid each other and laugh and argue about as loudly as the boys had done. They finally came to the point of asking "Who started this argument, anyway?"

"Robin Hood says so," said Don Bonter, "And he knows, 'cause I am Little John in the Merry Men of the Greenwood and I know him. he is Wess Johnson. An' he knows the woods too?"

That made everybody present laugh, but they wanted a little diversion, since almost everyone had done eighteen holes and Don was sent to fetch Wess over.

Wess came over, shy as a deer and brown as a nut, his face shining from recent washing and curiosity in his manner.

It did not take long to get to the bare facts.

"Wess" answered their questions as to birds counting, in this way.

"I don't know about all birds, but those Killdeer Plovers out in that field over there, certainly know one and two from nothing, and they can't count more than two, because they think that two is the same as several, and I have tried them."

Now, golfers go to golf clubs to play golf, and most of the times they do that very thing, but it is the odd incidents that make the spice of life and here was one of them.

The lad was with his back to the wall. The golfers could not exactly get what he was driving at and yet, they became very curious to know what it was all about, and Wess was at last told to prove it.

He invited the men to come over to the next field and to hide in the hedge brush along the fence. This they did, like a lot of school boys.

Next thing was to get a piece of sacking or such like and when it was brought, Wess made a sort of shanty or temporary tent, fairly close to the Killdeer nest. The mother bird was very excited and worried about the eggs, for the sun was still hot, though it was late afternoon. Wess worked fast.

He was at last safely concealed. The birds remained away from the nest.

Now, Wess called to the men to send one of their number over. A big golfer came to the blind and went in.

"Now," said Wess, "you stay here and watch them through the hole. I will go away and you see if they think we are both gone." Wess went away but the man reported that the birds knew there had been two in the blind and only one had gone.

Now, Wess sent three men into the blind and after some minute or two, two of the men were asked to come away with much deliberation, leaving the third man still hidden in the blind. This they did.

Just the moment the two men withdrew and got well out of the way, the Killdeer thought nobody was in the blind and went right back onto her eggs in front of that structure.

The golfers had to try the game over and over until all present were convinced that the Killdeer knew when there were two men in the blind, knew when one withdrew, knew when two withdrew, but when three men were in the blind, she got muddled up in her count, thinking all were gone when only two had come out.

Each time more than two went in the blind, if only one came out, she was afraid of the blind, but if two came out, she thought the blind empty.

Wess was vindicated and the golfers all went back to the clubhouse and talked their heads off to everyone there, about who knows two from three. They decided that the bird certainly could not qualify, and they also decided, that as golfers they were poor counters, except at counting the other fellows strokes, and that Robin Hood and his Merry Men of the Greenwood were far better bird finders than they were golf ball finders.

The above incident is more likely to be doubted than accepted and yet, I have done the very thing these golfers were shown by the lad.

One summer, while taking photographs of plover on the seashore, I sat in the blind for a long time after my assistant had retired from it, but still the birds would not come to the nest, which was within camera shot distance of the blind. I recalled my assistant and he retired again, but "nothing doing." Then we got the boatman to come and the three of us were in the blind. My assistant and the boatman retired but I stayed there and the birds, seeming to count two, were satisfied that all were out of the blind and they came right up to the nest.

YOUR HEALTH

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M.D.,
Former Commissioner of Health, New York City.

PHYSICAL ILLS FOLLOW MENTAL TROUBLES

Mental symptoms, like fear, sleeplessness and certain more serious troubles, might come from digestive or other physical causes. Today I want to reverse the picture.

There is no question that an overworked mind has its effect upon the body. There can be no doubt that monotony, fear of punishment, dread of detection for some wrong doing, remorse, unrestrained anger and other uncontrolled emotions, disappointment in business or in love, sorrow and shock from any cause—all these are factors in deranging the physical processes so that disease may result.

Since I pictured the digestive organs as being responsible for many mental states, I want to show now what a deranged or disturbed mental or nervous state may do to the stomach. This will indicate more strongly what I called the other day the Mental state and physical disturbances are chasing each other. In turn, either may be cause or it may be effect.

"Nervous dyspepsia" is the general term given to digestive disturbances which are thought to be due to an impaired mental and nervous state. Any symptom of this nature is spoken of as a "neurosis." There are endless numbers of neuroses and many of them relate to the stomach.

The stomach neuroses are divided into various groups. The first is the "motor neurosis."

Before you can understand what I mean by motor neuroses I must tell you a few things about the stomach and intestines. The walls of the digestive organs include a layer of muscle. Digestion is accomplished in part by a churning motion of the stomach walls. There is an alternation of contraction and relaxation. This produces a kneading and mixing of the stomach contents. The intestines have the same muscular power, the contractions running along in waves. This causes the intestinal contents to be carried downwards and outward.

There may be a motor neuroses which shows itself by speeding up the action of the stomach muscles, forcing the food out of the stomach before the juice of that organ have completed their work.

There is a disagreeable neurosis in which the muscular and the food appear to be reversed and the food is returned through the gullet to the mouth. In vomiting, this process is violently performed.

Belching of gas, with rumbling and gurgling in the intestines, is another motor neurosis. Hysterical or very nervous persons are quite likely to suffer from it. Nervous vomiting is simply an aggravated form of the same neurosis.

Space does not permit going into detail regarding the stomach neuroses, but you can see how unpleasant they are. They can be remedied only by building up the general health. Rest, change of scene and frequently change of occupation are essential to cure.

TOMORROW'S HOROSCOPE

By Genevieve Kemble

THURSDAY, AUGUST 13.

This may prove to be a day of mediocre achievement and interests, judging by the rather weak sidereal operations. The principal menace found in the figure for the day is the affliction of Mercury by Luna—a presage of trouble or misunderstanding brought about by letters, writings, publications or documents. These should be handled with unusual care and the signature should be affixed with every precaution. Likewise, the speech should be guarded, lest misunderstandings or misrepresentations cause annoyance. The tendency may be toward prevarication.

Those whose birthday it is may have a year in which annoyance or trouble may arise through the careless handling of papers, contracts or publications. Beware fraud or misrepresentation and affix the signature with extreme caution. A child born on this day may be clever and talented, but may require the most rigorous of training in the principles of veracity and honesty.

STREET NAMES

DUMBLE STREET.

Dumble Street was named as a compliment to one who is still in our midst, former Magistrate D. W. Dumble, K.C. Mr. Dumble is a native of County Wicklow, Ireland, and came to Canada with his father who settled in Cobourg in 1844. He graduated at Victoria University in 1861 and studied law under William Kerr, Q.C., Cobourg, and spent two years in the office of Chief Justice Harrison of Toronto. Called to the Bar in 1864, he came to Peterborough. His appointment as Police Magistrate followed some years later.

Mr. Dumble took a keen interest in national as well as local affairs. He contested West Peterborough as a Reform candidate, being defeated by a very narrow margin. He was a member of the Board of Education for many years, and it is generally conceded that much of the present high standard of our educational institutions is due to his labors in past years.

He has lived in retirement for several years at his home on Stewart Street.

WHERE THE BLARNEY STONE STILL STANDS

"Ah, but you have kissed the Blarney Stone," is a phrase that often greets the ear of the man who has turned a flattering phrase. The kiss of the Blarney Stone is supposed to kindle within you the impudence, the honeyed tongue that are essential parts of charm.

This magic stone is a piece of rock in old Blarney Castle near Cork, Ireland. There are many, many stories current about its origin. It is said that the stone was brought over by the Phoenicians who settled there. Then it is also said that some Carthaginian adventurers, enamored of the stone, carried it off and took it to Minorca, and later, when driven into Cork harbor by a storm, deposited it in its present home.

However, that may be, it now reposes in Blarney Castle and is the chief object of care in the venerable castle. All the guardians of the castle have acquired, by association, the gift of Blarney. They are practical jokesters who suit their replies to your questions to their opinion of you. If an elderly person asks them where to find the Blarney Stone, they will point out some stone near the entrance to the castle and say that some mischief-maker has thrown it down there. If a young and hale person asks the same question they will show him the real stone, situated about a hundred and twenty-five feet above the ground. They will tell him, furthermore, that in order to kiss the stone one must be held over the parapet by one's heels.

This is the famous Blarney Stone to which we casually allude so frequently. Whether or not it has the magic power attributed to it is a question that each individual must decide for himself. It is said that the inhabitants of the region about Blarney Castle are ample proof of the power of the stone. They have persuasive tongues. But that may be a natural gift rather than a gift of the stone in Blarney Castle.

GOOD NIGHT STORIES

By Blanche Silver

DOTTY SEES A HAPPY CHANGE

Dotty stood perfectly still watching the queer-looking bug swinging to and fro between two reeds at the edge of the pond.

"Doesn't he act funny?" she mused out loud. A tiny hand touched hers and Dotty looked down into a wee little smiling face. "Oh, Happy Giggles," she whispered, for fear of startling the queer insect between the reeds, "I was just wishing you were here. What is that poor fellow doing? See there. I knew something would happen! Look, I knew by the funny way he was wiggling he was going to split his suit. Help him, Happy Giggles. Poor little fellow."

"Poor little fellow nothing," laughed the elfin. "Why, Dotty, don't you know who that is?"

"Never saw him before that I knew of," Dotty took he head.

"Certainly, you haven't seen it," laughed the elfin. "Because, until now, Mrs. Dragon fly was just a larva living under the water all the time."

"Oh, dear; oh, dear," cried the poor little creature, hanging by her two pairs of front feet. "What ever shall I do? I've split my dress right down the back." And she began to cry.

"There, there, Mrs. Dragon-fly," said Happy Giggles kindly. "You mustn't cry. This change you are going through should be a happy change. The only way you will ever be able to see the world is to split that old pupa-ezse you have been wearing all this time and crawl out of it."

"Far from dying," laughed the elfin, "you are just beginning to know what life is, and it's a beautifulworld you will be able to see when your wings are dry."

Mrs. Dragonfly gave one final kick and jerk. Off came the old skin and she lay out on the stem of the reed, a tired, puzzled little creature.

"Oh, oh, oh!" Dotty exclaimed when Mrs. Dragon-fly stretched out her four pretty gauzy, lace-like wings in the sun. "What a beautiful thing you are. Your wings and long, slender body reflect the colors of the rainbow, and your eyes look like clusters of jewels. What a lovely creature you are."

"Am I really and truly beautiful, Happy Giggles?" asked the dragon-fly. "I have been such an ugly little larva for so long, I had almost given up hopes of ever being anything else but ugly. Will these gauzy wings hold me up in the air?"

"Of course they will," laughed the elfin. "Try them and see for yourself Just try them."

Mrs. Dragon-fly spread out her pretty gay-colored wings and with a happy laugh sailed away across the pond, right into the sunlight.

"Well, that's the very first time I have ever seen anything like that," Dotty laughed. "Thanks to you, Happy Giggles." But when she looked for the elfin, he too had disappeared Dotty laughed softly and went on with her play.

SOLUTION OF YESTERDAY'S CROSSWORD PUZZLE

READ THE WANT ADS

THE FIGHTING RANGER

By F. J. McCONNELL and GEORGE W. PYPER.

With another worldly-wise glance, Stella added:

"You're a lawyer—you know what I mean."

Taggart gripped his desk, and asked savagely:

"Is this straight?"

Taggart quickly pulled himself together tried to conceal his nervousnesss and said with affected calm:

"I'd just as soon this evidence did not come out."

"Aren't you his friend, and attorney?" Stella asked.

"Friends and attorneys sometimes have interests which conflict with those of their clients," Taggart answered. "In this case it happens that any jury would convict Marshall on the evidence against him. His conviction would give me ownership of the Bar M Ranch —and I have certain very good reasons of my own for wanting to obtain that property."

"I think I understand," said Stella, looking at him shrewdly. "I'm buying an apartment house myself—in Bisbee. I could use $25,000 awfully well."

Their eyes met understandingly. After a moment's thought Taggart said:

"If you will forget all about Black Benway, I'll raise the cash before night. Agreed?"

Stella nodded approval, said:

"I'm stopping at the Hotel Rio Grande."

Then she glided out of the office, Taggart staring after her, his face crossed by bewildering anxieties and mistrust.

CHAPTER 16.
Topaz Taggart's Love.

When Mary came to Taggart's office that afternoon he greeted her with an air of kindness.

"I'm so sorry," he said. "But the judge refused absolutely to give bail. It's hard to get on a murder charge, you know, and especially since your father has been a fugitive for so long".

Mary's face clouded with disappointment.

"Still, don't worry," Taggart hastened to add. "Trial has been set for one week from today—and then we'll get him free." He smiled reassuringly. "You can count on me to do everything—everything possible, to win this case—for my old friend."

Mary's face still betrayed her anxiety.

"But—but if the case should go against us—if they find him guilty?" she cried, and broke down in tears.

Taggart came over to her and patted her on the shoulder.

"There, there," he said, "we'll get him off." He paused, then added, "Of course, in these matters, you never can tell what a jury may do—and there is always the chance, however remote, that the verdict will go against us."

Taggart's huge, uncouth hand continued to pat her, and he said, "Even then—if that should happen—I don't think it will, but if it should—you, Mary—you can count on your father's old friend, Topaz Taggart."

Becoming aware of the meaning behind Taggart's advances, Mary stopped crying, wiped her eyes, and looking at Taggart, asked,

"Has Terence returned from Latigo yet?"

Taggart frowned.

"No, I can't think what is detaining him," he answered. Then, after a pause, he added, "Mary, I don't quite trust that O'Rourke. We shouldn't have trusted him with that money. I should not be surprised if the fellow shows up in his true colors now. He may have absconded with the money."

Mary arose, angrily.

"Why, Mr. Taggart," she exclaimed. "How can you say that? Mr. O'Roorke is absolutely trustworthy. And he's my fiance."

Taggart looked at her with affected sympathy.

"Yes," he said slowly, "I had observed —with sorrow—that you cared for him. That's why I have said nothing about my suspicions of him before. But I cannot help but feel that you are being deceived in him. Perhaps this day will prove I am right."

After a pause, Taggart, looking at Mary tenderly, said in a soft voice,

"Mary, haven't you seen that I—I your father's old friend, who has been protecting his interests all these years—I, who now am putting every force at my command into my effort to save your father's life—don't you see that I, too, love you, Mary? Why don't you put your trust in me, tried and true friend of our father's instead of this stranger, of whom we know nothing, this man who even now may be fleeing across the border with the last of your money?"

He seized her hand. Mary resisted him.

Taggart went on:

"Mary, from the moment you arrived here, I adored you—"

Mary interrupted him.

"Please, Mr. Taggart," she said, "don't talk like this. I appreciate all you have done and are doing for father and me, but this—well, you have surprised me so, and don't you see it is impossible—my heart is already taken. And I wish you would not cast reflections on Mr. O'Rourke. Oh, don't think me ungrateful to you—but you must see how it is. And now with father in this terrible trouble, and all these worries, I can't think, I can't —"

Taggart looked hurt, and said with tender resignment,

"There, there, Mary, I understand how you feel. I shall wait until after the trial—and by then you will know that old friends are the ones to trust, for whatever way the verdict goes, you will find me the friend you can depend upon, and the one who loves you."

"I must go back to father," said Mary, preparing to leave.

"I will let you know as soon as O'Rourke comes back—if he does," Taggart assured her, escorting her to the door. "And remember, Mary—whatever happens—Topaz Taggart is the one friend in all the world that you can count upon absolutely."

Half an hour later another visitor came to Taggart's office. It was Buck McLeod. He grinned triumphantly.

"It's done," he told Taggart.

"Good work," said Taggart rubbing his hands enthusiastically. "And did you bring me the—"

CHAPTER 17.
The Trial of John Marshall.

It had been a terrible week for Mary. Terence had not returned. Her faith in him was unshattered, but her heart was heavy with fears that he had been killed in an accident, or by bandits. Taggart had obtained a warrant for his arrest, but the sheriff's men had been unable to find any trace of Terence.

Weighed down with worries over the crisis faced by her sick and broken-spirited father, whom she visited each day in prison, in addition to fears for her missing lover, she was in a frantic state. Taggart continued to pursue her with his advances, and while she managed to put him off, she had to try not to offend him, for so much would depend upon the defense he would put up as her father's lawyer.

Taggart strove to raise himself in her favor, by having his men bring the cattle back to the ranch from the pothole where they had been dry gulched, telling her he had led a terrific battle with the cattle rustlers.

It was a day of torture for Mary.

The courtroom was crowded. All eyes were fixed on John Marshall, the prisoner, looking weak, weary and hopeless, sitting under guard of a deputy sheriff. Mary sat close by, tried to look confident, and to cheer him up. She studied the stern face of the judge, and the expressionless faces of the jury, tensely listening to the arguments. All seemed hostile to her. Even the spectators, it seemed, sided with the prosecution.

The weary hours passed—the wranglings of the lawyers, the drone of arguments, the examining of witnesses, and heated cross-questioning, the rapping of the judge's gavel for order—all the dreary routine of Justice in operation.

Taggart concluded his defense of Marshall, after a weak fight, and sat down beside Mary and her father.

"I have done all that I could," he told Mary. "We can only wait hopefully now."

She sobbed, and said nothing.

GERMAN REICHSTAG ADOPTS NEW TARIFF BILL AGAINST COMMUNISTS PROTESTS

Socialists Contended That Increased Protection Chiefly Benefitted Big Landlords — Higher Duties on Imported Commodities.

BERLIN, August 12. (United Press.) — The Reichstag to-day without discussion ratified the United States-German Commercial Treaty, which is based on the "most favored nation" principle.

It also passed the tariff bill over which there has been a bitter fight for many weeks.

Some opposition to the commercial treaty developed at first but the government succeeded in calming this, and ratification was assured some days ago when the foreign committee of the Reichstag approved it.

The tariff bill, the chief feature of which is levying higher rates on agricultural products and certain imported commodities like automobiles had been the target of communist obstruction for many days.

Communists and Socialists held that the tariff bill meant an increase in the cost of living by granting the big landlords of Germany added protection.

They argued that this would mean re-establishing them in positions of power and affluence such as they enjoyed under the Kaiser's regime.

Opportunities

There are unlimited opportunities in the great field of business for men who are properly trained.

The Bentley School of Accounting and Finance of Boston, Massachusetts, is the largest professional school of college grade in the world devoted exclusively to training men for the duties of office manager, auditor, cost accountant, comptroller, credit manager, and public accountant.

The demand in business is for specialists,—for men qualified to do some one thing particularly well. A large majority of the treasurers and many of the presidents of our large business corporations are products of the accounting department. In this department one has an opportunity to become familiar with all the activities of a business.

There is a demand for our graduates in both commercial and public accounting because of the reputation this School has for turning out well trained men.

To be Bentley-trained carries prestige in business

We are particularly interested in enrolling the clean-cut, upstanding type of man of pleasing personal appearance, fine character, and an abundance of common sense and ambition. Quality is far more important than number of students enrolled. It requires two years to complete our training.

If you are ambitious to fit yourself for a successful career in business, send for catalog at once.

VETERANS TO MEET IN TORONTO AUG. 13

Provincial Conference to Discuss Haig's Proposal.

The following was enclosed in a personal letter received yesterday by Col. A. P. Miller from Gen. Gunn requesting that it be published in the local paper:

Arrangements for the proposed Provincial Veterans' Conference to be held in Toronto, on August 19th, at 2 p.m. sharp, in the Veterans' Clubhouse, 41 Isaabella Street, are proceeding satisfactorily.

Notices have been sent by existing organizations to their branches throughout the province, but the committee in charge is anxious to reach all unorganized veterans. It is, therefore, urgent that existing Canadian Expeditionary Force Battalion organizations and other service organizations representing all branches of the service should send two accredited representatives from each such bodies to the proposed meeting.

It is proposed to discuss in a purely provincial way such topics as aims and objects, policies and principles of the proposed united organization, including the question of name.

The conclusion arrived at by this meeting will form the basis of the proceedings at the Dominion organization meeting to be held in Ottawa in October.

Lt.-Gen. Sir R. E. W. Turner, V.C., K.C.B., D.S.O., acting chairman of the United Movement for Canada, in company with Mr. E. S. Duggan, the Apustralian delegate to the British Legion Convention, will be present at the meeting in Toronto on the 19th.

In the meantime, any communications with reference to the meeting may be addressed to the Acting Trustee and Secretary, Brig.-Gen. Gunn, Postal Station D, Toronto 9, Ont.

JACKSON PARK CAMP RECEIVES THIRD GROUP OF CHILDREN FOR HEALTHY HOLIDAY UNDER PINES Wholesome Meals With Ice Cream Twice a Week—Doctors Give Service Free.

MANY PLEASURES.

Groups of Boys and Girls Have Numbered Between 50 and 60.

There is a happy family at Jackson Park Camp during these bright summer days. This is the third lot of children who have been entertained at the camp this summer, numbering in each group between 50 and 60 little boys and girls of the city, who otherwise would not have an opportunity of enjoying a healthy, happy holiday in the out of doors. In these groups the boys usually outnumber the girls, and their ages range all the way from five to about thirteen years.

Forty quarts of milk are used daily in the camp, five pounds of butter and a dozen large loaves of bread. Wholesome meals are given, with the porridge for the breakfast prepared the afternoon previous, a hot dinner at noon, and a lunch under the trees at half past four o'clock. Treats for the children are numerous. They have had ice cream on an average of twice a week this season, and "all day suckers" are another dainty provided often.

They line up in military formation for their morning and afternoon swims, the little boys going in in the morning and the little girls in the afternoon. One at a time, the lines dissolve at the word of command into a rapid run that ends at the line where the bathing suits are hanging, and they undress in the little "round tower" that used to be the camp kitchen. The bathing suits themselves are slowly dropping to pieces from constant use. On the boys in the morning and the girls in the afternoon, they are unfortunate articles of apparel that never have a proper chance to dry out and only constant and careful darning prevents them from disintegrating entirely before the season ends. An example of one of the little girl's attempts to help out the nurses in the darning operations disclosed some wonderful "cat stitches."

Tonsils Removed

An innovation this year is the visits of half a dozen physicians of the city, who give their time free to examination of the children as to health conditions, with subsequent visits to the hospital for the removal of tonsils and adenoids. The only cost to the parents, whose consent is obtained before the operation, is the hospital bill. Just whether this form of attention is welcomed with great glee by the children themselves is a question, but they appear to be healthy little mites with a special liking for the iodine bottle, which is tipped frequently. Many of the youngsters go about with brown patches on skinned knees and legs. Another favorite diversion is getting one's toe stubbed. Half a dozen of them indulged in this pastime during the past week or so.

Tooth-brush drill is another item of the day's programme that is religiously observed, but the happiest time of all is evidently the bathing interlude. The little things sing "Barney Google" in falsetto accents as they wait for their turn at the suits.

A small jokester among the boys carries about the tin picture of a cow to which he points as the photograph of himself, another boasts of getting away in the nick of time from a hornet's nest, through which has just pitched a stone, and another one points with pride to a mouth almost devoid of teeth in the lower jaw. A quiet little lad sits on a bench, watching the other children at play, his hand stroking the forehead of his pale little sister, reclining against his knee. A little lassie in a blue sweater babbles about her boy brother and sister, and "poor sick Mamma," and relates with pride that she goes to school and sits in some mysterious place called "the wall."

The little things like the Camp. They dispute for the privilege of waiting on table. There are "rest room girls," and "waitresses," and "servers," and "water boys," among them, and they regard their duties with pride. They have two popular guardians in the white robed nurse, Miss Margaret Stevenson, and the housekeeper, Mrs. E. Smith.

Bon Ami

Keeps white shoes looking like new!

Put it on with a wet brush—let it dry—then wipe it off with a dry cloth. You'll find that all the dirt, dust and grass stains have disappeared. Just the fresh original whiteness remains—without any pasty, chalky streaks.

When the original whiteness finally has worn off your shoes, clean them first with Bon Ami, then apply a good white dressing. This avoids the ugly, grimy, clogged-up appearance.

Bon Ami also cleans windows, mirrors, white woodwork, aluminium, kitchenware, bathtubs, etc.—in fact, it has scores of uses throughout the house.

ADVICE TO GIRLS

By Annie Laurie

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE:

I am a girl eighteen and am in love with a man four years my senior.

He says he loves me, but he seems to pay more attention to other girls. What is your advice?

LONESOME GIRL.

LONESOME GIRL: Very often we hide our real feelings under a mask of indifference my dear. At any rate, this young man is more attentive to other girls than he is to you, you must not let him see that you are hurt by his. Be as cordial and friendly towards him as you have always been to the things which interest you and pretty soon you will have results. As soon as he notices that you are not disturbed by his lack of attention he will once more assume his natural attitude towards you—and our problem will be solved.

Annie Laurie will welcome letters of inquiry on subjects of feminine interest from young women readers of this paper and will reply to them in these columns. Letters to Miss Laurie should be addressed to her in care of this office.

DEARER THAN LIFE.

"But why don't you search that pocket, too?" asked Dugald.

"Because," said Angus, "if she ain't there I'll drop dead."

White Crepe Figured in Red and Blue Is Used for This Cool Tunic Frock.

Figured crepe continues to appear in smart little Summer frocks of every variety. The tunic version is perhaps the best liked of all.

This little tunic dress is quite simple and could be made at home. The material is a border crepe, white printed in red and blue squares, which grow smaller in size as they near the top of the tunic. The tunic is bound in blue.

The foundation skirt may be a straight affair, which is held at the waist by a belt of elastic. It might also be a plain straight slip, with which other tunics may be worn.

THE MYSTERY MAID

By Eleanor Hope

Alluring, provocative, lovely — she goes through life letting people know of her just what she wills. Never, never for one little instant can you find her off guard. Jealous of herself, lest someone know her as well, or nearly as well, as she does. Ever surrounding herself with that sphinx-like atmosphere that she has learned is her greatest attraction. One is always attracted by a mystery, but as soon as it is solved, the charm is gone. Therefore—she will never be solved. Even to her lover she will be somewhat of a riddle, and that is the way she will hold him. For even love soon tires when a man knows his subject too well. So keep the charm of mystery and you'll keep Love forever.

AUGUST APPLES

By BARBARA BROOKS

If someone should ask you what foods you consider typically American, apple pie would undoubtedly receive honorable mention. Pie is a favorite dessert and apple pie tastes especially good when made from the early apples. We have often wondered which apple pie is eaten for, the filling or the crust! Probably it is the delectable combination of the two which appeals to us—and you have only to watch dessert orders in any restaurant to know how strong is this appeal.

The flavor of early apples is good in sauce too. Wash the fruit and and cut it in quarters, removing the cores. Add water and cook until the apples are soft. Rub through a coarse sieve, sweeten with brown sugar and flavor with cinnamon. Add a little salt if desired.

Have you ever prepared apple sauce shortcake? Make a dough from a rich baking powder mixture. Bake, split, butter and put hot spiced sauce between the layers and over th top. Serve with maple syrup thickened with one tablespoon of flour to each cup.

The following cake and pudding recipes include apple sauce. They are delicious especially at this season of the year.

Apple Sauce Cake.

1 cup brown sugar.
1 cup raisins.
½ cup currants.
1 cup all-bran.
1 cup apple sauce.
2 cups flour.
1 teaspoon soda.
1 teaspoon salt.
¾ teaspoon cloves.
1 teaspoon ginger.

Cream shortening and sugar. Add raisins, currants, all-bran and apple sauce. Then flour sifted with soda salt and spices. Beat well. Bake in greased tin in moderate oven. (350 F).

Corn Flake Charlotte.

2 cups sweetened apple sauce.
Rind of ½ lemon.
Juice from ½ orange or lemon.

In a buttered baking dish spread a layer of rather finely broken corn flakes. Cover with a generous portion of apple sauce and add fruit juice and rind. Top with corn flakes dotted with butter. Bake for fifteen minuts in hot oven (400F). Serve with whipped cream.

IN THE KITCHEN

By Jeanette Norton

MAKING USE OF AN OVER-SUPPLY OF VEGETABLES.

Every one who has a garden has a lot of stuff ripe all at once, that must be used or lost. If it is cucumbers they can be pickled. Tomatoes, squashes, cabbage, peppers, beets and other things should be pickled or canned.

One woman who has a garden puts up during the season two or three qaurt cans of tomato sauce every day. She pares the tomatoes, and makes the sauce solid, using no water, and seasoning it with salt and red pepper only. This saves a lot of work during the winter and she uses them for sauce, soup and other cookery. She also cans some whole and these she uses for salad after draining and chilling them. Last year she did a novel thing in the preparation of spinach.

Sweet Pickled Spinach.

Gather and cleanse as much fresh spinach as convenient. Put it into a kettle with a half cupful of water and cook for fifteen minutes; then drain and chop fine. Take a quart of vinegar and put into a pot with a large spice bag, a half bud of garlic, a whole onion and a whole pepper, with the seed cone removed, and one cupful of raw sugar. Boil gently for ten minutes, then strain. Return to the sauce pan and add sufficient spinach to allow the moistening of the mass with the vinegar. hen it is hot through can it in pintth jars and seal. This can be heated to, serve as a tasty vegetable dish, or made into little balls to use in an egg salad, or on toast rounds as a canape, with sardines or boiled eggs.

Baked Tomato and Eggplant.

Pare and dice two medium-sized eggplant, cover with salted water and bring to boiling point, then drain. Butter a baking dish and put in a layer of the diced eggplant, dot with butter, dust with pepper, salt, a teaspoonful of sugar and a quarter cupful of dry crumbs. Cover with sliced tomato then add another layer of the eggplant, and do as before, making the top layer of the tomatoes. On top dot with plenty of butter, dust with pepper and salt, sprinkle with a teaspoonful of sugar, then with a tablespoonful of crumbs and a tablespoonful of grated cheese mixed. Pour in the juice of an onion, juice of half a lemon and a quarter cupful of water mixed, and bake twenty minutes to a half hour. This is an excellent dish with lamb, hot or cold.

Fried Cauliflower.

Select a firm head of cauliflower, and after trimming it well slice down in medium slices, then let stand in salted water for twenty minutes. When ready to cook, drain and dry between linen cloths. Then dip each piece into beaten egg, then into seasoned dry crumbs, and fry in very clear fat or oil. Drain and serve on a hot dish with a well-seasoned cream sauce poured over it, or with a good, snappy tartar sauce. Garnish with fresh parsley and lemon quarters.

LOTIONS TO BEAUTIFY ARMS

Beautiful arms are lovely in themselves, and they are also the indications of a beautifully developed body.

There is a saying that the symmetry and beauty of a woman's arms can be taken as an indication of the symmetry and beauty of her body. Now, it is true that the woman who keeps her body evenly developed will have beautiful arms, as well as beautiful shoulders and legs and a good chest development.

In these days of athletics for women, we see very few normal healthy persons who suffer from scrawny, thin, undeveloped arms. It is also true that practically none of the exercises indulged in by women are strenuous enough to overdevelop the arms, so the modern, active woman has nothing to fea ino the way of knotty muscles.

The woman who swims in the Summer sunshine, or who plays tennis, will of course give her arms plenty of good wholesome exercise. She will also have to expose them to the sun and air, and she will find that they show the effects of exposure.

To my way of thinking, a tanned or freckled arm is by no means a beauty drawback. Many people prefer this type to the extremely white arm which shows that it has been protected from all exposure to the elements. Therefore, I advise you to think more of the healthy exercise you are giving your arms when you swim and play tennis than you think of the slight drawbacks which may lie in their contact with the sun.

If your arms become burned or tanned, try the following lotion:

Lemon juice	1 ounce
Strained honey	1 ounce
Cologne	1 ounce

Apply this lotion frequently—several times a day if you have the chance, as well as at night when you go to bed. The tan on your arms will tone down.

Here is a lotion to remove freckles, which, as all women who have them know, are more difficult to remove than tan:

Powdered borax	½ dram
Lemon juice	1 ounce

The lemon juice is rather strong in its action on your skin, so you may remove it after it has been on a few minutes with a good cold cream. Repeat this treatment often.

The summer girl who prides herself on her tan arms and neck may be glad to know that vinegar applied to the neck and arms will make them tan without burning.

BABY'S OWN SOAP
Best for Baby Best for You

children. He owned them body and soul—but he didn't unless he was a slave driver of the worst type, remind them of it every minute of the day. He let them forget it—once in a while.

Here's a letter from another kind of a mother. May she keep her bright vision of what motherhood ought to be.

I am the mother of a baby girl seven months old, my first child. The first weeks after her birth, my feeling as I held and gazed on the helpless body, was of intense, terrible love, more than of sorrow, remorse and joy. The thoughts which caused me sorrow and remorse ran something like this.

Dear little thing so helpless and innocent, brought unasked into a world of sin, where sickness and trouble makes up so large a part—how much I owe you. It will be my duty and joy, my payment for my purely selfish desire to have you, to give you the best that is in me in every way, exacting from you nothing but your love and respect if it is due me.

Am I wrong to feel this way, or do we all? Will I some day change and say, "If I had my life to live over again I would never raise any ungrateful children! You sacrifice your youth to them, and do they respect it? No; they grow up and marry and forget you.

"I sacrificed and scrimped and did without for you. You can never pay me for what I went through for you."

No, we never can repay our parents, but do we not pay our debt in our own lives when we marry and have children grow up to be honest and good? And if they do go wrong, or are cruel and overbearing with their parents, the fault is usually traceable to heredity, which is not their fault, or to over-indulgent parents, or the opposite extreme—over severe. —Happy.

Let's Talk It Over

A great deal has been written about how much children owe their parents, and not nearly enough about how much parents owe their children. The gift of life is the most precious thing in the world, but it is only precious when it is a gift. Most parents hold a sort of mortgage on their children's lives. They exact exorbitant interest in the way of filial respect, obedience and affection. Let Willie so much as intimate that he doesn't think Pa is absolutely right, or that Ma's tears and tantrums are not altogether worthy of respect, and both parents are ready to foreclose the mortgage. They have lived in vain—their child does not appreciate all they have done for him, etc. You know the line. Maybe it's your line.

We don't have children because we think they would like to be born. We have them because it's part of living. We want the fullness of life. We want a baby to play with. We want a daughter to keep us company during the day when hubby is away; a son to follow in Dad's footsteps—young life to rejuvenate us. And sometimes when we have 'em we begin to wish they'd never been born.

You know it as well as I do—you've met the woman who weeps and wrings her hands because the son she "has done everything for" wants to leave her and marry some girl.

Although there is still a postponed game with Kingston left unplayed, it has been decided to call that fixture off, and after today's game the Johnston crew will rest up for the play-off series with Kingston for the league honours and the right to represent the Anderson loop in the Ontario series.

* * * * * * * * *

Although the final arrangements have not been completed, it is altogether probable that the first game of the play-off series will be played in Kingston a week from today, with the second in Peterboro on the following Saturday. Nothing has yet been decided upon in regard to umpires for the big series which for the second year in succession brings the Ponies and Petes into the final clash for the pennant.

Speaking of the Kingston-Peterboro series, the Belleville Ontario says that Belleville fans will have difficulty in selecting a favourite, but that Kingston will have much sympathy. Here's hoping the Ponies will need it when the tilt is over.

* * * * * * * * *

The O.B.A.A. seems to be unnecessarily anxious about galloping through the play-offs—outside of Toronto. While speed may be necessary in the intermediate series where so many leagues are represented, it is difficult to see why in the case of junior, juvenile and midget series there should be such mad haste, particularly as the Toronto title-holders will not be decided for weeks. The Lakeviews and Belleville juniors are the latest victims of the O.B.A.A.'s "step on the gas" policy. They had arranged to play here today and in Belleville a week from today, but the O.B.A.A. has ordered the second game to be played in Belleville on Friday, and if a third game is necessary it will have to be played Monday, with the winner to be ready to go into the next round series on Wednesday.

Joe Batten was scheduled to make his initial appearance as an umpire today, working with Alex. Kay in the Brighton-Hastings game at Hastings.

* * * * * * * * *

It looks as if the Royals and Raybestos will have to flip a coin to decide the winner in their section of the East Peterboro League. After each team had won twice, they clashed last night in the fifth—and presumably the decisive—battle to a 7-7 tie, and have to meet again tomorrow night. And the winner will have to go into action at once against the Cognawaga team, winners of the other section, to decide the league title-holder The East Peterboro representatives meet Lindsay, Big Four champs, next week in the O.B.A.A. series, so that there is plenty of baseball ahead. The first game of this series is called for Tuesday.

* * * * * * * * *

Bill Prindible's Knights of Columbus juveniles, who received an unexpected walloping in Oshawa Saturday, expect to return the compliment on the coming Saturday when the Oshawa juveniles will be here for the second game. The K.C. team is capable of much better ball than they showed the Oshawa fans last week and should tie up the series here.

* * * * * * * * *

Two Peterboro teams are invading Oshawa today, the Royals midget team making the trip for the second game of the O.B.A.A. series with Oshawa's midget representatives. They should grab off the honours and make a third game unnecessary.

ROYALS LOSE AN EARLY LEAD

Hard Hitting Brings Raybestos From Rear to Tie Score at 7 to 7.

ERRORS HELPED.

Raybestos, after almost taking the count, made a great recovery in their final game with Royals at Exhibition Park last evening and finally earned a draw, the score being 7 to 7. Royals were leading at the end of the fifth by 7 to 3 and with Maudsley hurling well and his teammates giving him good support, it looked like the Westenders for a place in the play-off. But in the sixth Shaughnessy led off with a triple. McIntyre flew out to short centre, Shag being held at third. He scored, however, on Nicholls' long fly to right. An error by Curry and two singles scored Nicholls. In the seventh, hits by Moore, Rogers and Shaughnessy scored two more to tie it up.

Royals counted two in the first after two were down, when Barrie's long single scored Curry and Corbett, the latter having doubled. In the second with three on, Curray cleaned the bags with a long triple between centre and left. Corbett's single scored Curry and Barrie's triple scored Corbett. Thereafter the Royals were held away from the plate.

Raybestos were presented with three runs, two of them in the first when Cameron dropped Shaughnessy's easy fly allowing Moore and Rogers to count. In the fourth with McIntyre on third, a return throw from the catcher went through Maudsley allowing a cheap run.

MAY SUSPEND MICKEY WALKER

Welter Champ Has Been Dodging Title Bout With Dave Shade.

SIKI IS LEAVING.

NEW YORK, August 12. — Canadian Press. — Mickey Walker, the world's welterweight champion, will be indefinitely suspended by the state athletic commission at its meeting Friday unless Walker or his manager definitely signs contracts and posts a bond for a title match with Dave Shade of California at that time. This ruling was made by the commission at its meeting yesterday.

The welterweight king who was given a license to box Harry Greb, middleweight champion at the Italian hospital fund matches upon assurance from him that he wohld meet Shade on or before August 15, has consistently refused to sign for the match.

Battling Siki, the Senegalese heavy weight, whose antics in a match against Joe Silvani at a local club last Saturday night resulted in his disqualification by the referee, appeared before the commission with his manager, Robert Levy, yesterday, and was given a suspended sentence by the commission uopn Levy's word that Siki would leave the country inside of 30 days.

Permission was also given to Tex Rickard to hold 41 rounds of boxing in connection with the Jack Delaney Paul Berlenbach world's light heavy weight title fight at the Yankee Stadium, August 28.

CRICKET CLUB WON.

Defeated Dr. Hewitt's Select Team—Dela Fosse Starred.

At the Exhiibtion Ground on Saturday the Peterboro C.C. met a select eleven raised by Dr. Hewitt and a close and exciting game ended in a narrow win for the ground club. Mr. F. M. Dela Fosse, going in first wicket down, played enterprising and forcing cricket which was delightful to witness. He carried his bat throughout the entire innings and was undefeated for a well played 36 runs. Mr. Stuart was the only other member of the select to reach double figures, the innings ultimately closing for 86 runs.

Peterboro responded with a total of 92 runs, but it was not until the last man went in that they managed to win through. Results:

SWIMMER MAY CHANGE PLANS

WAS NOT PREPARED.

BOULOGNE, France, Aug. 12 (Canadian Press)—Lillian Harrison may use woman's prerogative and change her mind and make another attempt this year to swim the English Channel.

The Argentine girl, who on Monday night was taken from the Channel in a semi-conscious condition after a swim from Cape Gris-Nez to a point about eight miles off Dover was examined yesterday by a physician who pronounced her fit to try again if she so desired. Later she said she thought she would have another try at the goal which four times she already has missed.

In the opinion of Dr. Devaux who examined Miss Harrison, she had not been properly greased for Monday's swim and also had not partaken of sufficient food before starting.

SMELTERS WIN AT POINT ANNE

Deloro Pulled Out Victory in First Play-off—Went Ten Innings.

Deloro, in the third innings, opened the scoring—Brown hit, reaching first. Hughes was caught. Shea was hit on the wrist, and Boudreau ran for him. Ada hit, forcing Boudreau at second. Brown stole home on an overthrow. Schultz hit but Ada got out stealing home. Point Anne again failed to score.

In the fourth innings Deloro exhibited liveliness. With Johnston out, Boudreau hit a fine triple to centre field, scoring on an overthrow to third. Quinn, by hitting, reached first and then stole to second. Regan, by a double brought Quinn in, and scored himself on an overthrow. This ended Deloro's score in that innings. Going in Point Anne broke ice. Goyer walked, and was advanced to second on J. Maraele's hit. The next batter was caught out and Goyer finished at third. Maraele scored on Brown's overthrow.

Two More in Seventh.

Deloro raised the cheers of their many supporters in the seventh by adding two more runs. Jack Shea got to first on a bunt. Ada advanced Shea to third and reached second. Schultz reached first, scoring Shea and Ada. At this point "Sonny" Green replaced Bennett. Point Anne in their half came near registering Brant got out and Bennett walked Gaulin, hit a double to right but Bennett was caught between second and third by smart fielding. Deloro in the next innings went out in order. Point Anne now exerted themselves. M. Green reached first on a fly ball. The next batter was caught out. Maraele advanced Green to third. Bradshaw got out at first. Reid scored Green, stole to second and reached third on an overthrow. Brant walked. Lamoreaux replaced Shea. Brant stole second, Bennett, in singling, scoring Reid and Brant. Deloro tried hard to increase their total in the ninth but without success. Excitement ran high when Point Anne, one run behind, went in for the ninth time. By smart play, they were able to equalise. Going in for what proved the last time, Boudreau reached first. Quinn advanced him to third. Manager Regan by a nice hit brought in his two clubmates and reached second himself. Hughes advanced Regan to third after Brown was caught. Lamoreaux hit but failed to reach first the side being all out. Point Anne bravely responded with one out Brant hit a two-bagger and stole to third on an overthrow to second. The next batsman brought Brant in but got out at first. The next man Gaulin reached first. M. Green advanced him to second. E. Green was caught at first this ending a memorable game and the first victory for Deloro on the enclosure of the Cement Village.

DUMMER BEATS MASSEYS 4 TO 2

Township Boys Now Among the Junior League Leaders.

Dummer came out on top Saturday in the junior league replay match against the Masseys by the score of four goals to two. Masseys trotted out many new faces in their line-up which included three ex-Quaker boys, three last year's Greybirds and a few more seniors. The winners included in their line-up J. Sharman, ex-G.W.V.A., C.G.I., Woollens, Masseys player, T. Mouks, ex-G.W.V.A., and Wilfred Jones, ex-De Laval senior, ex-G.W.V.A. players in the township team.

First Half.

There was no advantage in winning the toss. Both goals went under bombardment without any serious result, until Hector Munro accepted a pass along the wing from Little-Mayette tackle which Dummer gained possession. He drew the defense out then wiped across to R. Payne, who skimmed the cross-bar with his parting shot. Massey retaliated in the same manner but Jory and Taylor never let any opening occur. Exchanges prevailed to be of any even character until Sharman-Munro combination went inside the defense in the far corner which left R. Payne with the ball. He beat Lindsay, then centred to the waiting centre forward who opened the scoring account. The Masseys went back with a vengeance to gain the equaliser but this was short-lived when R. Payne sent a "Dummer first-timer" in the rigging at a terrific force. Raid after raid of attacking forwards in each eleven were held outside the danger zone by the half-backs who were tackling very quick and close. Dummer was pressing when the interval arrived.

Half Time.

On resuming, Dummer set a fast pace against the stalwart defense of the Masseys. It was gratifying to watch the two old players—Hotston and Sharman—battle out the issue in sportsmanlike fashion, but 'Wag' never gave any scope to the anxious Jimmie. While these two battled away, Mouks and Payne made progress on the right. The outside was placed into center but the return pass was too quick as he missed the open goal. Both teams fell away in their aggressiveness and was only enlivened when "Dummer Rooters" got the excitement up to a keen pitch. This impetus brought forth a goal when Sharman was given a pass by the S. Payne-Munro combination on the left wing. He went through the two full-backs who stopped his movements but Monks came up from behind to beat Batten with a low ground unsaveable shot. From the wing, H. Munro landed the ball in the net but was adjudged offside previously. The township boys did not have all the play because the Masseys had their opponents in their own area time and again, but shooting was erratic. Ultimately Joe Mayette gained possession over three players in succession, a scrimmage ensued, then the ball rolled over to the left-wing man who beat Jones all the way. About fifteen minutes afterwards R. Payne made the score four goals to two in a good clean fast game. Dummer 4, Masseys 2.

Dummer—W. Jones, goal; H. Jory and Taylor, backs; A. Jory, E. Batten and G. Little, half-backs; R. Payne, T. Monks, J. Sharman, S. Payne and H. Munro, forwards.

Masseys—Batten, goal; Hotston and R. Walker, full backs; H. Walker, Roberts and Linsey, half-backs; Mayette, Underwood, Brownsley, Marchen and Dorsett, forwards.

Referee—Frank McKinley.

INSIDE GOLF

By CHESTER HORTON

Maker of 51 Golf Champions. "Golf's most successful teacher," says "Chick" Evans

The "cut ball" with the niblick is a much easier shot than the explosion and the player should always use this stroke when the rise to be given the ball is not more than some three feet, assuming that the ball is not directly under the trap wall, but back a few feet. To cut the ball out, take the niblick blade back, low to the sand, outside the line straight back from the ball. In swinging the blade forward you thus cut directly across the ball, from right to left. Take a little sand—that is, cut directly under the ball, figuring to scoop up, say, a quarter inch to a half inch of sand with the ball. The loft of the blade will scoop the ball over the bank after which it will be inclined to run. Give the blade time to swing with a natural pace.

The King is prevented this year from joining the Duke of Devonshire for the grouse shooting over the Bolton Abbey moors in Yorkshire, according to His Majesty's usual custom, the Duke still being under treatment at Buxton. The Duke suffered a slight stroke of paralysis at his Irish estate, Lismore Castle, in April last.

After paying a visit this week-end, accompanied by the Queen, to Princess Mary, Viscountess Lascelles, and Viscount Lascelles at Goldsbrough Hall, the King will proceed to Balmoral Castle for the shooting on the adjacent moors.

The grouse shooting this season probably will be considerably above the average in recent years in most quarters in Scotland.

WOMAN AUTO RACER TO GIVE AN EXHIBITION MILE AT RACE MEET IN EXHIBITION GROUNDS

Mlle. Martens, of Dieppe, France, Credited With Being the World's Greatest Woman Auto Racer—Has Broken Many Records.

Declared to be the world's greatest woman automobile racing pilot, Mlle. Martens, of Dieppe, France, is to drive an exhibition mile during the big auto race meet schduled for the Exhibition Grounds on Thursday, August 20. Mlle. Martens has proven a sensation wherever she has appeared with her fast French Peugeot car, and for the past six months she has been the feature of many race meets in the United States and Western Canada. In Calgary, Regina, Edmonton and Brandon in June and July, the intrepid little French girl broke several records for women drivers. Her entry for the local meet was received this morning.

In addition to the nomination of Ray Lampkin, famed British racing driver, who has been a heavy money winner in Toronto and Ottawa exhibition races during the past few years, John Sloan, in charge of the meet said this morning that "Scotty" Monteith telegraphed his entry, naming a Fiat Special as his mount. Monteith is the holder of the Barney Oldfield Diamond Medal, which he won in Chicago three weeks ago. The medal is a challenge trophy and may be raced for once each month in the racing season.

Sloan is in communication with the "Master Driver" and hopes to have Oldfield's permission to award the medal to the winner of a Barney Oldfield Sweepstakes race here.

The entry blanks sent out on Monday by the officials of the local race should reach all the drivers by late today and as each was asked to wire his formal nomination, there should be a flock of entries in the hands of director of contests by tomorrow.

"The track at Exhibition Park is one which will prove most spectacular although safe for the spectators and drivers," said Sloan this morning. "There is a wide strip of grass around the entire track which will act as a most effective buffer in case a tire is blown or a wheel collapses during a race. In addition, however, the forty foot safety zone on the outer edge of the entire track will keep the spectators out of danger. The racing association's rules are most stringent in the matter of safeguarding both drivers and spectators."

Six events are on the card, the events ranging from the one mile time trial number to the twenty lap feature race, to be known as the Peterboro Motor Derby. The selection of racing officials will take place on Saturday. Many prominent automobile dealers and garage men will be on the list.

The race meet is being widely advertised in towns and territory adjacent to Peterboro, and much interest is being shown by both the racing fans and those who have never had the opportunity to witness one of the spectacular speed meets.

PICNIC TO BE HELD AT OVAL FOR CHILDREN

Annual Playground Picnic To-morrow Afternoon Before Closing After Successful Six Weeks.

CLOSE SATURDAY.

The supervisors of the school playgrounds are holding the annual playground picnic at the Oval tomorrow afternoon, beginning at 3 o'clock. A good programme of sports, including baseball for girls and boys, and other group games, will be in order. It is expected that between three and four hundred children will be present. Each of the three schools will send a large contingent. The children will have lunch.

The fancy and needle work made by the older girls and the raffia work of the younger girls will be on exhibition.

The parents are cordially invited to attend, as in doing so they will gain a fair conception of the work and entertainment that has been afforded their children during the past six weeks.

Saturday will be a sad day for many of the youngsters in the city, as on that day the slide, swings and teeters will be dismantled and the playgrounds closed for the season.

This year has been a most successful one in playground history. There has been an average of 300 and 400 children daily on each of the three playgrounds combined. Three days a week the children went to the city bathing beaches, where swimming was taught by the playground supervisors, and in this way many a child has added the necessary art of swimming to his accomplishments.

Three successful baseball leagues have been run off. Each playground carrying off one of the championships. The Queen Alexandra won the senior boys' championship; Central took the junior boys', and King Edward the girls' pennant. Following is the standing in the respective leagues:

Senior Boys—

	Won	Lost
Queen Alexandra	3	1
King Edward	2	2
Central	1	3

Junior Boys—

King Edward	0	4

Girls—

THEATRES

AT THE ROYAL.

"NEW LIVES FOR OLD" CLOSES TO-DAY.

One of the best pictures seen locally in some time closes its engagement to-night. Betty Compson is the star, with Wallace McDonald at the head of the strong cast. The story is one of Paris in war-time, with Betty as a gay French dancer, who becomes involved in her country's intelligence service. It is decidedly worthwhile entertainment.

NEW SCREEN PLAY COMES TO ROYAL.

Wm. Desmond Starred in Story of California's Timberlands.

After weeks of location work of the hardest kind, with thrills which verged into actual and frequent peril and with discomforts such as the public can hardly understand, the right sort of timber country shots were secured by Universal for "Big Timber," a story of the deep forests, and the production completed.

This feature, starring William Desmond of the "Breathless Moment" and "Shadows of the North," has been released and will be the attraction at the Royal Theatre beginning to-morrow.

"Big Timber" adapted by Wyndham Gittens from the noted magazine story, "The Heart of the North Wind," by Vingie E. Roe, was directed by William Craft, photographed by Jackson Rose, and given all the care in essential details required to make it an unusual offering. There are dramatic situations and thrills of outdoor struggles, both with men and the elements which give the story added interest.

Made in Redwood Belt.

Not far from Westwood, California, the company found the backgrounds for the big exterior scenes of the story, and temporary camp quarters were established no more luxurious than the camp quarters of the lumber workers, except in the arrangements for taking care of players' clothing, props and camera paraphernalia. Here, some of the gigantic redwoods grow hundreds of feet high.

Desmond is a star of increasing popularity and besides his work in features has been seen in several entertaining serial attractions, including "Beasts of Paradise" and "Around the World in Eighteen Days." He is a vigorous fellow, and considered one of the finest athletes at Universal City.

AT THE CAPITOL

MARION DAVIES IN "ZANDER" OFFERS WHIMSICAL ROLE

Cosmopolitan Star Goes in Strong for Modern Comedy

CALLED HER BEST PART

"Mamie" a Character That Brought Actress's Gifts to the Fore.

Marion Davies in her latest photoplay "Zander the Great" will be the next attraction at the Capitol Theatre for three days.

As "Mamie," the heroine of this famous stage play, which was adapted for the screen by Frances Marion Miss Davies enacts a role that is said to place her in the very forefront of comediennes.

The entire play is based upon the search of "Mamie" for "Zander's" father in the west, "Zander" being a tiny child, played by a newcomer to the screen, little Jack Huff, a youngster of four who was discovered by Miss Davies.

Beginning with her childhood in an orphan asylum, and carrying her through a series of exciting episodes in the far west, "Zander the Great," provides Miss Davies with an opportunity for a whimsical, humorous characterization.

BISHOP BIDWELL BREAKS SILENCE

"Right Rev. E. J. Bidwell, Bishop of the Diocese of Ontario, who is visiting in Norfolk, has given the following exclusive written and signed statement regarding his position. "The Bishop of Ontario having already informed the Archbishop of that Province that in the event of his wife changing her religious allegiance, he should beel bound to tended his resignation, he did so as wrote to the Archbishop, stating soon as that event occurred. The Archbishop is already aware of the sole reason which led the Bishop to tender his resignation. The decision whether to accept it or not lay entirely with the Archbishop after consulting the executive committee of the Diocese of Ontario before coming to a decision, stating that if the diocese wishes him to continue, he is prepared to do so.

"The executive committee of the Diocese of Ontario met August 4, and the Bishop was informed by cable that they had decided to advise the Archbishop to accept his resignation. He, therefore, at once whote to the Archbishop, stating that in view of this action by the executive committee, his resignation must be accepted without fail.

Since the Bishop first tendered his resignation, extracts from a letter written by him in The Church Times early in May to correct what he considered misleading statements about his diocese, which appeared in an article in that paper, were printed in Canada papers some six weeks later and quite wrongly interpreted as an attack on Orange Lodges in Ontario.

"This fact may have influenced the action of the executive, though the Bishop has no information to that effect, but he had nothing to do as Bishop except tender his resignation which was made some weeks before these extracts appeared in the Canadian Press, and the subsequent misinterpretation of them, and it was solely for the reason offered, and no other."

Dr. Bidwell added that the publicity given his resignation is most distressing, and he trusts he will now be left alone.

FINANCIAL NEWS.

Silvers Bulked Large On Standard Mining Exchange

TORONTO, Aug 12—(Canadian Press).—Silvers took heavy trading on Standard Mining Exchange today, two of these issues, Capital and Lorraine, accounting for half of the total transactions of the first session, which were moderately heavy. Capitol's climb to 34, a five-point advance, featured the market. Lorraine strengthened a quarter at 9½, and Clifton 1-8 at 4 3-8. Teck Hughes gained one point at 169.

Liverpool Steadied the Opening Wheat Prices

CHICAGO, Aug. 12. — (Canadian Press).—Owing largely to unfavorable weather in Great Britain and to a reduction of crop estimates there, the wheat market in Chicago took an early upward swing to-day. Liverpool quotations were expected to show a decline, but instead, scored material advance. A good deal of notice was also taken of associations that smallness of new Kansas wheat crop implies that mills which have depended on Kansas as a source of supply must look elsewhere for many months before the 1926 Kansas crop is available.

Chicago opening prices unchanged to 2c higher. September 161 to 162, and December 159 to 159 3-4, were followed by something of reaction and then by moderate fresh gains.

Moisture in the corn belt tended to ease down the corn market after an advance in sympathy with wheat. Starting at 1-8 to 1 1-8c up, September 106¼ to 106 5-8, corn declined to well below yesterday's finish, September touching 104 5-8.

Oats traders took their cue from wheat rather than corn. Opening at 1-8 to 3-8 cents gain, September 41, the oats market continued firm.

Oils Hammered To New Low Levels For the Year

NEW YORK, Aug. 12.—(Canadian Press). The morning Wall Street market was a two-sided affair, bullish operations in rails and selected specialties being counteracted by weakness of the oils and public utilities. General Railway Signal crossed General Electric in its flight to higher territory, selling at 319 3-4, as against 319 for the latter but General Electric soon regained its supremacy by touching a record high for all time at 320½, which is fractionally above the highest price ever quoted before the segregation of electric bond and share properties, while General Railway Signal cracked to 308 on realizing. Professional bear traders persistently hammered oil shares, both the Pan-American issues, Producers and Refiners and Standard Oil of California all collapsing to new low levels for the year. The establishment of new 1925 high records by Westinghouse Air Brake and Weston Electrical Instrument was in anticipation of increased earnings through the sale of automatic train control devices. Accumulation of Wabash was believed to be in expectation of an early announcement regarding merger plans for that road.

Busiest Session Of Year In Toronto Stock Market

TORONTO, Aug. 12. — Canadian Press. — The Toronto stock exchange this morning had its busiest session of the year, it being by far the most active since the bumper markets at the end of last December.

Brazilian, F. N. Burt, Canada Bread issues and C olidated Smelters were all heavily deal in, while lighter trading took in the widest list for some time.

The 3 1-4 point reaction of F. N. Burt, an outstanding leader, to 59 3-4, was the morning's feature, Brazilian continued its upward movement with an 1-8 of point gain at 3 1-4; Canada Bread common climbed to 57, then reached to 55 for net gain from yesterday of 1 1-2 points, following its sensational advance from 45 in past two days. Bread B preferred improved 1-2 at 93 and Consolidated smelters 7-8 at 113 1-8; Mackay gained substantially at 134 1-4 for common but in remainder of big list dealt in fractional advances and declines seemed evenly balanced.

VOL. LVI., No. 36 PETERBOROUGH, THURSDAY, AUGUST 13, 1925 PRICE THREE CENTS

SLEUTH OF DOPE PEDDLERS MADE FORTUNE SELLING DRUGS HE HAD SEIZED AS "ACE" OF U. S. AGENTS

TRAIL OF "DOPE."

"The Gray Shadow" Traded Confiscated Drugs For Stolen Valuables.

CHICAGO, Aug. 13. — Federal agents followed Chicago's million dollar "dope" trail to other American cities yesterday as police sent extra guards into Chinatown to prevent threatened warfare among the tongs.

Colonel Will Gray Beach and the three other federal narcotic agents arrested here in a smashing attack on what authorities claim to be an inside ring for the wide distribution of narcotics, had lieutenants at work in Cincinnati, Minneapolis, Indianapolis and other cities, according to Patrick T. Roche, of the federal intelligence unit.

In some instances "the beach gang' had foreign connections in the Orient, Roche declared he had established.

The confession of "The Gray Shadow," as Colonel Beach has been known for thirty years, was made to C. L. Converse, special intelligence officer from Washington.

Colonel Beach's admissions implicated his three chief aides, Alonzo B. Baxter, former minister at Philadelphia; Dennis J. O'Brien and Harry Dietrich, also of Philadelphia.

A constant guard is being maintained over Colonel Beach in the Hub's avenue jail. Following the threat of the veteran chief to take his life, his penknife, tie and belt were taken from him.

"The Gray Shadow" was only the broken hulk of the huge, rugged man who seemingly had been the nemesis of dope peddlers and drug addicts throughout the Midwest. He was chief of the division composed of Indiana, Illinois, Michigan, and Wisconsin. In his raids he had taken more than $1,000,000 worth of drugs. Nearly all of these drugs were returned to criminal channels through his bartering them for stolen goods, Federal authorities maintain.

Agents of Mr. Converse seized the "exhibit" of the government — composed of more than $100,000 worth of cocoaine, heroin, morphine, opium and paraphernalia of opium dens—which Colonel Beach had stored in a private warehouse on the North Side. He used them ostensibly in his lectures against the dope evil, but in reality they formed his stock in trade.

A raid on his apartment in the Atlantic Hotel disclosed $25,000 worth of diamonds and the loot of a number of thefts, which Government agents say he exchanged with common thieves and drug peddlers for narcotics.

Tong War Likely.

Searching for a $5,000 jade vase, said to have been owned by Beach, presumably a gift from some wealthy Oriental, operatives scoured Chinatown, seizing more than fifty firearms in the course of their hunt. These, the officers say they learned, were to be used in a new outbreak between the On Leong and Hip Sing tongs.

If the war comes, it will be an outgrowth of the present "dope" clean-up, Chinese said, as leading members of the tongs have gone to great lengths to report each other's violations of the anti-narcotic act.

ADD MEMBERS TO SUPREME COUNCIL

CALGARY, Alta., Aug. 13. — (Canadian Press).—An addition to the number of members of the Supreme Council was decided upon at the Dominion convention of the Sons of England, in session here yesterday. The new officials will be known as Supreme Councillors.

The present minimum age for initiates is 17. It was proposed to reduce the age, but the proposal was defeated.

It was decided to make the constitution more elastic in regard to dates for the election of officers of local lodges. Owing to differing conditions in different parts of the Dominion it was found that a set date for all lodges was not satisfactory. The date has been the first meeting in December. Under the new plan the local lodge will set their dates to their convenience.

The convention decided to place the auditing of the Supreme Lodge in the hands of a chartered accountant. The minimum bonds for subordinate lodge officers will be increased and the premiums reduced.

Beauchenes (Parliamentary rules) were adopted as standard reference as to procedure to replace Borinot.

Promise French Better Bread, Minus Substitutes

PARIS, Aug. 13.—(Canadian Press).—Better bread is promised France shortly after August 20. Under an order issued by the Minister of Agriculture, millers after this date must put four per cent. of rye into their wheat flour, instead of eight per cent. of other substitutes. This is a move toward doing away with one of France's last war-time measures.

Jean Durand, Minister of Agriculture, in issuing his order said: "It is only wheat or rye flour that makes good bread."

RAISE PRICE OF COAL SATURDAY

Seasonal Advance Hastened Two Weeks By Threat of Strike.

USE BRITISH COAL.

MONTREAL, Aug. 13—(Canadian Press).—The price of United States anthracite coal will be boosted from $15.50 a ton to $16.00 on Saturday, a seasonal advance which has been accelerated by two weeks this year on account of the threatened coal strike in the United States anthracite fields.

Considerable British coal is at present finding a market in Montreal. Up to the end of July, 363,000 tons of Scottish and Welsh anthracite had been shipped to this city during the navigation season. It is stated here that local supplies are well filled and that a strike of United States mines would scarcely affect conditions in Montreal unless it were unduly prolonged.

FATHER DROWNS IN SWIFT EDDY

ONLY 15 YEARS OLD.

EDMONTON, Aug. 13 (Canadian Press).—A special wireless dispatch to The Edmonton Journal from Fort Simpson, Northwest Territory, says: A sad accident occurred on the upper Laird River a few days ago. Thomas Smith, an old Yukon prospector, with his daughter 15 years old, left old Fort Laid, in British Columbia for the lower Laird in a skin boat. He attempted to run Hell's Gate Rapids, but the boat capsized. Smith shouted to the girl to hang on to the boat. However, she went down twice and would have drowned but for her hand coming in contact with a rope fastened to the boat.

Getting hold of an oar she tried to throw it to her father, who was going down for the last time. She saw him no more. The girl wrestled with the boat for thirty minutes through terribly swift water, the boat rolling over and over. It finaily drifted into an eddy, where she got on to shore. With an old handsaw which was stuck in her boat, she fashioned a pair of oars and made thirty miles to Sutherland's Camp, five miles above the forks of the Nelson and Laird.

OTTAWA, Ont., Aug. 13.—(Canadian Press).—One man was killed and two were seriously injured when the cable of a hoist used in construction work on the new dam at the Chaudiere Falls on the Ottawa River broke without warning last evening. W. C. May, Ottawa, was lashed by the flying cable and died on his way to hospital. Alonzo Villeneuve and Lionel Vaice, both of Hull, were hit by the hoist platform on its rebound. Villeneuve is not expected to live. The hoist car was 75 feet from the ground when the cable broke.

GERMANS FIGHT IN FRENCH ARMY AGAINST RIFFS

Thousands of Former Enemies Are Helping France in Famous Foreign Legion.

MAJORITY HAPPY.

WITH THE FRENCH FORCES IN THE FIELD ON THE FRONT NORTH-EAST OF FEZ, Aug. 14.—Thousands of Germans are fighting in the furnace heat of Morocco for France and for the white man's prestige.

That the very flower of the French forces in North Africa, the world-famous "Legion of Honor," is largely composed of Germans was the biggest surprise to me since I arrived at the French front, next to my realization of the vastness and the richness of France's Moroccan empire.

As I sit here under a patch of canvas in the cruel Yuma-like sun, having tea with a battalion commander and his staff, am amazed to hear German spoken all about me as if it were the language of the Legion.

Majority German.

I find that 52 per cent. of this particular battalion are Germans (including Austrians), a majority of the sergeants and non-commisioned officers are Germans, the German non-coms. outnumbering the French non-coms.

A number of former German officers are serving as sergeants and one famous German flying officer is serving under ene Fonck. There are three Americans and three Englishmen in one regiment of the Legion.

Another battalion is composed of 26 nationalities, 46 per cent. of whom are Germans. The adjutant to the commander speaks German. A German sergeant was presented to me who had a record of 13 years of service and not a single black mark on his record.

I have talked to many of them and out of them only one said: "I have got enough and will be glad when my time is up." The others declare they are happy and intend to reenlist. They say that the service is hard but not unpleasant. The discipline is rigorous but they are treated well.

Well Cared For.

They stress the excellence of the food they receive, and this seems a strong point with many of them.

Many of these German soldiers fought against France in the world war. A majority of them give economic reasons for their enlistment with the French.

Among other nationalities with the French forces there appear to be more adventurers. All the troops look well cared for and seem to be in excellent condition physically. I find that the legion is composed of superb troops, the hardiest I have seen. Out of 14,000 to 16,000 legionnaires fully 7,000 or 8,000 are Germans.

Officers at Lansing who went to a house to arrest a man on a charge of drinking protlegi found him still alive as he was trying to take gas instead.

VOLCANO ON AN ISLAND OF THE CYCLADES IS ACTIVE FOR THE FIRST TIME SINCE 1866

Population Panic Stricken and Evacuating the District—Recent Earthquake is Blamed.

LONDON, Aug. 13 (United Press)—A volcano on the fruitful island of Santorin, according to the exchange telegraph Athens correspondent, has become active after being dormant since 1866. The population in panic is evacuating the region. The eruptions are now in their third day. Earthquake shocks at Smyrna ten days ago are believed by experts to have been the precursor of the volcanic activity.

Santorin lies in the Cyclades group of islands off the main land of Greece. It is a small island with vineyards.

Spanish Prisoner Is Still Languishing In Jail; This Time He Fails To Claim Blood Relationship

MONTREAL, August 13 (Canadian Press)—The "Spanish Prisoner," like "Dr. Manet" in the "Tale of Two Cities" has been "recalled to life." The unfortunate scion of Castillian nobility is still in the cooler "somewhere in Spain"—just when the world had thought his activities ended, as reported several months ago. But it apepars, from a letter received yesterday by Alfred Riopel of Emery street, Montreal that the ill-used grandee continues to languish in the dungeons, while his fortune, consisting of 360,000 perfectly good dollars is still in the hands of some stony hearted court functionary in the United States. However, being Spanish and also being a prisoner, the Don is willing to split the "dot" with Mr. Riopel, if the latter will only fulfill the simple provision of advancing him a temporary accommodation.

Unlike his predecessors in the "Spanish Prisoner" industry the present incumbent is unable to establish blood-relationship with Mr. Riopel, nor has he the customary beautiful daughter keeping behind the jealousies of some mauresque turret. Besides his English is atrocious.

The letter is signed "C" and counter-signed "Louis Montero, Lista Carreos 136, Mayols (Spain" and bears the postmark of Barcelona." It i as "Jerry Cruncher" remarked of "Dr. Manet's" note. "a blazin' strange message."

RAIN DELAYED WEST HARVEST

Fields Are Soaked and Will Not Be Dry Before Friday.

ENOUGH MOISTURE.

BRANDON, Man., Aug. 13.—(Canadian Press).—Heavy showers of rain general in this district during the past twenty-four hours delayed harvesting, which will not likely be resumed until Friday, as the fields are soaked. There is sufficient moisture to carry the late crops through, and farmers are hoping for clear weather. Rye cutting is about finished.

About thirty per cent of the barley is cut, but much stooking is to be done. Wheat cutting is just becoming general, and the harvest of oats, though started, will not be general for another week.

BOY SAVED IN NICK OF TIME

Former Cobourg Man Swam Out to Rescue Drowning Boy From Lake.

WAS EXHAUSTED.

COBOURG August 13. — The timely action of Mr. Clarence Buckler, of Toronto, son of Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Buckler of this town, who although not of late used to swimming, saved the life of a young boy, Ernest Hall, here on Tuesday afternoon. The latter with two or three other lads had gone out swimming at the beach at the end of Bagot street. Mr. Buckler and his sister had gone down to the beach at that point. He had just gone in the water when a lad came and told him he feared Ernest Hall was drowning, and he dared not go to him as it was beyond his depth, and could not swim.

Mr. Buckler waded out as far as he could and then managed to swim to the spot where the boy was. He had gone down, and was curled up and too exhausted to hang on when Mr. Buckler reached him.

He swam back with him to the shore but was thoroughly done out when he reached the beach.

Miss Buckler carried the boy to a near by residence and a physician summoned, who, after a half hours work, brought him around all right, although he was not able to be moved for several hours. He is now about as well as ever however; had he been in the water a few minute longer this would have been a different story

POLICE WINGED MOTOR THIEVES

One Dead and Two Injured in Detroit Chase

70 MILES AN HOUR.

DETROIT, Aug. 13 (Canadian Press).—The body of an automobile thief is in the morgue, unidentified, and three men, two wounded, are under arrest, the result of a thrilling gun battle over a three-mile course with police. Liquor imbibed at a wedding party was responsible for the fight, one of the prisoners confessed.

The chase started when a police flyer responded to a telephoned report that four men were stripping a car. Both autos gained 70 miles an hour. The police peppered the fugitive car with riot guns. Revolver shots answered. As the flyer approached, one of the suspects fired five times at the officers. As Sergeant Fischer, in charge of the flyer, called an order to surrender, one of the men ran. He was shot through the right temple and killed by a patrolman.

ACTIVE TRAINING STARTED AGAIN

Miss Ederle Has Recovered From Slight Illness—Miss Harrison to Try Again.

IN FIFTEEN DAYS.

BOULOGNE, France, Aug. 13.—(Canadian Press).—Active training for her attempt to swim the English Channel was resumed yesterday by Gertrude Ederle, of the American Women's Swimming Association who recently has been slightly indisposed.

Lillian Harrison, the Argentine girl, who four times has made the effort, starts training again to-day for another attempt, which she hopes to make in about fifteen days.

A physician who yesterday examined Miss Ederle to ascertain her physical condition, received somewhat of a shock when he observed her chest expansion.

"This is the most wonderful lung development I have ever seen in my career," said the doctor to Miss Ederle's chaperone. "This girl has a chest expansion of nearly eight inches. She must have wonderful endurance and vitality. If I were a betting man I would wager that she will swim the Channel."

LONDON, Aug. 13. — (Canadian Press).—The Government is taking action to bring an end to the textile dispute which was called about three weeks ago, when a wage reduction of about eight per cent. was made, affecting nearly 200,000 textile workers in Yorkshire.

Representatives of workers and employers met the Minister of Labor in London to-day.

YOUNG BANDIT HELD UP ELEVEN

Descended on Worcester, Mass., Threatening to Shoot Victims.

LOOT ONLY $200.

WORCESTER, Mass., August 13. —Canadian Press. — Three armed bandits, who threatened to shoot their victims at the slightest hostile move, descended upon Worcester early to-day and in two hours left a trail of hold-ups and threats of violence that brought every available state patrolman and Worcester police man into a man hunt in which orders were to shoot without hesitation.

At least 11 persons are known to have been held up and robbed by the desperadoes, described by all the victims as "young men in their 'teens.'"

The trio secured about $200. Trail led from Grafton to Worcester, and then to Lake Quinsigamond.

NO COMMISSION IS YET CHOSEN

Miners and Owners Both Discussed Personnel of Coal Commission.

COVER EVERY PHASE.

LONDON, Aug. 13 (Canadian Press Cable)—It seems that some shoals still have to be negotiated before the coal commission finally sits down with everybody's good will. The personnel of the commission and the terms of reference are just now causing dispute. The miners yesterday discussed the matter for two hours at the department of mines and when they emerged A. J. Cook, general secretary of the Miners' Association gravely remarked: "There is no agreement. No settlement."

Earlier in the day representatives of the miners and the coal mine owners met separately and privately and discussed terms of reference and the personnel of the commission. The miners' executive sat for four hours and at its conclusion Mr. Cook officially said that the commission could command the confidence of everybody concerned—the public, the miners and the mine owners—only if these parties were fairly represented in the personnel of the commission. "A court composed of great lawyers and captains of industry with a few economists and politicians will never satisfy the working miners if they themselves are excluded," said Mr. Cook who also stated that the provisional terms of reference were not wide enough. The Miners Federation, he continued, intended that the commission should deal with every phase of coal production and distribution including royalities. He added that the miners would see that the question of nationalization of the mines came into the inquiry..

PARSEE COMMUNIST'S DIATRIBES AGAINST EMPIRE DISQUALIFY HIM AS DELEGATE TO UNITED STATES

Daily Express Says Delegates to Parliamentary Union Conference Are Unknown.

WRATHY AT PARSEE.

LONDON, Aug. 13. — (United Press).—Lord Beaverbrook's Daily Express has begun a campaign against the personnel of the British Parliamentary and former Parliamentary delegates who are going to Washington in October for the International Parliamentary Union conference there. The only one who meets with the newspaper's approval is Sir Robert Horne, who was Chancellor of the Exchequer in Lloyd George's Coalition Government.

The other delegates the newspaper described as nonentities, who, it declares, have no authority or reputation which entitles them to speak on a serious topic in this country's behalf.

The name of Shapurji Saklatvala, Parsee Communist member of Parliament, on the list, especially arouses the Express' wrath, and on Wednesday it published excerpts from his speeches, such as "Let us abolish the Union Jack," "The Union Jack is the symbol of enslaved labor all over the world," "The British Empire is made up of aristocracy and the cunning dirty dogs of Great Britain who will assail any one's country at any time," "The British Parliament's chief function is to maintain intact the Empire and retain all stolen property and keep under bondage all bullied nations. Your partnership in the Empire is a partnership in guilt and robbery. The Empire is a trap of degradation and dishonor to all British workers. I am a man with a great affection, regard and esteem for Lenine."

Saklatvala, when asked if he anticipated any objection by the United States to his visit because he is a Communist, replied, "I don't for a moment expect the United States Government to be so churlish as to interfere."

The Express fears that the American public will interpret the views of these visiting delegates as an authoritative expression of the opinions of Great Britain, and the Empire urges the addition of four or five more members of Parliament of world-wide reputation.

JAP FREIGHTER DODGED SEIZURE

Had Run Down Tug, But Refused to Stop For Marshal.

VICTORIA, B. C., Aug. 13. — (Canadian Press). — Ignoring the demands of Marshal H. W. Goggin, of the British Columbia division of the Admiralty Court, that she was under seizure in connection with the sinking of the tug Hustler in Vancouver Harbor early Tuesday morning, the Japanese freighter Kaikyu Maru put to sea Tuesday night. Acting on instructions from Vancouver, the Marshal waited the arrival of the vessel off Victoria, where she dropped her Vancouver pilot. The Japanese captain, after some discussion, promised to bring the vessel into the royal roads, but refused to permit the Marshal to go aboard. When the pilot was dropped the Japanese freighter proceeded out to sea, leaving the Marshal and his aide floundering in an open boat in a stiff breeze off shore

TROOPS QUELL KLAN DISORDER

Jeers of Crowd Followed By Barrage of Rocks at Reading.

SCORE INJURED.

READING, Mass., Aug. 13 (Canadian Press).—After racing over roads from four different barracks, a strong force of state troops was mobilized here today and stamped out Ku Klux Klan disorder which threatened to end in bloodshed.

Before their arrival several tear bombs had been hurled, a score of Klansmen and anti-Klansmen had been injured by stones and clubs, shots had been fired, and two alleged Klansmen were arrested.

The meeting which began early last night in a field on North Main Street was well advertised, the police said. White robed Klansmen were not in session more than half an hour when outsiders gathered and jeered them. Verbal barrage was followed by one of rocks.

MANY FARMERS SUFFER LOSSES

Hail Takes Wide Toll of Some Alberta Grain Fields.

NO DEFINITE NEWS.

From early reports received, one of the most disastrous hail storms of the season swept through the district from about 20 miles south of Camrose to the Saskatchewan border between 5 and 6 o'clock on Monday afternoon, taking a heavy toll of grain through a strip nearly 5 miles in width.

Owing to the distance covered by the storm, a definite estimate of the damage resulting has been practically unavailable on Tuesday and it will likely take several days to check up the individual losses.

From information received by The Herald over long distance telephone from John Fair, of Killam, president of the Municipal Districts Association of Alberta, the storm started about 20 miles south of Camrose and passed somewhat south of Daysland and Stome, swept through Killam, Sedgewick, Lougheed and Hardisty and continued on about 20 miles to the Saskatchewan border.

LAWN COMPETITION ENTRIES CLOSE 15TH

Public Reminded To Submit Entries By Saturday.

The annual lawn competition that is held under the auspices of the Peterboro Horticultural Society has already a large number of entrants.

The time for entering the lawns and gardens competition has been extended until the end of this week, closing on Saturday, the 15th.

It should be worth considerable to anyone having a lawn or garden to get the information that will be given to each from the report of the judge. A great many of those who are competing are doing it with the object of getting this information, as well as making competition in the events. The larger the competition the more interest will be taken in the city generally in gardens and lawns.

The judging will be done next week, and it is hoped that in addition to the number of entries already in there will be still others who can get their lawns and gardens in shape so as to make the entry this week, before Saturday.

ADDRESSED ROTARY.

Herbert Mowat Described Stoney Lake Camp.

Yesterday was Boy's Camp Day at the Rotary Club, the meeting being addressed by Herbert Mowatt, who is in charge of the camp at Clear Lake. Mr. Mowatt, who is a Toronto man, had had a long experience in this kind of work, and has taken charge of the Rotary Camp for the past three years. For fully half an hour he held the attention of his audience as he described the life of the boys at the camp, which he says is splendidly equipped. Fifty boys are at present at the camp, and the Rotarians have appointed delegates who will take turns in calling at the camp, thus ensuring some visitors at the camp every day.

Relatives of the boys are also cordially welcomed at the camp and no restrictions are made as to the day or hour of calling.

STOMACH TROUBLES ARE DUE TO ACIDITY

Tells Safe, Certain, Speedy Relief for Acid Indigestion

So-called stomach troubles, such as indigestion, gas, sourness, stomach-ache and inability to retain food are in probably nine cases out of ten, simply evidence that excessive secretion of acid is taking place in the stomach, causing the formation of gas and acid indigestion.

Gas distends the stomach and causes that full, oppressive, burning feeling sometimes known as heartburn, while the acid irritates and inflames the delicate lining of the stomach. The trouble lies entirely in the excess development or secretion of acid.

To stop or prevent this souring of the food contents of the stomach and to neutralize the acid, and make it bland and harmless, a teaspoonful of Bisurated Magnesia, a good and effective corrector of acid stomach, should be taken in a quarter of a glass of hot or cold water after eating or whenever gas, sourness of acidity is felt. This sweetens the stomach and neutralizes the acidity in a few moments and is a perfectly harmless and inexpensive remedy to use.

An antiacid, such as Bisurated Magnesia, which can be obtained from any druggist in either powder or tablet form, enables the stomach to do its work properly without the aid of artificial digestants. Magnesia comes in several forms, so be certain to ask for and take only Bisurated Magnesia, which is especially prepared for the above purposes.

UNITED CHURCH PASTOR GIVEN HIGHER SALARY

BEGINS MAY 1.

H. W. Johnston Appointed Delegate to Meeting of Presbytery.

MILLBROOK, Aug. 13.—The inaugural meeting of the Official Board of the United Church was held on Wednesday evening, the pastor, Rev. F. H. Howard, taking the chair. Previous to the board meeting the Committee of Stewards met for the first time in their official capacity and considered financial matters in relation to the church, this being their particular responsibility under the basis of Union.

The elders, the Committee of Stewards and the heads of departments make up the membership of the Official Board, and the attendance at the first meeting was most encouraging.

Among other reports presented, Miss Needham, President of the Ladies' Aid, gave a financial statement for the past year showing a total of $183.61 which the society had expended in repairs to the church when the work of renovation was undertaken last June. This included a new rug for the vestry at a cost of $22, which Mrs. Locke and Mrs. McKnight, as conveners of the Fancy-work Committee, had presented out of the funds raised as a result of work completed and sold since the bazaar held last fall.

The matter of raising the pastor's salary came up for discussion, and it was finally moved and carried that this be raised from $1650 to $1,900, beginning last May.

H. W. Johnston was elected delegate to the inaugural meeting of the Presbytery to be held in Cobourg in October. W. Fred. Fallis was elected alternate. The Presbytery corresponds to what used to be known in the Methodist Church as the district meeting, but Durham is no longer in with Peterboro County, the bounds of practically all the districts having been changed.

Buffalo Bandits Get $6,000 —Paymaster May Die.

BUFFALO, N.Y., Aug. 13 (Canadian Press).—Two men were wounded, one probably fatally when four daylight highwaymen held up the paymaster at the Art Work Shop, No. 828 East Ferry Street, while employees were being paid off at 6 o'clock last night. The thieves stole about $6,000. Those wounded by robbers are: Ward J. Pierce, 45 years old, treasurer and paymaster of the company. He is in Deasonness Hospital suffering from a bullet wound in the abdomen and another in the right arm. His condition is critical. OBITUARY.

ANDREW LARUSH

The funeral took place yesterday, from his late home on Concession Street, of Andrew Larush, who died on Monday. He was born in Otonabee Township, February 8, 1856, and moved to Lakefield about four years ago from Warsaw, where he has resided for a time. His wife survives. The funeral service was conducted by the Rev. Walter Cox.

GEORGE SMITH

CAMPBELLFORD, Aug 13.—There passed away suddenly at his home, Front Street, about noon on Wednesday, Mr. George Smith, one of the towns most highly respected citizens.

The late Mr. Smith was a Great War veteran, enlisting early in the war with the 59th Battalion, going overseas and was captured by the Germans at the Battle of the Somme and suffered much for two years in German interment camps. His early demise is no doubt attributable to hardships endured during war service, he having on his return taken treatment in Kingston Military Hospital and a few months ago was a patient at Christie Street Hospital, Toronto.

The deceased, who was born in Preston, England, came to Campbellford about thirteen years ago, living previously for a time in Peterborough. He was a man of irreproachable character, a faithful member of St. John's United Church and choir, and a kind-hearted husband and father. He is survived by his wife, formerly Miss Nellie Carr, and three children, Leonard, Mary and George.

Mrs. Smith recently suffered the loss of her father in England.

The funeral, which will be accorded military honors, will take place on Friday afternoon, interment being in Mount Pleasant Cemetery. The pall bearers will be members of the choir.

CAMPBELLFORD FAIR DIRECTORS RENOVATING EXHIBITION PLANT

Special Accommodation For Accredited Herds—$400 For Horse Races.

SEEKING MIDWAY.

CAMPBELLFORD, Aug 13—The directors of the Seymour Agricultural Society held another meeting in the Public Library Tuesday night and made further preparations for the annual fair which this year will be held on October 1 and 2. There will be horse races for which $400 will be hung up in purses, and a midway show if it is possible to make terms with any concern of this kind before the public. The buildings will be put in first class shape for the different exhibits and an overseer will be secured to see that a stop is put to the vandalism that has been carried on during the past summer.

The Directors Present.

The directors present were: John Locke (president), J. Nelson Stone (secretary), William H. Locke, George Van Volkenburg, William A. Wynn, T. J. Horkins, W. M. Stephens, W. S. Grills, Ernest A. McCook, W. J. Abernethy, Garnet Kerr, and Honarary Director Fred Dinwoodie.

At a previous meeting it had been decided to offer no prizes for Hereford and Aberdeen-Angus cattle or for grade sheep, the reason being that there was not sufficient of these breeds of animals in the district to ensure competition.

Ernest A. McCook objected to this policy on the ground that it would defeat the object of the Fair to encourage the offering for exhibition of all classes of live stock. Finally it was decided to offer prizes for these classes as usual.

Sanitary Arrangements.

Director McCook reported that Reid, Department Veterinary, insisted that the cattle barn be put in sanitary condition and that none but stock that had passed the tuberculin test be allowed in it. To further prevent all risk of infection separate drinking utensils for tested and untested herds are to be used. Dr. Reid will attend the Fair to see that these regulations are enforced.

On motion of Directors Horkins and Stephens, Directors McCook, Kerr and Hume, all well known stock men, were appointed a committee to see that the rules laid down by the Department are observed.

Care of Rest Room.

The ladies rest room has been broken into, window panes smashed and the walls disfigured. The building will be repaired and securely locked and on motion of Directors Stephens and Wynn, the President and Secretary and Director Horkins were appointed a committee to look after this work and to engage a man to look after the building for the remainder of the summer.

Directors Hendy Van Volkenburg and W. H. Locke, were on motion of Directors Horkins and Abernethy, appointed a committee to estimate what repairs are needed in the sheep pens, and to report at a special meeting.

Secure A Midway.

President Locke, who with Director Stephens went to Belleville to secure a midway show reported that the company approached did not appear over-anxious for an engagement. The manager offered to pay $50 for the privilege of showing here, his company to control the concessions and no definite arrangements were made with him, the committee preferring to lay the matter before a meeting of the directors.

Director Horkins was in favor of having lacrosse and baseball games instead of a midway but Director Abernethy contended that a midway would draw more people to the Fair than any other special attraction. A committee will make further efforts to secure a midway.

The race committee were given authority to decide what classes of horse races will be held and how the $400 offered in prizes will be distributed.

Heads of Departments.

The following superintendents of the various departments were appointed:

Heavy horses—Charles Macoun.
Beef cattle—W. S. Grills.
Dairy cattle—G. A. Kingston.
Sheep—W. A. Wynn.
Poultry—W. J. Abernethy.
Grain, seeds and vegetables — George S. Van Volkenburg.
Domestic science—Mrs. A. J. Meyers and Mrs. T. L. Diamond.
Flowers—C. W. Palliser.
Manager of grounds—Henry Watters.

Committees Appointed.

The following committees were appointed.

Finance—W. H. Locke, W. M. Stephens, W. S. Grills, Garnet Kerr and E. A. McCook.

Committee to secure special prizes —the President and Secretary and Director Horkins.

Mrs. William Hume and other lady directors dropped into the meeting and Mrs. Hume asked if the ladies were to be restricted to a particular field in their efforts to secure special prizes for their department. The answer was that they could work anywhere they chose.

Directors Abroad.

Ex-President Alex. Hume is at present in Vancouver acting as Judge of Ayrshire cattle at the Exhibition in that city. President John Locke is also a Department Judge of cattle and will soon be out on the circuit. Dr. G. A. Hay will be one of the Judges of horses at Picton Fair.

Garnet Kerr, one of the directors, leaves Saturday for the Brockville Fair with 15 of his pure bred Jerseys for exhibition. He will show these cattle at Ottawa, Toronto and all the leading Fairs in Central and Eastern Ontario. He expects to be on the road until the middle of October. Mr. Kerr is another local man who has brought fame to his district by the prizes he has won with his pure bred stock.

Band's Lawn Social

The Northumberland Regiment Band will hold a Lawn Social on Monday evening, August 17, on the Grounds of St. John's Church. If the weather is unfavorable the entertainment will be held on the following Tuesday evening.

The Band will be assisted in furnishing a fine musical programme by the Citizens' Band of Frankford, consisting of 20 pieces and by the Blue Oechestra of Campbellford. Refreshments will be sold on the grounns.

Admission: Adults 25 cents; Children, 15 cents.

The public can best show its appreciation of the excellent public service rendered by the Band and of its value as an advertising asset to the town by a liberal patronage of this entertainment.

HASTINGS BEAT BRIGHTON GREYS FOR CLARKE CUP

Trent Town Captures Championship of the Northumberland League By 8 to 7.

CROWD OF 600.

(By a Staff Reporter.)

HASTINGS, August 13. — Hastings has won the Clarke cup, the Championship Trophy of the Northumberland Baseball League, an honor that has been so fairly achieved that even the opponents of the gentlemanly and hard working bunch of young people will join in congratulating them upon their triumph. The crucial game was played here Wednesday before a crowd of over 600, the contending team being the formidable Brighton Greys. It was a game in which every player on both teams did his best, where there was no ragging of the umpires either by fans or members of the teams, the kind of game which the average spectator likes to see, where there are few strike outs and passes, and where the fielders are kept busy. Of course there were errors and some loose plays but in this neither team had the advantage. Everybody conceded that the work of the umpire, with Alex. C. Kay behind the batter and J. W. Batten—both from Peterborough—was as nearly perfect as such service can be made. The score at the end of the game was 8-7 in favor of Hastings, that team having one innings to spare.

L. Scriver, the 18-year old Hastings twirler, pitched seven of the nine innings, and was still going strong when he was relieved by Stephenson, the left-hander, whose place he took in centre field. Even at this post Scriver distinguished himself, making a hard catch that nipped what looked like an extra base hit by Frise in the ninth, and making a double play that ended the struggle and won the cup for Hastings.

Brighton took the lead in the first when Cameron, the first man up, singled, and made the circuit on errors by the home team. Hastings was blanked in the first, but tied the score in their half of the second, tallied another in the third, and by piling up four runs in the fourth, established a lead which the Brightons strove earnestly, but vainly, to overtake. In their half of the sixth, the Hastings boys developed a batting streak that netted them another, their last run.

Brighton never gave up or lost hope until the last man was out. McKee, the playing manager, changed pitchers in the fourth innings, substituting the youthful Langdon for McCulloch, and changed his own position from short to second base but the stars in their courses seemed opposed to the fortunes of the Greys who went through the season without a reverse and held the lead until in the last two games on the schedule they met Hastings, the runners-up and came to grief, their hope of winning the trophy, which after such an unmterrupted list of victories must have crystalized into a certainty, being shattered. But Brighton's fate was simply the fortune of baseball. The score:

The Play-Off.

The Hastings champions will now play home-and-home games with Delora, the winners in the Bay of Quinte League. The first game will be played Saturday, whether at Deloro or Warkworth, to be decided to day. If a third game is necessary, it will be played on a neutral diamond, probably at Campbellford.

FOREIGN MINISTERS OF FRANCE AND

from the conversation here. Some see in it a sign that Belgium is becoming tired of her role of sticking to the French in endeavoring to extract their due from Germany by force if necessary.

Others look upon it as a hopeful indication of Anglo-French accord, pointing out that in gatherings of Allied statesmen in other years the Belgians always were considered as mediators between conflicting French and British views.

Their absence from the conversations ended yesterday is taken as a sign that where once there was discord, accord now exists and the mediators were not needed.

M. Briand said he probably would be in Geneva for the meeting of the League of Nations on September 2. Foreign Secretary Chamberlain also plans to be there.

"The conversations between M. Briand and Mr. Chamberlain have resulted in common agreement regarding the reply France, in accord with the Allies, propose to make to the last German note relating to the treaties of mutual guarantee and arbitration.

"Advantage was taken at this meeting for further exchange of views respecting the security pact. Such a treaty, however, cannot take shape until conversations have taken place between representatives of all parties concerned therein.

"The London meetings sensibly have improved the prospect of conversations taking place in the near future which will lead to a final result."

BRANDON HARVEST DELAYED BY RAIN

Work Held Up Until Friday By Day's Fall.

BRANDON. Aug. 13.—(Canadian Press).—Heavy showers of rain, general in this district during the past 24 hours, delayed harvesting, which will not likely be resumed until Friday, as the fields are soaked. There is sufficient moisture to carry the late crops through, and farmers are hoping for clear weather. Rye cutting is about finished.

NORTH MONAGHAN COUNCIL KEEN TO RID ROADS OF NOXIOUS WEEDS

Suggests That the Suburban Area Commission and County Superintendent Co-operate.

CHARITY ACCOUNTS.

The North Monaghan Council held its regular monthly meeting at the Court House on Friday August 11. Reeve Rye reported that he had engaged Mr. Webster, O. L. S., to measure and survey the five acres of land purchased from A. Patterson to be used as a dump ground.

The clerk read a letter from the Hon. John S. Martin, Minister of Agriculture, and the Hon. George S. Henry, Minister of Highways, which dealt with the destruction of noxious weeds growing along public highways in the province. A statement of the Noxious Weeds Act was included in the letter. It stated that overseers of highways or other municipal officers in charge of highways must see that all noxious weeds growing upon the highways in their respective divisions are cut down or destroyed in the proper time to prevent the ripening of the seed. The cost of cutting the weeds is provided for as a part of the allotment for road maintenance toward which the province pays its percentage of cost.

The question of cutting weeds on the high ways and on private property came before the council and was fully discussed. It was pointed out that the ordinary rate of wages as set at the present time, was insufficient to cover the cost of maintaining a mowing machine. When used in the highways and encountering stones, wire and other obstacles. The council passed a resolution that in addition to the ordinary rate of wages the municipality pay for such repairs as guards sections and ledger plates.

The mower was to be inspected by the township road superintendent prior to going on the highway.

A resolution as passed that the township road superintendent be authorized to have the west end of Rose avenue graded as far east as houses are built at the present time.

Weed Inspector.

Mr. George Patton, township road superintendent, was present and stated that he desired to know the wishes of the council in regard to his duties as noxious weed inspector.

The consensus of the council regarding the work that has been done up to the present time may be summed up as follows, that the Council of the Township of North Monaghan is desirous of co-operating as far as possible with the wishes of the provincial government and in doing so ask the assistance of the Suburban Area Commission and the superintendent of county roads. Regarding the work which has been done much criticism has been expressed to the effect that the work has not been performed satisfactorily, in that the mowing has been done too high and too many weeds have been missed but the council hopes that with the co-operation of the ratepayers in general and those officials interested in county roads to have the Township of North Monaghan cleaned up in a satisfactory manner.

Mr. Frank Pratt township relief officer, made his report and presented bills for relief distributed during April, May and June as follows:

Mendell Braund, provisions, charity, $25; W. J. Byers, $4.08; W. J. Fitzgerald, wood, $36.50; W. J. Byers, provisions, $34.05; Herb Stinson, taxi charity, $2; Little Lake Cemetery Company, opening grave, $11; Nicholls Hospital, charity, $24; Nicholls Hospital, charity, $10.50.

The above accounts were passed and ordered to be paid.

Mr. W. H. Beal, local manager of the gas plant for the Hydro Electric Power Commission, wrote asking permission to lay a gas main on Albert street. 525 feet east of Lock street. Mr. Beals request was granted.

Water Rates Collection.

Mr. Thomas Glover of Brown street wrote asking the council to appoint some person to collect the water rates on Brown street in his stead. Mr. Glover explained that he had assumed this duty for the past five years and wished to be relieved of further responsibility. The clerk agreed to interview the residents of Brown street regarding this matter and to report at the next meeting.

The treasurer was instructed to pay Adamson and Dobbin $3.20 for grease cups and the bill was sign by the township road superintendent.

Petitions were again presented for water mains on King George street and Lock street and owing to certain errors were left over till the next meeting. The clerk was instructed to write to the township road superintendent and notify him that the council, in view of his dual position as township superintendent and noxious weed inspector expects him to be a working road superintendent. That is, when not engaged in inspection of work that he take hold and work with the men.

STICK TO THE FACTS.

Some weeks ago the Examiner declared that a mistake was being made in advertising some of the nearby lakes as a fishermen's paradise when such a description was far off the mark, and a first-hand investigation since the article was published has confirmed that view.

The lakes should either be re-stocked with fish or else the publicity agents should confine their advertising to extolling the advantages of this section of Ontario as a summer playground and family resort.

To bring hard-boiled fishermen hundreds of miles expecting a daily take of long strings of bass and maskinonge is a mistake that is bound to react unfavourably.

It is not fair to such anglers, and it is certain to hurt the reputation of the Kawartha Lakes to have disappointed fishermen go home complaining bitterly.

There is no finer family resort in the Province than Stoney Lake for example; it has enough to offer visitors without attempting to make it appear something that it has not been within recent years.

Stick to the facts—it is the only policy that will pay in the long run.

BE ON GUARD ALWAYS.

British Columbia's experience with forest fires should add new emphasis to the frequent warnings that have been issued in regard to the necessity of those who are called into the woods by business or pleasure exercising the greatest care.

Like most other fires, nearly every forest conflagration is the result of somebody's carelessness.

A big fire always starts from a small one, and in the case of a blaze in a forest the spread of the flames is awe-inspiring in its rapidity.

Not long ago a party of Stoney Lake visitors had an experience that showed them how simply a bush fire can be started when a spark from their shore dinner fire set the dry moss alight, and for a few minutes the blaze threatened to spread across a whole island—only quick work preventing such a catastrophe.

Campers and hunters cannot be too careful about their camp fires, or about the disposition of their cigarette ends and matches.

A still burning match flung carelessly to one side in the bush has been the origin of just such disastrous fires as have caused so much havoc in British Columbia.

COMMUNITY PRESS AGENTS.

With the Peterboro Industrial Exhibition almost in sight of the week's Fair that a few years ago seemed as remote as the days when women wore long skirts and long hair, the people of the city and district should from now on add themselves to the Exhibition's publicity department as volunteer press agents.

The Canadian National Exhibition has been made one of the greatest Fairs in the world, largely because the people of Toronto have adopted it as their own and never lose a chance to broadcast its merits.

Queen City people curtail their vacation because of the Exhibition, and they throw open their homes to folks from the hinterland so that the whole Province can be impressed with the great annual event.

It may be the Canadian National Exhibition, but Toronto people look on it as their own function, and their enthusiasm has undoubtedly been the greatest factor in the wonderful growth and progress of the Exhibition.

With a similar attitude toward the Peterboro Industrial by this community, the results would be surprising.

Talk Peterboro Industrial for the next month—and watch all records go by the boards.

JUVENILE DELINQUENCY.

The official announcement that juvenile delinquency is on the increase in Canada, particularly in Ontario, should cause some serious thought.

It is disquieting to find that in spite of all the social service efforts being made to take care of the under-privileged children that the youngsters of today are wandering from the straight and narrow path.

In Peterboro, where the Rotary and Kiwanis Clubs are interesting themselves in the boy who hasn't had a chance and where supervised playgrounds and other facilities are provided for the children, the increase in juvenile misconduct has perhaps not been noticeable, but the statistics indicate that the average over the Province does not compare favourably with the showing some years ago.

There are so many agencies to combat such a condition of affairs that the conclusion cannot be dodged that the real source of trouble is to be found in the home, in the lack of the parental training that should guide young footsteps along the right path.

Peterboro parents, in the light of the declaration that juvenile delinquency is on the increase, should study conditions in their own homes.

CHICAGO'S RECORD.

You will not find it written in the publicity of the Board of Trade, but the fact remains that Chicago is the most lawless great city in the world. It is a reflection on urban life in America. The community on Lake Michigan has become a breeding place for major crime which spreads out to contaminate every other city in the United States.

No American city can afford to assume a self-righteous air in the discussion of Chicago banditry. In some measure we are all tarred by the same stick. Chicago has no corner on the profession of murder and violence. Recent events show, however, that nowhere else in the world has indifference to human life and unabashed defiance of law assumed such menacing proportion.

The latest escapade of the Chicago underworld—the daylight holdup of a fashionable hotel—was given the public in recent news. Before these words appear in print a new and greater demonstration of Chicago's favorite pastime may be furnished. For the present, however, the raid on the Drake Hotel sets a mark for other freebooters to aim at. The fact that two of the raiders lost their lives will not discourage the competition.

If this were Chicago's own affair people outside need not interest themselves. Chicago could put a stop to this reign of outlawry if she cared enough about it to exert herself. The problem is not so simple, however. A pestilence of crime can no more be confined to a single city than a pestilence of smallpox can be confined to a single suite in a crowded tenement. Crime spreads like a cancer. Graduates of Chicago's school of brigandage are setting up in business for themselves in other cities wherever the prospects appear promising.

What, then, is the matter with Chicago?

One factor is that the public there, as in other cities, is too much "surcharged with maudlin sentiment" toward criminals, as the Cleveland Association for Criminal Justice said the other day. In fact, we wonder if this is not the underlying difficulty in the whole problem.

If public sentiment were united behind law enforcement it would make short work of judges, jurors or prosecutors who tried to invent excuses for leniency. It would not martyrize murderers awaiting execution, would not tolerate police inefficiency or judicial bungling in criminal cases, would not accept "life" terms for capital offenders. It would demand speedy prosecutions, verdicts in accordance with damning evidence and hanging or electrocution while the crime to be explated is still remembered.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

CURBING CRIME.

Judge Elbert H. Gray has been suggested as the head of a committee to find ways and means of dealing with the present epidemic of banditry in the United States.

Judge Gary would be an admirable choice to organize such a committee if he could devote his time to it, for four reasons: He has judicial experience, is a lawyer by profession, is in the habit of dealing practically and effectively with large affairs and has great sagacity.

The crime wave is not a local disease. Banditry is not exclusively prevalent in any one metropolis. Gunmen are even more rampant in Chicago than in New York. Statistics show that crimes of violence are more frequent in proportion to the population in Memphis, Tenn., than in any other American city.

No cure will be found, we believe, until the administration of the criminal law in all our cities is drastically changed and until the police force of every great city is, temporarily at least, increased to deal with the deadly narcotic vendors as well as with the bandits.

Crime is most rampant in the great cities, where the illicit sale of narcotic drugs, morphine, cocaine and heroin, is most prevalent.

The majority of criminals are young men, some of them mere boys, most of them under the influence of cocaine or heroin when doing crimes. The drug makes them crazed, reckless, without fear, willing to kill—even needlessly.

The gunmen do not fear the criminal courts. They know that nine murderers out of ten in any large American city escape severe punishment through the technical devices which criminal lawyers practice and which judges tolerate.

But the gunmen do mortally dread the clubs of policemen, the courage of the policemen and their skill as sharpshooters.

Deeds of New York policemen as valiant as any recorded in war time are recorded almost daily in New York newspapers, in reporting the day-by-day struggles with these bandits.

London has one-tenth as many murders in a year as New York City or Chicago. And London has twice as many policemen as New York.

The administration of the criminal law in England is a model for all countries. The administration of the criminal law in the United States has been described by Chief Justice Taft as "a national disgrace."

Judge Gary will find that the first essential steps are an immediate, if temporary, increase in the police force and, equally necessary, a thorough-going reform in the methods of dealing with criminals in our courts of justice.—New York American.

WOMEN PRESENT GIFTS TO GIRLS

Roseneath Women's Institute Reward Successful Pupils in Recent Exams.

ROSENEATH, Aug. 12.—A meeting of the Women's Institute was held at the home of Mrs. Joseph Braithwaite, when there were about forty, including members and visitors, present.

The meeting opened with the singing of the Institute Ode, followed by minutes of previous meeting, their adoption being moved by Mrs. J. Robins.

A request from Mr. Daly of the Children's Shelter, Port Hope, was heard and finally a motion was made that the usual grant of $25 be sent as in previous years.

After considerable discussion it was agreed to hold a garden party on the Fair Grounds on August 14. Committees were appointed in charge of the programme, also for the supper and canteen.

Mrs. Brown, the president, spoke of the district convention that had been held in Cobourg recently, and called on Mrs. G. Ingham to read the report, which gave a synopsis of the business done there. This concluded the business part of the meeting.

Mrs. Robins gave a humorous reading, "Our Minister's Sermon," and Mrs. Mary Brown a reading, "The Best Creed," which was full of excellent thoughts.

The President then called on the girls who had been successful in their entrance to High School examinations to come forward. They had all been invited to attend, when the three receiving the highest marks would receive a sum of money. Mr. Davey, their principal, was present also, when he and Mrs. Brown made short speeches, complimenting the girls. Mr. Davey's entrance class was very fortunate, when ten out of twelve were successful.

To Miss Thelma Thompson was given a five dollar gold-piece by the secretary, Mrs. C. W. Varcoe, on behalf of the Institute. Mr. Davey presented Miss Bernice Brown with three dollars, she coming second, and Miss Mildred Lapp, two dollars, who was third in the class.

The other five girls who had passed were present also to see the presentation, as they too had worked hard to obtain the money, and were interested.

Mrs. Jibb, secretary of the Fenella branch, was present, and told how they had given a similar donation to the schools in their locality. A former teacher of the district was present also, and added a few remarks.

A vote of thanks was tendered the hostess, when the meeting concluded by singing the National Anthem.

A THOUGHT.

WE ATTRACT WHAT WE ARE.

When the whole world looks cold, and the people appear unpleasant, I start for the medicine chest.

When my breath is feverish and my mind mean—when everybody about me seems sour I'm "sour." You understand.

My emotions are either making me cross-eyed or my nasty nature is causing me to look for trouble.

Nearly sixty cold winters have taught me that you cannot thaw out an associate or a friend with a face that looks like February.

We get what we give. We attract what we are.

When I am pleasant and kindly the people in this old world seem to be just right. When I start to sell, write, talk or work, and my heart is beating with a friendly feeling, all my associates and all the folks I meet seem to be with me.

Long ago I decided to hand out exactly what I should like to have other folks pass back to me.

TORONTO CATTLE

TORONTO, Aug. 13—Trade on the cattle market yesterday showed no more activity than Tuesday with 2-000 leftovers. Exporters were picking up a few steers from $7.50 to $8.25 and some heifers from $7 to $7.50. Rogers and Maybee shipped 850 cattle to Liverpool. Good light butcher cattle are in demand from $6.75 to $7.50. Good cows are steady at $4.50 to $5.00 for the best. Canning cattle are active. Common to plain butcher cattle are not selling.

The calf trade is holding steady with the best lots making from $10 to $11, and grassers are around $4.50.

The hog market is unsettled. No sales have been made but sellers are holding for $13.75 for thick smooths off cars and $15.08 for selects.

In spite of a heavy run the lamb market opened steady with the best lots bringing $14.75 to $15. Bulls $2 discount. Sheep are steady at $6 to $7.50 for the best.

A few choice baby beeves were selling up to $11.50.

MONTREAL PRODUCE

MONTREAL, August 13 (Canadian Press)—Considerable business was transacted with foreign buyers in Canadian grain on the Montreal market yesterday. Spot prices for oats were steady and the demand was moderate:

Owing to the excessive buying of American buyers, the winter wheat flour market was firmer, but there was no actual change in prices. There was no change in the spring wheat flour situation, both foreign and home being brisk.

There was a good local and foreign demand for millfeed and trading in this commodity was busier than it has been for some time. In the rolled oat market there was a good business done and prices were steady.

There was little trade in the local baled hay market on account of the shortage of the commodity in the city. Dealers are anxiously awaiting the harvest when it is expected that trade will be considerably increased. Prices were unchanged from the previous day.

Business in export butter was rather brisk. Foreign buying was busier than it has been for some time and local traders were welcoming the change from the rather quiet run that the butter trade has suffered. Prices were unchanged. Receipts were much higher than normally, being 4,238 as compared with 2,227 on the previous day and 2,329 on the same day a year ago.

Receipts of cheese were 5,238 as compared with 17,324 on Tuesday and 11,403 on the same day last year. Trading in cheese was reported to be extremely quiet, both foreign and local sales being very low. Prices were fair.

Trading in eggs was again very quiet, it being thought that there will be little change in the situation for about another ten days or so. Prices were the same as on the previous day. Receipts were 1,207 as compared with 2,198 on the previous day and 1,136 on the same day a year ago.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, Aug. 13 (Canadian Press)—Stormy weather in the Canadian Northwest threatening to bring about a wet harvest had much to do with defeating attempts to force wheat prices down. After a temporary setback in values, previous sellers of wheat turned suddenly to the buying side, and the market virtually bare of offerings went up with a rush. Wheat closed strong, 2 1-4 to 4 1-2 cents net higher at the top figures of the day. September $1.64 3-8 to $1.64 1-2 and December $1.61 3-4 to $1.62, with corn 1-2 to 1 7-8c down, oats 3-4 to 1c off, and provisions varying from 2 cents decline to a rise of 10 cents.

The late advance in wheat prices amounted to 5 3-4 cents a bushel from the day's bottom figures for the September delivery. Houses with eastern connections were among the principal late buyers and were also the heaviest sellers earlier, making the market undergo a material but brief decline about midday, whereas the price trend had been upward. Initial gains here were due more or less to unfavorable weather in Great Britain and to a reduction of crop estimates there. Rain reports from the Canadian Northwest received but little notice until late in the day.

Contributing to the general strength of the wheat market was a decided falling off in the movement of domestic winter wheat to primary centres. With country holders firm in their views, arrivals today in Chicago totalled only 64 cars, and aggregate primary receipts were less than a third of the total a year ago. In this connection it was pointed out that ordinary No. 2 hard winter wheat at Kansas City was bringing five to six cents a bushel premium over the September price, and that mills which have depended on Kansas as a source of supply must to a large extent look elsewhere owing to unusual curtailment of the 1925 Kansas crop. Good rains, together with enlarged country offerings, eased down the corn market. Liberal receipts weakened oats.

Scattered buying upheld the provision market.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE.

Dear Editor,—I read in a paper the other day that the Canadian Government was going to pension off all the soldiers who served in the Great War. Kindly publish an answer in your Voice of the People column whether this is true or not, with all information necessary for me to get my application in on time. This paper said the applications had to be in before August 17th.

Hoping you will oblige me by doing this, I am, yours respectfully,
A Returned Man.

This evidently refers to the provision for appeals on behalf of men who have a disability but who have had no pension granted them by the Pensions Commission. The last date for lodging appeals is August 17. There is absolutely no prospect of pensions being granted to all soldiers who served in the Great War.

KAWARTHA LAKES IN NEW ROAD MAP

Department of Interior Will Include Them in Future Sheets.

Following the suggestion last month of the Chamber of Commerce that the map indicating automobile roads issued by the Department of Interior, should designate the Kawartha Lakes, a reply has been received stating that it is the intention of the Department to enlarge this map considerably and divide it into so many sheets. This will definitely assure the showng of the Kawartha Lakes.

The Department is doing extensive publicity work to attract tourists to the Dominion and the interests of this district will be closely watched by the Chamber of Commerce, and Trent Waterway Development Association.

FOREIGN MINISTERS OF FRANCE AND BRITAIN REACH AGREEMENT ON REPLY TO GERMANY'S NOTE

Nature of Note is Not Disclosed, as Diplomatic Etiquette Forbids.

NO BELGIANS THERE.

Have Been Looked on as Mediators Between French and British.

LONDON, Aug. 13. — (Canadian Press). — Another step toward the security pact upon which Western Europe likely will pin its hope for peace in the future was taken yesterday when the French and British Foreign Ministers reached a common agreement on the reply France is to make to the last German note concerning treaties of mutual guarantee and arbitration.

Having settled these points, Foreign Minister Briand and Austen Chamberlain, the British Foreign Secretary, took advantage of their conference in London to exchange views on the security pact. Exactly what their views are on this subject only they know, but the Foreign Office last night issued a statement saying their meeting had "sensibly improved prospects for conversations taking place in the near future which will lead to a final result."

These conversations, of course, are to be between the statesmen of the Allied nations and those of Germany, and a beginning likely will be made next time the German Ambassador to Great Britain calls on Mr Chamberlain in Downing Street.

M. Briand has declined to indicate the nature of the reply France will send to Germany, as diplomatic etiquette requires that the German Government receive the message before it is given to the world. Although neither statesmen said so in so many words, both Chamberlain and Briand seem to feel that informal conversations such as those they have just happily concluded here in London will bring the statesmen of Europe closer and more quickly to an understanding in the future than will note writing and formal conferences.

"Conferences aren't quite such happy occasions as more informal conversations," Briand remarked to correspondents who asked him what the possibilities were for a conference between Germany and the Allies. "I can remember conferences which have not come to successful conclusions," he added, and everyone laughed, remembering Cannes, where Briand, as Premier, played golf with Lloyd George and a French Cabinet crisis followed.

M. Briand said it was not unlikely that conversations soon would take place with German representatives.

"On our side Mr. Chamberlain and I have put everything in order that it was possible for us to arrange at the present time."

Many observers think it significant that the Belgians were absent

HAIG WAS UNABLE TO VISIT MARITIMES

Expects to Return to Canada Next Year and Make Visit Then.

OTTAWA, Aug. 13. — (Canadian Press).—"The fact that Field Marshal Earl Haig did not visit the Maritime Provinces in the course of his recent trip to Canada has been called to my attention," stated Hon. E. M. MacDonald, Minister of National Defence, when questioned in the matter yesterday.

"I desire to point out, however," stated Mr. MacDonald, "that Earl Haig did not come to Canada at the invitation of the Canadian Government, which was very glad though to share in his reception, but with the object of re-organizing returned soldier organizations throughout the Dominion.

"I expressed my regret to Earl Haig at his inability to visit the Maritime Provinces; but he assured me that this was impossible on account of the fact that he had other engagements on the other side this summer.

"Earl Haig, however, told me that he expected to come to Canada next summer, and visit the Maritime Provinces particularly."

He and a brother-in-law named McDougall, were fishing in separate boats. When Mason did not follow, the latter to the camp for supper, a search was instituted, and the boat found empty. Later the body was recovered in four feet of water.

OBITUARY.

HENRY J. LABRASH.

Death came with startling suddenness on July 25 to Henry J. LaBrash at Nelson, B. C., where he was killed by lightning.

The late Mr. LaBrash was well known in this community, having been born in Ontario. He received part of his High School education in Campbellford, completing his course in Nelson, B. C. He was of a cheery disposition and his passing will be deeply mourned both here and in Nelson, B. C., and Naksup, where he has been a well-known contractor for several years. His works of charity in that district will long be remembered.

There are left to mourn his loss three sisters and four brothers—Mrs. Geo. Shaw, Warkworth; Peter, of Everett, Wash.; Jack, of Vancouver; Gus, of Blind River, Ont.; William, Mary and Margaret, on the homestead. Two nephews, Wm. Shaw, of Warkworth, and Wm. LaBrash, of Everett, Wash., and two nieces, Miss Ruth LaBrash and Mrs. T. H. Coheen, of Seattle, also survive.

The remains were brought to Colbourne at 12 a.m. Sunday, Aug. 2, accompanied by his brother, Mr. P. LaBrash, and were taken to the home of another brother, William, farmer near Norham.

The funeral took place on Monday morning at nine o'clock to the R. C. Church, Warkworth, where requeim mass was sung by Rev. Father Ferguson. The remains were laid to rest in the family plot at Warkworth.

The spiritual and floral tributes were very numerous. Among those from a distance who sent floral offerings were: Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Benwell, Nelson; Mr. and Mrs. Jordan and family, Edgewood, B. C.; Capt. Fitzsimmins, Arrow Lake, B. C.; Dr. and Mrs. Doughty, Edgewood, B. C.; and Dimples Bathwood, Nelson.

GERMANY TO USE TARIFF WEAPON

Will Adjust Duties on Imports on Favored Nation Basis.

BERLIN, Aug. 13 (Canadian Press).—The Government's tariff bill, which passed its third reading in the Reichstag yesterday without amendment but after one of the stormiest debates in German parliamentary history, provides conspicuously high duties for foodstuffs and various categories of industrial products.

While the new duties will tend to hamper Canadian exports to Germany, it is indicated in official quarters that the tariffs represent maximums which are to constitute a basis for subsequent negotiations with other nations. In the case of food duties, for instance, it is pointed out that the Ministry of Agriculture is empowered to alter these in order to secure reciprocal treatment from nations which have not yet concluded treaties with Germany.

START BRINGING TROOPS OUT OF NOVA SCOTIA DURING THIS WEEK

COST $325,000.

Expense of Keeping Force There is Chargeable to the Province.

HALIFAX, N.S., Aug. 13.—(Canadian Press).—The removal of the thousand or more troops which have been stationed in Cape Breton from various parts of Canada since the middle of June, is scheduled to commence next Saturday, Attorney-General J. C. Douglas announced yesterday. The troops were sent to the colliery districts after the New Waterford riot of June 11, when one man was killed and numbers injured, and which was followed by looting and burning of British Empire Steel Corporation stores.

The cost of transporting the troops and maintaining them from June 12 to August 8 was $325,000, according to figures furnished by the Department of National Defence, given to the Attorney-General yesterday at his request by Major-General H. C. Tracker, officer in command of district No. 6. The figures are an estimate based on an average daily cost of $4,224, plus eighty thousand dollars for transportation to and from Cape Breton.

Following former strikes when troops were requisitioned, the municipalities were billed with the total amount of their wages and upkeep. In this instance, through the amendment to the Act covering the requisition of troops, the Province will be billed. What amount the Province will be asked to pay will be revealed when the charges are made by the Department of National Defence but it is stated on good authority that payment will be protested by the Provincial Government of charges which would have been involved had the forces been at their regular stations in Canada.

According to Government figures, the number of men signed on for employment in Cape Breton since the end of the strike Monday morning, up to Tuesday night, was 5,934, and of these 3,711 had been put to work.

Tuesday's output of coal in Cape Breton was 1,633 tons, but yesterday, in addition to One B and Caledonia, Princess and Florence started operations. Another mine, Number Three, starts to-day.

In Pictou County on the mainland, mining conditions will shortly be normal, and in Cumberland County the mines are fast being put into operating shape.

No Notice Yet.

OTTAWA, Aug. 13. — (Canadian Press). — The Department of National Defence had not received notice of the removal of troops from the Cape Breton coal district up to the hour of Departmental closing yesterday afternoon. It was pointed out last evening, however, that a request for the withdrawal of the troops made by the Attorney-General of the Province to the officer commanding the military district would be followed by their removal.

The question of expense incurred through the requisitioning of the troops and the amount which the Province of Nova Scotia will be required to pay, will be a matter for adjustment between the Department here and the Provincial authorities. Under the amended Act, the Province, and not the municipalities, is responsible for the expenses. Just what is involved in expenses is, it is stated, a matter of interpretation.

Hear Instructive Papers on Two Topics of General Interest.

REPORTS GIVEN.

BETHANY, Aug. 13.—The Women's Missionary Society of the United Church held their August meeting in the Sunday School room of the church on Tuesday afternoon with 13 members and one visitor present.

Mrs. Jackson, the President, presided and opened the meeting by requesting that the Watchword be repeated in concert after the opening hymn and prayer. The Scripture lesson was read by the President.

The devotional paper, "Sincerity in Prayer," was read by Miss McMullen.

Mrs. Fred. Thompson read a very interesting paper on "The Christian Attitude Toward Alcohol."

A season of prayer followed that a special guidance may be given in directing temperance education. Seven Watch Tower Heralds reported on the work being done in the mission fields assigned to them for this year—Mrs. Monk, on French work; Miss Weatherilt, on India; Mrs. Brown, on Africa; Mrs. Jackson, on "Save Our Sabbaths"; Miss Rodwell, on Korea; Mrs. Thompson, on "Temperance"; and Mrs. Wm. Lee, on "Systematic Giving."

A discussion followed on whether it would be wiser to continue having monthly teas or would they have them quarterly. Mrs. P. C. Brown moved and Mrs. Wm. Lee seconded it, that they be quarterly. Mrs. Monk, Mrs. Brown and Miss McMullen were a volunteer committee for the first one to be held in September. This was approved by all. After singing a hymn, the meeting closed with the use of the Mizaph Benediction. Collection, $2; 18 members have taken mite boxes.

THE FIGHTING RANGER

By F. J. McCONNELL and GEORGE W. PYPER.

The prosecutor, a sharp-featured man with a quick and convincing tongue, was addressing the jury. Ferociously he assailed every argument of the frail defense Taggart had put up. His words fell like hammer blows upon Mary, and her hope kept sinking and sinking. Her father's face was pale and haggard, as he listened to the prosecutor's denunciation.

The end was near. The prosecutor was shouting in a high, shrill voice. The jurors hung on his words.

"The defense has told you that John Marshall shot in self-defense—to protect his own life," the prosecutor was saying. "Now, in conclusion, gentlemen, let me ask you just one question. In the answer to that question, which you will form in your own minds, you should find the basis for your verdict.

"The question is this—if the story told by the defense were true—if the killing of Black Benwell was justified, as they have sought to prove—then why, gentlemen, why did this man"—and he pointed an accusing finger at Marshall, a picture of despair where he sat beside Mary, her own eyes tearful, but flashing defiance at the prosecutor, and trying vainly to comfort her father—"why did John Marshall?" the prosecutor's voice shrilled on, his finger shaking at the prisoner, "flee into hiding from the law for fifteen years?"

He halted, to allow the full effect of his master stroke to fall upon the courtroom. The spectators stirred with hushed excitement—the jury looked more tense than ever. Confident he had scored, the prosecutor resumed:

"The State rests its case in your hands, gentlemen, with the demand that the defendant expiate his crime by the death penalty!"

The tense excitement in the room subsided in a degree as the prosecutor took his seat, and the gray-headed judge arose and droned out his charge to the jury, summing up the points on both sides in a dispassionate, drawling voice.

A deputy touched Taggart on the elbow.

"Your'e wanted outside a minute, Mr. Taggart."

Taggart went out in the hall. It was Stella Montrose who was waiting for him. He whispered with her in a corner at the end of the corridor.

"I've waited long enough," Stella told him. "Come across with the rest of that money—or I'll stop the show—NOW."

Her expression was determined. Taggart was alarmed.

"Sh-h-h-h. I've already told you the bank gave O'Rourke a cashier's check for $20,000," he said. "That, with the $5,000 cash I already slipped you will make the total we agreed on."

"Well, but give it to me." Stella insisted.

"Wait," whispered Taggart. "The check's no good until Marshall's girl endorses it. I've told them O'Rourke beat it over the border. We've got to play this right. Just bide your time. Marshall is doomed. When I get his ranch I'll let you in on the game. Don't worry—I'll treat you right."

"Well, you better." Stella said, and they parted.

The judge finished his charge to the jury as Taggart re-entered the courtroom. The jurors filed out, and the judge dismounted from the bench. A buzz of conversation filled the courtroom as the recess began.

"We have done our best," he said. "I am hopeful, very hopeful."

After an hour of dreadful suspense for Mary and her father, word was sent from the jury room that a verdict had been reached. The judge mounted to the bench, rapped for order, and remained standing as the jurors filed in to their box in the courtroom.

"Mr. Foreman, will you announce the finding of this jury?" the judge droned.

An ominous hush fell upon the courtroom. The spectators all leaned forward in their seats breathlessly. John Marshall gripped his chair and waited, rigid and livid. Mary, pale, pressed against him, and stroked his hand.

The foreman of the jury arose and spoke, slowly chopping out his words:

The muttered awe that thrilled through the courtroom at the word "Guilty" almost drowned out his last words. The judge beat his gavel upon the rostrum. Marshall had sunk back in his chair in utter despair. Mary arose, her hands clenched, her face filled with wild terror.

Whispering voices buzzed through the room. Mary, her head at first swimming with defiance, in her over-wrought state about to fly into the faces of the judge and jury screaming, suddenly subsided, and fell swooning into Taggart's arms.

The judge was rapping for order, and silence once more filled the room.

"You have heard the verdict of the jury," he was droning. "The court will pronounce sentence upon the prisoner two weeks from today, and until that time the case is adjourned."

CHAPTER 18.
A Reckless Ride.

During the critical week preceding the trial of John Marshall, Terence had been held prisoner in a lonely canyon cabin by Buck McLeod and his gang.

The ambush they had laid for him on the day he was returning from the bank at Latigo with the check for the balance of Mary's money had worked. They had caught him unawares, coming down upon him, seemingly out of nowhere, on all sides of him at once, covering him with their guns, and he had been forced to surrender, or he would have been shot to death. Buck had taken from him the envelope he had gotten at the bank and delivered it to Taggart in Pico, while the other men disarmed him and led him to the canyon cabin where they imprisoned him.

He had been constantly on the alert for opportunities to escape, but they kept a double armed guard over him, night and day.

"He's a tough customer—we can't take any chances on him," Buck told his gang.

On the day after the trial, Buck returned to the canyon, after a conference with Taggart at the Pico Bar, in a large motor car.

"The boss says rush him across into Mexico, as far out of the way as possible," he explained.

Covering him with their guns, they forced Terence, whose hands were tightly bound, into the car. One of them sat on each side of him; Buck took the wheel. He seized the clutch, threw the car into gear, and they started off down the road at high speed.

Buck was a reckless driver. He kept accelerating the speed of the car to its utmost. Snorting and racing furiously, they approached the old wooden bridge across the River. The warning sign on the bridge approach read, "Danger—Speed limit over bridges eight miles per hour."

Buck did not heed the sign. He was going at more than sixty miles an hour, and kept right on. The shaky wooden bridge trembled and groaned as the heavy car plunged on to it at that velocity. As the car reached the middle there was a sound of snapping timbers, a crash. The old wooden structure collapsed, dropping the careening car into the water below.

There was one nearby, watching, who saw the accident. It was Komi, the old Yaqui chief.

He saw the men struggling in the water, each man for himself, to disentangle themselves from the wreckage. Then he saw three of them, swimming desperately for the shore.

In the midst of the circling ripples, left by the plunge of the automobile, he suddenly saw a fourth head rise to the surface, sputting, then sink again.

Komi ran to the end of the remains of the bridge, watched for this head to rise again, then dove in and swam swiftly to the spot. Just as the head rose to the surface for the third time Komi reached the drowning man and caught him by the hair.

He recognized the man as Terence. Komi started swimming for the shore, dragging Terence after him. Buck and his comrades had reached shore, and were standing on the bank, watching and waiting. They ran up as Komi pulled in and laid Terence's limp body on the ground.

"Dead," he cried, as the men approached him. "Me too late." He pointed at Terence's bound hands. "Him hands tied—can't swim. Him drown."

There was no breath stirring in Terence's breast. He lay motionless. Buck approached, kicked him with his foot, to turn him over. The limp body rolled over, and lay still.

Komi spoke again:

"Leave him body with Komi, please," he said. "Him's father Komi's friend—Komi bury him—where his father sleeps."

"No harm in that, I guess," Buck said grimly, turning to his fellows. "He won't trouble us no more now. You birds beat it back to camp. I'm streaking for the Spear Ranch to 'phone Taggart that O'Rourke's croaked."

Komi watched carefully till all vanished from sight. Then he bent over Terence's body, cut the rope which bound his hands, worked his arms vigorously, then bent over and listened to his heart.

"Maybe yet," he muttered, "maybe yet him live."

With renewed zest he started working Terence's arms to restore respiration.

At the end of half a hour Terence still lay limp, but the old Indian kept up the resuscitatory motions, faithfully and frantically in the dim hope of still bringing him to life.

CHAPTER 19.
Agonising News.

"If Buck and the boys have put O'Rourke out of the way, as I instructed them," Taggart was saying, tapping the table with nervous fingers, "we are safe, for he won't be able to testify that Mary didn't cash that check herself."

As Stella was about to reply, there was a knock on the door, and Taggart motioned her to be silent.

"Come in,"

The door opened, admitting Mary, accompanied by Bud Hughes. Bud stared in open-mouthed astonishment at Stella. Her face, too, lighted up with recognition at the sight of him.

"Why it's Stella," he exclaimed. "Stella Montrose," and he ran forward and greeted her warmly.

"Bud Hughes," she cried, taking his hand. "I'd never have known you—in that beard and those cowpuncher clothes."

Beaming, Bud turned to the puzzled Mary and Taggart, and explained:

He turned back to Stella, and took a seat beside her. They became immediately engrossed in reminiscences of the past. Stroking his beard, and laughing, he said:

"I've threatened to yank these chin slivers off for a long time. I'll do it now." Then he added in a more serious tone, with a note of tenderness, "I'd never have grown them if I hadn't lost you, Stella. I've often thought of you, and hoped against hope that chance would bring us together again."

They chattered on.

Mary, looking pale and worried, talked to Taggart.

"That $20,000 check that Terence was bringing back when he disappeared, has been endorsed and cashed by an imposter," she said impulsively.

"Why an impostor?" Taggart replied. "You may be sure O'Rourke had a hand in it. I had expected as much."

"Oh, I can't believe that—not Terence," Mary protested. "He must have been held up—and the persons who got it from him forged the signature and cashed it."

"Have it your own way, then, Mary," Taggart snapped. "The fact nevertheless remains that the check has been cashed, the bank claims that you got the money, and O'Rourke has never returned."

Stella, talking to Bud, was listening to the conversation of Mary and Taggart, with half an ear, veiling her interest in it.

Taggart went on:

GOVERNMENT ACTION WILL BRING QUESTIONS FROM MINERS ABOUT THE JACKSONVILLE AGREEMENT

Mine Workers' Head Declined to Discuss Statement About Intervention.

WAS ANTICIPATED.

Conference Difficulties Were Increased By Concern For Bituminous Situation.

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J., Aug. 13. —(Canadian Press).—Comment was received here from various parts of the United States coal industry regarding yesterday's disclosure through the press of the policy the United Mine Workers of America would likely follow in event of Government intervention to prevent or shorten an anthracite suspension on September 1.

John L. Lewis, president of the union, declined to discuss the statement that if the Government sought to deal with the hard coal breach between the miners and operators, the union would first ask its attitude toward repudiations of the Jacksonville agreement as it alleges in bituminous coal territory.

W. W. Inglis, president of the Glen Alden Coal Company of Scranton, Pa., and chairman of the anthracite operators' scale committee in the recent negotiations here, confirmed the previous announcement that anthracite mine owners had anticipated such a disposition on the part of the miners' union.

"I have felt all along," Mr. Inglis said over the long distance telephone from Scranton, "that the difficulties in arriving at an agreement in Atlantic City were increased by the greater interest of the miners' spokesmen in the bituminous situation.

The Joy of Life

Does early morning find you sprinting down to the beach for a bathe?

Do you come back glowing with vigorous health and with a colossal appetite for breakfast?

If the first splash of the day leaves you cold, it's because you're not as fit as you ought to be — and can be, if you do as Grandpa does.

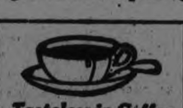
Each tiny dose of the magic Kruschen powder is a perfect blend of the six salts essential to bodily well-being. It keeps you in perfect trim, because it stimulates the liver and kidneys, gently but surely, to a proper performance of their duty. It frees your system of all the waste matter that collects to clog your inside and poison your blood-stream. It sends clear vigorous blood pulsing through every vein. It primes every fibre of your being with tingling vitality.

That's what Kruschen does for Grandpa and the rest of the Kruschen Army of Optimists. That's what Kruschen will do for you.

You can buy 160 doses of "that Kruschen feeling" from any druggist for 75c. Get a bottle to-day and start to-morrow.



Kruschen Salts

Good Health for Half a Cent a Day

The ingredients of Kruschen Salts are necessary for healthy life. Your body must, of necessity, obtain these ingredients from somewhere, or you could not live. Normally, your system should extract these vital salts from your food—meat, bread, fruit, vegetables, milk, eggs, and so on; but when, owing to impaired digestion, errors of diet, overwork and worry, anxiety, sedentary occupation, and many other causes, your system does not extract from your food the correct proportions of these essential life-giving salts, then you suffer from depression, headaches, constipation or disordered liver.

Kruschen Salts should be your safeguard. Besides cleansing the body of impurities, gently, surely and painlessly they possess a wonderful power of giving new life and vitality to the countless millions of cells of which every body is composed. Flesh, blood, bone, brain and nerve, are all made up of cells, and every cell requires one or more of the numerous constituents of Kruschen Salts for its healthy life.

Some of the Merry Men of the Greenwood had just returned from camp and were full of woodland knowledge and anxious to have a go at Robin Hood, to see if they could not down him.

Charlie Knight brought along a new lad, just moved into town. This lad was to be the dark horse. He had red hair and his name was Ned Lewis. That was too good for Wess and too bad for him, for, when Charlie introduced him as a real regular wise nature man and said he could tell a good nature story for every one Wess had, Wess just grinned and said, "If you can tell us as good a story as the one I will tell, you may become one of the Merry Men of the Greenwood."

Wess began: "The other day when I was out haying in the field, I saw a Kingbird flying about the fence rails. He was minding his own business and all was quiet. Suddenly, out from the trees across the field, flew a Flicker, coming right for the place where the Kingbird was concealed. The Kingbird saw him coming, flew out to meet him but flew higher in the air, turned swiftly above and behind the Flicker and attacked him. The angry Kingbird flew on top of the Flicker and actually rested his feet on the other bird's back while flying with him and pecking him. The Flicker decided to keep on moving as he was not fond of pecking passengers."

"Now, Ned-the-Red," wound up Wess, in his best Robin Hood style. "We will initiate you to-morrow, if you can tell as good a story as that, and it has to be true."

Ned objected and said his name was Ned Lewis and he would fight anyone calling him red headed, but when he was informed that Ned-the-Red had been one of the original Robin Hood band, now famous in history, he became more anxious than ever to belong to the Merry Men of the Greenwood, under that very name.

GOOD NIGHT STORIES

DAVID DISCOVERS A QUEER LITTLE SLEEPER

When David spied the queer little fellow hanging head down from the eaves under the porch, he ran for a stick. But just as he was about to poke the wee object, a tiny hand caught hold of his sleeve and held his arm.

"Why, Squeedee!" David exclaimed, turning around and spying the wee elfin at his side. "Is that a friend of yours?"

"I'll say it is a friend of mine," laughed Squeedee. "Put down your stick, David, and meet Mother Bat. Come, Mrs. Bat, wake up, you have callers."

"Gracious on us," chuckled Mrs. Bat, good naturedly yawning and stretching out her funny long hand to David and the elfin. "I was sound asleep."

"What, asleep, with your head down like that?" asked the astonished David. "Surely you don't sleep with your head hanging down that way?"

"I certainly do," chuckled Mrs. Bat," and I'll bet you never can guess why I do it."

"I haven't the least idea," replied David. "Do all bats sleep that way?"

"All my relatives do," laughed Mrs. Bat. "If you had to fly away suddenly like we do at times, you'd sleep head down, too."

"You see, although Mrs Bat can fly, she has a better start when her head hangs down. That's the main reason," laughed Squeedee. "Say, David, have you ever noticed how large Mrs. Bat's wings are? See how broad they are."

"Come Mrs. Bat, Wake Up."

Mrs. Bat spread out her wings so David could see them.

"You see, the broader the wings the better I can fly," laughed Mrs. Bat. "I have to fly most of my time, for I catch all my meals while in flight. I must be swift on the wing, and to be swift, my wings must be broad. I guess I shouldn't call them wings for they are really only my hands fastened together by a strip of skin. The loose skin runs along from the tips of the fingers on the front hand, along my body almost down to my tail. But they are the best wings I can afford. They help me through the air."

"Yes, and you should have seen Mrs. Bat before her children left the bat home," laughed Squeedee. "She made good use of her wings, then."

"I'll say I did," chuckled Mrs. Bat. "I never left my youngsters alone for one second until they were able to care for themselves."

"You mean you carried them on your wings?" laughed David. "I sure would have loved to have seen you. It must have looked funny with your babies clinging to you."

"I guess it did look queer," yawned Mrs. Bat, sleepily. "But it certainly was convenient. They would cling to me so tightly. I never lost a single one of them.

"Well, folks, it's high time I got in my beauty sleep or I'll lose out. So if you'll excuse me, I'll go back to sleep. You see, night time is my daytime," and Mrs. Bat caught hold of the eaves once more with her long claws and hanging, head down, closed her eyes and was soon fast asleep.

David watched her for a while, then he and Squeedee ran out in the garden in search of new adventure.

FAMOUS "FIRSTS"

By Temple Manning

HOW THE FRESH-AIR FUND ORIGINATED.

Have you ever watched the wan faces of city youngsters when the word "seashore" or "mountains" is mentioned? To the children of wealthy parents these words mean merely a change from the routine of school and play in the city, but to the children whose lives are spent in dark rooms and back yards they open a vista of Paradise.

But it is only within recent years that the children of the poor have tasted the joys of a vacation spent outside of city limits. Although the public playgrounds open during the Summer serve to keep these children off the dust-streets for a few hours each day, they cannot offer good food and a change of climate.

For many years philanthropists in America had been working on a plan which would enable them to send several thousand children living in the cities to the country for two weeks each year. But this experiment was bound to be a costly one and many of hem abandoned the idea as futile.

In the Summer of 1877 the fresh-air movement was definitely launched by the Rev. Williard Parsons. Reverend Parsons, at that time pastor of a small church in Sherman, Pa., went down to New York and gathered a little company of the poorest and neediest children he could find. They were taken to his parishioners, who were waiting to receive them as their guests for a fortnight during the midsummer heat. Others took the place of the first company, and at the end of the season this group of people had entertained sixty poor children for two weeks each.

This novel experiment met with gratifying success and served as the worthy precedent of many others. The movement was given further impetus by the co-operation and assistance of many newspapers and magazines. These periodicals established a "Fresh-Air Fund," to which came contributions from ts readers and patrons.

The fund was swelled from time to time by entertainments and benefits given by the periodicals in the movement. Every sort of affair, from amateur performances held in school auditoriums to professional performances given in the larger theatres, was arranged, and the entire proceeds were always contributed to the worthy cause.

It was not difficult, Mr. Parsons found, to obtain temporary homes for the children, either. He achieved great success, not through circulars or letters, but through personal appeals. Very few people could refuse aid when the horrible conditions of life in the slums were described to them.

STREET NAMES

CHARLOTTE STREET.

Queen Charlotte was born in 1744 the daughter of a petty German potentate, and owed her elevation to the position of consort of the British monarch very largely to her woman's sympathy for a relative's distress. This relative was a neighboring princeling whose territory was devasted by his strong ruthless neighbors, the Prussians and his fair young cousin wrote a letter on his behalf to the British Government asking help to beat off the invaders. The letter attraced the attention of the Ministry of that day which was very much exercised about the question of securing a wife for the young King George III. After some preliminary negotiations a marriage was arranged. The bride's journey from Cuxhaven to Harwick took 10 days the ship being delayed by contrary winds. On September 7, 1761, she landed on English soil. The following day she saw her future husband for the first time and she was married in the evening. From that day, she said, she never knew real sorrow until the illness of the king many years later. Horace Walpole thus described her: "She is not tall nor a beauty, pale and very thin, but looks sensible and genteel."

Queen Charlotte was at all times a lay figure in the stately pageants her position called her to take part in. She had neither influence nor interests in British politics, indeed it is very doubtful if she ever really understood the greatness and the importance of the business which was often transacted in her presence. Of little ability she remained untouched by the national and international tangles of her day and her colorless character dovetailed admirably with that of her obstinate, slow-thinking husband. Untouched by the breath of scandal the worst that could be said against her was her parsimony in money matters.

During the insanity of the king that preceded his death the queen took care of all the business of the Royal household, a task which was for her a very formidable one but she discharged all her duties to the best of her ability until her death in 1818. She had borne 15 children, 12 of whom survived her.

Former Commissioner of Health, New York City.

STOMACH PAINS CALL FOR BETTER DIET

If the cookstove broke down the household would go out of business. "Man may live without books. He may live without books. But civilized man cannot live without cooks."

Napoleon I think it was said "An army travels on its stomach." It cannot go beyond the kitchens. The cook and the cooking determine the fate of nations and of the individual man.

Even though it may smoke a bit the stove is capable of cooking some sort of a meal A slightly deranged stomach may accomplish enough to keep the body fairly well nourished. But the body will not continue to be vigorous unless the stomach is normal in its functions.

Like every other organ of the body the stomach is well behaved if it is properly treated. It will stand a considerable amount of abuse. But there is a limit to its endurance and after a while a mistreated stomach rebels.

The simplest form of stomach trouble is called "gastric catarrh" or "acute dyspepsia." There is only a step between irritation and actual inflammation of the stomach known to the doctor as "gastritis." Any involvement of the stomach capable of producing painful symptoms is nothing less than the beginning of an inflammation which may be very difficult to overcome.

Excessive indulgence in ice cold drinks or in very hot food or drink is a thing which is sure to distend the linking members of the stomach. Tainted or unwholesome food is capable of setting up an inflammation. Abuse of alcohol is another dietary error which will make the stomach unhappy.

If the causes which produce irritation are continued and become habitual there may develop a chronic gastritis. Wrong eating is the most common casual factor. This may take the form of overeating irregular meals bolting the food, or the taking of hot breads, greasy food, or contaminated milk or water.

The stomach does not function well if the bowels are neglected. Intestinal fermentation and constipation are factors in producing gastritis.

Anything which lowers vitality producing a weakness of the stomachs leaving it readily involved in inflammation. Anemia, and heart, kidney and liver diseases are troubles which may render the stomach liable to attacks of or to persistent inflammation.

Stomach ache, nausea and vomiting are the common symptoms. The ache may be hardly more than a feeling of fullness and distress in the abdomen, or there may be sharp, cutting pain. The discomfort comes on after eating. Pretty soon there is gas formation, followed by belching.

The habits are wrong if gastritis develops. Either you are living and eating in the wrong way, or else you have some underlying trouble. In any event your case requires study and you must have expert advice. It is well to talk with your doctor.

ANSWERS TO HEALTH QUERIES

G. W. M. Q.—What would you advise for poor intestinal elimination?

A.—Careful attention to the diet and regular exercise should bring about results. For further particulars send a self-addressed, stamped envelope and repeat your question.

E. T. U. Q.—What is the cause and cure for pimples and blackheads?

Palmolive complexions do not come from other sorts of "olive oil" soaps

WE have led millions of women to expect fine complexions from olive and palm oils, as used in Palmolive Soap.

They have gained added beauty and fresh, clear skins. But some credit those results to olive and palm oils alone. And any "olive and palm" soap may claim to be a soap like Palmolive.

They are mistaken. Olive and palm oils have been used for ages. Cleopatra used them—Roman beauties used them. Castile soap—the real castile—attained its fame on olive oil alone.

But olive and palm oils in those forms never brought great results. Palmolive Soap has brought new beauty to millions. It has thus become the leading toilet soap of the world.

It is made in five countries to supply the world demand. And one is France—the home of fine cosmetics.

Just because Palmolive, based on 60 years of soap study, gives to these oils a new effect on the skin.

It has multiplied beautiful complexions. Now many times as many women keep their youth and charm.

There are soaps at 25 cents and over, which approach Palmolive in results. We know of two. But Palmolive sells at 10 cents—no more than ordinary soaps. Enormous production brings you this modest cost.

Now countless "olive and palm" soaps are offered for like purpose. Some have artificial colors, some are over-fatted. They will cleanse, if you want mere cleansers. But don't expect such soaps to bring Palmolive results to the skin. That is impossible.

Note the unnatural "too green" color of Palmolive imitators. What does that suggest? Men don't paint nature to improve it.

Olive and palm oils——nothing else——give Palmolive its delicate, natural color. Olive and palm oils——no other fats whatsoever——are used in Palmolive.

No "super-fatting," no "super-anything"—the only secret to Palmolive is its blending. And that is judged one of the world's priceless beauty secrets.

Wash, launder, cleanse with any soap you wish—but when beauty is at stake, take care. Use Palmolive, a soap you know is safe to use. Palmolive is nature's formula to "Keep That Schoolgirl Complexion."

Soap from Trees

The only oils in Palmolive Soap are the soothing beauty oils from the olive tree, the African palm and the coconut palm—and no other fats whatsoever.

That is why Palmolive Soap is the natural color that it is—for palm and olive oils, nothing else, give Palmolive its green color!

(MADE IN CANADA)

Note carefully the name and wrapper. Palmolive is never sold unwrapped.

FARM NEWS AND PROBLEMS

A SUMMARY OF CROP REPORTS OF THE PROVINCE OF ONTARIO INDICATES THEIR ADVANCEMENT

Wet Weather Has Placed Handicap on Farmers' Haying.

ROOT CROPS GOOD.

Practically All Wheat and Rye Has Been Cut Now.

Harvesting of wheat is fairly general and the yield varying from 25 to 45 bushels per acre is of good quality. In Western and Central Ontario some barley has been cut and oats are ripening fast. The continued wet weather in the Eastern portion of the Province has seriously interfered with the making of first class hay though the ground has softened for plowing. Root and corn crops are growing splendidly though the corn borer is playing havoc in Western Ontario.

Brant: Approximately 50 per cent of oats and barley is cut. Late oats especially promise a good fair crop, much better than was expected. Some wheat yields have been well above 30 bushels to the acre. Straw of all kinds, however, is short. One of the most striking promises of yields is with first cutting of alfalfa for seed. At present there is a wonderful prospect for seed in the lower part of Brant County, this being one of the best alfalfa districts in Ontario.

Carleton: Barley harvest has commenced. There is every indication of a bumper grain crop. Spring wheat gives exceptional promise as do also barley and oats. In the latter case, there are many fields that have lodged badly. One small section of the country was hailed out Tuesday last. Fields of grain that gave wonderful promise were cut to the ground. Corn is stripped to the stalk. Mangels, beans, all garden products seriously damaged.

Dundas: Recent showery weather is retarding the hay harvest—cereal grains will be ready to cut before haying is finished. Practically every barn is full of hay and most of the grain will have to be threshed in the field.

Elgin: Oat harvest is well under way and the crop is better than was expected and will be above the average. Clover seeding in oats particularly is pretty well killed out, although alfalfa and sweet clover seeding have stood well. Very little farm produce being marketed, early potatoes are a light crop, small fruits and berries have suffered with the drought and are nearly off the market. Some new fall wheat being marketed. Slow progress in preparing fall wheat ground as it has been so very dry and plowing could not be done satisfactorily. A number of farmers are considering alfalfa and sweet clover now as their seeding has been killed out. ½

Frontenac: There is a slight falling off in the quantity of milk which is no doubt due to the fly pest. There is also a slight drop in the price of cheese offered on the local Board. Twenty-one cents was bid but none were sold.

Halton: Oats are fairly well filled, though not as heavy a crop as usual. Considerable sod is being prepared for fall wheat and indications are a good acreage will be seeded this fall.

Hastings: There is still quite an amount of hay to be drawn in. The continued wet weather has greatly retarded haying. Practically all the wheat and rye has been cut. One field of wheat was threshed and yielded 33 bushels to the acre and rye yielded 31. If the rains continue some hay will be lost and there will be difficulty in harvesting grain.

Lanark: Dairying is being carried on with full force. The excellent price being paid for cheese has stimulated this branch of farming to the full. Haying is being carried on as fast as possible and an odd field of barley is being cut. A few farmers have completed haying but there is easily 50 per cent of the hay in the country to be cut yet.

Leeds: A great deal of bacterial blight or fire blight is prevalent on apple trees this year. Many farmers have never seen this before and many inquiries have been received re the cause. Tolman Sweets have in some cases been nearly destroyed.

Lennox and Addington: Haying is still dragging along although a large percentage of the farmers are finished. Those who have alfalfa—and they are many—will soon have the second cutting to take off. Rye and wheat that was cut quite a while ago is still out owing to rain. Barley cutting has just started. This crop is heavy.

Lincoln: Early tomatoes are ripening fairly well. Early potatoes are sizing up better than was expected although a good share of the crop is already dug. Considerable interest is being manifested in the prospects of successful selling of grape crop this year. An initial quotation has been made of $45.00 per ton in the vineyard which is a fairly good price. No difficult is being anticipated in the handling of the peach crop.

Lambton: Harvesting is well advanced. The reported yields of fall wheat are much above anticipated yields. The sample of wheat is above normal. Oats are practically all cut and are a fine crop. Corn and sugar beets promise well. The corn borer will not be hard to locate in a week or ten days' time. At the present time the grub is only very small, about one-quarter of an inch in length. One has to look closely to locate it. The infestation will be greater this year than last.

Middlesex: Wheat has yielded well. Many farmers report forty to fifty bushels per acre but there are also many fields that have averaged less than twenty bushels. About 60 per cent of the oat acreage is cut and the crop is a little below the average. Sweet corn is in good demand and some farmers have been paid from $75 to $100 per acre in the field.

Manitoulin: Spring grains of all kinds are most promising with a heavy stand of straw. Rust is quite prevalent and unless the weather clears up considerable damage may result.

Northumberland: The unsettled weather has made haying a difficult task and quite a considerable quantity of the hay will not be of first quality due to rains. In many instances farmers have delayed cutting hay hoping the weather would clear up. There are now in the county a considerable number of fields of hay uncut and too ripe to make first class fodder even under the most favorable weather conditions. The apple crop in the country from present indications will be large with much more clean fruit than is usually the case. Late infestations of scab are evident in some orchards at present although the well sprayed orchards seem to be immune from this attack.

Peel: Harvesting of wheat is practically completed and threshing now in progress. Reports of yields vary from 30-45 bushels per acre. Alsike averages about 2½ bushels, slightly above the average. Alfalfa ripening fast and cutting will commence the latter part of next week. According to present prospects the yield will compare favorably with that of last year and the quality should be considerably higher.

Timiskaming: The principal item of interest, under this heading (Harvesting), during the past week has been the harvesting of the first crop of canning peas, in the district. I have not yet had an opportunity of checking up on the yield obtained from some of the good crops but have been given to understand by the manager of the factory that yield and quality has been satisfactory. In addition to canning peas, the factory has been canning blueberries as well.

Waterloo: The new fall wheat that has been threshed is running from 20-35 bushels to the acre. Some new wheat was sold to the mill at Baden. It tested 64 and sold for $1.20 per bushel.

Welland: Raspberries, cherries and currants are being marketed freely. Raspberries selling for 20c per box locally, sour cherries around 75c per eleven quart basket. New corn is bringing 40c per dozen.

York: All the fall wheat has been cut and a number of fields have been hauled in. We have some wonderful fields of wheat which should yield 40 bushels. Alfalfa for seed purpose has an increased area with a setting of seed very promising. In the best alfalfa district, where they have been growing seed for a number of years, some of the farmers agree that the setting of seed was never better

DAIRY PRODUCTS FORGE AHEAD IN OUTPUT OF FARM

Butter and Cheese Both Show Big Expansion in Production.

BETTER METHODS.

Condensed Milk Industry Increases Because of New Processes.

While Canadian farming is usually thought of in terms of the raising of grain, and especially wheat, the dairy industry has been forging ahead until the value of its products has become quite an important item in the total value of farm output. Last year the value of butter, cheese, and condensed milk produced was only slightly under $100,000,000, which was an advance of $10,000,000 over the value for the preceding year, 1923.

The growth of the dairy industry is due to various factors. The reaction against purely grain farming in the West has done much to promote the growth of this industry, and the opening of the British market to Canadian cattle has had an influence in the same direction. Better methods of grading cream is also an important contributor. Then, again, better methods of production, nurtured mainly by the influence of government and academic training and experimental stations, has done much to give the Canadian products a place in the foreign markets, and has accordingly led to an increase in the output, which, it may be expected, will continue. The total number of dairy factories in operation in Canada during 1924 was 2,998, and the total value of all production was $124,143,470.

Condensed Milk Industry Expands.

With the perfection of the various processes for the canning and condensing of milk, there has been a marked increase in the volume of this product sold both in Canada and abroad. The product is particularly adapted to the tropical countries where the keeping of milk presents a problem. For this reason, the volume of condensed milk sold to the countries of the West Indies has expanded rapidly, and the provision for a preference of one shilling on 48 pounds of milk is expected to increase the volume of business with the islands.

WARSAW PERSONALS

WARSAW, Aug. 13.— Wesley Sargent motored to Kinmount on Sunday.

Misses Laura and Jean Bowen are spending their holidays visiting relatvies in Rochester, N.Y. They left last Wednesday and went by boat from Port Hope.

Most farmers are well into the harvest. The showers are welcome, the soil seems to dry very quickly. Very little grain has been beaten down.

Seveal reports have come in that early potatoe tops are dying down too soon.

Belleville District Crops Are In Advanced Stage

BURNBRAE, Aug. 13.—Following a trip to Belleville, the Examiner representative has decided that Burnbrae farmers are equally as well fixed as regards crops as any in other localities. In some districts a good deal of hay still remains to be cut and drawn in. Near Belleville the grain is slightly—farther advanced than in Burnbrae district but is in no wise superior although some good fields are seen. Corn seems to be generally good throughout the country.

One record yield of wheat was discovered. Mr. Jas. Moorman of Shannonville, southeast of Belleville, states that he recently threshed 20 acres of wheat which averaged 40 bushels per acre. One field of 7 acres in this crop gave an average of 49 bushels per acre.

A good deal of stook threshing seems to be going on this year as farmers, generally, realize that when straw is not needed, stook threshing saves a good deal of time and labour.

ALL GRAINS ARE GOOD THIS YEAR

Field Crop Judge Has Viewed Grain Over a Wide Area.

HAY CROP GOOD.

CAMPBELLFORD, Aug. 13.—Surely no man in a better position to estimate the crop of Ontario than the departmental official, himself a practical farmer, who judges the crops in the competitions that are held under the auspices of the various agricultural societies, and whose duties take him from one end of a wide district to another. Such an official is trained to analyze the crop standing in the field and to make an estimate of the yield.

C. F. Whittaker, of Williamsburg, who judged the oats in Percy and Seymour Townships, states without hesitation that grains of all kinds are better than they were last year and the yield in 1924 established a new record in Ontario. The yield of hay of all kinds will be far in excess of what it was a year ago and corn and roots promise an abundant yield.

Weather Unfavourable.

On account of the wet weather in July considerable hay has been damaged but the most of the crop has been got under cover or into stacks in good condition. There is some hay out in the fields at this late date and there are fields of timothy not yet cut. This timothy is now too ripe to be of any use as fodder but it will be cut with the binder and put through the threshing machine, the seed which it will yield being worth more than the fodder which has been lost.

In a dairy district, the two main crops are hay and corn and in the Townships of Seymour and Percy the prospects for these leave nothing to be desired.

Alsike in Percy.

Many farmers in Percy raise considerable alsike every year. It is estimated that this year there are 200 acres of this crop on the road between Norham and Percy Boom. Some of the growths are as heavy as that of any crop of red clover ever produced in this district. It is estimated that the average yield will be five or six bushels to the acre and the present price is $6 a bushel.

Alfalfa and sweet clover continue to be the dairy farmer's best investment as pasture and this year there has been no mid-summer letup in the flow of milk, a gratifying fact when the high price of cheese is considered.

Some Yields of Wheat.

Very few farmers have threshed their wheat as the recent wet weather has delayed operations, but those who have, report extra good yields.

John Quinn, whose farm is near the Woodland cheese factory, threshed the wheat from an eight-acre field and had 125 well-filled bags, or over 325 bushels. This means a yield of a fraction over 40 bushels to the acre.

A. Clarke, Seymour West, has, at the time of writing, threshed part of his crop of wheat, the remainder being too wet, and it is estimated that the total will show a yield of nearly 40 bushels to the acre.

Good Stand of Oats.

William A. Brown, of West Seymour, has 20 acres of oats, which were sown on May 23, usually regarded as a late date for spring seeding. Mr. Brown in a man nearly six feet in height and when he walks through his oat field, all that is visible of him in his head. It is, he says, about the heaviest stand he has ever seen on his farm.

An Optimistic Farmer.

Mr. Brown is optimistic. "The prices which the farmer is receiving for his produce," he said to The Examiner, "are satisfactory except, perhaps, for beef cattle. Cheese, butter and eggs, hogs and, in fact, everything that the farmer has for sale are holding up well and the prospects for good prices for wheat and other grains are all right."

Mr. Brown says that wheat at $1.25 and oats at 70 cents a bushel yield the farmer more profit, if sold directly to the grain dealer, than if used to fatten hogs, even though the latter bring $13.50 a hundred, live weight.

SHOWERS END DROUGHT SPELL ON THE PRAIRIE

Heat Has Accounted For Much Damage Done Crops.

STILL RAINING.

Hail Damage Small Except in a Few Local Points.

WINNIPEG, Aug. 13.—The reports of 314 out of 360 of the Manitoba Free Press crop correspondents up to Saturday, July 26, indicate that the past 20 days have taken heavy toll of the original fine promise of the 1925 crop of the prairie provinces. Heat and hot winds have accounted for practically all the damage, and from these Alberta has suffered the most severely and Manitoba the least, but all have suffered considerable loss. The weather now is generally cooler and the drouth has been broken at many points, but over 200 of the points heard from still require more rain. As rain began to fall after a portion of the reports had been received, districts were rechecked to make sure that all points receiving good rains were taken out of the lists needing rain.

The best features of the reports are that it is still raining at many points.

With the exception of one or two points in Saskatchewan, hail damage since last report has been very small. The rust scare so far has not materialized. Some 40 points in Manitoba report traces of stem rust, all slight and not spreading at present. Not more than six points in Saskatchewan admit even a trace of stem rust. All ideas of a bumper crop of wheat may as well be laid aside, but with a little more general rain and cool nights and bright days from now on there is still promise of a lot of good wheat out of the Canadian West this year.

Coarse grains have apparently suffered most from the heat and much of the acreage will be short in straw and head. Many oat and barley crops are late, but a small percentage of barley will be ready for the binders next week.

Flax is generally late and much of it is short in straw.

Corn is reported to have benefited by the hot weather. In irrigated districts corn and alfalfa are both good. Second growth of alfalfa coming strong. Cutting of all rye pretty general in all three provinces. Conditions by provinces are as follows:

Manitoba's Outlook.

Out of 93 points queried in Manitoba 86 were heard from. Of these 27 have had quite enough rain; 11 would like a shower; 41 need rain and 6 needed rain badly.

There has been practically no hail in Manitoba since last report. Conditions at 40 points run from fair to good and excellent; 36 report some heat damage of which 25 per cent. at a few points is the highest. With regard to black stem rust, 39 points report traces of it, but little more than traces and no spreading at present and crop progressing pretty rapidly. At a few points in Manitoba a little wheat will be ready to cut July 31 and some barley will be cut Monday.

Reports indicate that flax is in the best condition in Manitoba, but considerable of it is late.

Saskatchewan.

Out of the 169 points queried, 147 were heard from. Of that number 40 have enough rain; 11 would like rain, but not suffering; 71 points need rain and 18 additional points need rain "badly."

General conditions are reported fair, good or excellent at 40 points, and a few points report conditions ideal.

Some 20 points report losses from heat and dry weather as running from 5 to 50 per cent. and 70 report damage as slight, considerable or serious; 40 points state no losses from heat or dry weather.

From 20 points flax is reported as very poor; 31 points state no flax grown and the balance reports crops fair to good, but much of it very late, due in some cases to it being seeded to take the place of the crops eaten by cut worms.

Alberta.

Alberta has suffered the most severely from the heat and dry weather. Many points are still in need of rain though heavy rains have fallen in the past 24 hours. Points heard from early have been rechecked, but up to midnight only 16 reported sufficient rain out of a total of 81; 19 still need rain badly; 40 need rain and 5 would like some. The drought, however, would seem to be broken, and probably the whole province will be wet down. Reports indicate that losses from heat run from "slight" to 80 per cent., and one point reports 75 per cent. loss. Many correspondents state spring plowing and stubble crop beyond redemption, but fallow holding up well. Only 16 points out of 81 report conditions as generally favorable.

Hail damage very small, only one serious loss reported since July 4, this is at Delia, where a 40 per cent. loss on 12,000 acres is given.

The rains that have fallen, and which are still falling at many points, will help filling enormously, but a few points where acreage is quite large, report that there appears to be no berries forming in the heads; this may be due to intense heat before grain blossomed. Irrigated crops are reported good.

START CUTTING ALBERTA CROP IN SOUTH PART

LIGHT CROP.

Rain Saves the Northern Crops and Aids Maturing.

EDMONTON, Aug. 13 — The eighth crop report issued by the Alberta department of agriculture on Saturday, says in part:

"Facing the disappointing prospect of harvesting a greatly reduced crop from that at first anticipated, as a result of the ravaging effects of wind and great heat, farmers of Southern Alberta are commencing the cutting of their wheat the present week.

"Cutting operations over all of the southern part of the province will be general within the next week, and in the balance of the province about August 10, which will be from ten days to two weeks earlier than last year.

Yield Light in South.

Limited quantities of grain already threshed out bear out indications of the past three weeks that the yields will be light over large areas in the south. Some samples seen have shown unusual shrinkage in stook.

Since the last report rains varying in extent have fallen in many districts of the province. These rains came too late to have much effect on the crops hit by drought in the southeastern district, but in other districts where the damage done to grain was not so irretrievable the rains have had the effect of filling out the grain in better degree so that heavier yields and improved quality will be the result.

"Generally speaking, the light soil areas of the province from south to north will yield very lightly. Reports received by the department the past week indicate yields in these areas varying from 5 to 12 bushels.

In Better Position.

"In the other areas of the province where the grain has been in a better position to carry through the heat and dry weather and to benefit from the later rains, repots indicate the yields will vary from 12 to 25 bushels, with some fields touching 30.

"In the southwestern district fairly good crops are anticipated, much heavier in many parts than last year, but still suffering decreased yield as a result of the drought.

Rains Aid North Crops.

"In the west central districts, north of Edmonton and immediate vicinity, the crops have also suffered somewhat from drought conditions, but these recent rains have been of considerable benefit. In the Peace River country, particularly north of the river, the situation has been much improved by the recent rains there.

"It is noted that in practically all districts in the province the grain spring plowing and stuble has suffered severely, while that on reasonably well prepared land will yield fairly well. It is a fact also that the intense heat now prevailing is drying out and ripening the wheat so speedily as to prevent its proper maturing.

"Rye crops are cut in the south but the yield will not be heavy.

"Corn, sweet clover and alfalfa have done well in the south.

"Harvest labor needs for the province are placed at present at 14,000 by the provincial labor bureau, of which 4,000 will be obtainable within the province as the policy of the government is to use all available labor within the province."

BONAR LAW CROPS BEING STORED AWAY

Oat Crop is Practically Unaffected By Smut.

BONAR LAW, Aug. 13.—Harvesting is in full swing, the fall grain being mostly all in the barns, and the oats and barley are ready for the binder. A bumper crop is anticipated. Very little, if any, smut has affected the oat crop.

Haying is all finished and nearly everybody has a few stacks out of doors.

Mr. Sylvester Redcliffe threshed for Mark Shortt on Tuesday and reports the wheat crop above the average.

Pastures are drying up, but as there is such a vast amount of clover and alfalfa meadows there is no lack for plenty of green feed.

The milk supply is going down a little but not as much as usual for the time of the year.

The Maple Leaf cheese factory is doing a big business this year, and reports making more cheese than in any previous year.

Some farmers are ploughing for fall grain. Owing to the great quantity of moisture, the land turns over in fine shape.

The apple crop is looking very good for this district.

The housewife is busy these days canning. The berries are about over, but then there is an abundance of vegetables ready waiting.

All garden produce is looking its best. Tomatoes promise a bumper crop. The potatoes are coming along fine; by the appearance at present there will be a larger crop than last year.

300 Bushel Yield Proves Legislator Cultivates Too

STIRLING, Aug. 13 — Very little threshing has been done in this section yet. Mr. George Bailey of Harold threshed 300 bushels of wheat from seven acres. Mr. Bailey is Deputy Reeve of Rawdon Township and evidently knows how to cultivate as well as legislate.

Mr. Sylvester Holden also had a good yield of wheat, threshing 180 bushels from five acres.

Mr. W. H C. Roblin, of Roblin's Mills, one of the Ontario Departmental judges, made the awards in the field crop competition in oats in connection with the Stirling Agricultural Society last week as follows:

Messrs. M. Shea, T. J. Thompson, A. B. Fargey, C. W. Thompson, C. U. Heath, Clayton Tucker, Roy and Ross Bush, who are the seven prize-winners.

There were 15 entries in the competition.

WHEAT HARVEST 50 BUS. TO ACRE

Norham Farmer Gets Big Yield From Four Acres.

EXCELLENT QUALITY.

CAMPBELLFORD, Aug. 13.—George Evans, who resides near Norham, had four acres of Fall wheat which yielded a little over 50 bushels to the acre. There is no disputing these figures as the land was actually measured and the number of bushels was registered by the mechanical device on the threshing machine. The grain is of excellent quality and will weigh when cleaned, considerably over 60 pounds to the bushel. This is the best yield so far reported.

In Seymour, Too.

C. F. Whittaker, the Department official who judged the oat crop in Seymour and Percy, saw a large field of wheat standing in the stook on Marshall H. Wests' farm when he judged the oat crop there. Mr. Whittaker gave it as his opinion that the field will thresh over 50 bushels to the acre.

Sweet Clover Crop.

Wilfred Armour, on the Hastings road in Percy, has 27 acres of sweet clover which he is saving for seed. Last year he sold over $1000 worth of this seed from 12 acres. Mr. Armour, for some years famous all over the district as one of the best catchers the Northumberland Baseball League ever produced, will soon have his fame as an athlete eclipsed by earning the title of the "Sweet Clover King."

START THRESHING ALSIKE IN CAVAN

Weather Has Been Unsuitable For Curing Crop.

CAVAN, Aug. 13.— Mr. Lou Staples commenced threshing alsike for Mr. John Smith, ninth line on Wednesday last. The yield was good considering the toughness of the straw and the humid atmosphere. Mr. Smith obtained a bag of seed from every load.

Mr. F. M. Staples sold a half acre of early potatoes to Mr. Huxley of Peterboro, who is raising them and drawing them in to town.

Wheat is being harvested. The crop in general is good, while some fields show an extra good crop.

Mr. Wm. Pudsy, eight line, has finished drawing in his wheat. He had two fields which yielded well. He had thirty-five loads off sixteen acres. It took fifty-five pounds of twine to tie it. It is certainly a good crop.

Mr. Amie Fisher is fixing his threshing machine up, in preparation for his season's work.

He has recuperated nicely since his operation.

The weather has not been good for curing alsike, through the township fields are to be seen where the alsike has had to be turned and in some cases turned more than once. This loses a lot of seed.

Help is scarce on the farms, and day men are in great demand.

There are plenty of fields of oats cut. If the weather keeps favorable the harvest will be finished in a short time in this district.

ROOTS ARE SILAGE SUBSTITUTE ON FARMS WITH FEW ANIMALS WHERE SILO IS NOT MAINTAINED

Provision Should Always Be Made When Ensilage is Not Available.

BEET PULP SUBSTITUTE.

Pulp Should Be Soaked in Water Before Feeding, As It Swells

On many small farms, on account of the comparatively small number of animals kept, it is not advisable or economical to construct and fill a silo with suitable silage crops. In such cases, provision should be made for a supply of succulent feed other than tilage. Wh under average conditions, food value in roots cannot be grown and stored as economically as in a silage crop such as corn, due to the labour of growing, harvesting and cost of storing, undoubtedly, under the conditions mentioned above, roots form the most economical substitute for a succulent crop such as silage. They are to be recommended particularly for late fall and early winter feeding, the difficulty of keeping them through the late winter and early spring prohibiting their use at these times.

Where roots are not available and for late winter feeding, dried beet pulp is well worth considering as a substitute. This by-product of the sugar-beet industry is available in considerable quantities in the late fall and early winter and may be stored indefinitely, provided it is kept dry. It should always be soaked before feeding, as it will take up about three times its own weight of water, and swells proportionately. The addition of a little feeding molassses while soaking improves the palatability of beet pulp. Experiments conducted in the Division of Animal Husbandry have shown that dried beet pulp gives its best and most economical results when used to replace the meal mixture or roots of an already well-balanced ration, rather than when used as a substitute for other succulents, such as silage, in the ration. Nevertheless, where silage is not available dried beet pulp in small quantities, four to five pounds dry weight daily, should yield profitable returns. Dried beet pulp should be procurable at approximately the ruling price for wheat bran.

FARM MACHINE MAKERS EXPECT YEAR OF PROFIT

Western Outlook Better For Fall Than For Past Five Years.

STIMULUS TO GROWTH.

Inventories Low and Business Now on Satisfactory Basis.

The general manager of one of Canada's foremost banking institutions who makes a special study of Western conditions made the following statement to Hardware and Metal this week:

"While there has been no pronounced change in the state of Western business during the past few months, confidence has improved and with the recovery in agricultural prices the outlook is more definitely encouraging than it was in the spring months.

"Generally the crops made a good start and the combination of warm weather and abundant rains has been a remarkable stimulus to growth. In isolated districts there has been some hail and in the more arid sections of Southern Alberta, severe heat has done considerable damage, but, on the whole, over the three provinces, crop conditions are very satisfactory. The acreage is about five per cent. greater and, from present prospects, it looks as if the Western crop might be considerably larger than it was last year.

Profitable Year.

"Of course a number of things may happen to the growing crop, but if no serious damage occurs at the eleventh hour and prices remain fair, the farmer should have a profitable year and agricultural purchasing power is, of course, the most important factor in the domestic business situation. So far the improved position of the farmer has been reflected more in the discharge of obligations than in new buying. His mental attitude towards expenditures has been severely affected by the results of the past few years and there exists little disposition to over purchase.

"Both wholesale and retail trade however, are in conservative volume. Inventories are low and business generally is being conducted on a more satisfactory basis. In Winnipeg building operations are going forward on a much larger scale than last year. Agricultural machinery houses have had a good spring and summer season and look forward for a record trade this fall.

"The credit situation so far as the banks are concerned remains easy and favorable to a conservative business expansion which the recovery of the agricultural industry, sustained by gobd yields and remunerative prices, seems to promise."

DUNSFORD HARVEST THE BEST IN YEARS

Farmers Proud of Their Crops and Draw Record Yields.

DUNFORD, Aug. 13. — Around Dunsford and through the locality the farmers are all quite proud of their crops and after taking a drive along the country road these days we are not surprised to hear them remark these are the best crops they have had for several years back.

The rain seemed to come at the right time and yet we have had not wind or hail to lay the grain down nor yet any fog to cause rust.

The hay harvest came to a close a couple of weeks ago with a very good yield. Mr. Geo. Burgess hauled 25 loads off about 10 acres. And we heard of similar yields all through the locality. The Fall wheat is nearly all in the barns now too. None of it threshed yet but it has every appearance of a real good yield.

Most of the Spring wheat is cut but still out in stooks and the oats are beginning to take on that golden hue so they too will soon be ready The alsike yield is not too bad.

Mr. John Brien threshed 25 load last week. And had 23 bags of good pure seed, and Mr. J. E. Brien just had 9 bags off 15 loads.

Corn is doing very well and it has quite a while to grow yet. The best of it is about 5 feet high but it all looks rank, and healthy.

Nearly all families are using their new potatoes for their own use. They seem about the average crop this year, of course they too will be better later on.

CONGOLEUM GOLD SEAL ART-RUGS

ADVICE TO GIRLS

By Annie Laurie

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE:

I am a girl in my teens. I have been out with a young man two years my senior a number of times and think he is very nice. The last time I was out with him I felt that he was not enjoying himself but I did not know why. On leaving he said he would 'phone but has not and it is now a long time ago. I wonder why? Can we say men are true to their word? If he did not intend to 'phone why did he say he would?

FORGET-ME-NOT

FORGET-ME-NOT: He may have been letting you down easy, This may sound blunt, but it's probably the truth. It's a way men have. It isn't exactly a fact that men are not true to their word. He may really have intended to 'phone you, and then thought better of it. Perhaps he felt that you were getting too strong a 'crush' on him, and that it was time to cool off a little. They get these qualms of conscience at times. Most men although they wouldn't admit it for worlds, have a similar attitude of mind as the old, lame Irish grave-digger who used to hobble away in fright from any unattached female, with the explanation, "She's after me."

Aren't there any other "nice" young men in your neighborhood? Why not cultivate one of them and forget this one?

Dear Annie Laurie: I went with a young man last year whom I loved very much. Shortly after I started going with him he gave me up. I am now going with another boy whom I cannot get to like as well as the first. He is the very type of a man which would make a good husband. Mother likes him better than the first one I went with. He always puts me before everything else and is very mannerly. Shall I give him up or do you think I would grow to like him if I kept going with him?

Yours truly,
GREY EYES.

Yours is a difficult problem, Grey Eyes. So much depends on cricumstances that it is hard to advise anyone in a case like this. For one thing, why did the first man give you up? If it was simply through some misunderstanding and you have any reason to think he cared for you; you had better not force yourself to marry the other man. But if he acted meanly, and you were not at fault, you had better forget about him. After all, why marry the second one, if you can't love him? The fact that your mother likes him and his own good manners and devotion will weigh very little in a balance that does not carry love in it. You know, if you cannot go over a bridge, you can always go under it. Why not give them both up ,as it were, and wait for a third man to come along some time? And in the meantime, get out and have as good a time as possible with other friends.

DECORATION PROBLEMS

By Annette Bradshaw

Now that it is coming Fall, the problem of the housewife is to change from her Summer furnishings to those that will make her house most attractive during the Fall and Winter months. One gets tired of the same things year in and year out and a change is welcomed by the whole family. These changes need not of necessity be of such a radical nature that it makes home seem strange. But a new cover on the comfy armchair, a different arrangement of the curtains, a new lamp-shade—all make a change which though slight, accomplishes Aonders.

Where one is fortunate enough to possess a real fireplace, the decorations of a room do not require much thought, for the fireplace of itself is sufficient. The addition of andirons, tongs, brush, shovel, and a brass kettle for wood, immediately places the fireplace in the center of the stage, as it were. With a comfortable armchair, and small table to one side of the fireplace, or a davenport standing directly in front of it, with a console table behind the davenport, on which a lamp at either end sheds a soft light for reading or sewing, the room is almost complete. Of course, one has to have other furniture, but it always seems that the center of all activities will be around the fireplace.

The small corners at each end of the fireplace may be utilized as book shelves. In arranging the lighting fixtures in the living room, and by this I mean lamps particularly, take into consideration the best position for them, where one can be comfortable to read or sew. There is nothing more uncomfortable in the world than a bad light for reading or sewing. True, one must also consider the artistic effect, but from a practical standpoint, the comfort should be considered before the effect. Gay, bright colors should be used for curtains and furniture coverings to sustain one's spirits during the dull, cold evenings.

A FASHION MODEL'S DIARY

By Grace Thorncliffe

SHE DESCRIBES AN ORGANDIE AND SERGE STREET DRESS

Madame has been working quite hard to create a smart little serge frock for one of her most particular actress clients.

The young lady came in today for a fitting, and while she was waiting she said to me:

"I find it worth while to pay the extra price that Madame asks because I can be assured of individuality in my frocks when I come to her."

"I agree with you," I assured her. "I'm for individuality at any cost."

The young lady nodded approvingly and added:

"The individual frock is particularly necessary to actresses. You see people are continually recognizing us on the street, and it is simply better publicity to be dressed in a different way from the rest of the people about us."

"I've never liked these popular frocks that every one has, which make them all look alike," I conceded.

Then the young lady went in for her fitting, and I waited about outside till she came out to get a better look at the completed frock.

It was individual indeed, so much so that I made a sketch from life to save in my diary. It's an excellent example of the type of frock Madame knows how to make for her pet clients.

"You see I wanted serge," the young lady explained to me. "Madame has found this thin navy blue serge for me which is as cool as can be."

"Then that airy white organdie makes it appear cooler than ever," I remarked.

I referred to thin organdie that made wide frills on the sleeves and also filled in the neck. It was edged with narrow bands of red georgette.

"I must examine this closer," I explained, stepping up where I could get a close look at the front of the dress.

I saw that the red georgette filled in the lower part of the deep U shaped neckline, and that blue and silver ribbon was run in and out of the frock, making a slim line at the front from neck to hem.

This Thin Blue Serge Is Trimmed with White Organdie and Red Georgette.

"That is surely the kind of frock anyone would want to turn about to look at, if they could do it without being rude," I commented.

"And I love my hat," the young lady assured me, adjusting her red felt with its red coq feathers at the sides.

Let's Talk It Over

THE WAY TO CONQUER SELF-CONSCIOUSNESS

Are you going to say when you read this letter, "What a simple sort of a letter. What's the use of devoting good newspaper space to the silly troubles of a bashful girl? Why not write about troubles that touch a great many people?"

Are you going to say that? Then let me say that I doubt if there is a subject which appeals to more people than the one troubling "Pam."

Triangles and murders are very exciting things to read about. But, after all, they're not everyday problems in common lives. Notwithstanding sensational statistics, few of us become involved in alienation suits or murder trials. But we all know the hunger, shyness and desire for power and charm that besets little Pam. We all want folks to like us and depend upon us. We all want POWER OVER OTHER SPIRITS. You may call that the silly problem of a bashful youngster, but in reality it is a theme that underlies the drama of human life.

I am nineteen and practically without friends—boy or girls. I meet lots of people my age, but I cannot seem to make friends of them as other girls do. I have no gift for conversation, and when in a crowd or with strangers I am stricken dumb. I have been told that it is only self-consciousness, but if so, can I overcome it, and if so, how?

Last week I was at a dance, and one of the boys, as I couldn't help but notice, wanted to meet me. At supper I found myself next to him, and though he made every effort to get acquainted I couldn't force myself to say to him a hundred things that I wanted to say.

Please, can't you help me? I am so lonely. I crave companionship.

PAM.

What's the meaning of "self-consciousness," Pam? Consciousness of self, isn't it? To be so conscious of yourself that you can't be conscious of other things—so conscious that you make a wall about yourself and leave yourself hungry and alone and desperate inside that wall. No, that isn't a little trouble. It is one of the saddest troubles that can befall anyone. But You Can Break Down That Wall. You Can reach out and touch others and make them crave your touch and seek your company.

In all these lonely hours, have you ever stopped to think why it is that some girls and boys are so popular? Is it because they are good-looking? No; because some very pretty girls are not popular. And many homely girls have hosts of friends. Is it because they are witty or have a clever "line?" No; it isn't either. Many witty people are detested for their brilliancy. Is it because of their fine clothes? Not that, either, for many a shabby girl or boy leads the crowd. Then what is it?

It's the Knack They Have Of Making Life Seem More Colorful For Others That Makes Them Popular. Pam. Human nature is selfish, little Pal. It wants to be enriched, amused, sympathized with, inspired, comforted. And it seeks out the natures which give it the amusement, inspiration or comfort it craves. It seeks out the people who are so full of laughter that laughter spills about them for other people; who are so full of life that they stimulate life in others; people who are so quiet and serene they make good audiences or comforters. Study the popular people you know and you find that this is true. They Are Sought For Something They Have Sought To Give. Sometimes it is a spirit of fun which they have to give; sometimes it is a sort of challenge which they emanate, a saucy impudence which stirs the blood and makes life seem more like a lark.

"But that's just the trouble," wails Pam. "I can't give any of these things. I just seem to drive people away."

You drive people away because you are not offering them anything, Pam. You're not offering them anything because of the fact that You Are Not Looking Out At Them, But In At Yourself. "But that's what I want to know—how can I stop looking in at myself?"

First, by realizing that you must stop it. Then by deliberately doing it. When you go to a movie you don't waste the time by thinking about yourself, do you? No; you turn your attention to the thrilling story that is being enacted on the screen.

Well, turn your attention to other people in the same way. Begin to think of life as a silver screen and the people you meet as actors. GIVE THEM YOUR ATTENTION. Give them your attention with your mind as well as your body. That's what they all want. They don't want to think about you. They want you to think about them. And if you're filling your mind with thoughts of them, it's a cinch that you can't be filling your mind with thoughts of yourself. Then, suddenly, before you know it, you will forget yourself and your fears. You will be part of the great pageant. You will be sought because you will be needed. YOU WILL BE POPULAR.

IN THE KITCHEN

By Jeanette Norton

SPRING LAMB FOR SUMMER USE.

Spring lamb is one of the most useful Summer meats. The leg may be boned, stuffed and trussed for roasting and is then very easily carved. Or if roasted with the bone in, it may be served with mint sauce. All bones and trimmings should be put with a can of tomatoes and some soup greens into the soup pot and cooked for an hour and a half, then strained. After which it should be cooled, the grease removed, then reheated and seasoned, then it can be set aside for soup for the next day.

Lamb Croquettes With Peas.

Mince fine a half pound of cold cooked lamb. Melt a half ounce of butter in a frying pan and cook in it a small onion minced fine, but not browned. Then stir in a tablespoonful of flour, a small cupful of rich stock, and cook gently until blended, then add the meat, pepper, salt, a teaspoonful of chopped parsley, pepper, salt and a saltspoonful of sugar. Stir until well blended and thick, then turn out onto a plate. When cool enough to handle, shape in cone-shaped pieces, dip them in beaten egg, then roll in very fine crumbs and fry in hot fat. Serve on a hot dish garnished with parsley and lemon quarters.

Lamb and Chicken Potpie.

Select a young chicken of two pounds, and have it jointed. Get two pounds of breast of lamb and have it cut up in convenient pieces. Place in a saucepan, cover with water, add a large onion thinly sliced. Cook gently until the meat and chicken are tender. Season, add six large potatoes cut in thick slices and see that the liquid covers all. Let cook for ten minutes, then add as many quick dumplings as are usually needed, probably twelve, cover closely and cook for twenty minutes. Lift the dumplings and place around the edge of the platter, lift the meat with a skimmer and place in the center, thicken the gravy and serve it in a hot gravy boat.

NOT BRINGING IN 10,000 UKRAINIANS

Deputy Minister Denies Report, in Answer to Protest From Trail.

VANCOUVER, Aug. 13.—(Canadian Press).—Emphatic denial of the report that the Dominion Government contemplates bringing 10,000 Ukrainian settlers into Canada was contained in a letter from W. J. Egan, Deputy Minister of Immigration at Ottawa, and read at a meeting of the Vancouver Police Commissioners held yesterday. The letter was in reply to a resolution passed by the Police Commissioners of Trail, B.C., which the Vancouver Commission was asked to endorse, protesting against wholesale importation of central Europeans.

The report had no foundation in fact and may have arisen, said the letter, from the fact that the Immigration Department is planning to place a number of Ukrainians on the land in different parts of Canada.

EIGHT INVOLVED IN THEFT OF MILLION

Former Chicago Police Officer Charged With Express Robbery.

CHICAGO, Aug. 13.—(Canadian Press).—Federal prosecutors sprang a surprise yesterday by charging that Jack Shapiro, former Lieutenant of Sanitary District Police, was involved last spring in the mail, express and box car robberies in Indianapolis, aggregating $1,000,000.

Revelations by prosecutors were made in support of the demand for high bail for Shapiro and seven others charged with express robberies. They were arraigned yesterday specifically charged with a $30,000 express robbery on March 28, when a shipment was taken from a New York Central train in East Chicago.

BIG CHARITY BEQUEST.

Nearly 200,000 Pounds Sterling Was Left For Charitable Purposes.

LONDON, Aug. 13 (Canadian Press Cable).—Nearly £200,000 for charity has been bequeathed by Colonel John Barlow, a munificent supporter in his lifetime of Bisley. Colonel Barlow made many visits to Canada in connection with rifle shooting. Canada may benefit under his will as he left the residuary estate "to be applied within 21 years of his decease for such charitable purposes within the United Kingdom, Ireland, India or any British state, colony or dependency as the trustees in their wisdom think fit." he will adds that Col. Barlow desires that no money left by him shall be used for sectarian or political party purposes.

RETURN OF GERMAN PROPERTY IS ASKED

Formal Note to U. S. Seeks Spoils of War.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 13.—(Canadian, Press).—A formal communication pressing for the return of German property seized by the United States during the war was presented to Secretary Kellogg by the German Ambassador.

No comment was available at the State Department. The text has not yet been made public, but the memorandum is understood to point out that in view of the status of operations of the Dawes reparation plan and the benefit to be derived from these payments by the United States, the time appears appropriate to take up for settlement the question of German properties still held by the Washington Government.

There IS a Difference and Babies Show It

Doctors, nurses and mothers repeatedly observe the rapidity with which babies respond to Eagle Brand feeding.

Any bottle-fed infant will do better on it, though the improvement is more quickly noticeable in the case of babies who have been failing.

If regularly given proper feedings baby begins to grow and develop at once. His weight increases, he sleeps better and is happy and contented.

Do not experiment with foods. If you cannot nurse baby put him on Eagle Brand at once. It has been 68 years on the market and is recognized as the leading infant food.

Borden's EAGLE BRAND

ONCE UPON A TIME — THE GOLDEN GOOSE. IX

by W. J. ENRIGHT.

EASY VICTORY FOR PETES IN TWILIGHT FIXTURE AT OSHAWA MOTORISTS ARE BEATEN BY 10-4

All Three Peterboro Pitchers Worked Out, With Breckenridge on Mound For Oshawa.

FINE OUTFIELDING.

Fair Brothers and Wolfe Have Busy Evening Patrolling the Outer Gardens.

Thanks to Belleville's unexpected victory over Kingston yesterday, the Petes win in last evening's twilight game at Oshawa which the Johnstonites won quite easily by 10 runs to 4 put them at the top of the Central Ontario League heap, a half game in front of the Ponies.

With Oshawa out of the running the fixture in the Motor City was just about what might have been expected, a listless game, before a small crowd.

Manager Johnston took advantage of the occasion to give his whole pitching staff a work out, Hardill, Whitehouse and Heckman, each working in that order.

All the Oshawa counters were made off Hardill, who started the game. He was not effective as usual, allowing five hits and his three fielding misplays, played a big part in the run-making. Whitehouse only allowed one man to reach first during his three innings, Tyson walking in the fifth, while Heckman continued the whitewash policy effectively in the last three frames. Oshawa's only hit after the third was a single by pinch-hitter Lennox in the ninth.

Breckenbridge, the former Leaside right-hander went the full distance for Oshawa. He was no mystery to the Petes and was given poor support by his infield while he hurt his own cause by slipping in six wild pitches. The Fair brothers in the outfield did their utmost to hold him up. Reg. Fair covering acres in centre to gather in seven flies while brother Walter snagged four and cut off a run at the plate by a perfect throw. Wolfe for the Petes also had a busy day with five put outs and an assist.

Although Swanston got a life with two out on Rowden's fumble, and Harrison walked, McPherson struck out and the Petes did not score in the first.

Oshawa got two. After Rowden had fouled to McPherson and R. Fair fanned, Tyson singled to centre and went to second on a passed ball. Saunders was safe when Hardill dropped Harrisons' toss in covering first. Tyson scored on a passed ball and Morrison's double to right centre scored Saunders. Ward rolled to Hardill.

In the second, after Holyman had lined to W. Fair, Hall reached second on Ward's bad throw and scored when Johnston hit to Breckenbridge, who threw low to first. Hardill and Wolfe flied to W. Fair.

For Oshawa, Alger grounded to Hardill and W. Fair flied to Wolfe. Breckenbridge singled to third but Rowden was out when he hit a tap down the first base line and ran into the ball.

The Petes bagged two in the third. After Legon had been thrown out by Morrison and R. Fair had made a beautiful catch of Swanston's hard smash to centre Harrison singled past Morrison and McPherson cut a single to right, Harrion going to third and the batter taking second on the throw to Morrison. Holyman hit what should have been a triple to right, scoring Harrison and McPherson, but the hitter was called out for cutting second.

Oshawa took the lead in their half. R. Fair singled over second and stole second, going to third when Hardill made a wide toss trying to nip him off. Tyson's Texas Leaguer sent the run in. Tyson went to second on Saunders' sacrifice. Morrison walked. Ward flied to Legon. Tyson scored when Hardill through to second with no one covering but Morrision was nipped going to third on the play.

In the fourth the Petes tied it up. Hall reached second on Ward's bad throw, went to third on a wild pitch and scored on Johnston's sacrifice fly to R. Fair. After Hardill had singled to left Wolfe and Legon flied to R. Fair.

Whitehouse fanned Alger, W. Fair and Breckenridge in Oshawa's half.

Salted Away.

The game was salted away in the fifth. Swanston singled to left and Harrison tripled to deep left to score the catcher. McPherson hit to Ward who tried to nip Harrison of third and everybody was safe. McPherson stole second. Holyman's sacrifice fly to R. Fair scored Harrison. Hall singled past third, scoring McPherson and going to third when W. Fair's throw bounced away from Tyson. Johnston singled to left to send Hall in. Whitehouse flied to Ward and Wolfe to R. Fair.

Rowden rolled to Holyman, R. Fair gave Wolfe a fly and after Tyson had walked, Saunders fanned.

Neither side did anything in the sixth, but the Petes bagged another in the seventh when Johnston singled to right went to thidd on two wild pitches and scored on Whitehouse's single to centre.

With Heckman pitching for the Petes W. Fair rolled to Holyman, and Breckenbridge and Rowden flied to Wolfe.

The eighth was scoreless.

In the ninth, with one out, Hall singled to right went to third on Helson, batting for Johnston. Helson went to second on a passed ball. Heckman was passed and Wolfe singled to right, filling the bases. A wild pitch scored Helson. Legon popped to Rowden.

In Oshawa's half, after Morrison had fanned, Ward walked, and Lennox batting for Alger singled to left, Oshawa's first hit since the third inning. Helson made a nice catch of W. Fair's drive and doubled Ward off second to wind up the game.

FONTAINES TAXIMEN BEAT MARBLEITES

Score of Fast Softball Game Was 15-13 in Favor of Motorists.

Last night Fontaine's Taxi Service defeated the Vermont Marble in a well contested game of soft ball, the score being 15-13.

Both teams played good ball and the batteries turned in a good game. In the field, Wright, Fontaine and Grover Halpin showed up well with some nice catches for the Service boys, while Williams McGraw and M. Leonard looked good for the Marble Works.

Craig, Hensley and Simms were the heavy hitters for Fontaine's and McWilliams, E. Leonard and M. Leonard were the sluggers for the Marble crew. Williams had four hits in four times up, including a homer and a triple. Hensley hit a triple with the bases full and Craig drove out a home run with two on.

The teams lined up as follows:

SPORT GOSSIP AND COMMENT.

Belleville upset the dope by trimming the Kingston Ponies in the Quinte City yesterday, and as a result the Petes are now out in front of the Limestone entry in the Central sweeps akes. The standing as a result of yesterday's games is as follows:

	Won.	Lost.	P.C.
Peterboro	15	8	.652
Kingston	14	8	.636
Oshawa	10	12	.455
Belleville	6	17	.261

* * * * * * * * *

Whitehouse was the winning pitcher in last night's game, the Petes taking the lead during his tenancy of the hilltop. It was the first time the southpaw has worked against Oshawa, and he had the Motorists buffalced, Saunders, the ex-Kingston player striking out for the first time this year. Oshawa did nothing with Heckman either, Pinch-hitter Lennox getting the only safety off the dean of the Petes' staff in the ninth.

* * * * * * * * *

Peterboro's teams were hitting on all eight cylinders yesterday, with the Central Leaguers beating Oshawa, the Royals midget team walloping Oshawa midgets 18 to 4 in the O.B.A.A. series, thus going into the next round, and Lew Lebarr's Lakeviews trimming Belleville 5 to 4 in the first game of the junior O.B.A.A. play-offs.

* * * * * * * * *

Walter Fair, Oshawa left-fielder, retired the side in the second inning with three pretty catches, and his brother in centre duplicated the feat in the fourth, and followed up this stunt by grabbing two more flies in the fifth. Altogether, the two representatives of the Fair family figured in thirteen killings during the evening. For the Petes, Wolfe snared five drives and had an assist as well. Neighbor, that was outfielding!

* * * * * * * * *

Jimmy Hall and Jeff. Hardill, the two inseparables of the Petes' team, left today on a fishing trip to Jack's Lake. It is presumed that Jeff. will supply the "hooks," while his buddy will make the catches. They will be back in ample time for the play-off with Kingston.

* * * * * * * * *

Three fast double-plays supplied some colour to last night's game at Oshawa. Rowden gathered in a hard roller from Wolfe's bat, stepped on second to retire Whitehouse and doubled Wolfe at first. That was in the seventh, and in the eighth Walter Fair cut the Petes out of a run when he took McPherson's drive to left and made a beautiful throw to Tyson to nail Legon trying to score after the catch. In the ninth Helson, who had replaced Johnston at short, speared Fair's liner and threw to Holyman in time to make a twin killing.

* * * * * * * * *

The records of the three Peterboro pitchers are as follows: Heckman won 6, lost 2; Whitehouse won 7, lost 4; Hardill won 2, lost 2. Heckman has beaten Belleville and Oshawa three games each and has lost one each to Belleville and Kingston. Whitehouse's string consists of three wins over Kingston, three over Belleville and one from Oshawa, while he has lost to Kingston three times and to Belleville once. Hardill has won two and lost two games all with Oshawa. —F. D. C.

BOSTON, Aug. 13 (Canadian Press).—Erratic fielding by Detroit coupled by steady Boston pitching resulted in the Red Sox making it two straight over the Tigers, 7 to 2, yesterday. Ross was forced to retire in the fifth inning as the result of a hurt hand from a line drive off Woodall's bat. Catches by Fothergill and Manush and Prothero's steal of home in the fifth inning were plays that stood out. The score:

Southpaw Arthur Reinhart was accorded brilliant support by his team mates in the first game, which was featured by heavy hitting on the part of Manager Hornsby, Jim Bottomley and Chick Hafey. JUNIORS GOING STRONG.

Defeated Leading C. N. R. Team in Cobourg Town League.

COBOURG, Aug. 13.—Although Cobourg Juniors were eliminated through defeat at the hands of the Oshawa Motors team, from the O.B.A.A. play-off, they are still going strong in the Cobourg Town League. On Monday night they defeated the local C.N.R. team, 6 to 5, and are now tied with the Dyeing Co. for second place. The C.N.R. is leading.

LAKEVIEWS WON JUNIOR GAME IN SPITE OF RALLY

Defeated Belleville 5-4 in Fast Baseball Game.

FIELDING GOOD.

Johnston and Halliday Made Sparkling Catches—Wood Pitched Well.

Belleville juniors showed a tendency to follow in the steps of their seniors when they scored 4 runs in the ninth innings of their game with the Lakeviews, and came within one run of tying it up. The final score was 5-4.

Inky Woods had the Belleville swatsmiths eating out of his hand for eight innings, while his teammates were piling up five counters. A single by Palmer in the first, and another by Latchford in the eighth had been the only hits registered off his delivery, and it looked like a shut out. Suddenly all was changed. Ross singled. Mein fumbled Rigby's grounder; Post was walked, and the bases were full with none out. Gerow did nothing for his own cause, his best being a pop to Woods. Stark came through, however with a single to right sending in two. Palmer rolled to Woods scoring Post; Latchford beat out a hit to Mein, scoring Stark. With four runs in and a man on, things looked doubtful for the champs, but Symons forced Latchford, Mein to Marchen and the game was over.

With the bases full and one out in the second, Woods got out of a bad hole when he forced Gerow to to pop to Johnston and then struck out Stark, the Belleville lead-off man.

Gerow, the Belleville slowball artist, was no puzzle to the local kids. They collected ten hits off his delivery, and got them when they meant runs. Three of the four Belleville errors also counted in the scoring. Stark and Rigby gave their pitchers good support, cutting off runners with good throws to first. Gerow himself cut loose with a heave to centre field, trying to pick Woods off second, and when Ross missed the pill the pitcher galloped home.

Jimmy Johnston was the shining light of the Peterboro fielders. His catch of Latchford's foul, while running at full speed straight away from the plate, was one that comes once in a lifetime. He ran a good sixty feet after the ball. Halliday, with a diving catch if a fly which which insisted on curving away as he chased it, was another sparkling effort.

Delahaye was the Babe Ruth of the game. The stocky catcher had three hits in four tries, including a double. Woods helped his own cause by banging out two singles, both hot grounders, through the box. Latchford had two hits for the visitors in five appearances.

A double play, Mein to Marchen to LeBarr, stopped a rally in the eigth and was one of the neatest executed on the Riverside ball ground by any team in many a day. The ball was handled perfectly by all three, and the speedy Belleville first baseman, Symons, was out by a couple of steps at first base.

Walt Gerow came up to manage the juniors and they got beat. While he was here his senior team beat Kingston. He brought along a husky bunch of players. Hurley, who played left, is a bespectacled player, built along the lines of Babe Ruth, and others were almost as big.

SCORE ELEVEN IN TWO INNINGS

SCORE WAS 21-2.

DELORO, Aug. 13 (Special to The Examiner).—The biggest crowd of the season, more than five hundred fans from all over the district, saw Deloro win the championship of the Bay of Quinte League yesterday afternoon by defeating Point Anne by 21 runs to 2. Eleven runs in the first two innings practicallf decided the game at the outset. The Smelters heaped up 21 hits of Green Bennett and Gaulin, while Ada held the visitors to five hits and fanned seven, and with a big early lead breezed along without any semblance of trouble.

Yesterday's result was something of an anti-climax to the Bay of Quinte League race. Point Anne had suffered only one loss in the regular schedule, and that was to Deloro, who tied with Picton for second place, then eliminated Picton and won both the final play-offs.

Yesterday's game is fully told by the score board. The locals hit all kinds of pitching, while Point Anne was turned back scoreless in all but the first and sixth innings, when they put over their two lone counters.

The teams were as follows:

Point Anne.—Maracle, lf; Gaulin, 3b and p; Goyer, c; E. Green, p, ss, and 3b; Bradshaw, 3b; Reid, cf; Brant, ss; Bennett, rf and p; Hart and Hutchins, subs.

Deloro.—Ada, p; Shaultz, 2b; Quinn, c; H. Boudreau, rf; Johnston, ss; Regan, 3b; Brown, lf; Leal, cf; Hughes 1b.

Umpires.—Walker and Twigg of Kingston.

DEMPSEY SIGNS FOR WILLS BOUT

Makes Statement That Fitzsimmons Has His Signed Contract.

NOT IN NEW YORK.

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 13 (Canadian Press).—Jack Dempsey threw his weight behind Floyd Fitzsimmons' efforts to obtain the right to stage a Dempsey-Wills fight for the heavyweight championship with two declarations made here late yesterday. The first was: "Fitzsimmons has made me a better offer than any likely to come from any other promoter and he has my signature to a contract."

The second statement, given with an air of finality that seems to eliminate all chances of Tex Rickard staging the bout in New York, was brief and unqualified: "I will not fight in New York State."

A third remark concerning a statement by Jack Kearns that he still had managerial power over Dempsey's engagements and that he intended to sign for a Dempsey-Wills fight, also was brief and unqualified. It was: "I'll do my own signing. Let Kearns sign if he wants to, but what good will it do him?"

PLAY IN OTTAWA.

BROCKVILLE, Aug. 13. — Canadian Press. — The Brockville baseball club returned winners in the St. Lawrence Intermediate Section of the O.A.B.A., were notified to-day to meet the winners of the Ottawa series in that city next Monday in the first of the Intermediate semi-finals.

DRAW MADE FOR TENNIS MATCHES WITH AUSTRALIA

Crocker Plays Anderson and Wright Meets Patterson To-day.

IN DAVIS CUP SERIES.

Players on Both Sides Are Among Best Known Stars in the World.

MONTREAL, Aug. 13 (Canadian Press).—J. O. Anderson meets W. F. Crocker and G. L. Patterson plays J. L. Wright in the first two singles matches of the Australia-Canada Davis Cup tie to be played today at the Mount Royal Tennis Club courts, it was announced yesterday.

It is impossible to make any prediction as to what the result will be in either match, but it is certain that Crocker will have to be at the top of his form to get the better of the famous Australian.

Anderson had represented his country in the Davis Cup matches on five different occasions, in 1919, 1921, 1922, 1923, and 1925, and in 1923 he was placed number three in the unofficial world's tennis ranking. At various times Anderson has defeated almost all the best tennis players in the world.

"Bill" Crocker won the Canadian championship at Vancouver this year, and is also the Quebec Provincial champion.

With regard to the second match, Gerald Patterson is just as widely famed in tennis circles as is Anderson. In the Davis Cup he has been on the Australian team in 1919, 1920, 1922, 1924 and 1925. He also won the championship at Wimbledon in 1919 and in 1922. He is particularly famous on account of his cannon ball service, and is also a doubles player of note. In 1922 he won the United States doubles championship with another famous Australian, Pat O'Hara Wood as partner.

Wright is the present Canadian intercollegiate champion, and has been one of the outstanding players in this country for the past three years. Wright has twice given Tilden a battle, and has victories to his credit over Watson M. Washburn, Dr. George King, and William Hugh M. Kelleher. William T. Tilden recently prophesied that Wright will be among the world's first ten in three years' time.

GOSHEN, N.Y., Aug. 13 (Canadian Press).—Roland N. Harriman's Peter Malty, a brown colt by Peter Volo, out of Guy Axworthy, broke the world's half mile track record for two year olds at the summer meeting of the Orange County Driving Park Association on the historic track here yesterday.

The colt's time of 2.10 3-4 was made in the second heat of the two-year-old trot. The time is better by two and three-quarter seconds than the world's record established by the same colt two weeks ago at Endicott.

Drivers Gus Munz of Flushing, L.I., and Clyde C. Laammlein of Louisville, Ky., were injured in a spill that occured when Peter Volo, driven by Munz, stepped into a wheel of Lammlein's sulky. Neither drivers nor horses were seriously hurt.

U.S.A.H.A. ADOPTS NATIONAL RULES

Take Canadian Professional Code as Means of Speeding Up Game.

LONGER PERIODS.

NEW YORK, Aug. 13 (Canadian Press).—Playing rules of the National Hockey League, recognized major professional organization of Canada, were adopted at a meeting of the United States Amateur Hockey Association in Madison Square Garden yesterday. Six cities were represented: New York, Boston, Springfield, Mass.; Philadelphia, Pittsburgh and Cleveland.

The acceptance of professional rules was decided upon to speed up the amateur game, and to eliminate the necessity of two styles of play on the American rinks. Instead of three 15-minute periods of play as heretofore, the new rules call for three 20-minute periods, with 10-minute intermissions.

Minor infractions which had a tendency to slow up the amateur play relative to neutral zone laws were bridged by the Canadian regulations.

Discussion of schedules will be considered at a meeting in New York next week.

CROPS DAMAGED.

BROCKVILLE, Aug. 13.—(Canadian Press).—A miniature cyclone which passed over the country in the region Elgin and Phillipsville, and which was of brief duration, levelled trees, haystacks, fences and standing crops. Buildings escaped damage.

BARNEY OLDFIELD MEDAL TO BE COMPETED FOR IN PETERBORO'

Perpetual Challenge Trophy Race Makes Local Event Real "Big League" Stuff.

Ray Claypool Entered.

The coveted Barney Oldfield Diamond Medal, emblematic of the dirt track championship of North America, a perpetutal challenge trophy which can be raced for once every 30 days, will reward the victor in a ten lap race named in honor of the famous old dare-devil driver, at the Peterboro Exhibition Grounds next Thursday afternoon.

A wire from Oldfield now in Los Angeles to Manager John Sloan of the big auto race meet here conveyed the news this morning. The winner of the race here will hold the medal for the next 30 days. Thus, Peterboro's first race meet is "big league" in every particular.

The entry of Ray Claypool, hero of more than a hundred victories over dirt tracks, was received this morning. Claypool will drive an eight-cylinder Miller Special, a sister car to the machine which won two Indianapolis 500 miles races. Claypool's arch enemy of the gasoline circuit, Ray Lampkin, tools an eight-cylinder Deusenberg, which is a replica of the car which won the last Indianapolis classic.

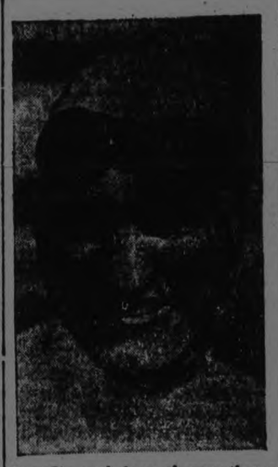
With the injection of Claypool into the local speed fray, a desperately fought speed duel is assured. Whenever Lampkin and Claypool hook up on a track the spectators get a great run for their money.

Mr. Sloan said this afternoon that Mlle. Martens, premier woman driver of the world, will arrive early Monday, and had wired asking that she be allowed to use the track for practice as soon as her new machine is unloaded from the express car. The speed queen, while specializing in driving death-inviting exhibitions, never fails to learn, thoroughly before a race each course over which she drives.

The entire lot of speed demons should be here by Tuesday morning. The track will be opened for practice on that day, although the outer gates will be closed. The hazard of having a crowd around the track without safety zones and plenty of police protection, is one that the promoters of the races will not assume.

A large number of out of town speed fans have written Webber Turner of the Exhibition Association asking if there will be reserved seats available on the day of the race.

Mr. Sloan announced this morning that there will be no reserved seats and that it will be a case of first come, first served. The gates will open at noon on Thursday, and automobiles will be admitted to the grounds. Out of town parties may picnic in the grounds if they desire to come early.



Ray Claypool, hero of more than a hundred victories over dirt tracks, who will dive an eight-cylinder Miller in races to be held in Petermorough, August 20.

FUNERAL SERVICE OF JUDGE CAMERON

Members of the Bar and County Officials Pay Tribute.

COBOURG, Aug. 13.—A funeral service was held at his residence on Tuesday evening, when, among relatives present besides the late Judge Cameron's wife and little daughter, was his sister, Mrs. Wilson. Members of the Bar and county officials were present to pay their tribute of esteem and regard, and other citizens. An impressive service was conducted by Rev. T. W. Goodwill, pastor of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, assisted by Rev. J. N. Norton, pastor of Cobourg Baptist Church.

On Wednesday morning the remains were taken on the 9.20 train to Goderich for interment. The bailbearers were: F. M. Field, K.C.; F. D. Boggs, K.C.; T. F. Hall, K.C.; J. B. McColl, Archie Cochrane and A. R. Willmott.

Mr. J. T. Field, clerk of the Surrogate Court; G. M. Nesbitt, Sheriff of the United Counties; J. F. McMillon, and Chief John C. Rose accompanied Mrs. Cameron and little daughter to Goderich, the former home of deceased, where a funeral service was held to-day.

Malcolm Graeme Cameron, Judge of the County Court of Northumberland and Durham, was a son of the late Malcolm C. Cameron, and was born at Goderich. His father represented South and West Huron in the House of Commons for several years, and at the time of his death was Lieutenant-Governor of the North-West Territories. His mother was Jessie H. McLean, daughter of Dr. John McLean of the Royal Navy. He was educated at Goderich Grammar School, Tassie's School, Galt, and graduated in law in 1879. Excepting a few years, during which he practiced law in Toronto as partner with the late Sir George W. Ross; he practised his profession at Goderich, until he came to Cobourg in September, 1924. In 1902 he was created a K.C.

The late Judge Cameron had long been a public man, first as councillor, then Reeve and Mayor of Goderich. In 1902 he was elected by the Liberal party to represent West Huron in the Ontario Legislature, retiring in 1906. In 1908 he unsuccessfully contested the riding of West Huron for the House of Commons. In 1904 he was appointed by the Federal Government a member of the Royal commission for revising and consolidating the statutes of Ontario, and was the author of some volumes on law, his "treatise on the Law of Denver," which is highly commended as an authority.

Belleville Surprised Joe Daley's Crew By 6 to 5 Victory.

BELLEVILLE, Aug. 13. — The Canadian National team, tail-enders of the Central Ontario League, wound up the season by defeating Kingston by 6 to 5 here yesterday aftrnoon. It was one of the few bright spots in the disastrous season of 1925 for the railroaders. Kingston used three pitchers, Gallagher, Young and Cairns, and two catchers, Arneil and Quinn.

Arneil was hurt in the third inning when hit on the knee by a pitched ball. Young replaced Gallagher in the fourth and Cairns stepped into pitch in the seventh. For Belleville, Jeffrey and Keon were the pitchers, Harris catching. One of the features of the game was the catch in centre field by Blakely, shortstop of Belleville. Belleville had three double plays and Kingston one.

SYNOD EXPELLED RUSSIAN BISHOP

Development in New York Dispute Over Leadership.

NEW YORK, August 13. — Canadian Press. — Bishop Adam Philipovsky, now in jail for contempt of court in forcibly taking possession of the Russian orthodox cathedral, has been excomunicated with 15 of his followers by a synod of more than 70 bishops and priests of the Russian orthodox church.

The excommunication is the latest development in the controversy between Bishop Adam and Archbishop Platon, Metropolitan of North America, both of whom claim the leadership of the church in this country.

AT THE CAPITOL

"ZANDER THE GREAT" HAS BOTH COMEDY AND THRILL

"Zander the Great," the famous stage play, adapted for the screen by Frances Marion and starring Marion Davies, will be shown at the Capitol Theatre beginning tonight and continuing the following two days. Perhaps never in her career has Miss Davies been so admirably cast as in the role of Mamie, the demure, whimsical yet humorous heroine of "Zander the Great."

A different angle and a new twist has been given the play by the introduction of several comedy characters, who divide the picture equally into two portions—one devoted exclusively to the comedy element and the other to an epic drama of the far west.

The quick moving plot is punctuated with the swifter moving action of cowboys, bandits and rum-runners, who engage in a tremendous battle in the sweeping spaces of the Mojave Desert.

This provides the western sequence, which is enacted against the towering walls of high mountains and on the broad expanse of desert, with a sandstorm of blinding intensity.

With Holbrook Blinn, Harrison Ford, Hobart Bosworth, Harry Myers, Harry Watson, Jr., Richard Carle, Emily Fitzroy, Jack Huff, Hedda Hopper and others in the cast, "Zander the Great" moves dramatically, yet with many funny touches to relieve it, across the silver sheet—a drama or intense and concentrated energy, and which is said to provide something different for blase picture goers. It is a Cosmopolitan production released by Metro-Goldwyn.

AT THE ROYAL.

SONGS DAD USED TO SING AT ROYAL TONIGHT

Tonight at the Royal is known as Dad's Night, when the older folks (not necessarily men) will be carried back twenty-five years and hear the songs that were pouular in their day. Among the ones selected are Little Annie Rooney, Good-Bye Dolly Gray, Mandy Lee, Down on the Farm, Meet Me Tonight in Dreamland, When You Were Sweet Sixteen, and Sweet Adeline. Mr. Harris will be leader of the Community singing. Other novelties and amateurs will be added.

Latest Desmond Vehicle Directed by Wm. Craft.

Unusual pictorial beauty because of backgrounds of giant trees and heavily wooded hills is promised in the showing at the Royal Theatre tonight of "Big Timber," the Universal special production in which William Desmond has the featured role. Some of the biggest trees in the world were the background, California's own giant redwoods.

"Big Timber,' adapted from a magazine story written by Vingie E. Roe, is the tale of two great rival lumber camps and the new owner of one of them. This man, the leading figure, in the story, is handicapped in his battle with Nature and the primitive industry of lumbering by the fact that he takes charge of the great industry under a cloud of suspicion. His men believe that he obtained his control through "dirty work" which ended in the suicide of the former owner. He has battles galore on his hands, and never passes up a challenge, which keeps him busy.

There are two girls in the story, one an orphan waif of the woods in tomboy clothes, played by Olive Hasbrouck, and the other a newspaper feature writer in search of a clue to the suicide motive, played by Bety Francisco. Besides Desmond and these two the cast includes the ever capable Lydia Yeamans Titus, Ivar McFadden and Albert J. Smith.

William Craft directed the filming of the story, and under his guidance the company journeyed to Westwood, California, and there lived for weeks without the comforts and conveniences of studio life in order that the atmosphere of the story might be true to the original. Unusual expense and time was allowed for this feature of the production.

AT THE REGENT

"Scar" Hanan, known by that name because of a vivid scar on his face, is a broncho buster on Bart Hutchin's ranch. Bart Hutchins is very anxious to be rid of "Scar" so that he may come into some property which has been willed to "Scar" by his father years ago—unknown to "Scar."

Dr. Fleming and his daughter, Marion, whom "Scar" saved from a runaway horse, discovers that 'Scar' is the son of an old friend of his, and tells "Scar" the circumstances under which his father willed his property to him. Dr. Fleming wants "Scar" to watch Bart; he realizes, however, that "Scar" can never return to the ranch with the giveaway scar on his face, so he performs an operation which removes the scar, leaving a handsome young face, much to the joy of Marion, who loves him.

Hanan returns to Bart's ranch, and after a series of thrilling events, Bart and Hanan come to blows. Then a pistol battle ensues between the two men, and 'Scar' knocks the gun from Bart's hand. He is so angry that a dull red scar glows under the skin of his face, and Bart recognizes "Scar." "Scar" realizes that Bart is a skunk who has been trying to do him out of his property and had hoped to kill him in the most cold-blooded way.

At this point Dr. Fleming and Marion arrive with the Sheriff, Bart is taken into custody and Marion lets "Scar" know that she loves him. "Scar" and Marion are united by their mutual love while Fate, without further assistance, returns the ranch to its natural owner, "Scar," and the law takes care of Bart Hutchins.

CAMPERS' SOFTBALL.

Pak-em-in Kamp Won First Game By Beating Tally-ho Camp.

The Pak-em-inn Kamp softball team trounced the Tally-ho Kamp team last Monday in the first game of the Campers' Softball League. Pak-em-inn walked off the field with a 10-3 victory tucked neatly under the canvas. Though the Tally boys were beaten in the first start they are a formidable looking team on the field and the next time they meet the Em boys they should give them a hard tussle.

The Pak-em-inn lads got all their counters in the first innings and were always dangerous. The Tally-ho fielders' jobs were difficult because of the long grass and weeds. Batteries: Park-em-inn Kamp: Catcher, McIntyre; pitchers, Franks Marchen. Tally-ho Kamp—Catcher, McNeely; pitcher, Gimblett.

FINANCIAL NEWS.

Chicago Wheat Soared On Keen Demand At Opening

CHICAGO, Aug. 13. — Canadian Press. — Active buying soon took up all the surplus offerings in the wheat pit after the start to-day and prices scored rapid gains.

The fact that the Liverpool market was but little responsive to yesterday's advance on this side of the Atlantic had only a temporary influence here. Chicago's receipts were again extremely small, only 69 cars, and the heavy movement of grain out of here to the east continued to attract notice. Chicago opening prices which ranged from 7-8c decline to 3-4c advance, Sept. 164 to 164 1-2 and Dec. 162 to 162½ were followed by an irregular rise that lifted September to 166 1-4 and Dec. to 163 7-8. Rainy weather made the corn market easy. After opening unchanged to 1-2c off, Sept. 104 3-8 to 104½, the corn market averaged lower, although Sept. at one time touched 105.

Oats sympathized with corn. Starting unchanged to 3-8c up, Sept. 41 5-8 to 41 3-4, oats prices later showed slight losses all around.

Provisions felt the effect of the decline in hog values.

Motor Stocks Slumped On Buying Of Rail Shares

NEW YORK, Aug. 13—(Canadian Press).—In an apparent response to commission house advices, considerable switching from industrials into rails took place during the morning in Wall Street. Adverse trade news stimulated the selling of sugars and motors, General Motors, Hudson and Willys Overland Preferred all falling back two points or more. Oils reflected uneasiness arising from rumors of another "price war" by larger companies. The lowering of the call money rate to four per cent. had a steadying influence on the general list, which started upward again before midday, when buoyancy developed in some of the high-priced industrial issues. Mack Trucks soared 7 3-4 points to 203½ within a small fraction of the highest level reached before the "rights" to purchase additional stock at $100 a share now selling around $20 were deducted. American Can jumped six points to a record high for all time at 241.

Standard Mining Trade Dull at To-day's Opening

TORONTO, Aug. 13 (Canadian Press).—With transactions totalling 88,723, the Standard Mining Exchange was somewhat quieter this morning. Baldwin was 1-4 higher at 2 1-4, and Premier advanced 3 points to 203, while Tough Oakes was 1 point lower at 32. Capitol declined half to 32 under heavy sales. Can. Lorraine advanced 5 points to 35, and McKinley Darragh was down 1 point at 32 1-2. Nipissing was 3 points higher at 490.

Consolidated Smelters Toronto Stock Leader

TORONTO, Aug. 13.—(Canadian Press).—With the leadership of the market reverting to Consolidated Smelters, in which security transactions reached 900 shares, the market trend turned again upward on the Toronto Stock Exchange this morning.

Though moderation of activity was shown, the session was a busy one, and a good list was dealt in.

Smelters led the advance with a point and a half gain at 115½. Brazilian touched a new current high at 60 5-8, 5-8 gain, and Canada Bread Common, the third leader, further advanced two points at 56.

F. N. Burt advanced 3-4 to 59 3-4 Dominion Stores, in moderately active dealings, improved a point at 52 and at 51 Winnipeg was half a point stronger.

J. W. MEYERS' RINK TROPHY WINNERS

Brought Home Ackerman Cup From Belleville.

CAMPBELLFORD, Aug. 13.—Two rinks represented the local bowling club at the Belleville tournament and returned at midnight Tuesday, bringing with them the handsome Ackerman cup, the first trophy that has ever been captured by the Campbellford club, which is one of the younger organizations in the district. The rinks consisted of the following players, the cup being won by the first mentioned:

C. S. Gillespie, D. W. Douglas, J. R. Wilkinson, A. J. Meyers, skip.

J. C. Birmingham, Dr. A. Haig, L. B. Glover and W. S. Wiggins, skip.

The Wiggins' rink went through to the semi-finals, but were put out of the running by Napanee. Monday they defeated the Gilbert rink of Belleville and the Huffman rink of Napanee by big margins.

The final game between the Meyers rink and the Belleville rink, skipped by that famous bowler, Rev. D. C. Ramsay, resulted in a victory for the Campbellford men by a score of 16 to 11, one of the most exciting games of the tournament. Besides winning the cup each of the Campbellford quartette was presented with an Irish linen table cloth.

The handsome trophy will be placed on exhibition here. It will become the permanent property of the club winning it three years in succession.

Ladies' Tournament.

The lady members of the Campbellford club will hold an open Scotch doubles tournament Friday next, the first affair of the kind ever put on in this district.

The annual tournament of the club will be held on August 21, when valuable prizes will be put up for competition.

TEACHERS RETAIN ANNUAL MEETINGS

Proposal For Triennial Conventions Defeated By Federation.

TORONTO, Aug. 13.—(Canadian Press). A proposal to institute triennial meetings at a permanent place of meeting such as Winnipeg, instead of the present annual gatherings, was voted down by the Canadian Teachers' Federation holding their sixth annual convention here to-day, after a considerable amount of discussion in which the question of sectionalism was prominent.

The motion was made by Saskatchewan delegates. Western delegates stated that their idea was to save money, and establish their position more permanently in the matter of security of tenure, pensions and adequate salaries. While denying that there was any feeling among them of sectionalism or separatism, Westerners claimed they got more moral than practical support.

FACTS ABOUT OPTOMETRY

Is Squinting Merely a Habit?

No, it generally has an error of vision as a cause. This error causes eye strain and the eye strain causes the squinting. To prevent the squint, start at the beginning—correct the error of vision. In most cases when that is done there is no more squinting. We have corrected many cases of this kind. Are you interested?

WINDSOR WOMAN MURDERS MAN WHO SPURNED HER LOVE, AND IS BETRAYED TO POLICE BY MISHAP

Clayton McMullen Shot From Curtained Automobile--Woman Accidentally Shot.

HOSPITAL ARREST.

"I Shot Him Because I Loved Him," She Confesses in Bed.

WINDSOR, Aug. 14.—(Canadian Press).—Clayton McMullen, 26 years old, proprietor of a battery service station at London Street and Caron Avenue, was shot and killed shortly after 8 o'clock Thursday night, because, police declare, he spurned the passionate love-making of Mrs. Ruth Janisse, 27 years old, of La Salle, who is under police surveillance at Grace Hospital, and who has confessed that she fired the fatal shot.

"I shot him because I loved him," Mrs. Janisse this morning told the police.

The old, old story of unrequieted love is back of the slaying of the young service station proprietor. This the police are certain of, and letters said to have been sent by Mrs. Janisse to McMullen, threatening to take his life unless he responded to her love-making, will be available when Mrs. Janisse is placed on trial for her life, police declare.

"Pestered to Death."

McMullen was at police headquarters at 4.30 Thursday afternoon, when he had a conference with Chief Daniel Thompson regarding advances of Mrs. Janisse. McMullen then said that he had been "pestered to death" by telephones and letters from Mrs. Janisse.

That Mrs. Janisse made no secret of her love for McMullen was said by Barrister H. M. Clark, who has been retained by the husband of the alleged murderess.

"I knew my wife loved McMullen," Janisse, who is a garage foreman, told Barrister Clark at police headquarters this morning. "I knew that she no longer cared for me, and for that reason I wanted to see McMullen last night, with a view to effecting an amicable settlement. I did not know that my wife had a gun, and I deny the statement said to have been made by Mrs. McMullen that I fired the fatal shot."

McMullen was shot to death when he accepted an invitation of Janisse to leave the home of Mrs. F. H. Turner, 322 Ellis Avenue, to "talk it over." Both Mrs. Janisse and her husband have told the police it is said, that the fatal shot was fired from a 32 calibre revolver in the hands of the first named. Mrs. McMullen, on the other hand, is certain that she saw the gun in the right hand of Mr. Janisse.

Mrs. Janisse, with a bullet wound in her left leg, is under police guard at Grace Hospital, and her husband occupies a cell at the police headquarters.

The story as pieced together by Windsor and provincial police is that shortly before nine o'clock an automobile with curtains drawn drew up in front of the McMullen home on Ellis Avenue.

Janisse jumped out and knocked at the door, McMullen answering the knock. Then as the two men walked slowly toward the darkened automobile a single shot rang out and McMullen crumpled to the lawn with a bullet through the heart. Then as Janisse leaped into his machine the revolver spoke again. The woman screamed and at once the automobile sped away. A few minutes later Janisse assisted his wife into Grace Hospital, explaining that she had accidentally shot herself.

A moment later the McMullen telephone rang, and Janisse at the hospital inquired as to McMullen's condition. When told that he was dead he hung up the receiver.

Before he could leave the hospital the police arrived and snapped the handcuffs on his wrists.

A pearl-handled .32 calibre revolver, with two chambers empty, was found in his pocket, the police say. Questioned at headquarters Janisse told the police that his wife had shot McMullen, "for something he did to her."

CASHIER OF WINNIPEG STREET RAILWAY ROBBED OF $87,478 BY FIVE BANDITS

One of Most Daring Hold-ups in Winnipeg Successfully Executed at One of City's Busiest Corners—Eluded Police.

WINNIPEG, Aug. 14 (Canadian Press)—Five daring bandits executed one of the boldest coups ever pulled off in Winnipeg when they held up and robbed Dick Shaw, cashier of the Winnipeg Electric Railway Company, about ten o'clock this morning, of $87,478. The robbers escaped in the railway company's car which they later abandoned.

Returning from the bank with a bag full of money, the monthly wages of a staff of nearly 1,500, Shaw was surrounded by five men as he stepped from the company's automobile in which he had made the trip.

With a gun thrust at his head, Shaw refused to hand over the cash, whereupon one of the five robbers slugged him over the head with the butt end of a revolver. With Shaw unconscious on the pavement, while hurrying throngs stood aghast at the daring holdup, the five bandits leaped into a car and ordered the driver to "go like hell."

An immediate alarm started hot pursuit, police on motor cycles and in automobiles, and citizens in commandeered cars joined in the chase. Weaving about in the maze of downtown streets, direct sight of robbers was lost in a few minutes. After a ride of approximately half an hour the company's car was abandoned by the bandits and the driver returned to the company's office, where he was interrogated by the police. The holdup occurred on one of the busiest corners in Winnipeg.

FRENCH TAKING GREAT INTEREST IN DEBT PARLEY

Ambassador Sends Long Reports on Belgium-United States' Negotiations.

RETURN TO LONDON.

France and Britain Agree That Payment Be Fixed According to Ability.

PARIS, Aug. 14. — (Canadian Press).—Intense interest is being taken in French Government circles in the Belgian-United States debt funding negotiations now in progress at Washington. The French Foreign Office is receiving each day long communications from Emile Daeschner, French Ambassador at Washington, giving a full report of the proceedings.

The return of the French funding mission to London has been postponed until next week.

It is now known that France and Great Britain are thus far agreed in principle; that the British yearly demands for payment of the French debt will be fixed not according to the amount of the French debt but according to France's capacity to pay.

France has proposed annual payments of £7,000,000 to £8,000,000, three or four of which are to be paid in gold. Britain has asked annual payments of £15,000,000.

IRISH EXPERIMENT IN TARIFF DUTIES FAILS

Imports Not Checked—Many Duties to be Dropped.

LONDON, Aug. 14. — Canadian Press. — The Dublin correspondent of the Westminster Gazette says the tariff experiment started by the Irish Free State about two years has failed so signally that it is likely most of the duties will be dropped. The idea was of course to protect and foster Irish manufacturers, but the correspondent writes that foreign goods have not been excluded while prices naturally have risen and the consumer has paid the penalty.

INDIA DECLARES PEACE PROTOCOL TO BE INIMICAL

Communication Asserts That Her Geographical Position Marks Her Out.

LIABLE TO CALL.

Applying Sanctions to States Would Impose a Great Burden.

GENEVA, Aug. 14.—(Canadian Press).—In a communication sent to the League of Nations yesterday the Indian Government declares that the Geneva peace protocol would be inimical to India's interests.

The communication asserts that India's geographical position would mark her as a nation upon which the League under the protocol ordinarily would call to apply immediate sanctions against recalcitrant states in the East. This would place upon India a burden, military and financial, which the country would not be able to bear, the communication adds, and also would subject the various Indian religious communities to an unwarranted strain.

REV. DR. MARSH STILL STUDIES THE STARS.

Rev. Dr. D. B. Marsh, former Presbyterian miniser at Springville, seven miles from Peterboro, where he was stationed for a number of years, still pursues his astronomical studies. When he went to the West Indies he found the clocks in great disorder. Appointed official time-keeper, he set up these two instruments on his roof to keep his chronometers accurate by the stars.

Dr. Marsh believes that the maximum number of sunspots next year will not cause cold weather, but probably warmer. He is still remembered by his many friends in this district, whose iterest in the heavens were quickened and cultivated by Dr. Marsh's addresses and personal instructions.

ENGINEER BELIEVED DEMENTED JAMMED EXPRESS BRAKES PILING UP COACHES AN D KILLING ELEVEN

160 INJURED.

AMIENS, France, Aug. 14 (Canadian Press).—Eleven persons were killed and 160 injured in last night's railway disaster when a crowded Paris-Calais express train of twenty coaches piled up and burst into flames just as it swept into the Amiens station. The train is said to have been going at 60 miles an hour instead of having slowed up outside the station, as the rules require. The passengers were mostly third-class.

The train left Paris at 2.30 o'clock yesterday afternoon. It was on time, but the engineer for unknown reasons ran as fast as 80 miles an hour, alarming the passengers; when in the station, he jammed on the brakes while the train was going at high speed. The baggage car was derailed, seven of the forward third class cars were telescoped and the remaining cars toppled on their sides.

The gas tanks in the old-fashioned gas lighted coaches exploded, three coaches being set on fire. Nine bodies, five of them women, have been found, some of them badly scorched. It is feared others are still in the wreckage. Two of the injured men died shortly after they were removed to the hospital, and five others are in a critical condition.

The train, loaded with holiday makers, was bound for the seashore. The engineer escaped unhurt, and his mental condition is being examined.

TO MAINTAIN CORPS WATCH FOREIGNERS

French Minister of Interior Says Methodical Control Now Impossible.

Mr. Schrameck, France's Minister of the Interior recently stated that he intends to ask parliament for funds to enable him to create and maintain a special corps of police inspectors for the surveillance of foreigners in France. According to advices received by the Bankers Trust Company of New York form its French Information Service Mr. Schrameck states that the number of foreigners, which was 1,732,868 in 1914, had risen to 2,574,952 at the beginning of the present year. This number is so great that methodical control is impossible with the present strength of the police, and it has become necessary to appoint a corps of trained men acquainted with foreign languages and customs. He estimates the cost at 1,500,000 francs a year. Mr. Schrameck added that there was not the slightest intention of interfereing with respectable foreigners, who, he was convinced, would be the first to approve of measures for the control of undesirables.

Douro Re-union Prizes For Newlyweds Not Yet Claimed P. G. Towns Disappointed

The oldest married couple who attended the Old Boys' Reunion at Douro recently, were Mr. and Mrs. William J. Moher, who received the cash prize of $4.00, contributed by Mr. Vincent Eastwood.

This announcement was made by Mr. T. G. Towns, who was largely instrumental in making the reunion a fine success, but his satisfaction is apparently dimmed by the fact that there is no rush of applicants for the prizes of the first couples to wed after the reunion. There's a bag of sugar going begging for the first newly-weds who in their last single days attended the Towns' triumph. "P. G.s" happiness will not be complete until these prizes are claimed; but who would have thought of Mr. Towns as a sentimental aid of Cupid's.

JAPANESE DEMAND END OF SHANGHAI STRIKE

Note to China Calls For Loan Repayment.

LONDON, Aug. 14. — (United Press).—The Central News Tokio correspondent to-day reported Japan had sent a note to China, demanding speedy settlement of the Shanghai strike situation, and a second note requesting repayment of the so-called Nishi Nara loans.

Earlier advices claimed the strike at Shanghai had been settled by a return of the strikers to work after recognition of their unions.

RIFFS HEMMED IN SUFFER BIG LOSS

French and Spanish Cut Off Rebels' Escape.

ELARAISH, Spanish Morocco, Aug. 14. — (Canadian Press). — French forces advancing from Ouezzan and Spanish stationed along the Lukus River have administered a killing blow to the Riffian rebels. Yesterday the French captured Amezon, advancing to Sarsas plateau and to Zararet, thus hemming in the enemy who had no other means of escape than to filter through French or Spanish lines.

SITUATION QUIET ALONG OUERGHA

French Successes Have Had a Cheering Effect on the Troops.

TRIBES MOVING.

PARIS, Aug. 14 — (Canadian Press).—Advices from Morocco yesterday were to the effect that the situation along the Ouergha River front, where the French are facing the rebellious tribesmen, was quiet. The recent successes of the French and Spaniards over the Moroccans have had a cheering effect on the French troops, who also have been favored by a welcome drop in the torrid temperature. The mobile troops have been given 24 hours of rest.

A general movement northward by the dissident tribes has been reported since the arrival of French reinforcements at the front. The tribesmen are taking their cattle along with them.

PARSEE NOT TO BE MUZZLED ON HIS COMMUNISM

Indian Member of British Commons Regards Himself Representative of the People.

SCORE THE LEAGUE.

"Only a Spectacular Effect," He Says of League of Nations.

LONDON, Aug. 14. — (British United Press Cable..) — Shapurji Saklatvala, Parsee communist member of the British House of Commons, whose inclusion in the British delegation of the International Parliament Union Conference in Washington in September, has been severely criticized by Lord Beaverbrook's Daily Express, defended his forthcoming visit in a long interview here Thursday and indicated he would be likely to make communistic speeches in the United States.

"I consider I am one of the representative men of Great Britain," he said. "I have been elected to the British Parliament and I am going to Washington as a man who believes that because of that he is a representative of the section of British thought.

"It will be for the world to judge the amount of support behind me and of my political status, but at all events the world will know that the views I put forward exist even in Great Britain." He then launched into a violent attack on the League of Nations, declaring that the League "is only a spectacular effect." It supplies the central platform for ambitious statesmen who stole thunder and borrowed ideas from the Inter-Parliamentary Union. Those who go to the League are self appointed gentlemen of the world.

"Those who go to the Inter-Parliamentary Conference are elected representatives of the people. I fulfil the qualifications that I am one of the ones chosen by the people and at the Washington Conference men and women will be able to express the human side as opposed to the official view."

"When I go to America I am not going to remain behind a curtain. If I get invitations to speak I am not going to be shy. There may be occasions when I will have to give an explanatory programme of what the fighting trade unionists are out for, as against the artificial glass house plans put forward by the ornamental politicians of the Labor party."

He said he has two well-to-do brothers in America.

SMALLER APPLE CROP THIS YEAR

Estimate About 95 Per Cent. of Yield Obtained Last Year.

ONTARIO HIGHER.

OTTAWA, Aug. 14. — (Canadian Press).—Canada's commercial apple crop for the year is now estimated at 2,506,852 barrels, or approximately 95 per cent. of 1924. A report issued by the fruit branch of the Agriculture Department covering the situation throughout the Dominion as on August 1 gives the following estimated figures for commercial apple production in the various provinces of Canada: New Brunswick, 51,969 barrels; Nova Scotia, 1,018,661 barrels; Quebec, 44,000 barrels; Ontario, 821,772 barrels; British Columbia, 1,981,350 boxes. The estimates for each province, with the exception of Ontario, show a decrease from the 1924 yield.

The change in crop conditions since the July report from indications for an increased yield to a forecast showing a decrease, is caused, it is explained, by the heavy drop experienced in Nova Scotia and New Brunswick and a further slight reduction reported from Quebec and British Columbia. The total commercial apple crop for British Columbia is now estimated at 85 per cent., or 1,981,350 boxes, compared with the 1924 yield of 2,331,000 boxes. The Nova Scotia crop is estimated at 1,018,661 barrels, which is but 89 per cent. of the 1924 crop.

MILLIONS SPENT ON RADIO PARTS

51 BROADCASTING.

OTTAWA, Aug. 14. — (Canadian Press).—Canada spent $5,614,700 on radio sets and parts in 1924. Public interest in radio broadcasting, and the consequent demand for apparatus, has created a new industry. A report issued yesterday by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics shows that production of radio sets and parts in Canada last year amounted to $3,201,103. Imports of similar equipment from the United States during that year were to the value of $2,413,687, making the total given above representing the apparent total purchases of radio sets and parts in Canada. Exports in this class from Canada are negligible.

Radio licenses were issued by the Department of Marine and Fisheries during the twelve months ending March, 1925, to 92,096 persons. Ontario led all provinces with a total of 41,847, and Quebec was next with 18,211. Registrations in other areas were as follows: Saskatchewan 9,303; Manitoba, 6,553; British Columbia, 6,404; Alberta, 5,843; Nova Scotia, 2,772; New Brunswick 1,249; Prince Edward Island, 163; Yukon, 12; North-West Territories, 5. Licensed broadcasting stations in the Dominion numbered 51 at the end of the year.

In Canada, 13 plants, all located in Ontario and Quebec, reported a production of radio sets or parts.

SMALLER CROP ON LARGER AREA

United States' Report Says Prospect For Yields Lowest in 12 Years.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14.—(Canadian Press).—Despite an increased area of 2.3 per cent. planted to principal crops this years, total production was estimated yesterday by the Department of Agriculture as 3 per cent. lower than last year, due to decreased yields per acre.

Yields per acre showed a reduction for all principal crops of 6.4 per cent., compared with the 10-year average and 4.5 per cent. under last year's crop. Prospects for yields, the Department said, had not been so low at this time of year in the last 12 years, with the exception of 1921.

Spring wheat is expected to run over the five-year average yield per acre by about one-tenth of a bushel.

'PLUS FOUR' CLAD MEN ON INCREASE

Term is English, But Denotes Type of Baggy Knickers.

"Plus fours" is one of those phrases that haunt the mind of the average person with an atmosphere of mysterious uncertainty. It's like the "innocuous desuetude" and the "white man's burden" that one runs across now and then in the daily news. No one wants to admit that they don't know what these things mean, and yet they have only a vague idea of their real derivation. So with "plus fours."

"Plus fours" is really an English description of a certain type of golf suit. When an English person wants to buy thread, for instance, he or she asks for a "spool of cotton," molasses is always "treacle," and the Canadian who went over to the British Exhibition at Wembley last year to advertise the merits of canned salmon, soon found out that he had to change his line to "tinned fish." So, when they buy a golfing suit, they ask for "plus fours." It's a good reason.

The "plus four" suit, in its salad days, when it sprang into full prominence across the sporting world, was composed of a neat, but not gaudy, coat, with vest and trousers, or slacks, as they are called in this particular quartette of garments, all to match. Along with these went an extra pair of golfing knickers of the same material. Hence the "fours," but why the "plus"? No one knows.

At any rate, since that time, the term has suffered a certain diminution by reason of the fact that the golfing knickers, particularly of the baggy, roomy, English type that affords a generous use of the limb and allows the leg of the garment to fall in a more or less graceful fashion almost down to the ankle, has come to be called "plus four," so it is quite the thing for a gentleman clad in this type of knicker to look down affectionately at his nether limbs and allude airily to his "plus fours."

The suit that was used almost exclusively for golfing purposes has come, too, to be much in demand for all sorts of sporting expeditions and for camping outfits it is almost indispensable.

There is one good thing about the "plus four," at least, up to date, that it remains exclusively masculine. No one, so far, has heard a feminine wearer of knickers allude to her "plus fours."

As for their exact reason for being, that is, as far as the very baggy type of garment is concerned, it may have something to do with the fact that the majority of those who wear them don't possess a reason, or rather a pair of reasons, for wearing knickerbockers of any sort.

The use of sporting apparel has increased considerably within the past two seasons, according to gentlemen who cater to this class of trade. Although the members of the local Golf Club, for instance, appear on the green in suits that are other than "plus four" type, in many instances, still their use is becoming more popular year by year. The Lakes resorts and summer camps are full of both sexes who are clad in knickers. In fact, with the boyish hair cuts and flat lines in vogue, and the preference among the younger feminine fry for masculine attire in shirts and knickers, it is almost impossible at times to know whether to approach a youthful figure and ask for a match or not. Even at that, one would likely be supplied with the desired article in any case.

REDUCE FEE OF LIFE MEMBERS

Sons of England Voted Down Changes of Rates For Others.

SAFEGUARD FUNDS.

CALGARY, Alta., Aug. 14.—(Canadian Press.) — Various proposals to change the rates of sick benefits, both in the adult and juvenile departments of the Sons of England Benevolent Society were voted down at the annual convention yesterday. It was, however, decided to reduce the fees for honorary life membership.

It was decided to place more definite safeguards around the investment of the society's funds. The juvenile department was given permission to levy for their contingent fund. Considerable discussion took place in regard to the lack of satisfactory growth of membership. Strong views were expressed as to the need and value of visits from the supreme officers. It was suggested that the admission fees be lowered but this found no support.

The delegation from Ottawa is making a strenuous attempt to capture the next convention. The election of officers takes place to-day.

CAMPBELLFORD STUDENTS WHO PASSED MIDDLE SCHOOL EXAMS.

Trent Town's High School Passed 90 Per Cent. Of Its Students, Surpassing Last Year's Record, What Had Been the Highest Up to Then.

CAMPBELLFORD, Aug. 14.—Always successful at the Departmental examinations, the Campbellford High School this year has made the record of its career by passing 90 per cent. of the candidates who wrote at the middle school examinations. This is better than last year, when it was though the Principal, E. H. Greig, and his staff of assistants had reached the highest mark that it was possible to attain. The following list will show that a large percentage of the successful students took first-class honors in various subjects.

The successes that have been scored by the Campbellford High School, under the Principalship of Mr. Greig, has had the effect of attracting students from all parts of the district, and every student enrolled from outside of the corporation means an increase in the grant received every year from the county. The school is now rated by the Department of Education as second to none of its class in Ontario. The following is the list of those who passed:

The results of the candidates' examination is indicated as follows: First class honors I; Second class honors II; Third class honors III; Pass C.

WHOLESALE GROCERY HOUSES FORM MERGER

National Grocers Ltd. Obtain Charter in Ontario.

TORONTO, Aug. 14.—(Canadian Press).—It was officially announced last night that the Ontario Government has issued a charter to the National Grocers' Company, Limited. The new organization is virtually a merger of the leading wholesale grocery houses in Ontario.

The capital of the National Grocers' Company, Limited, will be approximately $7,000,000. The houses entering the new organization have a combined annual turnover of from $30,000,000 to $40,000,000. These houses number 28 or 30, which, and with their branches, will bring the total concerns interested up to about 40.

FAVORS CASH MARKET.

VANCOUVER, Aug. 14 (Canadian Press).—The Merchants' Exchange, Grain Division, went on record at its annual meeting yesterday, as being in favor of establishing a cash grain market here and instructed the new council to take steps to bring the cash system into effect as soon as possible.

LIST SHOULD BE COMPLETE.

It is of the greatest importance that there should be available a complete and accurate list of Peterboro soldiers who gave up their lives in the World War.

The list used in connection with the Decoration Day ceremonies of the G.W.V.A. and afterwards published by the Examiner lacked many names that should have been included.

Some of these names have since been added, but there are undoubtedly others that have not so far been reported.

Friends or relatives of men who paid the supreme sacrifice have in a number of cases furnished the Examiner with missing names, but it is possible that others who know of omissions from the list have not realized the importance of compiling a complete record of Peterboro's war sacrifice.

If any readers of this paper know of names that have not appeared they will be performing a very useful public service if they will furnish the Examiner with the information so that proper tribute can be paid to the memory of the men who failed to come back from the Great War.

THE PLAYGROUNDS.

Peterboro's supervised playgrounds, after six weeks' successful operations, have been closed for the season .

It is a source of great satisfaction to the Examiner, which has consistently supported the playground idea in the interest of the children of Peterboro and of their parents, to be able to state that the attendance during the present season has been consistently large, indicating that supervised playgrounds are here to stay.

The old argument that because there were no such facilities for safe recreation years ago there is no need of them today has been knocked into the proverbial cocked-hat.

It requires a vivid imagination to think of it as such under present-day conditions.

The community that sees to it that its children are kept away from the perils of modern traffic as far as possible is abreast of the times, and the Examiner is glad to know that Peterboro has been progressive enough to maintain its playgrounds.

Many of the children this year have had an opportunity, thanks to the supervisors, of learning under safe conditions the rudiments of the art of swimming, and if that were the sole benefit of the playgrounds the scheme would be worth all the money that it costs.

That, of course ,is merely one of several potent reasons why the present playgrounds should be retained and others added as the need for them develops.

CLEAN LACROSSE HAS A CHANCE.

To have a game that is truly Canadian in its origin, a sport that calls for stamina and courage and skill and speed, pass off the scene is to experience a national calamity.

Lacrosse is too good a game to die; yet it is being killed, not by its enemies but by its friends.

The failure of officials to curb rough play has been aggravated by the tendency of certain patrons of the game to deliberately incite players to violence until sport-loving enthusiasts have turned away to other pastimes.

Lacrosse can be played in a much different manner and under much different conditions than were in evidence in the local game, and it will have to be played that way if it is to have a chance to survive.

Strict rules, well enforced, have made hockey popular throughout Canada, and lacrosse will have to be put on, and kept on, the same basis if it is not soon to be as extinct as high-wheel bicycles.

Clean lacrosse has a chance to come back—but only clean lacrosse.

ADVERTISING ONTARIO.

From the Ontario Motor League, from which organization has come so many helpful suggestions, is issued an appeal to Ontario motorists to write to friends and relatives in the United States telling them that Ontario has a highway system comparable with the best across the border, and possesses scenic and other charms unsurpassed anywhere on the Continent.

"If every Ontario motorist would write to friends and relatives in the United States about Muskoka, the Thirty Thousand Islands of Georgian Bay, the Kawartha Lake, the Trent Waterway, Algonquin National Park, Tamagami, the great mining country, the Blue Water highway, the Great Northern highway, the Ottawa Valley, the Thousand Islands, the Niagara Peninsula, and the beauty of old Ontario, it would do more," says an official of the Motor League, "to augment the annual incursion of motor tourists than myriad copies of maps, booklets and vouchers."

There is undoubtedly much in that viewpoint, and the Examiner is glad to pass the suggestion on to its readers.

We have much in and around Peterboro to show visitors, and we should not be backward in telling our friends elsewhere something of what this district offers to tourists.

The plan suggested by the Motor League is one that can be easily adopted and that is certain to give results.

CALLS FOR AN ELECTION.

The Financial Post of Toronto, in a front page editorial headed "Bring on the Election; Stop This National Loafing," says in this week's issue:

Canada needs a Government with the power to govern. The Government now in control of the administration of national affairs lacks that power, for it has neither a strong majority over its opposition nor a united public opinion behind it. It has been for four years a Government by consent, and it is now a Government only by its own consent. As a result, great national issues that must be solved before prosperity can come are left unfaced. To attempt their solution requires more than analysis and sound thinking. It requires courage to force into effect the solutions believed to be right. That courage is sadly absent from the direction of Canada's affairs today.

It is absent, for one reason, because the Government does not feel a sense of power. Forced, as it thinks, to consider its own security, it dare not invite a real contest on any question of importance. It contents itself with the less contentious and more modest issues of the day and says nothing, does nothing, about the four towering problems of this country.

These are railways, taxation, immigration and the re-organization of civil government for lower costs and greater efficiency.

Canada needs a Government that will feel itself strong enough to tackle these mighty menaces to our country's welfare. This involves such a radical change in the Government as only a general election can bring about. The people must be given the opportunity to put into power a Government that will give them courageous leadership and statesmanlike handling of the nation's business. The general election should not be postponed longer. Bring on the election; let us get in a Government with a new term of life and a clear majority and finally start to work. Canada has not made any real progress since the end of the war. There is no better time to start than now.

There is no doubting the portents. A general election now means clear, decisive defeat of the Liberal party as at present led. The Financial Post has no politics; it is neither Grit nor Tory, and has only the national welfare in mind in demanding an immediate election. It has been most generous to the Premier and has withheld criticism on many occasions when it was deserved. It is expressing no endorsement of the Conservative platform when it reads the signs throughout the country and finds in them forecast of change. The turn-over seems inevitable in view of the failure of the Liberal Government to hazard its hold on office for the bigger interest of the country's good. As such an upheaval is inevitable, Canada is merely wasting time, wasting the energy of business and wasting the resources of the country to postpone the change.

The Government that will be elected—be it Grit or Tory—will likely have the definite working majority that means public backing. It will then be able to act; to decide on the future of the Government railways and choose one of the courses open to reduce the annual railway loss by millions. It will be able to reduce taxation and to give the average man a chance to pocket a larger share of the wealth he creates. It will be able to declare an immigration policy that will not be dictated by the selfish few, but by the hunger of our empty lands. It will be able to go one way or the other on the tariff and bring stability to industry. It will be able to put the Civil Service and public spending on a business schedule. Canada does not need anything more than this to have an era of growth greater than it has ever seen. The country is all right; its troubles are in the way it is being run.

Perhaps it will be pointed out that these things are not all in the Conservative party's platform. It may also be claimed with good reason that the Conservative party is not united nor its leaders proven capable by assembling a business administration and giving it direction. These points may be advanced as arguments for delay; for further postponement of an accounting of stewardship and the re-choosing of leaders. Such arguments are mere quibbling. The clear need is for a Government of authority and courage; for rulers with a popular mandate. It is a pity that the election will not be fought out on the big issues mentioned. Elections never centre on vital questions, politicians see to that. But even if the people will not be able to express their wishes completely, they should be given an opportunity to voice their dissatisfaction with the pussy-footing of the present; to command a change and at the same time to command action.

The command of the people can best be given through the democratic medium of the ballot box, and the people have earned—by their patience under inaction—a chance to say who shall lead them back to prosperity and what road they shall take. Any Government so commissioned will be bound to attempt something, which is better by far than doing nothing.

Every day the general election is delayed is a day of uncertainty for business amidst stifling inaction.

Bring on the election. Stop this national loafing.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE.

To the Editor, Examiner, Peterboro:
Sir:

From articles and news items in recent issues of The Examiner, the writer is led to question the wisdom of forming "Ku Klux Klan" organizations in Canada. It is manifestly unfair, however, to condemn any movement that is for the good and welfare of society, without first having knowledge of their objects, their constitution and laws, and that they are in keeping with, and not subversive, of the laws of Canada. In The Examiner of yesterday it is stated that when the leader of the "Ku Klux Klan" organization in Peterboro was asked for the names of the leaders and executive of the "Klan", he explained that their oath of office prohibits the publication of Klan membership. This statement from a leader will not inspire public confidence or respect but on the contrary will engender suspicion and distrust.

Do men of good will "light a candle and put it in a secret place or under a bushel?"

Yours truly,
J. F. LILLICRAP.

CONDITIONS IN "THE OLD COUNTRY."

Dear Editor: I thought maybe the following would be interesting to some of the Old Country people in Peterboro.

I arrived in England, from Peterboro, Ont., about ten weeks ago, having had a good trip. I have frequently crossed the Atlantic, but am a bad sailor, but this trip was the best I have had.

On arriving at Liverpool it was raining, so we knew at once it was England.

On looking about Liverpool I was much impressed with the prosperous appearance of the people in general. There seemed to be an "epidemic" of holiday-makers, on motor cycles, in motor cars and busses, and everyone was well dressed. I could not stay long in Liverpool because I had to catch a train to my home town, and was very soon being conveyed there at about 50 miles an hour. As we rode through the country the fields and gardens looked beautiful—better I think than I have ever seen them. I forgot to state by this time it had stopped raining.

Well, the old town looked good, and there was practically no unemployment. The town is in the Midlands and has about 12 to 15 carpet factories and a population of about twenty-eight thousand.

Of course I do not suggest there is no un-employment in England, because there is a great deal of it. But all those out of work draw unemployment pay (or the "dole" as it is called.) It is all right in some cases, but it is the majority of "never works" that get it. General wages are fair, but carpet weavers' wages are good. Every weaver gets 80 p.c. (eighty per cent.) bonus added to his or her wages. And a good weaver can make from five to six pounds a week; that is about $25 to $30. I know this to be true from actual experience. But strange to say living and general merchandise is dearer in England than in Canada.

At the present time butter is two shillings per lb.; bacon is one shilling and sixpence, and cheese is one shilling and two pence; eggs, two shillings a dozen; canned fruit and salmon about two shillings a can; meat (beef) is one shilling and sixpence a lb.; also mutton and pork. These prices are about 125 per cent above pre-war prices. Clothing, and boots and shoes are more expensive here than in Canada. House rent is not so bad but you cannot get a house for any money. I have been after a few, but in each case the landlord had a list of about 40 people wanting houses.

One thing over here is that the employers and employees seem to understand each other much better since the war. They meet to discuss each others' troubles, there being no class distinction between them whatever.

Strange to say, although there is NO prohibition in England I have seen more drunken people in Peterboro and Toronto in one week than I seen all the time I've been in England. And for the benefit of those who are curious, the people still go for their "half pint in a jug."

In concluding I may state I have had about 14 or 15 years in Canada (most of the time in Peterboro) and when work is good give me Canada very time. Yours truly,

TORONTO CATTLE

TORONTO, Aug. 14.—Nearly 1,600 cattle were sold at the Union Stock Yards on Wednesday. Around the yards yesterday there are nearly 1,000 cattle. Most of these are culls from loads of butchers and can only be disposed of at a price to compete with stuff now coming from the West. A few of the better butchers are being held till next week unless buyers advance their bids. The morning's receipts were only 7 cars, 70 cattle, 22 calves, 90 hogs and 103 sheep and lambs.

The cattle yards had the appearance of a holiday and the only sales during the morning were a few butchers' cows and three export bulls. The latter sold easier to allow for carriage till next week. Ed. Bowman bought two loads of Western stockers. One 750 lbs. to go to Weybridge, cost $3.70 a cwt.; the other 850 lbs. for Newbury, was bought at $4.25 a cwt. Commission men think that most of the cattle on the market will have to be held till next week.

The calf market closes the week unchanged with a good to steady undertone. Good to choice calves sold at 10 to 11 cents and good mediums at 8 3-4 cents a lb.

Lambs sold well on Wednesday, with choice ewes 14 3-4 to 15 cents a lb. This market is none too certain, however, as buyers are still contending that these prices are too high and all yesterday's lambs went at 14 1-2 cents for the choice. Sheep were steady, with one top at 7 1-2 cents a lb.

After holding out for almost two days for a cut in hog prices the packers met the sellers Wednesday and paid $12.75 a cwt. f.o.b.

CHICAGO CATTLE

CHICAGO, Aug. 14 (Canadian Press).—Cattle: Receipts, 11,000; fed steers, trade steady to 25 cents lower; mostly 15 to 25 cents off on low grade yearlings; extreme high mark on yearlings, 15.70; bast matured steers, 16.10; shipping demand showing abatement even on best heavies; light heifers weak to 25c lower, with strictly choice light and heavies offered steady; bulls weak; vealers strong to 25c higher at 13.00 to 14.00 mostly.

Hogs—Receipts, 21,000; uneven; mostly 10 to 25c lower than Wednesday's best prices; light lights and slaughter pigs, little changed; bulk better grades, 110 to 225 lb. weight, 13.50 to 13.80, top 13.90; majority desirable 240 to 325 lb. butchers, 13.40 to 13.55; bulk packing sows, 11.80 to 12.20; shippers, 3,500; estimated holdover, 16,000.

Sheep.—Receipts, 13,000; fat lambs active; generally steady to strong; spots higher; best range lambs 16.50; well sorted natives upward to 15.25; culls mostly 11.00 to 11.50; fat sheep and feeders steady; best feeder lambs held late at 15.50; choice handyweight fat ewes upward to 8.00; heavies mostly 5.00 downward.

MONTREAL PRODUCE

MONTREAL, Aug. 14 (Canadian Press).—The export trade in Canadian grain on the Montreal market yesterday was dull and featureless, there being little demand from any source. Prices were well maintained for oats undea fair demand.

The demand from the United States for winter wheat flour was the largest experienced here for some time, and a considerable amount of business was transacted at firm prices. The spring wheat flour market continues steady with a fair business passing.

The good demand for millfeed which commenced on Wednesday, was again in evidence yesterday, both home and foreign buyers being eager to buy. Prices were firm.

trading in rolled oats was fairly quiet, there being few foreign orders and the home trade not being as brisk as it has been for some days past. Prices were unchanged from the previous day.

Shortage of supplies was again the deterrent to an increased baled hay trade in the local market. There is little of the commodity in the district and although orders are fair, there is little business done. Prices were firm.

Export trading in butter was again brisk and the home trade was rather better than it has been for some days.

There is a good demand from abroad for the Dominion product and its continuance is hoped for by local exporters. Receipts were 5,908 as compared with 2,227 on the previous day, and 1,601 on the same day a year ago.

There was little trading done in the local cheese market, both home and foreign demand not being very brisk. Prices were unchanged.

The local egg market is still suffering its two months' period of quiet trade. July and August, always having been very quiet months. This year is proving no exception. Prices were firm.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, Aug. 14 (Canadian Press).—Important buying on the part of milling interests did a good deal yesterday to lift wheat values. Future deliveries of wheat both here and at Minneapolis were in demand from mills, and so, too, was wheat available to be delivered at once. The day's top price for wheat, however, failed to hold in the face of free selling to realize profits. Wheat closed unsettled, 1-2 to 1 cent higher; September $1.65 to $1.65 1-8 and December $1.62 1-2 to $1.62 5-8; with corn 3-8 to 1 cent down; oats unchanged to 3-8 cent lower, and provisions varying from unchanged figures to 15 cents decline.

Higher markets Northwest, as well as reports of a liberal increase of flour trade, gaves special emphasis to the purchasing of wheat for mills. Besides, leading Chicago holders of wheat were apparently adding to their lines. With Chicago receipts again small, and with the heavy movement of wheat out of here to the east continuing to attract notice, the Chicago market had a decided upward tendency except at the start. Initial hesitancy was associated with the fact that Liverpool quotations were more or less unresponsive to Wednesday's advance on this side of the Atlantic.

Subsequent quickness with which surplus offerings were taken in the wheat pit and the rapidity with which the market moved up to the highest prices yet on the present movement, were an impressive feature of the day's trading. Another outstanding circumstance was active buying of December delivery here against sales of October at Winnipeg. On the other hand, some of the lively profit taking sales which at the last unsettled the market here were ascribed to a noted eastern speculator. Meanwhile, export dealings yesterday were estimated at only 100.000 bushels.

Beneficial rains eased down the corn market. Oats sympathized with corn.

Provisions were weakened by lower prices for hogs and for cotton oil.

STERLING EXCHANGE

MONTREAL, Aug. 14 (Canadian Press).—Sterling exchange rates were quoted yesterday as follows:

MEAT IS BEST DIET SAYS U.S. PROFESSOR

Conclusion Follows 8 Years of Experiment on White Rats.

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Cal., Aug. 14.—Prof. James R. Slonaker of the physiology department at Stanford University has emerged from eight year of experimenting with the conviction that meat eaters, as compared with vegetarians, will live longer, have more children and be of more hardy physique.

Prof. Slonaker confined his laboratory research to 40 pairs of white rats, but he said that the conclusions he reached coincided with reports of the results of restricted diet on people in many localities after the World War.

He divided the rats into two equal groups, feeding one set an ordinary diet including a protein, the other the same diet minus the protein.

He found that withdrawing meat from the rats' diet caused males to weigh 35 per cent. less than those fed meat, the females 28 per cent. less. The vegetable diet shortened the male's life 33 per cent., the female's 40 per cent., caused 29 per cent. fewer rats to be born and brought about loss of the power of reproduction by the third generation. The proportion of males to females was reduced among the vegetarian rats.

SERVICE IS HELD AT MOUNT CAVELL

Memory of Martyr Nurse is Recalled by Ceremony.

MONTREAL, Que., Aug. 14.—At the foot of the great ghost glacier which with outspread wings clings to the side of Mount Edith Cavell in Jasper National Park, Alberta, the first memorial service commemorating the death of the heroic British nurse was held last Sunday afternoon, according to advices received at headquarters of the Canadian National Railways, yesterday. The date was just ten years after the event which sent a thrill of horror through the whole of the civilized world.

Rev. James Edward, Chaplain of Jasper National Park, conducted the service which was attended by more than two hundred residents of the village and guests at Jasper Park Lodge, who had travelled the twenty miles of mountain road to mourn the spirit of the martyred nurse. A small altar covered by the Union Jack was placed on a flower stand of green weeds which lie at the foot of the glacier and there facing the mountain which perpetuates her name the worshippers knelt during the short service which was ended by the singing of "Abide With Me", the hymn which Nurse Cavell sang with her Chaplain just before she walked forth to her execution.

MUSTAPHA KEMAL'S DIVORCE OF HIS WIFE HAS CAUSED SURPRISE THROUGHOUT WESTERN EUROPE

Marriage to Latife Hanoum Was of Very Romantic Nature.

HIS OWN DECREE.

New Law of Turkey Gives President Power to Decree Divorce.

LONDON, Aug. 14. — (Canadian Press).—Surprise was caused in the European capitals yesterday by the news from Constantinople that Mustapha Kemal Pasha, President of the Turkish Republic, had divorced by decree his wife, Latife Hanoum, a young heiress, with a Western European education and a modern outlook in matters regarding feminism. Mustapha Kemel met her in Smyrna under romantic circumstances during the wave of enthusiasm in Turkey for modernism and the emancipation of women.

In the recent changes in the regime in Turkey, the power of the Sheik-Ul-Islam, the head of Mohammedan religion in Turkey, to grant divorces became vested in the President, who thus was able to decree his own divorce. No reason for the divorcement is given in the official statement issued in Turkey yesterday, nor has been there any indication whether Mustapha Kemal's ideals for the advancement of women have undergone any change during the past two years.

According to gossin that has been prevalent for some time in the European capitals, it was Mme. Latife herself who desired a divorce. Some of the rumors even went so far as to say that she had declined to live longer with Mustapha Kemal.

Latife speaks English and French fluently. She had an English governess when she was a child, and spent some years at school in France and one year at study in Chislehurst, England, where Napoleon III. took up his residence after his dethronement.

When, as a young girl, in 1921, Latife returned to Smyrna, her home city was in the hands of the Greeks. They had imprisoned her father, and at once arrested her on a charge of espionage. She and her family were virtual prisoners till Mustapha Kemal with his Turkish army arrived in triumph in September of that year.

Mustapha Kemal was invited to the home of Latife's father, a rich merchant, and shortly afterwards he and the girl were married. She ordered her bridal trousseau in Paris and discardred her veil and other Turkish customs. She accompanied her husband everywhere, and frequently discarded her skirts for riding breeches and also wore top boots while astride her horse.

About eighteen months ago it was reported that she was instrumental in saving her husband's life by temporizing with a suspicious visitor, who desired to see Mustapha Kemal. It was said at the time the man threw a bomb which exploded and injured the President's wife.

Sire To Clear Title on Strip Of Land 1½ Inches

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14.—An inch-and-a-half strip of land in the heart of downtown Washington, originally part of the farm of Davy Burns, who owned the farm on which the White House and most of the business section of the capital now stand, is the subject of a court action in an effort to perfect title to property on H Street, northwest between Ninth and Tenth.

Although St. Joseph's Male Orphan Asylum has occupied the property since 1867, when it bought the land rom the Washington City Orphan Asylum, a title company has discovered a flaw in the title with reference to a strip of the tract 120 feet long and only an inch and a half wide.

Harry Wardman and Thomas P. Bones, who recently acquired the property, yesterday sued the Washington City Orphan Asylum and the unknown heirs of Joshua F. Fisher and John P. Van Ness, who were early owners of the property, to clear title to the real estate. The cause of the flaw is supposed to be an error of description of the property in one of the prior deeds of conveyance. Notice of publication will be made against the unknown heirs, and after about three months, if no objection is made to the Court, a decree will be entered clearing the title.

The property once belonged to General Peter Van Ness, who was elected to Congress in 1800, but lost his seat by accepting the position of Major of Militia of the District of Columbia in 1803. He married Marcia, daughter of Davy Burns, original owner of the land, who was known as the "first heiress of Washington."

MISSION BAND PICNIC.

Superintendent Entertains Group With Games and Ice Cream.

MILLBROOK, Aug. 14. — Mrs. Offa Williamson, superintendent of the Sunshine Mission Band of the United Church, entertained the members at a most enjoyable outing on the lawn of her home, Seventh Line, Cavan, on Wednesday afternoon.

The guests, which included several of the parents and friends, numbered over sixty, but about fifty are enrolled in the Mission Band, the boys and girls, under the capable leadership of Mrs. Williamson, being decidedly interested in the work which has an educational as well as a financial aspect.

Croquet, baseball and other games kept the young folk happily occupied until the tea hour arrived, when all were seated on the grassy bank and did full justice to the abundant repast served. A generous treat of ice cream, not supplied by any city firm, but made by the hostess herself, was an item on the menu that was especially enjoyed.

The social side of the gathering made it a most pleasant occasion to the grown-up folk who were present.

Among those who assisted Mrs. Williamson in looking after her young guests were Mrs. Jas. Might, Mrs. Harry Dawson, Mrs. H. A. Earle, Mrs. J. McKnight and Mrs. F. W. Smith.

Those who kindly gave the use of their cars in conveying the guests to the gathering place included: Miss L. Crocker, Miss Etta Peel, Mrs. J. McKnight, Mrs. H. A. Earle, Messrs. P. Stinson, G. E. Burnham and Rev. F. H. Howard.

TEAR GAS DEFENSE IN JEWELRY STORES

Actor-Robbers Driven Out in New York Test.

NEW YORK, Aug. 14.—(Canadian Press).—Robbers cry from it, insurance operators demonstrated yesterday afternoon at a test performance of the newly-devised tear gas defence for jewellery stores.

Two quasi robbers, with goggles, caps and pistols, entered the jewellery store of Henry Nockin, and a few seconds later a clerk had stepped on a foot trip, flooding the store with gas, fled from the place with streaming eyes and temporarily blinded. Their quasi arrest easily was effected.

INSTITUTE MEETS.

Invite Aid in Putting Up Fence It Purchased.

BETHANY, August 14.— The Women's Institute held their regular monthly meeting on Thursday afternoon in the town hall with 13 members present, and Mrs. S. Jemison, president, in the chair.

The meeting opened in the usual way followed by the reading of the minutes of the previou meeting.

It was thought that those interested in the improvements in the village property would be willing to come and give a hand on Wednesday afternoon, August 19th to help put up a wire fence around the town hall. The fence was purchased by the Institute through Mr. F. W. Reynolds.

It was also thought wise for the Institute to have ice cream and lemonade for sale on the athletic grounds next Monday evening when Millbrook baseball team is expeced to meet the Bethany team in a play off game.

LONG SESSION OF CABINET HELD BEFORE HOLIDAY

Various National Problems Were Discussed—Congratulate Chamberlain.

NAMES UNKNOWN.

Cabinet is Averse to Having Either Miners or Owners on Coal Commission.

LONDON, Aug. 14.—(Canadian Press).—The British Cabinet held an extended session at the Prime Minister's offices in Downing Street yesterday, the Ministers devoting two hours and a half to consideration of various national problems during what was probably the last Cabinet Council before they leave for the long Parliamentary holiday.

Foreign Secretary Austen Chamberlain reviewed the conversations held this week with Aristide Briand, French Foreign Minister, and submitted a copy of the proposed French reply to the last German note concerning treaties of mutual guarantee and arbitration, with the amendments that were suggested by himself and accepted by M. Briand.

It is understood the Cabinet fully approved the text of the reply and congratulated M. Chamberlain upon the rapidity with which the conversations were concluded.

Consideration of the all-important coal question and the composition of the Royal Commission which is to make a thorough study of the industry then was laid before the Council.

The names of the men who will make up the commission are not yet available, and possibly will not be known for several days, but it is believed the body will be composed of fewer than a dozen men.

Opinion in the Cabinet still is averse to having representatives either of the miners or mine owners on the commission. It is believed, however, that Prime Minister Stanley Baldwin will meet representatives of the mine workers again before a final decision is made.

The Cabinet is said to have agreed to extend the scope of the commission's work to include nationalization of the mines and kindred points, as well as the question of retail distribution of coal. This is a concession to the miners, who maintain that the high price paid by consumers is in a large measure due to the middleman's profits.

The question of the resignation of Sir Philip Cunliffe-Lister, President of the Board of Trade, from the Baldwin Cabinet was also discussed. Because of his large interests in the coal mining industry, Sir Philip recently indicated his willingness to resign to prevent possible embarrassment to Mr. Baldwin. But it is understood that the Minister's interests are largely through his wife's holdings and that for the present Sir Philip is likely to retain his portfolio.

STAR NOT SOLD.

Lord Atholstan Denies Report of Sale of Paper to Syndicate.

MONTREAL, Quee., Aug. 14.—(Canadian Press.)— When asked by the Canadian Press as to rumors that certain British and Canadian interests had bought the Montreal Star for $4,000,000, Lord Atholstan, proprietor and publisher of that paper said yesterday: "The Star has not been sold. Any report to the contrary is untrue."

Execute Dogs for Killing Sheep; Find Them Innocent

SPRINGFIELD, Ky., Aug. 14.—There is sorrow tonight in the fox hunting set here and throughout the State where the dogs of J. F. Bishop and Herbert Eddlemans were best known. The five hounds belonging to Bishop and Eddleman and, valued at $700 have been executed for a crime they did not commit.

It was the "unwritten law" of the Kentucky fox hound owners that ruled—but circumstantial evidence was again shown to offer the flimsiest of pretexts upon which to hang a presupposition of guilt.

Bishop and Eddleman had gone hunting and were having a good chase. To give their dogs an opportunity for better work, they were unleashed. The sound of barking stopped after a time and the owners finally found their dogs eating a sheep, freshly killed, on the James Montgomery farm.

Now, foxhounds may commit misdemeanors—they will be pardoned if they slap an occasional chicken, attack a cat or eat eggs, but the killing of a sheep is the unpardonable sin, punishable only by death. So the five highly bred dogs were promptly killed.

Bishop and Edelman were recompensed only by the thought that they had done their duty in the slaying of the dogs.

Then it developed that the foxhounds executed had found the sheep already dead; that the flock had been raided a short time before by other dogs, which doubtless tonight are ravaging the hills with howls and depredations.

The only "crime" the dead dogs committed was they had left the chase to dine upon a sheep's carcass.

S.O.E. OPPOSES FLAG CHANGES

"We Will Stand For No Interference," Says President.

BRING IN BRITISH.

CALGARY, Alta., Aug. 14 (Canadian Press).—"We will stand for no interference with the Union Jack. We were born under it, 8,300 of our boys enlisted under it, and 800 of them laid down their lives for it, and we expect to die under it ourselves."

Thus George Davenport, president of the Sons of England Benevolent Society, summed up the attitude of the society to the proposal to have a new Canadian flag, when interviewed yesterday afternoon.

In regard to having a dual language, Mr. Davenport refused to speak officially, saying that personally he had no objection as he had lived for years alongside the French where the dual language was used, and had found it satisfactory.

Mr. Davenport was strongly in favor of British immigration, not necessarily wholly English, but he wanted them British.

Telegrapher Dies At Key After Setting Red Signals

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 14.—(Associated Press). — Facing death from a sudden illness early Wednesday, Kavanagh Jacobs, night telegraph operator for the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie Railroad at Monongahela, near here, threw on the red signals to stop all trains a few minutes before he fell across his key, dead, from an attack of acute indigestion.

Trains on the division were halted for more than an hour until another operator could be sent to man the wire.

Jacob's body was found at his desk by police who went to the station in response to an appeal from divisional headquarters of the railrod to investigate the failure of the operator to answer his call.

Earlier in the night Jacobs had summoned a physician, but had declined to leave his post.

LISTER HAS NOT GIVEN UP OFFICE

Has Connection With Coal Industry, Which is Now Subsidized.

NO PROGRESS MADE.

LONDON, Aug. 14 (Canadian Press Cable).—The Canadian Press correspondent is able to contradict the widespread reports that Sir Philip Cunliffe-Lister has resigned the presidency of the Board of Trade. It is within Sir Philip's office to act for the government in connection with the coal dispute, but owing to his wife's financial interest in the industry, the task has been given to Right Hon. W. C. Bridgeman. Now that the government has decided to subsidize the coal trade it is questionable whether Lister is entitled to retain his ministry. He conferred with Premier Baldwin yesterday, and as an outcome he continues in office at least for the present.

No further progress has been made on the subject of the coal commission although yesterday was devoted to conferences. The miners decided to call a conference of delegates from the whole country next week in London to receive reports on terms of settlement.

FRED J. SLADE OFFERED TO PAY HALF HALL RENT

Progresisves Declined to Accept Contribution From Their Candidate of 1921.

PARTY WILL PAY.

Percy Township Assured of Receiving $20 For Use of Warkworth Hall.

(By a Staff Reporter).

WARKWORTH, Aug. 14.—Following the recent attempt to hold a Progressive convention in Warkworth, when members of that party were refused the use of the Town Hall until a debt of $20 for rent was paid, Fred. J. Slade stepped into the situation. Mr. Slade is the Liberal nominee for Northumberland, and in 1921 was the unsuccessful Progressive candidate in that riding. It seems that of the debt of $20, half was for the rent of the hall for a meeting held during Mr. Slade's campaign in 1921, and the balance was incurred in 1923, when Wesley Montgomery was the U.F.O. candidate for East Northumberland.

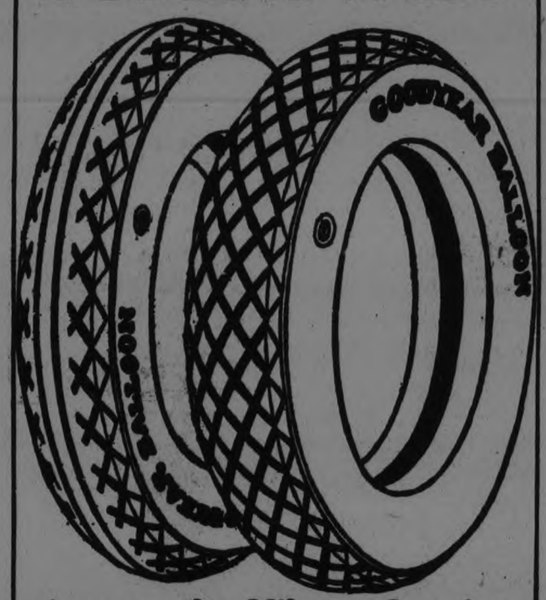
Mr. Slade authorized Robert Dawson of Warkworth to tender Secretary Irwin of the Progressives $10 with which to settle Mr. Slade's share of the debt. The Progressive officials got into consultation and refused to accept the money. It was given out that the obligation will be discharged out of the party funds and that no former candidate will be asked to meet the entire liability.

There were party organizations in the past in East and West Northumberland, but now the entire county consists of one riding. There was a U.F.O. and a Progressive organization, separate and distinct units, and to these circumstances is attributed the confusion in the payment of bills sent to one while really owed by another.

Percy Township will get the $20 owing for hall rent. Whether the Progressives will ever again rent the building from which they were barred, remains to be seen.

The Progressive officials informed Mr. Dawson that if they had been notified of the ultimatum of the Council with regard to renting the hall, the money would in all probability have been forthcoming.

SUPERTWIST



Answers the Mileage Question

BY inventing a new material, Goodyear settled the question of mileage in Goodyear Balloon Tires. This material is the new, Goodyear, cord fabric, SUPERTWIST.

Its special feature is its extreme elasticity. It far outstretches the breaking point of other cord fabric. Consequently it has a far greater capacity to withstand road shocks, stone bruises, other injuries and the effect of wear.

SUPERTWIST is a Goodyear discovery, a Goodyear product, and only Goodyear Tires are made of SUPERTWIST. In other words, Goodyear has made the Balloon Tire which stretches rather than breaks under road shocks. So extraordinary was the increased life of Goodyear Balloon Tires made possible by SUPERTWIST that it is now used in all Goodyear Cord Tires.

Your Goodyear Selected Dealer has in stock Goodyear Tires of SUPERTWIST at prices no higher than you have been paying.

COPY U. S. MODEL IN GOVERNMENT ADVISES WRITER

Reforms Necessary if German Republic is to be Maintained.

RAISE VOTING AGE.

Advocates Ending Cabinets —Constitutional Foundation Should Be Strengthened.

BERLIN, Aug. 14.—(Associated Press).—Dr. Otto Arendt, the noted bimetallist, would have Germany copy the United States government, rather than west-European democracies, in her parliamentary aims. In an analytical summary of the present status of the German Republic, published in the ultra-conservative Tacgliche Rundschau, Dr. Arendt points out Germany's greatest need of a non-partisan Cabinet, having the support of the large majority of the populace. Such a desirable state of affairs he sees ensured by the American form of government.

That Hindenburg, a Monarchist, took the oath as President under a Republican constitution is characterized by Dr. Arendt as an historical episode and a guarantee for a lasting Republican form of government in Germany.

"A return to monarchism is an impossibility in Germany today," he says, "and any attempt at a monarchical restoration could only culminate in civil war and a consequent decay of the Reich." He states emphatically that the constitutional foundation of the present government must not be tampered with, but on the contrary, should be continually strengthened. Therefore, any attempt, be it from the right or left, to alter the constitution Dr. Arendt calls "a crime against the German people, which is to be nipped in the bud."

After this declaration of allegiance to the Weimar Constitution, the writer feels justified in passing well-meant and constructive criticism. "What is wrong with the Constitution?" he asks, and comes to the conclusion, that it suffers from a surfeit of abstract democratic doctrines with utter disregard for the salient features of German national development. Changing the national colors he thinks was a fatal error which now calls for at least some "half-way" corrective measure.

The present elective system, eliminating individual electoral districts, patterned after parliamentary systems of other European democracies, the writer also considers detrimental to Germany. He strongly opposes all criticism of the parliamentary system as such, but advocates raising the age of electoral franchise. The listing of votes he condemns as a "purely" mathematical measure tending to harm the desirable formation of parliament, claiming that thereby "the elector votes for a party and never for the individual."

Dr. Arendt summarizes that three essential reforms are necessary if the Republic is to be maintained and the reconstruction of Germany ensured:

The elimination of the national colors conflict, the renunciation of voting lists and the discontinuance of parliamentary Cabinets.

EUROPE LAUGHS AT TENNESSEE TRIAL

First Bit of Mirth Since the War Relieves Tedium.

LONDON, Aug. 14.—(United Press).—Europe is still laughing at the spectacle presented by the Evolution trial at Dayton, Tennessee—the first good laugh Europe has had since the war.

The ill-concealed envy which this side of the world has been forced to feel for American wealth, American economic independence, and America's general international creditor status, has given just the extra zest to make Europe's laugh long and enjoyable.

Newspapers throughout the length and breadth of the Old World have turned over the favorite columns of their most prominent pages to the most ludicrous features of the Scopes trial.

Reparations, security pacts, Bolshevism and other high politics which for more than a decade have grabbed off first attention of the press of Europe have been relegated to back pages.

Few readers stop to draw fine distinctions, or even to notice distinctions made in some of the Dayton accounts.

To Europeans today Tennessee means the United States. In their eyes, the whole United States questioning whether Darwin was right. The fact that the trial is merely to determine whether one of a multitude of American school teachers has violated a law of only one of the States of the Union has escaped the attention of most readers this side the Atlantic.

Ridicule Predominates.

Anti-American elements of the press have taken particular pains to create and maintain these impressions. Under their guidance, Europe is using the trial to ridicule the United States in petty vengeance for America's collection of war debts, her post-war isolation and the like.

The most ridiculous angles of the trial are played up most prominently. Pictures in the papers show Darrow conducting Scope's defense in shirt-sleeves, while foot-notes carefully explain that counsel's suspenders are bright blue. Judge Raulston is portrayed delivering his opinion while being fanned by a policeman.

Meantime, vaudeville artists are reviving "Back home in Tennessee, that's where I long to be,"—with variations.

PRINCESS ILEANA LONGS TO LIVE IN CANADA ON A RANCH LIKE THE ONE THE PRINCE OWNS

Princess Ileana

It was the Prince of Wales who described Princess Ileana of Rumania as "a jolly kid." That was some considerable time ago when it was the practice to publish reports announcing the probable engagement of the empire's best salesman to Queen Marie's handsome young daughter. So far no one has stepped forward and denied the Prince's synopsis of her character, so his summing-up may be accepted as the real facts of the matter.

Princess Ileana herself is now seventeen and as energetic as ever. She is generally considered the most marriageable of all European princesses and consequently, her likes and dislikes are very carefully checked by the diplomats and those moving about in various court circles. It is rumored that a great deal of sub rosa matchmaking is being carried on in her behalf.

But she herself remains completely unaffected by all these whispered reports. She is busily engaged in music and painting. She is an ardent devotee of outdoor sport. She is an expert swimmer, a superb rider and a skilful tennis player.

She is tall, slender and darker than her English mother, Queen Marie, with thick brown bobbed hair, eyes of limpid blue, a delicately-shaped but somewhat bluntly-tipped nose, small mouth and strong white teeth. Her complexion, due to her outdoor life, can be described as fresh rose and cream or rose and fresh cream or something of that sort.

Her mother, despite Ileana's seeming lack of interest in the marriage hubbub, declares that the latter has very decided ideas on the subject. "Ileana," she says, "makes it plain that if she is to marry a king, he must be monarch of a powerful country where there shall be important work and constructive duties for the queen to perform.

"Ileana is infected, properly so, with the modern girl's desire to take on some of the more serious and responsible duties of life and be more than an ornament on a throne."

The Rumanian people firmly believe that she will marry the Prince of Wales. They pin their hopes on the prophecy made by an old gypsy queen of the famous Czigany tribe.

"You will wed a prince," reads the prophecy, "a fair prince whose kingdom shall be over all seas and all lands. You will wed for love and love will be your word and shield. The crown which they will set upon your head will be heavy, but very bright, and love will ease your brow of its weight."

The princess herself gained her first share of glory by literally raising the roof of her grandmother's palace. In the apartments of her grandmother was a palatial salon with a peculiar and unique ceiling and roof of stained glass. By pushing a button this ceiling divided in half, was raised up and disappeared, leaving the white-haired queen and her companion under the bright blue of the Rumanian skies. This trick roof charmed and intrigued the young princess, with the result that at every opportunity she would slip away alone and, if she found the salon empty, press the button and watch the ceiling disappear.

There is no doubt that the Prince of Wales has made a very great impression on the young princess of the Balkans. If nothing else shows this her own private and personal ambition does. Ileana wants to own a western ranch and she wants to live there.

When she was a small child she had a charming way of getting whatever she wanted whenever she took a fancy to it. It may happen, then, that on a fine spring, summer or autumn day the residents of High River, now thoroughly accustomed to royalty, will observe a very beautiful young lady stepping from the train, dressed in colorful Balkan garb, her hair bound in a red silken turban, with long black earrings dangling below it.

This will be Princess Ileana, come to buy a farm.

Good Fishing Attracts Great Numbers of Vacationists.

APSLEY, Aug. 14.—There has been a great influx of tourists to Jacks Lake and Loon Lake the last two weeks, in fact the accomodation at these fishing resorts has been overtaxed. Never have there been so many cars seen in the village, and as the fishing has been extremely good, Apsleys' fame as a holiday resort may be considered soundly established. Hundreds of local picture post cards have been bought by the visitors.

Mr. Hilton of Virginia who has had three cottages built on his property at Loon Lake this year gave a dance last week which was very largely attended by tourists and local residents.

J. A. New, Toronto, and W. and J. Chadwick, St. Catharines, are spending two weeks' vacation at Mr. Spence's camp on Loon Lake.

By F. J. McCONNELL and GEORGE W. PYPER.

"I am afraid you will have to take the loss the best you can. Banker Dawson 'phoned me immediately after he had seen you about it. He said there is nothing that can be done about it. If you try to force them to restore the $20,000 during their present stringency, he warns that they will seize the Bar M. Ranch to satisfy the notes against it. And you know he has thus far been very lenient about the delinquent payments your father owes him. We can't afford to antagonize him on this smaller matter."

Mary showed signs of breaking down under the burden of her troubles. Taggart approached her, patted her, and said:

"There, there, Mary, we'll get you out of all these troubles. Just depend on me—I'll see you through. I'm working night and day now planning out means to save your father, the ranch, and bring about your happiness." He lowered his voice, as he bent over her, his arm about her shoulders, and said: "And you know why, Mary—because of what I have been telling you day after day now—" his voice dropped to a whisper as he bent close to her ear—"because I love you."

He pressed her hand, then rose and spoke out loud again:

"Right now I'm working up the appeal in your father's case. I shall demand a new trial, and I think we can get the verdict reversed and have your father liberated." He beamed upon her with the most winning smile he could summon to his lips.

"Meanwhile, I want you to go down to the ranch and have your boys round up all the cattle for immediate shipment and sale. If you will do that, I've got a line on a deal which I think I can put through which will solve the money problem and save the ranch. You see, Mary, I have been thinking of nothing else these days except what I can do for you."

He squeezed her hand again, desire beat in his brain as he looked longingly at her.

"Yes, I know," Mary answered, "and I do appreciate your help, Mr. Taggart, but I—"

The ringing of the telephone interrupted her. Taggart seized the instrument and answered. After listening a moment, his face became tense with surprise, and apparent shock, and he exclaimed:

"Good God, is that true?"

Inwardly he was exulting, but he concealed his elation and affected a tragic air. Mary eyed him with curious expectancy. After listening a minute or two more he hung up the receiver, and turned to her. Stella was now listening intently also.

Taggart hesitated, thinking, and finally said, slowly:

"Mary—that was—Komi, the old Yaqui chief. He's been trying to reach you with word that—that—" he paused that the full effect of his words might burst upon her—"that O'Rourke is dead!" he finally concluded.

Mary, stunned, wild-eyed, unable and unwilling to believe her ears, slowly rose from her chair and stared at Taggart.

"Dead?" she repeated as in a trance. "Terence O'Rourke—dead."

Uncomprehendingly she stared before her, a tragic figure. Taggart supported her in his arms, and tried to explain. Suddenly the full significance of the words came to her in a flash. Uttering a pitiful cry she collapsed in a dead swoon.

Taggart, reclining her into a chair, signalled to Stella, who had been aking in the scene with interested eyes and ears, to bring water.

Stella applied a wet handkerchief to Mary's brow, and as she revived, both Stella and Taggart tried to console her with effected sympathy. Mary, ignoring their words, again realized what Taggart had told her, and broke into agonized sobbing. Finally, controlling herself with difficulty and attempting to regain her poise, she looked at Taggart with tear-filled eyes, and faltered:

"What shall I do? I have no, now no one—but you."

Taggart's eyes cleamed covetously, and he put his arm around the stricken girl and tried to comfort her. Secretly he was gloating in the satisfaction that he was now the sole friend she could turn to.

"I'm sorry, for your sake, that this has happened, Mary," he lied. "But you will find that I am a friend you can rely upon, and as you know, I am only too glad to do everything in my power for you."

Mary finally sat up, still weeping, trying to compose herself.

"I am stunned, overwhelmed—there are so many things," she said. "Daddy in prison—Terence dead—the ranch slipping from us—my money gone—oh, it seems so hopeless. I don't know what to do."

"Come, come, Mary," Taggart said solicitously. "You're simply all unstrung now. Go to the Bar M with Bud—and Stell here. She'll be a companion and comfort to you—Stella's a good friend and will look after you till you feel more yourself."

Stella slipped her arm around Mary and said:

"Yes, yes, I shall be only too glad to do anything I can."

Mary thanked them all, and finally arose. Supported by Taggart and Stella, while Bud ran ahead to get the horses ready. Mary was helped to the door and out in the street. They put her on a horse, and Bud and Stella, mounting, rode one on each side of her, while Taggart waving adieu, watched them off on the way to the ranch.

Returning to his office, Taggart hastened to the 'phone and called the Spear Ranch.

"Buck McLeod," he demanded into the 'phone. "Hello, Buck?—listen, Buck, get your gang and pull another raid on the Bar M—tonight—and this time get every steer on the ranch. When you get there watch for a note from Stella—she'll frame how to go about things without too much fuss."

CHAPTER 20.
Idaho Bill Joins Up.

Hanging up the telephone receiver, Buck McLeod strode swiftly out of the Spear Ranch house, mounted a horse, and galloped off.

From a clump of bushes where he had been waiting a mysterious looking renegade type of man in rough clothes, and a slouch hat, watched Buck riding off. When he seemed at a safe distance the stranger emerged from his hiding place, leading his horse. He mounted, and followed stealthily.

Buck rode up into the hills to the nest where his gang was encamped, the stranger trailing him cautiously. The lookout on buard waiting alert, recognized Buck, and passed him in.

"We're makin' another raid of the Bar M tonight," Buck called as he came up to the men, sitting on the ground, smoking and playing cards. "An' this time it's a clean sweep of the whole Marshall herd—don't forget that."

They were startled by the sound of a shot.

The mysterious stranger who had followed Buck had approached too close and the lookout had fired.

Buck and the others ran out to see what was happening. They saw the lookout running to a spot where the stranger lay inert on the ground. Then, as the lookout came up, the man on the ground suddenly rose up, knocked his gun out of his hand, and bowled him over. Buck and the others rushed up, and jumped the stranger. After putting up a strong fight, he was finally overpowered. Buck tore his gun from his hands.

"This is sure a fine way to treat a friend," drawled the stranger, trying to grin affably.

"What d'ya mean, friend?" Buck asked.

"I'm Idaho Bill from the Three Forks country," replied the stranger. "I'm hidin' out from the sheriff."

Buck glared suspiciously at the man. He signalled one of his gang, and said: "Stokes, you came from Three Forks—is this the hombre?"

Stokes faced the man and subjected him to a close scrutiny. Finally he said:

"Well, I never seen Idaho Bill personally,—but I know he's got a bad scar on his left shoulder."

They all turned to the stranger, and Buck said,

"Sposin' you identify yourself, stranger."

"I hope you're satisfied boys," said Idaho Bill.

"Seems to be all right," Buck declared, and the others nodded approvingly. "Wanta join our outfit, Idaho? We're just about to leave on a little rustlin' job."

"Sure thing, I'll join up," replied Idaho Bill.

"Fair enough," said Buck, and announced to the others that henceforth Idaho Bill was one of them.

Buck looked toward the setting sun. "'Bout time we were getting started," he shouted. "C'mon, boys—let's go!"

All mounted their horses, and they moved off, Idaho Bill chatting and reminiscing with his new found comrades as if they were old friends.

CHAPTER 21.
Stella Waxes Sentimental.

"And so now, with father in prison, Mr. O'Rourke dead, and $100,000 due the bank, there is only Mr. Taggart, the boys, myself, and that herd out there to save us from utter ruin," Mary concluded tearfully. She had been recounting her story, from the beginning when her father first fled into exile, to Stella, who had gained her entire confidence.

"Well, don't worry dear, it will all come out all right," said Stella sympathetically, coming over and stiting beside Mary on the piano bench, caressing her in motherly fashion, and wiping away her tears. "Come, child—won't you play some more music for me—it will rest your tired head."

Mary turned to the piano, and her fingers stroked the keys lightly, bringing forth sad, wistful notes.

"It's a song my father loves," she said. "My mother used to sing it to him here—years ago."

"It's lovely," said Stella, with a sentimental air. "It stirs sweet memories in me."

Mary stopped. Then from beneath the window of the room stole the notes of a guitar, gently strummed, and a voice lifted in the words of a Spanish serenade.

"What a romantic night," said Stella, listening and going to the window with Mary. The sun was setting. They saw the serenader—it was Miquel.

Suddenly Bud Hughes came up, made a wry face, and menacing Miquel with his feet, chased him from the window.

"Yes, but see how reality boots romance out of life," said Mary laughing.

"But there was a time when Bud too was romantic," said Stella. "How well I remember—"

She was interrupted by the entrance of Bud himself. He was resplendent in natty new clothes, his boots shining, his hair plastered down, and his beard shaved off completely. He smiled and winked to Stella to call attention to the transformation.

"The steers are all in the corral, Miss Mary—ready for tomorrow's drive," Bud reported.

He looked at her wistfully, and said, "Wish I felt like old times."

Mary gave Bud his instructions. Stella lingered near the open window, leaned out, and saw sneaking up—Buck McLeod. She furtively took a prepared note from her waist, and casually dropped it out the window.

"After nightfall when I drop my handkerchief the way will be clear."

Then, unobserved, he sneaked back the way he had come, and disappeared.

* * *

Miss MacDonald of Campbellford was the soloist at St. Andrew's, Stirling, on Sunday evening.

If the new lad to join the Merry Men had been put in his right place the very first thing upon joining because his red hair and name made a fanciful combination in Wess Johnson's head (for that is all the excuse there was for it) he just refused to stay put and this led to much more nature stuff.

The Merry Men were in the Greenwood swimming in the creek when Ned-the-Red came along with a yarn about seeing a bird called a Shrike or Butcherbird. He knew where it was.

All the boys were out of the water and putting on their clothes without the formality of drying when Robin Hood came down the path.

"What's all the rush?" demanded Robin Hood.

Friar Tuck in his anxiety to see a shrike forgot about who was leader and said "Ned-the-Red is going to show us a Butcherbird."

Wess said nothing just put aside his Robin Hood manners and followed to see what would happen and it happened too for the new lad not only found the butcherbird's nest but told a whole story about it something like this:

"There are two kinds of Butcherbirds one small and not very savage. This is the one here now but there is one that comes from farther north a bigger bird and it sticks mice on thorns and wire fences. Last winter one of the big ones came down to the electric car barns in our town and killed all the English sparrows. He lived on nothing else for three weeks. They are black and white and grey mostly grey."

Wess decided right there and then that he would have to look to his laurels so he announced that he would blow his horn the next day in the Greenwood about ten in the morning and he wanted every tree to produce it's Merry Man suddenly as there were to be some real secrets told to his faithful followers.

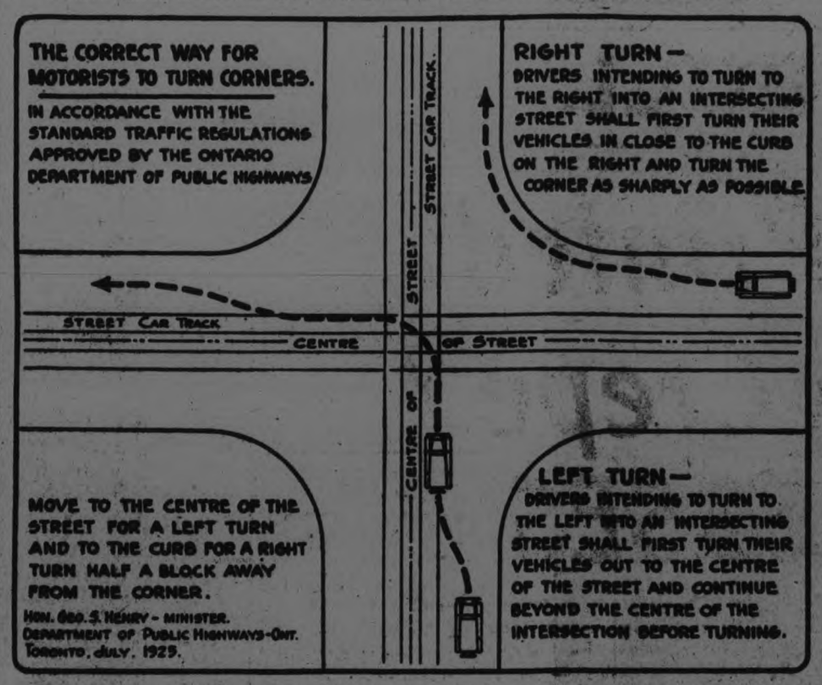
DEPARTMENT SHOWS HOW TO TURN CORNERS



As a measure for rendering street traffic more safe, and at the same time expediting it, the Minister of Highways, the Hon. Geo. S. Henry, who has had the above diagram produced by Department engineers. It is being widely circulated for the benefit of motorists and the general public.

The safety of motor travel is a prime consideration with the Minister, who is insistent in the warnings and advice he has issued on subjects such as non-glare lights and head and tail lights which are not constantly illuminated.

Records show an appreciable decrease in accidents on the highways during the current season, due to the conformance of motorists to the rules of the road. Motorists are paying sincere attention to the requests for sane driving as expressed by the Department in its advertising campaign, which is appearing in the daily papers.

Publication of the above official chart and instructions on the turning of corners is made in the hope that motorists will note the directions given. It is suggested that the chart be cut out and kept for reference.

YOUR HEALTH

Former Commissioner of Health, New York City.

(By Royal S. Copeland, M.D.)

Most common of all human ailments, almost universal in its successful invasion of the health, productive of an endless chain of symptoms, is that simple physical defect—constipation.

I am a reverent man and adore the Supreme Architect, but there is no doubt in my mind that man has ten or fifteen feet too much intestine. It was all right when we lived in savage state and ate the rough foods of field and forest. But with the advent of modern cooking, denatured foods and softness of life, everything has changed.

If we could make the passage way between stomach and exit a good deal more direct, there would not dam up within us a festering, fermenting mass of disease producing material. One of the penalties of civilized living is the digestive condition which makes for constipation.

The natural result of our mode of living and of eating of the foods we must take is sluggishness of bowel action. It requires constant thoughtfulness and care to prevent it. It is safe to assume that without this thoughfulness and care in the choice of foods, constipation is sure to be present.

I am hopeful that by clanging away at the public there will be aroused ultimately an appreciation of the importance of overcoming or preventing constipation. It is not necessary to have it, of course but you will have it unless you take heed of a few facts. It is almost as inevitable as the lives we lead. There is no doubt if our lives were but more simple, our food plainer, our habits more regular, the intestinal tract would act better. But that big "if" is in the way.

Roughage is essential to bowel action. There must be fibre and substance, or there is nothing for the walls of the intestines to get hold of to squeeze the waste material forward. That is why bran, cabbage, lettuce, celery, spinach and fibrous food are recommended.

Also take a tablespoonful of mineral oil daily—swallowed when the stomach is empty, three hours after eating at night or a full half hour before breakfast. This is a temporary expedient and if the diet is regulated as it should be, it will not be necessary to resort to petroleum oil every day. It can be taken for an indefinite period, but if you live as you should and eat as you should it will not be necessary to depend on any medicine, even so simple and harmless a thing as petroleum oil.

TOMORROW'S HOROSCOPE

By Genevieve Kemble

SATURDAY, AUGUST 15.

All lines of business should receive an impetus this day, judging by the benefic places of major plants. With Saturn, a most powerful astral orb in a strong and friendly attitude, there should be a substantial renewal of all industrial activities following the removal of some stubborn obstacle. This should make way for stable growth in business and enduring increase of substance, particularly in the old and tried lines. New projects may encounter deception and speculation might be risky. Beware of false promises.

Those whose birthday it is should make solid improvement in old lines, but in new ventures there may be risk of deception or fraud. Industry and application should receive substantial reward during the year. A child born on this day may be versatile, industrious and steadfast. It should make its best success in following in the accepted channels of business.

FRIDAY, AUGUST 14.

An active and eventful day is forecast from the very interesting chain of lunar transits, although these must be interpreted from contradictory angle. A checkered fate of affairs is presaged, with restless and unsettled tendencies, which should be suppressed, and the inclination to change and travel subjected to careful analysis. New projects may be taken under consideration and employment is under a fortunate rule. Under an adverse Venu there may be unhappy or troublesome conditions in the domestic or personal affairs.

Those whose birthday it is are under a sway that may bring rather checkered conditions for the year. Employment is favored and new projects, but travel and change should be deferred. Heart and home affairs may cause anxiety. A child born on this day may be active and enterprising, but its restless and changeable tendencies may work against its success. It may do best in the employment of others. It may also be called upon to endure some domestic annoyances.

FIND BONES OF ANTEDILUVIANS IN RALROAD CUT

Two Prehistoric Skeletons More Than 80 Feet Long.

NO SKULL FOUND.

Were Vertebrates and Probably Stood Forty Feet High.

HOQUIAM, Wash., Aug. 14 (Associated Press).—Two prehistoric skeletons, more than 80 feet in length, recently were uncovered near here by workmen in a railroad cut. Rev. J. Herbert Geoghegan of this city, who examined the find, pronounced the bones those of dinsaurs, ischthosaurs or pterodactyls.

The skeletons were imbedded in 40 to 60 feet of limestone deposit, and were partly petrified. The railroad excavation cut through the animals' ribs, which could be seen extending for a distance of several feet in parallel lines.

No skull was found, but a long tearing tooth discovered among the debris was taken as indicating that the animals were carnivorous. The ribs vary from 3 to 12 inches in thickness, while a portion of shoulder blade is four feet long and five inches thick. Knee joints and other bones discovered vary in size from several feet to only a few inches in circumference.

"The character of the rock indicates that it was once sea or river bottom, which through a fault has been overturned," said Rev. Geoghegan. "The layers of strata have been upended, leaving the animals lying in an unnatural position.

"The upheaval which placed the bones on the top of a high hill, probably took place at the time the Cascade range was formed.

"The animal was a vertebrate, and probably stood 40 feet high, counting the long expanse of neck found. The classification of the bones could be determined more exactly of we could locate the skull of one of the beasts.

"This entire country appears to have been tropical or subtropical in character, and the absence of rocks and gravel proves that the glacier which covered the northern part of the continent at one time, never touched this section.

"From the character of the soil, either river or ocean bottom, I am inclined to believe the animals were ichthosaurs, or maritime reptiles, rather than the dinosaur, land reptile, or pterodactyle, flying reptile."

Diogenes Would Have Been Highly Satisfied With This

UNIONTOWN, Pa., Aug. 14.— (United Press).— Hotel managers become hardened to the necessity of charging a certai nnumber of stolen towels to profit and loss but one hotel man here has had a towel returned to him from Birmingham, Ala., with the following explanatory letter:

"Proprietor:

"I am returning to you a towel which I found in a hotel down here in Birmingham. Since I thought it did not belong there any more than to me I carried it away with me as a souvenir but I feel that I should not have it in my possession so am returning it to its rightful owners.

"Jesus is coming back to earth again and it behoves each and every one to live as close to God as possible as His coming is not far distant.

"A worker for the Lord."

FRENCH BOY JOINED U.S. ARMY WHEN TEN

Left an Orphan, Was Adopted and Enrolled By Infantry Regiment.

SALEM, Ore., Aug. 14.—Capitol Post No. 9 of the American Legion has an active member, Maurice Packer, a French orphan, who joined the American army in France in December, 1917, when he was 10 years old.

The 162nd Infantry adopted Packer, and to avoid technicalities his me was placed formally on the muster roll. When the outfit was in action he was left with French families back of the lines.

Wearing three service stripes, indicative of 18 months of service overseas, the boy was discharged at Camp Lewis, Wash., April 16, 1919. Thus he was entitled to full membership in the Legion. An experienced bugler, he has joined the drum and bugle corps of the Post.

When adopted by the soldiers, Maurice spoke little English. In the six years he has been in this country he has passed through the grades of grammar school and completed the first three years of high school.

NOTED WINDJAMMER AS A FISHING BARGE

Chequered Career Ends on Sands at Newport Beach Harbor.

Since her launching at Alameda, Calif. more than 30 years ago, the Muriel has established an enviable record among sailing ships on the seven seas, particularly in her fast passages while engaged in the copra trade in the South Sea Islands. She was once ranked with the finest and most stately sailing ships of the Pacific, and the waterfronts of the coast heard tales of romance and adventure woven about her by scores of grizzled seamen.

Of late she has been serving in the moving picture navy, where venerable ships enact strange roles before the grinding cameras, but at length the world of make-believe also turned its back on the Muriel.

A despondent waif of the sea, stripped of her stately masts, she was recently being towed beyond the breakwater to serve as a fishing barge. But a final heave on a ground swell parted the towline, and the Muriel rode proudly on the breakers to her doom on the beach.

You will find many things you thought you couldn't afford in the Classified Ads. of the Examiner.

SUGGESTIONS FOR SOLVING CROSS-WORD PUZZLES

Start out by filling in the words of which you feel reasonably sure. These will give you a clue to other words crossing them, and they in turn to still others. A letter belongs in each white space, words starting at the numbered squares and running either horizontally or vertically or both.

The solution will appear in to-morrow's paper.

NIAGARA'S BEAUTY MAY BE DESTROYED

Herbert Hoover Suggests Effort to Preserve Falls.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14. (Canadian Press).—Niagara Falls is committing suicide, according to Secretary Hoover, and within the next 30 or 40 years the natural beauty of this great wonder of the world will have been destroyed unless means are taken to check the destructive process now going on.

The Falls is rapidly wearing away in the centre, the secretary pointed out yesterday, and after that portion of the rock has been worn down great volume of water would simply go rushing down as it does now through the Gorge, but with the scenic grandeur of the Falls destroyed.

A modest amount of engineering work, the secretary added, would maintain the scenic value of the Falls and preserve them in much their present condition for a long time.

The two little girls, hand in hand, were returning from a picnic. Helena suffered terrible wounds and little hope is entertained for her recovery. It is expected that Margaret will recover.

RICE LAKE INDIANS WIN RACES AT SERPENT MOUNDS REGATTA

Featured Many of the Events of Aquatic Sports Programme on Thursday.

WELL ATTENDED.

Weather Cloudy and Cool, But Lake Was Calm For Sports.

In cloudy weather, the Serpent Mounds Regatta Committee staged their fifth annual event yesterday. There was an entire absence of wind, and the water was quite calm, though somewhat chilly for the swimmers.

The following were those responsible for the carrying out of the programme to a successful finish:

President—T. J. Wallace.
Secretary—G. L. Taylor.
Auditor—D. D. Brown.
Starters—T. J. Wallace and R. J. McCamus.

Baseball Committee—E. V. McCarthy, Dr. Walsh, J. A. Eason and M. O'Keefe.

One fact that was greatly appreciated by the large crowd (about 800) was that the contests could be seen from every part of the grounds, there being no buildings or outhouses to block the view. It is evident that this regatta is growing in popularity, not only with local residents, but with people from the surrounding territory. There was quite a fair-sized contingent from Peterboro, and Norwood, Bewdley, Havelock and Hiawatha were also represented. NO MEETING YET OF STOCKHOLDERS

G. T. R. Holders Holders Haven't Met Since Thornton Made Statement.

LONDON, August 14. — Canadian Press Cable. — No further meeting of the committee of the Grand Trunk Pacific stockholders has yet been arranged following the statement of Sir Henry Thornton two weeks ago. The stock which immediately prior to Sir Henry's pronouncement rose as high as 44 is now wavering around 34½, which is a better price than there was a few days ago.

Yesterday's Stock Exchange Gazette says there is an uneasy feeling regarding the recent invitation of the bondholders to Ottawa for Sir Henry Thornton's later statement shows that the invitation was in the nature of an ultimatum. The same journal speaks of the cryptic message from Ottawa in which the Minister of Railways denies that there are proposals for the amalgamation of the Canadian Pacific Railway and the National Railways under consideration.

"While awaiting more definite information it is assumed in the market that the government has decided to proceed with the recommendation for the two systems to be put under one board, the Canadian Pacific ten per cent. dividend to be guaranteed and the National Railway finances reorganized." Canadian Pacific stock is in demand to-day at 147½.

AMUNDSEN GLAD MAUD OUT OF ICE

Expresses Pleasure, Although Boat Will Be Sold For Creditors.

OSLO, Norway, Aug. 14.—(Canadian Press). — Pleasure was expressed yesterday by Roald Amundsen, the explorer, when he learned that his Arctic expedition ship Maude had freed herself from the ice in the Arctic Ocean, and was making her way to Nome, Alaska.

Amundsen will meet the members of the Maude expedition about Christmas time, while he is on a lecture tour in the United States. The vessel now belongs to Amundsen's creditors, and it will be sold at Seattle or San Francisco. A reasonable sum for the Maude would pay the creditors in full, Amundsen said.

The explorer expressed the belief that while the Maude was locked in the ice, the expedition gathered valuable scientific material.

NEW INSURANCE POLICY.

Covers All Losses To Household Effects.

Taking advantage of its provincial charter and license in each province in which it operates, which enables it to issue a variety of insurance coverages under one policy, the Toronto Casualty Insurance Company has brought out a new policy for sale in Canada along the lines of English and Continental Householder's Comprehensive Policy. This is a new departure in Canadian insurance, as companies under Federal charter are prohibited under the Dominion Insurance Act from combining a variety of insurance coverages under one policy.

The new policy will cover a long-felt need, especially among more important business and professional men who desire full protection from all classes of liability and risk. It will include loss of damage to household effects "from any cause whatsoever, whether on land or sea," from fire, burglary, theft, tempest, loss of luggage, bursting of pipes or heating apparatus, highway robbery, hold up and forgery. This policy also protects the insured from his legal liability for injuries or death on his premises of visitors, servants or tradesmen, and includes golfer's liability, etc. The policy is free from vexatious restrictions and conditions, but because of its liberality will be issued to selected risks in amounts of not less than $1000 of insurance.

ADVICE TO GIRLS

By Annie Laurie

Dear Annie Laurie: I am a young fellow of seventeen. I have been out with two different girls who live close to each other, and they know that I go out with them both. Is it alright to go out with them both? Would it be alright to go with the one more than the other? How often would you advise me to go out with them? Hoping to see my answer in the paper soon with any with any other advice that you think would be useful to me concerning the above. Yours very truly, South End. —Wondering.

If the two girls know that you pay attention to both of them, and don't seem to object, why worry? I think it is quite all right to go out with two girls, especially when you are only seventeen years old, and haven't, possibly, any matrimonial intentions toward either of them. Of course, if you are contemplating anything serious, which I wouldn't advise for a few more years yet, you had better confine your attentions solely to the one who appears to exercise the most fascination over you, remembering that what you admire at seventeen years of age might not appear quite so desirable at twenty-seven. In any case, why not give a few evenings a week to sports or study? An interest in games or good books is just as necessary to a successful life as a knowledge of the whims and fancies of the fair sex. Besides, entertaining two young ladies must be a trifle expensive at times.

Dear Annie Laurie: I am a young married woman. My husband stays at home all the time and wants me to stay home too. But I like to go out and have fun.

Please tell me what to do. —Lonesome.

Lonesome: It is sometimes very difficult to merge two different personalities but through tact and good will this can be done gradually. If, as you say, your husband is a "home-body" suppose you arrange your entertainment at home. Give little parties now and then, invite people whom your husband is fond of, and little by little he will become accustomed to the idea of recreation in the evenings. If you do your share to make his evenings at home pleasant and eventful I am sure he will co-operate—and your problem will be solved.

Accessories

(Written for the United Press)

NEW YORK, Aug. 14.—(United Press).—A womans' appearance is made or marred by her accessories. Unless each accessory conforms with the time, place and frock one can not be caller properly dressed.

For instance, a group of women attend an evening dinner at a hotel which is followed by a theatre party. Some of these women will wear formal evening gowns of light color and if they happen to live in the suburbs they will perhaps wear hats to keep their hair in place during the drive to town.

Others will appear in afternoon frocks though hatless. Some carry handbags on their arms. Some are overdecked in jewelry. Some wear Spanish shaws and others wear street coats. They enter the dining room feeling quite unsure of themselves because they are aware that they are not dressed in conformity.

Where dinner at a hotel precedes a theatre party one should not dress in formal evening attire unless one is certain that the other members of the party intend to dress likewise. A simple dinner dress is the one best suite to the two occasions. One does not wear a hat. Nor does one wear gloves or carry a handbag. A small vanity case is all that is required to hold one's make-up. An evening wrap is certainly preferable to the street coat. It is always better to be underdressed than over-dressed when one is in doubt.

The travelleri is usually judged by the clothes she wears. Here, too, one must pay the strictest attention to the selection of hat, gloves, and accessories. Clothing should be tailored or semi-tailored and hat, handbag, shoes, gloves, etc., should have a tailored aspect.

Beaded handbags and colorful printed scarfs are out of place. The handbag should be of leather and the small fur neckpiece or plain colored scarf is preferable to the printed neckpiece. The hat should be small by all means. Shoes should have medium-heels and be of sports type. Even the handkrechief should be tailored in effect if one wishes to pay heed to fashion's decree.

LEAGUE PROPOSES TO STRENGTHEN MANDATES

Give Mandatory Powers Sovereign Rights.

GENEVA, Aug. 14. — (Canadian Press).—The Council of the League of Nations at its September session will be asked to take a step of great importance in the economic development of the world's mandated territories. It is announced that the mandate commission favors the adoption of a declaration that obligations assumed by a mandatory power and all rights acquired under its administration in mandated territory shall have the same validity as if the mandatory government possessed soveign rights in the territory.

THE FLAIR FOR CAPES ON COATS AND FROCKS

Whether of Sturdy Homespun or Fit my Lace, the Cape again Finds Favor in Milady's Eyes.

THE CAPE IS REVIVED AND MODERNIZED FOR FALL WEAR.

By Annette Bradshaw.

Like most fashions, the cape mode reappears from time to time and becomes an up-to-date note of the season.

It has been many seasons now since we have made any use of the cape finish, and its appearance in the ranks of fashion is hailed with interest by many women who find the shoulder cape a very becoming finish for frock or coat.

This jaunty cape appendage is a most adaptable one. It appears to advantage on the straight coat, on the sports frock, and on the dinner or dance frock of most fragile material.

The two models sketched here show the same simple cape treatment used on a lightweight top coat and on a graceful dinner frock.

The coat is of brown homespun, flecked with bright orange threads. The cape flares cover the sleeves, each separate little cape being stitched down flat against the coat. Thus the effect is the same in front as in the back.

The dinner frock is of supple black satin. The satin is cut in a low V at the back, while the front V is less exaggerated. The cape is of filmy black lace. It is applied straight across the back of the neck, allowing an alluring glimpse of the decollette neckline beneath. The cape ends in front, the edges being even with the slender shoulder straps of the frock.

Rocking To Reduce

By Lucrezia Bori

I have often spoken to my readers of the necessity of daily exercise if one is to be beautiful.

Health depends upon right living, and right living must include daily exercise as a fixed habit. You see, those who do not take daily exercise don't know what an easy and necessary habit it may become. They are inclined to think of it as a bore, and something that one must force one's self into.

Of course, I feel that it must be taken, even if you have to force yourself to it for a while, but the important thing is that those who have not tried daily exercise cannot imagine how easy and pleasant and necessary to their happiness it becomes.

Pretend You Are a Human Rocking Chair.

For instance, I know a most active and attractive young creature, who has not an ounce of extra flesh on her bones. She is not too thin, understand, but she simply has turned all her fat into firm muscle, with the result that she is as lithe and graceful and strong as any one could wish to be.

This is the ideal state, to my way of thinking, and I'm sure any woman who can bring her body to this state of perfection will feel that any effort she has put into the acquiring of it will be well worth while. Now this young person I speak of is of a naturally active disposition. She lives out of doors during most of the Summer, and she has always led an active life. For this reason she would miss her activity terribly, if she did not take indoor exercises during the Winter months.

She says the secret of keeping up interest in one's indoor exercises is to have a sufficient variety of them so you cannot become weary of repetition. Have a whole lot of them up your sleeve, she counsels, and try different ones each day, so you will always have the fun of mastering something that may be a trifle difficult to you at first. You will not have any trouble keeping yourself well supplied if you keep your eyes open.

Here is a good exercise which I think you will enjoy trying:

The idea is to pretend that you are really a human rocking chair.

Begin by sitting on the floor, your feet in front of you and your knees slightly bent.

Clasp one hand under each knee, curve your back slightly and stiffen your hip joints.

Now rock backward and forward, going as far back as you can each time, until your neck actually touches the floor. When you are in this position your feet will be extending up into the air, your knees still slightly bent and your hands in their original position beneath your knees.

This is really fun to do. It is also excellent to strengthen the muscles of your entire body, and of your abdomen in particular. Add this to your repertoire of exercises and you will be just that much more resourceful.

HOME TOWN RECIPE.

2 cups water
1 cup white sugar.
Juice and rind of 1½ lemons

Cook for ten minutes, then add two tablespoons of corn starch, mixed with a little cold water and cook for a few minutes. Beat two whites of eggs into the pudding. Let it get cold and serve with custard.

FALL MATERIALS.

Coats Will Be Flared and Turtle Neck Sweaters Favored.

The tweed coat stands out as probably the best separate coat at the moment and the velvet wrap-coat or silk novelty one, cut in circular effect, is also good.

Coats this year will be the same length as last year or a trifle shorter and will be flared or pleated at sides and front. The coat fabrics one hears most of are: suedene, velvet, needle point, and materials similar to marvella cloth. Colors in most instances include purple, with a special tendency toward the warmer pansy shades, and bourbon or ashes of roses. Collars and cuffs will be trimmed with German fitch, Russian krimmer and black caracul and the collars will follow shawl lines. Many of the new coats will be lined with wool plaid.

Dresses are favored in charmeen and satin crepe and the chalk of pastel colorines are a special feature.

Effort To Slay Pet Seal Arouses Resorter's Ire

PENZANCE, Eng., Aug. 14. (United Press).—Penzance, one of England's fashionable summer resorts is all worked up over an attempt someone has made to shoot a companionable seal known to the resorters as "Old Bill."

Old Bill seemed to have no fear of persons and played around with the swimmers and dove off the rocks with them to the great glee of everybody the seal included.

Recently however, Old Bill took to sleeping in the row boats alongside the piers. Nobody objected so long as he picked the larger rowboats. But soon he showed a preference for the smaller boats; they were easier to get into. On the other hand he always swamped his "bed" in getting out; and as Bill was restless and swam in his sleep a good deal, morning usually dawned on four or five swamped boats.

Finally someone got tired of bailing out Bills' bed every morning and took some pot-shots at him from the shore. The shooting however aroused a great out-cry of protest on the part of the other resorters and Bill now sleeps—and swamps—where he pleases.

TURTLE NECK SWEATERS

Sweaters present a number of distinctive types. At present the very light weight "turtle neck" is leading in sales as a practical, all-round sports garment. The utility of these constitutes their greatest appeal, for they may be worn on the golf links, the tennis court, or indeed for any outdoor activity. White is popular and also high light colors, with a number of pastel tints. The mode of the moment is expressed in a convertible turtle neck, which is held in place by a row of buttons down the front. When these are opened, the effect is distinctly that of a T shirt.

Sweaters for street wear consist of the tailored overblouses knit in an extremely close stitch from quality yarns in various tones of grey, violet blue or tan. They are good with skirts showing the favorite "kick" pleat, the skirts either matching or contrasting with the overblouses.

In addition, there is a sweater for morning wear, consisting of the blouse in balbriggan knit, made preferably wth a high collar and having patch pockets, while for afternoon nothing is smarter than a smart pullover of silk and wool, perhaps with short sleeves.

for the Autumn give evidence that the turtle and cricket neck lines will be very much in the foreground. Some indactions are taken as presaging a return of the tuxedo sweater to the position of prominence it held a season or so back, and also that slipovers and golf jackets will have to make room for the coat sweater.

Balbriggan continues as the dominant sweater material.

ONCE UPON A TIME THE GOLDEN GOOSE. X

by W. J. ENRIGHT.

Daisy Drops It ~ by Jack Lait

WHEN Dixie Daisy, the nifty little pickpockette with the lollypop Geo'gia accent, gave Boston the zippy seaboard ozone after she had stolen the wallet of the infatuated young college man while he was stealing a kiss, she hopped a smooth rattler and alighted in Chicago.

Daisy was no fool.

Oh, City-by-Lake-Mich., you are a sweet haven! Lady or dip, gentleman or heel, sucker or sharpshooter, when you are heavy laden or traveling light, when you are chipper or when you are indigo, when you are rich or poor or strong or sick or sober or shot or pleasure bent or business bound, don't close your eyes and jab a pin at random on the map as in the old game of donkey's tail. Go you to dear old Chi, for there you will get warm hearts, plenty of action, hospitality, geniality, round greetings and a square count.

Barred from New York because she had stepped on a police inspector's bunions, her little business in Boston cleaned up, Dixie Daisy whizzed along to Chicago in a compartment of America's finest train, with a smile on her fascinating features and a trust in the immediate future.

She had played Chicago before—world's series assemblages, national conventions, grand opera premieres, noontide throngs at State and Madison, the fastest and busiest corner in the universe.

Chicago had been kind to Daisy. There, as everywhere above the Mason and Dixon line, her honey-drop lingo registered a kick, her ingratiating charms carried a punch, her mellifluent technique at the chosen art in which she was a virtuoso had never missed.

She had no definite plan of attack, no potential campaign. But luck would provide. Daisy was a good mixer—mixing was the very foundation of her calling. Always hard to get acquainted with, she was always easy to get along with.

Daisy disliked working on utter strangers. Not that she was a snob, but there was hazard enough putting her dainty hands in other people's pockets without risking lean returns if she got them safely out again. Among acquaintances she could be selective, eclectic. If she dined or danced with a gentleman, she had an illuminating hunch as to about how much he might be carrying and just where he might be carrying it, which eliminated much guesswork and most of the suspense regarding the probable profit.

Moreover, the relationship of host and guest or friend and friend—Daisy punctiliously avoided going beyond these—gave her inside breaks, such as operating in a limousine between a dance-place and her hotel, or while dancing, or in collateral situations. It reduced the resistance, as the efficiency experts and salesmanship sharks put it; it established contact, as they also phrase it. And contact was as essential as reduced resistance was helpful to Dixie Daisy in the practise of her intensive profession.

Refreshed, radiant, Daisy awoke in Gary and was the center of all eyes as she tripped from the Pullman onto the cement walk of the La Salle street station, two porters puffing as they lugged her patent-leather bags and hat box to the taxi stand. Thence to the lakefront hotel of tone and undisputed standing, ensconced in a suite that faced the choppy, exhilarating blue waters, breakfast of steaming tid-bits negotiated in her own rooms, a touch of rouge discreetly applied and a fleck of powder delicately dabbed—and Daisy was ready to take Chicago like Dewey took Manila.

She strolled out, befurred and gloved, bewitching and winsome, upon the handsomest avenue in Christendom, Michigan Boulevard. Daisy never flirted and never suffered herself to be flirted with, though being flirted at was old stuff that was as familiar to her as the free air and the downtown traffic. So it was not that she proposed such a crude and rude adventure as a "pick-up." Nor was it her present intent to dip into the jeans of any passerby; that she had done in her novitiate days, more for practical experience and getting her hand in, so to say it, than for the uncertain direct returns of such elementary proceedings.

Daisy was merely out a-strolling. What might happen she did not know. She knew only that something would happen; something always did when Dixie Daisy was footloose, reconnoitering, unattached and on the make.

It was almost noon. Daisy bethought herself, as she tripped along the boulevard, that she was in the region of those majestic structures, wherein were honeycombed the offices of Chicago's medical specialists; she remembered that in one of these skyscrapers she had once consulted a famous and duly pompous practitioner regarding an earache.

Here was a thought; mayhap an inspiration. It was as dignified a way to create contact as could be, and these men who had subdivided the ancient and honorable science of healing into infinitesimal branches charged heavy fees and had alluring incomes.

She drifted into one of the most impressive buildings, scanned the wall directories, inquired of the starter what might be the "racket" of Dr. Marmaduke Follantree, and learned that he was the cat's wishbone in the psychology department. Dr. Follantree was an alienist, criminologist, psychiatrist, psycho-analyst, and famed what-not regarding human mentality, impulses, emotions, reactions, passions, eccentricities, promptings, vagaries, obliquities, tangents, weaknesses and fandangos.

Daisy viewed this not only as information, but as a direct challenge. If this party was jerry to all that, surely he should be able to protect himself against one uncolleged, self-made girl a long way from home and a stranger in the city.

So, up to the sixteenth floor she whisked, and to the door of Dr. Marmaduke Follantree's offices she breezed. She was received by a nursey-looking old maid, who shoved a card at her. Daisy wrote her name thereon—"Miss Dorothy Duke," gave her home as Macon, Georgia, her age as twenty-three, her color white, her sex feminine, and her needs immediate. Within half an hour she was motioned to enter the inner room, and Dr. Marmaduke Follantree looked up from the card, which he was studiously glowering at, to see before him as pretty a vision as ever his scientific observation had encountered. He choked, then he coughed.

"May I ask, Miss—h'm—Miss Duke—who recommended you to me—I mean me to you?" he inquired.

Daisy looked up, surprised—amazed.

She Was Suddenly Startled by a Heavy Grasp on Her Left Arm.

"Wha—doctah," she gurgled, "the wohld. Who hasn't huhd of Doctah Follantree? Ah needed no single pusson's raicommendation. We've huhd of you, even daown in Geo'gia."

"H'm—I see; very kind of you. Now, what can I do for you?"

"Waill, you see, doctah, mah case is most aixtr'ohd'nairy. Maybe not so to a man of yo' profsound und'stan'ing, eithah. Ah s'pose you'll just call it an instance of klaipto'mania."

"What!" exclaimed Dr. Follantree. "You?"

"Yaiss, doctah. Ah'm almost ashamed to tell you. But of late it's been a-coming over me in a most alarming series of ralgular attacks. The physicians in mah li'l home taown ah quite stumped bah it, of cohse. So Ah decided to come up hyeah to you."

"Very interesting. Tell me—what manifestation does this—h'm—eccentricity exhibit? Shoplifting?"

"Oh, no. Pocket-picking."

"You amaze me. Why, that is almost a science in itself. To successfully pick pockets requires practise, systematic operation, specific craftsmanship as well as natural criminal talent developed through early training and applicable only where distinct impulse for larceny exists, usually hereditary. You see——"

"Ah, yaiss, doctah; you said to successfully pick pockets. But Ah'm neveh successful. That is, Ah neveh get away with anything. Ah'm always caught at it. Mah methods ah so crude, you see, that Ah couldn't put mah hand in an empty laundry bag without waking up the neighbors. Still some mysterious peowah keeps drahving me on to do such unmentionable things raght along——"

"Yes. The uncontrollable impulse. Of course . . . turn your face; I want to study your profile . . . uhu . . . nose tilted, eyes unusually large, mouth small . . remove your gloves, please. I want to study your hands . . . ah, thanks . . . let me see . . . fingers slender, proportionate; your hat off, please . . . ah, thanks . . . hair golden blonde, head perfectly formed, eyes not too close together, ears . . . your ears, please . . . ah, thanks, if you'll just hold your hair up a moment . . . ah, thanks . . . ears small—very small . . . very small, indeed."

Dr. Follantree turned and looked out of the window.

"May I put my hat on again?" asked Daisy.

"Yes; yes," answered Dr. Follantree, abstractedly.

Daisy had seen a mirror in the corner of the room. Beside it stood a clothes-tree. On the tree hung a coat, palpably Dr. Follantree's. He was wearing a long white physician's jacket on the job. From the inner pocket of the coat on the rack, partly turned outward, protruded a leather case.

Had Daisy come into that room in any other manner save by her own selection, unexpected and unknown, she might have suspected a "frame." This was almost too good.

In her experiences, and they had been more than a few, she had found hard going and soft pickings; she had dipped into waistcoats and inside pockets and trouser retreats; she had boosted rolls with rubberbands around them, loose, and in slippery, helpful seal-leather cases.

But never before had she found anything handed to her like this.

She passed the edge of the big cabinet of books and instruments between her and the specialist, put her hat to her head with one hand and with the other she abstracted the tall black wallet, watching the doctor in the far corner of the mirror as she worked. He never turned or budged. This was duck soup. In the purse she found a layer of crisp, flat bills of substantial denomination, which she folded once over and slid into her handbag. The pocketbook she returned to its place. When she resumed her seat in the patient's chair, under the searching spotlight trained thereon, Dr. Follantree had not yet faced the room again. She sat, waiting.

When the specialist parted his tensely set lips and swung about, he strode rapidly toward her—at her would better describe it.

"Young woman," he barked, "do you ever have dreams?"

"No-no, sah; very rarely."

"But you DO have them—sometimes. You MUST."

"Oh, sometimes, yaiss."

"Ah, thanks. And what do you dream?"

"Oh—Ah don't remaimbah."

"H'm—I—I thought so. Any of your relatives thieves?"

"Wha—doctah! Certainly not. The Dukes ah one of the oldest and fahnest fam'lies in Geo'gia. Ah'm the only black sheep, the only blot on the faih name of the Dukes. That's wha Ah traveled all this distance to see and consult you. Can you do anything foh me, doctah? Oh, Ah implohe you——"

"Most assuredly I can. I can cure you. I will cure you. Very simple case. Physiognomy quite distinct. Case of diverted rather than perverted psychic-hysteria. Symptoms quite conventional."

"But—what must Ah do?"

"You must fill out this questionnaire. Take it back with you to your—to wherever you live. Where do you live?"

"Macon, Geo'gia."

"No, no; here, in Chicago?"

"Oh, at the Blank Hotel."

"Fine. I will be over to visit you. I am permitted in the rooms there, of course. Will you be in at—at say 5 o'clock?"

"Bah all means, doctah."

"And have every question on the four sheets fully answered—in ink—by that time. Good day. Don't be afraid—I'll cure you—completely. Good day. See you at 5."

And he opened the door, and Daisy tripped forth, turning to send him a smile of faith, hope and gratitude as she crossed the reception room.

Once downstairs, she made the sidewalk and was starting for the curb to hail a taxi, for now she had to move swiftly. If the money she had "found" in the doctor's purse was enough to warrant playing entirely safe, she would be out of town long before 5; the least she must do would be to change the bills so that she could not be apprehended with the even amount in denominations approximating the stolen bankroll. As she wafted across the walk she was suddenly startled by a heavy grasp on her left arm, which drew her back on her heels. She turned and saw Detective Sergeant Malachy.

"What you doin' in town?" demanded Malachy.

"Hey," said Daisy, "no scenes on the street, please. If you wanna ask me any questions, let's get in a cab or somewheres."

"Oh," said the detective. "Where'd you drop your Dixie dialect?"

"Oh," answered Daisy, "did I?"

"I'll say you did. Now, come over here and stand against the wall o' this buildin'. I won't draw no crowd unless I have to. Now, what's your lay, what're you here for, how long you been here, and what 'ave you been doin'?"

"You'd be surprised, Malachy," answered Daisy. "You noticed I chucked the Georgia palaver. Well, I don't need it any more, see? I'm through—turned square—takin' the cure."

"Cure? What cure? You never drunk nothin' an' you was never on the hop, like a lot o' them grifters. What cure you talkin' about?"

"The dip cure. I'm no crook. I'm a kleptomaniac. I come to the conclusion that what I need is a doctor. That's what I'm here for."

"Aw, tell that to Sweeney. You think I'm feeble-minded?"

"No. But I am. I've come down from the office of the greatest nerve and mind specialist in Chicago. He's going to get me off my criminal inclinations. You see, I'm—well, I'm in love. I want to get married. I tried to go straight, but I found it wasn't in me. So I come to this specialist to get treatment. Inside of a week Dixie Daisy'll be all washed up, a square-shootin' married woman, honest, happy, off the rough stuff forever."

"Say, what kind o' new bull is this?"

"Just what I tell you. I'll prove it. Come upstairs with me."

"You'll have to prove it," said Malachy. "Come on. I'm from Missouri."

Daisy escorted the detective back to Dr. Follantree's office.

A few words in the attendant's ear got them into the sanctum shortly. The scientist looked surprised.

"Doctah," said Daisy, "this gen'lmen is a police officah. He arrested me once befoh, and recognazed me. Ah told him Ah was up hyah, but he mistrusts me. Will you kahndly enlaghten him regahding the puhpose of mah visit?"

The physician looked at her quizzically, but she firmly nodded her head in verification of her request, releasing him from his fiduciary restraints.

"She says," interposed the detective, "that she's takin' the dip cure."

"This young woman," said Dr. Follantree, "came here to consult me regarding what she believes is an uncontrollable impulse to steal—to pick pockets. She has told me frankly everything I have asked. The treatments will begin this evening at 5, after she has filled out a complete questionnaire."

"Well, I'll be——" and Malachy looked at Follantree and at Daisy. "You mean this is on the level? She come here herself, of her own free will, an' asked you to get her off the work?"

"Absolutely. And I shall accomplish it, beyond doubt."

"You think so, huh? You know this jane has a record in ev'ry big town in America as one o' the smoothest and mos' dangerous boosters out o' jail?"

"If Ah was so smooth and dangerous, Mistah Malachy," protested Daisy, "Ah wouldn't have a record, would Ah? Ah admit Ah've been foolish—often; that's just what Ah come to see the doctah about. But Ah don't admit Ah'm smooth. As foh being dangerous——"

"You hear that Dixie lingo, doc? Well, a minnit ago, downstairs, she was shooting straight United States. She's foxy."

Dr. Follantree looked at her questioningly.

"That is true, doctor," said Daisy. "I assume the Southern character. It has become second nature to me. In truth I am from Georgia, but I have lived up North most of my life, and the accent is as dishonest as my other instincts, the rest of which I frankly explained to you. I was going to let you have all my peculiarities one by one, you see."

"H'm," said Follantree, "quite in keeping. Kleptomaniacs are crafty. They are shrewd, deceptive, cunning. But when I eradicate the original impulse, with it will go all the collateral ramifications, you may depend on it."

"You believe her, then, doc?" asked Malachy.

"Entirely. Why should she come up here if she were insincere? What possible object could she have?"

Daisy smiled. Malachy shook his head.

"Say," he barked, with sudden inspiration, "she didn't touch you by any chance, did she?"

"Don't be silly," snapped Daisy.

"Better frisk yourself," suggested Malachy.

Follantree, a trifle abashed, with an apology to Daisy, lifted his white coat and went through his waistcoat and trousers pockets. He had some loose bills, which he displayed. His watch was where it should have been. A diamond in his tie was unmolested. With an afterthought he turned his eyes toward his coat that hung on the tree. The purse was visible, standing perpendicularly out against the lining.

"Nonsense," said the physician. "You don't think she'd rob me while I was treating her for kleptomania, do you?"

Malachy scratched his dome.

"I think she'd rob her mother while she was kissin' her good-night," he replied. "But I'm stopped. I got nothin' on her. Well, so long—an', listen, Daisy, if I ketch you workin' in town by any chance, I'll get you a stretch. Take that cold."

And he stalked out.

"Thank you so much, doctor," purred Daisy. "See you at 5, then?"

"At your hotel," said Follantree. "This is a most engaging case."

But he didn't see her at her hotel. Daisy counted enough in the loot to pay her for the day, and she knew Malachy was far from satisfied and further from pleased. So at 3 she was aboard a de luxe train for Milwaukee, only two hours away, but fast enough.

"Ah guess Ah'll pick up mah Dixie accent again," she soliloquized. "In Milwokee it ought to be the possum's pinfaithers."

SEVEN SPEED FIENDS ALREADY ENTERED FOR THE AUTO RACES

Headliners in World's Racing News to Be Seen on the Local Course, Next Thursday—Cleo Sarles' Entry in This Morning.

Seven noted automobile racing drivers are now entered in the events which will be run at the Peterboro Exhibition Grounds next Thursday afternoon. In addition to the famed Ray Lampkin, British champion; Ray Claypool, Eddie Dailey, 'Scotty' Monteith, Johnny Green, and 'Putty' Hoffman, another name of great moment in the annals of speed, Cleo Sarles, was added to the entry list this morning. Sarles is noted for his ability to outsmart the other drivers in the midst of a particularly hot race, and it is not recorded that he ever gave ground when challenged by a competitor.

Sarles will drive a French Buggati car, one of the fastest cars ever sent to America for use on the dirt tracks.

The entry list does not close until next Monday night, and Promoter Sloan predicts that several other daring drivers will be here.

Great interest has been aroused over the announcement that Mlle. Martens, the premier girl driver of the world, will drive an exhibition, the first time that a woman ever raced an automobile in Eastern Canada. Over the Calgary, Regina, Saskatoon, Edmonton and Brandon race courses last month, the "queen of speed" created a pronounced sensation by her daring and skill. "Indications point to a tremendous crowd being attracted to the Exhibition Grounds next Thursday," said Mr. Sloan this morning. "The public in this section seem to appreciate the opportunity to see right here at home, the great drivers and cars which only visit Montreal, Ottawa and Toronto in Eastern Canada. The races will prove a revelation to those who have never witnessed an automobile race over a dirt track.

"Everything will be done to provide for the safety and comfort of the spectators, but we must have co-operation from the crowd. The spectators must keep back of the safety zones.

The racing cars will be placed on exhibition in local garages and will be open to inspection by visitors.

Mlle. Martens will arive Monday morning, a definite reservation at the Empress Hotel having been made by wire for her this morning.

BOYS DESTROY "EX" PROPERTY

Windows Broken and Sand Thrown on Newly Painted Building.

MANY TOURISTS.

The work of preparing the Exhibition Grounds for the forthcoming Fair is now in full swing. The buildings are being repainted and grass cutting will commence on Monday.

Considerable damage has been done by mischievous boys, who have made a pastime of breaking windows and damaging property generally.

A number of boys were caught in the act of throwing sand on some newly painted buildings, which resulted in the work having to be done over again. It is intended to have the culprits brought into court, a method which is to be used in all similar cases.

The tourist camp is becoming increasingly popular with visitors. There is usualy an average of four or five parties camped every night. On Sunday there were over forty parties encamped on the grounds.

There have been a great number of American tourists on the grounds this year, the States of Ohio and New York being particularly well represented.

The provision of facilities for protection in inclement weather is a feature that has brought forth loud commendations. The general verdict is that the Peterboro tourist camp is equal to the best in all respects and superior to most from the standpoint of cleanliness.

Tour World In Lifeboat; Live On Concentrated Food

LONDON, Aug. 14.—To test the quantity and type of food which should be placed on ships' lifeboats, Captain George Hitchens, two sailors and a wireless operator started from Newlyn, Cornwall, yesterday on a trip round the world in a lifeboat.

Captain Hitchens belonged to the same company as Captain Foster, who suffered dire privations in a lifeboat after the loss of his ship, the Trevessa.

Captain Hitchens and his crew expected to live three years on hard tack, chocolate, condensed milk and various types of canned foods and vegetable extracts.

The course mapped out, including fifty ports, among them the isolated Pitcairn Island and Tristan da Cunha, has one notably long stretch of 4,600 miles from Tasmania to Durban.

The lifeboat measures 40 feet by 10 and is equipped with a 15-horse power internal combustion engine.

EAST PETERBORO FINAL.

Cogs and Raybestos Clash at Exhibition Park This Evening.

This evening at Exhibition Park, commencing at 5.45 sharp, Raybestos and Cognawagas clash in the first home-and-home games for the E.P.B.L. championship. The second game will be played Saturday afternoon.

The winners will meet Lindsay Greybirds, Big Four champs, next week.

Both teams will present strong line-ups for tonight's fray and that means a good game. Either team has real ability which will make stiff opposition in the semi-finals. Raybestos have some suar players on their outfit, but the Cogs. specialize in team work.

As the winner of these play-offs will reperesent Peterborough in the Ontario semi-finals, a large crowd should turn out and boost the game along.

PRISONER FLED IN PRISON CAR

Skilled Mechanic Assigned To Tune It Up, Disappeared In It.

GUELPH, Aug. 14.—(Canadian Press). — One of the most unique escapes from the Ontario Reformatory ever made took place yesterday, when Arthur Young, of Mimico, drove away from the institution in Sergt. Maguire's sedan car. The machine had not been running well, and the sergeant turned it over to the prisoner, Young, a skilled mechanic, for an overhauling and adjustment. No one saw the prisoner leave the grounds in the machine, and no word has been received by the authorities as to his whereabouts.

Young was serving a term for theft.

MRS. BIDWELL'S ACT VOLUNTARY

Had Attended the Catholic Church Unknown to Its Priests, Statement Says.

OTTAWA, Aug. 14 (Canadian Press) — An exclusive statement from dignitaries of the Roman Catholic Church on the subject of the reception into that church of Mrs. Bidwell, wife of the Anglican bishop, is carried in a special despatch to the Ottawa Citizen from Kingston as follows:

"The statement was given in the Archbishop's palace, you may say that it came from the highest authority in the Roman Catholic church at Kingston," the reporter was told when consent to its publication was given with the stipulation that names be not used.

"The statement is as follows:

"It was an absolutely intellectual conversion. Mrs. Bidwell read herself into the Roman Catholic church. First, she was disgusted with the controversies that were unceasingly going on within the bosom of the Anglican church and she was upset by the Kikuyu controversy and the absolute lack of competent authority in the Anglican church to settle any disputed point of dogma or morals.

She was absolutely a Roman Catholic before she came to us. She had been attending the cathedral unknown to us, especially at a mission. She only approached us for final instructions and was received by one of our priests.

"The Roman Catholic church never desired to make capital out of it in any respect but treated it purely as a question of conscience on Mrs. Bidwll's part, having no bearing whatever on the general attitude of the Roman Catholic church.

"We had absolutely nothing to do with her conversion further than the final instruction which she demanded from us and had the right to obtain."

"It was stated in Roman Catholic circles that Mrs. Bidwell was a woman of the highest character and that much more sympathy was felt in the Roman Catholic Church for Bishop Bidwell than had been shown by many outside. The opinion was also expressed that it would have been better if Mrs. Bidwell had gone to England to be received quietly into the church so as to have avoided the "fuss' that has been created."

THEATRES

AT THE ROYAL.

BIG CROWDS AT ROYAL.

Lumbering Story, Amateurs and the Old Songs Dad Used to Sing.

Last night the capacity of the Royal was taxed to the utmost, many unable to get a seat. "Big Timber," a thrilling story of the lumber camps, some amateurs and some of the old songs being the attractions. The amateurs were on a par with other weeks, the honors going to the Giblert Trio in songs, and Madeline Curtain in a Sailor Hornpipe. The old songs evidently were too old for the young generation, who do most of the singing; however, some of them "went over" big, with "Sweet Adeline" the favorite.

There is a romance in the industry of timber cutting which defies analysis. Thrills, danger and adventures are crowded into the working days of a great lumber crew, and yet in time even this must get monotonous.

"Timber!"

When that cry sounds through the deep woods and the crown of a high monarch is seen to tremble above, there is a thrilling moment as the giant lists gently to one side and slowly, gradually, gains momentum until it falls with a thundering crash against the breast of the mother which nurtured it.

The cutting of the timber, the marking off and surveying of sections, the loading of big logs on trains or on nature's conveyance—a rushing mountain stream — all these things have their fascination.

In the big timber country of Northern California, right in the heart of one of the world's richest lumber sections, the Universal film production of "Big Timber," from a story by Vingie E. Roe, was produced. An elaborate picturization of the glory of the big woods, it has a cast headed by the ever popular William Desmond and including Olive Hasbrouck, Betty Francisco, Lydia Yeamans Titus, Ivar McFadden and Albert J. Smith. William Craft was the directors and Isador Bernstein the supervisor. Several weeks were spent on location.

"Big Timber" is the offering of the Royal Theatre these days, and is a story of charm and interest for all classes of fans. One feature which is highly advertised is the pictorial beauty of the settings, recorded by Jackson Rose's camera.

AT THE CAPITOL

A HIT IN COMEDY

Cosmopolitan Star Scores in an Entirely New Kind of Role.

If one were to tell in detail the plot of "ZaZnder the Great," which opened yesterday at the Capitol Theatre, half the enjoyment of future audiences would be spoiled, for the situations, incidents and climaxes, as well as the comedy and drama packed into this human interest screen offering, have the flavor and surprise qualities of an O. Henry story.

"Zander the Great," starring Marion Davies, a Cosmopolitan Production released by Metro-Goldwyn, proved a complete surprise to those who have grown accustomed to viewing Miss Davies in the elaborate period costumes of "Little Old New York," "Yolanda" and Janice Meredith."

From Orphan to Beauty.

In this picture, Miss Davies evolves from a little orphan girl in an asylum to a young woman of strong character, great beauty and charm of manner, but it is not on this slender thread that the picture is based. Rather it is upon the exciting incidents and unusual situations that arise from the fact that as Mamie, the lovable, whimsical heroine, Miss Davies finds herself the centre of a hotbed of plot, counter-plot, adventure and romance generally.

The drama whirls and vibrates around Mamies adopted child. The comedy touches are supplied by such noted artists as Holbrook Blinn, Harry Myers, Richard Carle and Harry Watson, Jr., while the more serious and dignified incidents are enacted by Harrison Ford and Hobart Bosworth.

SENATE OFFICIAL

Major Thompson, of Ottawa, who succeeds the late Col. E. J. Chambers as Gentleman Usher of the Black Rod of the Senate of Canada. Major Thompson received the announcement from the prime minister Rt. Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King, in England, where he is at present with his wife and his mother, Mrs. Andrew T. Thompson, of Ottawa. They return to the capital the end of August, when Major Thompson will assume his new duties.

IF you like pictures staged in God's great outdoors you'll love this one. A gripping drama of the lumber camps. All the romance and glamour of the lumberjack's dangerous calling. Filmed among the natural wonders of California's redwood forests.

Stalk on Display is Nine Feet Ten Inches in Length.

Roland Denne has on display in his store window a mammoth corn stalk measuring 9 feet 10 inches, and grown on the farm of Frank Montgomery, in North Monaghan. The seed was purchased from Mr. Denne and is known as Longfellow, a grade of corn particularly adopted for winter feed in the form of ensilage.

This specimen is a fair standard of measurement for all corn growth as many farmers find that an abnormally large yield is assured. Judging from speciments, such as this, cattle will not languish in the winter season.

FIRST GAMES IN TENNIS SERIES TO AUSTRALIANS

Anderson Beat Crocker and Patterson Beat Wright in Davis Cup Singles.

CLOSE MATCH.

Wright Forced Opponent to Five Nets—Six in a Row in First.

MONTREAL, Aug. 14 (Canadian Press)—Australia captured the first two singles of their second round Davis Cup tie with Canada here yesterday afternoon. J. O. Anderson defeated Willard F. Crocker in straight sets, 6-1, 6-3, 6-2, while Gerald Patterson beat Jack Wright, 5-7, 3-6, 6-3, 6-1, 6-3.

Anderson won easily from Crocker at no time being unduly extended but Patterson fought Wright at his most brilliant form, and it was only after five gruelling sets that the Australian won out. For a time it looked as if Canada was to take the second match. Wright never played better tennis and before Patterson could settle donn the Canadian had taken the first two sets. However, Patterson tightened in his play and evened the match at two sets each, Wright tiring slightly and losing a lot of the dash which marked his earlier spectacular efforts.

The deciding set was brilliantly played, Wright fighting gamely against the deadly service and steady placements of the Australian but without success, sensational strokes at the vital stages winning the second match of the afternoon for the Australian.

Today Hawkes and Patterson, Australia, play Wirght and Crocker, Canada in the doubles.

Anderson had experienced little trouble in defeating Crocker in the first match of the two, the rangy Australian captain, playing a brilliantly steady base-line game to take the victory. Patterson started out against Wright in a similar fashion in the first set of the second contest and quickly brought the count to 5-1 in his favor. Then Wright solved Patterson's smashing service and his terrifice returns. The local player started to return the fast-speeding balls driven by Patterson. This proved upsetting to the Australian, especially so when he found Wright's returns were directed practically in toto to his backhand. Here was Patterson's weakness and Wright took full advantage of his opportunities. Time and time again he sent deadly placements along the side lines to Patterson's backhand and as often as he did Patterson drove the ball into the net or out of the court. The result was a phenomenal string of six straight games which gave Wright the first set at 7-5.

Again, in the second set Wright showed a smart change of pace, spectacular placements, a deadly overhead "kill", in fact a variety of strokes which caused Patterson much apprehension especially when his own smashing style of play brought him but little result. Captain Anderson, too, became apprehensive and moved down from the stands to the courts.

Wright had been covering an immense amount of court in the two winning sets and in the third let up slightly in his efforts, Patterson taking the set at 6-3. After the rest interval the local player attempted to battle with the dash he had shown in the earlier sets, but he could not arise to the occasion. He found Patterson playing with more precision and considerably more speed and the fourth set went to the Australian easily 6-1. It was somewhat disappointing to the local votaries who had a taste of victory and were loudly supporting Montrealer in his fight for unexpected laurels. Wright was in improved form in the deciding fifth set, but was not good enough. After holding Patterson to 3-3, the turning point came when the Australian made an apparently impossible return to count the seventh game and from then on he won at will in the two remaining games.

INSIDE GOLF

By CHESTER HORTON

Maker of 51 Golf Champions. "Golf's most successful teacher," says "Chick" Evans

Sometimes the ball comes to rest in a shallow trap on the green. The bank which the ball must clear may not be more than a foot high. In this case the player will do better to use a mashie or a spade mashie for the out. Cut the blade across the ball from the right to left—not too sharp a cut—and design to just graze the sand under the ball. Or you may take the mashie blade straight through the ball, as you would if the lie was in grass. Since the blade must not be soled, this method is more difficult to control than the cut, because with the cut you can hit harder, taking sand without having the ball skip clear across the green. If the bank to be cleared slopes, take ball out with the putter if the sand on which it rests is firm. If the sand is loose you must use the mashie or niblick.

CITY TITLE TO THE RAYBESTOS

Royals Scored Big Lead in Third, But Failed to Hold It.

SCORE WAS 8 TO 6

Coming forth from the depths for the steenth time, Raybestos got the decision over Royals at Exhibition Park last evening by a score of 8 to 6, and won the city series of the East Peterboro League. They play the Cognawagas, of the rural section, in the first game of the championship series this evening, and the two teams will meet again at the Exhibition Grounds on Saturday afternoon, with instructions to return a winner. The champs will play Lindsay Greybirds at Lindsay on Wednesday afternoon, and the second game will be played here on Friday. This is an O.B.A.A. Intermediate semi-final round.

Last night's battle was a stirring encounter from start to finish. It was brimful of hard hitting and smart fielding plays, and Royals surprised themselves by knocking "Lefty" Turner out of the box in the third, when they scored five runs. That was real glory for the Westenders. As a reward for a good season's work, the team has been promised support with the management of their club next season, and as they have the neuclus of a real ball team, the Royals should be prominent in the summer pastime next year.

With Alex. Kay and Jack McCartney in charge of the game, the teams got down to business. Cameron led off with a single, but a neat double play killed the Royals off quickly. Raybestos came back with two. Nicholls walked and Batten fanned. Moore doubled and Rogers tripled in a brace of runs.

Royal tallied one in the second with two gone. Whitlow doubled to score on C. Miller's single. Whitlow also featured Raybestos' half with a thrilling running catch of Turner's long fly to stop a rally.

In the third, Royals swamped Turner. Here it is. Cameron walked, Crary doubled. Weese doubled. Corbett singled, Barrie flew out to left, Whitlow singled—result four runs. Turner went to first and Shaughnessy took up the burden. A choice and Maudsley's infield out made it five runs. K. Miller was deadheaded and Cameron, batting the second time, was thrown out by Moore.

Royals put two on in the fourth and looked good to score again, but Corbett unintentionally interfered with Batten, who was fielding the ball, for the third out.

Raybestos rallied to score three runs. Shaughnessy doubled and McIntyre singled. Nicholls lined to Barrie, who threw badly to the plate, allowing a pair of counters. Grose grounded out and Turner walked. On Ranger's smash down first, Weese failed to make the play at first, and also lost out on his throw to third to get Nicholls. The latter scored on Batten's infield out. Cameron threw out Moore.

Royals went out in order in the fifth. Raybestos tied the score. With two gone, a pass to McIntyre proved fatal, as the runner tallied on Nicholls' drive. The latter's namesake who did the running, was caught between second and third.

The sixth brought nothing to the Royals. Raybestos tallied two. C. Miller failed to make any attempt to take Grose's foul fly over the batter's box, and Grose thereupon hit for three bases. Turner flied to Weese and Ranger to K. Miller. Grose scored on Batten's drive and Batten went home on Moore's triple. Maudsley was relieved by G. Miller and Rogers was thrown out by Cameron.

Corbett started Royals' final stand by banging out a single. Barrie missed three. Whitlow helped some by waiting for four wide ones. C. Miller tried hard but his fly was taken by McIntyre, and Maudsley ended it by grounding out.

SPORT GOSSIP AND COMMENT.

The Central Ontario play-off series between the Kingston Ponies and the Petes, which should produce the best baseball of the season, gets away a week from tomorrow, Peterboro fans having the opportunity of seeing the first game. The biggest crowd of the year, including hundreds of outside fans, will be on hand for the big battle.

* * * * * * * * *

Tomorrow afternoon's juvenile O.B.A.A. game at Riverside Park between Oshawa juveniles and the local Knights of Columbus team should be a real lively tussle. The Peterboro youngsters, playing well below form, were badly beaten in Oshawa last Saturday, but they promise to redeem themselves and tie up the series tomorrow. Masterson will do the gunning for the K.C.'s.

* * * * * * * * *

Yesterday's fiasco, which resulted in the Havelock-Norwood team walking off the field after a free-for-all scrap, in which Alex. Weir of the visitors was hurt, will increase the difficulty of reviving lacrosse here. In addition to the unfortunate climax, there was too much of an inclination to rough it evident, and too great a tendency on the part of some of the crowd to egg the players on to mix it up. The game can never be popularized under such conditions.

* * * * * * * * *

The Raybestos-Royals tangle was at last unwound last night when the Raybestos crew won the play-off game by 8 runs to 6. The two teams have had a great time deciding the winner of their section. Raybestos are slated to meet Cognawagas tonight in the first game of the play-off series between the winners of the two sections. The Cogs-Raybestos winners clash with Lindsay, Big Four champs, in the O.B.A.A. series next week.

The umpires assigned for the Kingston-Peterboro series are Ken. Colling of Belleville, who will officiate behind the bat in the whole series, while Geo. Sullivan of Kingston and Alex. Kay of Peterboro will work on the bases.

The second Lakeview-Belleville game will be played in Belleville on Monday, and Lew Lebarr's team will make a big effort to win the series without a third game being necessitated. The winner of this series will clash with the Oshawa junior representatives, and the team emerging victorious from that fiacas will meet the Kingston-Ottawa winners for the Eastern Ontario honours.

JUVENILE GAME FOR TO-MORROW

Oshawa St. Andrews Will Be Here For Second Game With Caseys.

AT RIVERSIDE PARK.

To-morrow afternoon the baseball attraction at Riverside Pa will be the second game of the Juvenile O. B.A.A. series between Peterborough Knights of Columbus and Oshawa St. Andrew's. The game will start at three o'clock.

Last Saturday in Oshawa, the Peterboro boys were rather badly beaten, the score being 12-4. Good pitching by Doug. May, with heavy hitting by his team mates, who took a liking to Masterson's offerings, were responsible for the loss. But to-morrow is another day, and on their home diamond the local kids should give a good account of themselves. They are playing a snappy, scrappy brand of ball and the series won't be over until the last man is out in the final game. And to-morrow's game, say the local kids, will not be the final.

EVEN BREAK FOR SPAIN AND JAPS

Opening Matches in Davis Cup Round Were Evenly Divided.

PLAY AT BALTIMORE.

BALTIMORE, Md., August 14.—Canadian Press. — Spain and Japan broke even in the opening day's play of the Davis Cup tennis preliminaries here yesterday. Taekichi Harada defeated Eduardo Flaquer in straight sets, and Manuel Alonso defeated Zenzo Shimizu, 7-5, 6-0, 3-6, 6-3.

Shimizu in winning his only set from the Spaniard, depended largely on a soft lob for placement and the errors Alonzo made in attempting to kill it. The Spaniard showed superior power throughout the match. His smashing drives for placement down the base lines and his brilliant cross court game weer too much for Shimizu.

It is estimated that the average person speaks about 12,000 words each day.

LACROSSE GAME ENDED IN FIGHT

Havelock - Norwood Were Leading 4-3 When Mix-Up Occurred in Third Period.

ALEX. WEIR HURT

A fistic fracas abruptly ended the the Combines retired from the field, Peterboro and the Havelock-Norwood combines at Riverside Park Thursday afternoon. With the visitors leading by 4 to 3 early in the third period, Irvin Bailey, captain of the Petes, mixed it with Charlie Brennan, and in a flash half a dozen or more of the players were into it with perhaps twenty-five spectators surging around the mill. The flare-up was snuffed out in a few minutes, but Alex. Weir emerged from the melee with an injured shoulder and was taken to the hospital, and with their leader down, the Combines rtired from the field, refusing to return at the referee's call, while the Petes went through the motions of lobbing the ball twice into the deserted Havelock net.

It was an unfortunate ending to a game that opened with flagrant evidences of hostilities that gradually got beyond the control of the referee. Jack Carmichael of Toronto, who accepted a heavy assignment when the O.A.L.A. detailed him to handle these two squads in their third encounter of the season. Neither team was in condition to endure the strenuous demands of lacrosse, and veterans of others days declared that this was a contributing factor to the terminating trouble.

"I don't think there's a man on the field in shape," said one old timer. "Not enough games, not enough practice, no road work and too many of the boys smoking, that's what's wrong with the most of them, both sides. They can't stand ordinary checking and they haven't the wind and endurance, and they get peeved too easily, want to give more than they're willing to take, and the result is scragging and rough stuff."

That about sums up the mood and spirit of yesterday's game, except that it leaves out of the account, the mix-ups in previous encounters, not only of this season but during the last four or five years. And both teams are equally to blame. The curtain-dropping episode at Riverside was a duplicate of the fight in the first game at Norwood, when Ranger and L. Plunkett going after the ball, finally went after each other, and the Norwood crowd and team made the most of the opportunity to stage a riot scene which was fortunately checked in time by Provincial Officer Maker, whose uniform tended to allay the mob passion that had been unloosed. Other unforgotten incidents might be recalled to show that the Petes have run the district gauntlet in several towns, and always finished their games.

But even those old scores do not justify yesterdays happenings, which certainly spoiled the local record of affording a clear field.

Penalties were numerous in the abbreviated encounter, and lovers of lacrosse were disgusted with the displays of temper and the frequent substitutions of winded players. Ankles and legs were the target for swipes that certainly were not legitimate, and most of the checking was crude, Donnybrook stuff. At that, there was a lot of neat field work, but the game was verging toward guerilla warfare when Bailey, after being checked, raced at Charlie Brennan with his fists. Weir sprang toward them. His supporters say he intended to prevent a fight, and he may have, but his rush was not so interpreted by several of the Petes, who ran at him, and then the crowd swarmed around the belligerents.

The whole affair was one of those incidents that have been condemned elsewhere, and deserve condemnation here. The Bailey-Brennan episode could have been properly disposed of by the referee, and is not an unusual happening, but there is no mitigation for the ensuing brawl.

The teams were as follows:

Havelock — Goal, Albert Armstrong; point, C. Brennan; cover point, Hooper; 1st defence, Ted McGee; 2nd defence, Alex. Weir; centre, Kitchen; 2nd home, D. Brennan; 1st home, L. Plunkett; outside home, "Becky" Jack; inside home, Alex. Kempt. Subs. P. Plunkett, B. Darling, G. Rathwell.

Referee—J. Carmichael, Toronto.

The Scoring.

The first period was nearly over before Havelock-Norwood scored the first goal. With Ranger off, Weir intercepted a pass from Dundas, carried the ball beyond midfield and passed to Doug. Brennan, whose shot slipped past J. LeBarr close to one of the goal posts. Brennan repeated on an individual effort, and the period ended 2 to 0 for the visitors.

Bailey started strong in the second and swung around Jim Hooper for a shot that gave Armstrong no chance to stop. LeBarr blocked several, but "Becky Jack" whizzed one into a top corner on a pass from Alex. Kemp. Jack and L. Plunkett combined for the next, Plunkett scoring. Killoran dodged through the Combines defense for Peterboro's second. It was the best play of the game, and Danny White pulled the Petes into a more favorable position by a fine inside home play, but after the half way rest, the game ended suddenly with the visitors retiring, when Weir was hurt.

LEAGUE SOCCER IN SCOTLAND TO START SATURDAY

Season Opens Two Weeks Ahead of English League—Game Takes Precedence.

LANARK MISSING.

Team Has Been in First Division Ever Since the League Was Formed.

GLASGOW, Aug. 14 (Canadian Press)—Saturday first will see the official opening of the Scottish football season, two weeks in advance, as usual, of the game south of the Cheviots, and with the summer pastimes rapidly approaching their end the way is paved for the entry of the "kicking" game. Soccer takes precedence over all other sports in Scotland, with the possible exception of golf, although rugby football has many admirers and not all of these are confined to the colleges and universities. Rugby is the schools' game, but it also is the great sporting activity of the working classes in the industrial border towns, who for many generations have withstood all the blandishments to come into the soccer camp. In Roxburghshire, Berwickshire and Selkirkshire, the three border counties, rugby is a game with a tradition that extends back for nearly a century, while the intrusion of soccer has always been resented—as much almost as the periodical invasion of the border towns by agents from the English Northern Union, who systematically wean the youthful borderers away from the paths of amateur rugby to the lucrative ways of professionalism. The rugby code, however is not due to start until the end of September.

The first division of the Scottish League this season witnesses a notable absentee in Third Lanark—the unfortunate "3rd Lanarkshire Rifle Volunteers," whose game last year was of such an indifferent quality that they were relegated to the second division. The collapse of the Third Lanark — whose tour of the Dominion of Canaad in 1921 must still be fresh in the memory of followers of the Canadian soccer game—is deplored in Scotland for they have been in the first division ever since the league began, and have in their day won both the cup and the league championship. But the downfall of the Cathkin club means the return of Clydebank, whose sojourn in the second string has lasted for one season only. Clydebank, however, are not much of a drawing card, and their presence will not in any way strengthen the senior department.

With the "soldiers" went Ayr United, thus leaving Kilmarnock alone in the field to uphold the honors of that part of the country in the West of Scotland.

The vicissitudes of last season's performances now brings Dundee into fine with the capital city, Edinburgh, inasmuch as each now possesses two clubs in the senior division the jute city with Dundee and Dundee United, the latter winners of the second division last year, and "Auld Reekie" with its age-old representation of heart of Midlothian, denizens of Gorgie Road, and the Hibernians, whose fealty is divided between Edinburgh and its seaport, Leith.

The first division is now fairly evenly split between the east and the west, the proportion being nine to eleven, a situation that will make for greater friendly rivalry.

Outside of these changes, the first division shows no change over the teams of last season. It now remains to be seen whether Rangers, Airdrieonians and Hibernians are going to make it a runaway race again or whether the soccer talent of the country has now become more evenly distributed.

RICKARD STAGES BIGGEST BATTLE IN ALL CAREER

ON THE JOB

Boxing Not Sole Sport to be Given Place in Arena.

By HENRY L. FARRELL
(United Press Sports Editor)

NEW YORK, Aug. 14.—(United Press).—Tex Rickard must have had some thrills when he was the "Mayor" of Nome, running the biggest and the squarest house of chance during the romantic gold rush days of Alaska.

He must have had some excitement when he was riding cattle on the pampas of Argentine behind one of the biggest herds that had ever been assembled.

He must have had some sensations when a California governor ordered him out of the state with the Jeffries-Johnson fight and forced him to take the wild chance of putting on the fight in Reno.

He must have had some satisfied pride when he put over the Dempsey-Carpentier fight, the greatest fistic attraction that has ever been staged after everyone told him that he was insane.

There must have been countless other experiences in the romantic career of Rickard that stirred him to his depths but right here in New York, a tame place for a rugged, rough and ready man, he says he is having his greatest thirll.

You can call at Rickard's office at most any business hour of the day and his secretary will tell you with a sort of a chuckle—"He's down stairs watching the job."

Through sunshine and rain, early in the morning when the whistle blows for the laborers and after they have gone home, Rickard can be found gazing at an immense frame work of steel that is going to be the new Madison Square late this fall.

"I can't get away from this place" Rickard says. "Those steel girders are like chains around my feet. Watching this place go up is the greatest thrill I ever had. It's made me twenty years younger. I feel like I am just starting life. When the new garden opens it will be the happiest day of my life."

Rickard can take pride justly in the monument that is being built to a man who would always take a big chance. He was laughed at when he said he as going to build a palace for sport that would cover two city blocks and would be the greatest structure of its kind in the world.

The old Madison Square Garden that he had been forced to vacate was such a financial white elephant that the owners had to tear it down and erect a huge office building to realize on the investment in the real estate.

Rickard was told that Wall Street never would give him enough money to experiment with such a foolish dream but he went on dreaming and one day he announced that Wall Street would back him to the extent of $4,5000,000.

No one believed him until a gang of wreckers started tearing down the old car barns at 50th Street and 8th Ave. There were still skeptics until a fleet of steam shovels dug a hole in the ground that resembled Panama Canal excavations and the structural iron works started putting up the immense columns for that dream castle.

"Well, Rickard's put over another big long shot," his critics said and they started rooting for him.

The steel work has been completed and the brick work is well under way. The contractors have promised that the building can be opened not later than the first week of December.

"It will not be opened with a boxing show,' 'was the first surprising announcement Rickard made. "I do not want to give any reason for the belief that the new Garden is a boxing arena. Boxing is to be one of our minor enterprises.

"We want to open the Garden with a big charity ball. Every cent that is taken in at the box office will be turned over to deserving charties," he said.

There are to be two levels. The lower level will be fitted up for commercial shows and exhibitions and already 170 days on the 1926 calendar has been reserved. The upper level can be used for boxing, hockey, bike races, horse shows, conventions and the like. The two levels can be used at the same time.

The main arena will seat 27,000 at boxing contests. The original plans called for 26,000 16-inch seats but Rickard decided later on 19-inch leather upholstered chairs and the capacity was correspondingly reduced.

Many novel features will be introduced. A ventilating system, installed at a cost of $125,000 will change the air ten times per minute, it will make smoking possible without discomfort, and will permit the use of the arena in the summer. Rickard plans to have weekly boxing shows all through the summer season next year.

It is undertood that the management of the horse show, one of society's most popular winter events, has signed a ten year agreement and that several other big exhibitions have signed long time contracts. And the circus, of course, will be an annual feature.

NEW YORK, Aug. 14.—(Canadian Press).—Although the best matches of the past fortnight haven't entirely settled the problems of selecting the United States Davis Cup team, it was learned yesterday that the line-up virtually has been decided upon for the challenge round at Philadelphia next month.

EAST CITY STARS WIN FIRST GAME

Defeat Rotary Bantams 8 to 7 in Play-Off Fixture.

The first game of the Bantam play off series went to the Dufferin All Stars when they defeated the Rotary Club by a score of 8 to 7, at the Sacred Heart Grounds last night.

When it is considered that Crary had seventeen strike outs and allowed four hits it might be difficult to understand how he could be the losing pitcher; but coupled with that array was an equalizing number of walks and passed balls, which coupled with timely hits gave the Stars a counter in second, four in the fourth, two in the fifth, and one more in the seventh. The four in the fourth frame resulted from three free tickets, a hit, a sacrifice and a passed ball.

While Armitage pitched steady ball, he was bumped for ten hits and three passes, but his support was good and kept the score depressed until the first of the sixth, when a walk and three hits including a two bag blow, resulting in 4 runs equalized the score at 7 runs each. All Stars came right back with another in their half and the score abided at the figures 8 to 7 for the remainder of the session.

MacDonald was the clouter of the day, smashing out three safe blows including a two bagger in five appearances as his share of the performance, while Cuffe was close on his heels with two, one of which was for two bases. Green of the All Stars did the same stunt.

The managers of both teams did considerable juggling with their players, changing their positions frequently.

Line Up.

Rotary.—Cuthbertson, lf; Dormer, 3b; MacDonald, p, 1b; Cuffe, c, 2b; Howden, cf; Levine, rf; Campaneau, rf; Le Barr, 1b 2b; Roach c; Creighton 2b; Crary p; Perdue ss; Mowry, ss.

CAN. WOOLLENS LOST SOCCER POINT

After a Hard Fought Match They Retired With Two Goals Each.

Last evening at Nicholls Oval, the Canadian Woollens lost a point in the league to the unlucky Quaker Oats who conceded the even goal when Maker scored through his own goal in endeavour to clear. It was one of the best games this season and a good crowd was present.

First Half.

The Quakers opened up at a fast pace but the Woollens nullified their attacks. Then Dyer and Mitchell tested Curtis at the other end, Maker relieving the pressure and gaining offsides decisions to his advantage. The half-backs carried the ball against Woollens full-backs, who were taken by surprise when Willshaw's long drive completely deceived Griffine for the opening goal. Two minutes afterwards, Mitchell evened up the account from a pass by Dyer. An unfortunate goal in favour of the Woollens was scored when Maker put through his own goal. Seige after seige was laid against the goal-keepers who gave a brilliant display in front of a well-balanced combination. Exchanges even in the remaining period although the Quaker's forwards were missing the uprights by inches and Griffine putting up a stalwart defense. Half-time, Woollens 2, Quakers 1.

Half-Time.

On resuming, the Quakers were masters of the situation and bombarded the opponents' citadel without any success because the defense were holding the forwards outside shooting distance. Ultimately, they conceded a flag-kick to Cross who was the most dangerous man when attacking. He placed a perfect corner-kick to Gardner's head that nodded the ball past the goal-keeper for the equalizer. Both elevens were doing their utmost to gain the odd goal. This did not materialize because every player was putting every ounce of good football in himself to gain the full points but they walked off the field on an even basis of one goal each. Woollens 2, Quakers 2.

Woollens—Griffine, goal; Cridland and Hensby, full-backs; Read, Mann and Blowers, half-backs; Clark, Mitchell, Dyer, Hillman and Burgess, forwards.

Quaker Oats—Curtis, goal; Maker and Scott, full-backs; Honor, Maker and T. Williams, half-backs; Cross, Smith, Gardner, Walker and Willshaw, forwards.

Referee, Wm. Rickard.

BASEBALL FEATURED PLAYGROUND PICNIC

About 250 Children Were at the Oval Despite Threatening Weather.

Yesterday afternoon the Oval was thrown open to the children of the city, when the school playgrounds held their annual picnic. The leadened clouds which promised rain, kept many away. However there was a fair number present, totalling about two hundred and fifty.

Ball games were a prominent feature of the programme, not less than three progressing on different parts of the field at the asme time. In these games old rivals met and former arguments as to strength not settled by the games in the league were decided.

The Queen Alexandra junior team beat the central outfit, champions of their groups, 8 to 5 in five innings of fast ball. "Whitie" Whitnell for Queen Alexandra, opposing the diminutive Home, received the better support from his team mates.

The line-up:

Central: Levine c; Yeotes ss; Chester cf; Johnston rf; Widdiss 3b; Bishop 1b; Home p; Armstrong 1b; Clarke 2b.

Queen Alexandra: Dormer 2b; Walton ss; McGee p; Jarvis 3b; Maudsley cr; Wilson lf; Morrison rf; Sturgeon p.

After the ball game and group games for the younger children, all who had brought food sat in a wide circle to eat lunch. It was all washed down by copious draughts of "punch" supplied by the playground committee.

The fancy and needle work finished by the older girls, and the raffia and simple things made by the younger ones were on exhibition. Many of these pieces showed fine and pains taking care and were really excellent examples of what the children accomplish on the playgrounds.

Many of the children from the King Edward playgrounds were conveyed to the Oval by busses.

GORDON CUP FINAL DUMMER V. THISTLE

This is the first season that Dummer has reached the final and they intend carrying back the cup into the township. Every one of their players are ready for the game while many of the Thistle boys are complaining of injuries but expect to have a full team ready for a good cup tie battle.

At the finish, G. N. Gordon, K.C., M.P., will present the trophy to the winners.

KEENE BEAT INDIANS.

Curve Lake Lost By Score of 5-2.

KEENE, Aug. 14.—Curve Lake again defeated Keene at Keene on Monday night, by the score of 5 to 2.

Robertson pitched good ball again, only one earned run being made of his delivery, besides striking out six batters, compared with one for Taylor, pitching for Curve Lake. Keene hit the ball hard but the drives were right at the fielders and Keene lost several chances to score by bad base running and coaching.

Curve Lake also played good ball in the field.

The line up:

Curve Lake—D. Jacobs, 1b; L. McCue, c; R. Muskrat, 3b; W. Jacobs lf; L. McCue, rf; C. McCue, 2b; W. Beaver, ss; M. Taylor, p.

BURNBRAE SUSTAINS ANOTHER BEATING

Weakened Team Contributed Many Errors Toward Own Downfall.

BURNBRAE, Aug. 14—Before the largest crowd of the season, Seymour West handed Burnbrae their second defeat of the season by the score of 10-7 on Wednesday afternoon, at the Agricultural Grounds.

Burnbrae was somewhat handicapped by injuries, F. Little having a sore ankle, affecting his fielding greatly, while Eagleson pitched with a sore arm. Seymour West was at full strength, being much improved by the addition of C. Christie, of Toronto, at first. J. Christie, pitcher, McCann, ss., Armour, catcher, and McArthur, rf, were the other stars on the West side team, while most of the Burnbrae team played a very loose and erratic game; Craighead and Shillinglaw were good in the field.

J. Christie, pitching for Seymour West, fanned seven, walked four, while four Burnbrae men got sacrifice hits and two reached first on errors.

Eagleson, for Burnbrae, fanned eight, walked one, allowed one sacrifice, while four reached first on errors, two on fielders' choice and one on passed ball at the plate.

Wild throws from bases to the plate, coupled with errors, paved the way for most of the Seymour West runs, while Burnbrae got their first two on throws from the plate to second. Burnbrae got four earned runs while Seymour West got five by their own efforts.

Frank Little led at bat for Burnbrae, getting three singles and a sacrifice in four trips to the plate. Rannie and Shillinglaw got a single and double each, Eagleson two singles, Craighead, Hume and Johnson a single each. Craighead counted twice, while Johnson, Eagleson, Hume, Rannie and F. Little got one run each. C. Christie and J. Christie got a double and two singles each, while McCulloch got three singles and first on fielders' choice in four trips. McCann got two singles, while Reynolds, Wood and Atkinson were credited with a single apiece. C. Christie, I. Christie, Wood and McCulloch scored twice each, while Reynolds and McCann scored the other two.

Around The City.

One of the leading business men was proudly conducting a number of guests to various parts of interest in the city. The guests were pronounced in their opinions regarding the beauty of various buildings and parks, and the tour was by way of being a success.

Then the party arrived at the residential section at the western part of the city, and the driver of the car which had been running under the auxiliary cowl lights, switched on the full power of the headlights in order that the charms of the district might be more fully revealed.

The most prominent objects seen were abundant growths of sweet clover which excited the wonderment of the visitors, and caused the driver of the car to switch back to the less-revealing cowl lights. That citizen said, "Something should be done with regard to the weed nuisance."

One-Eyed Cars.

Drivers whose business takes them far from the city are occasioned considerable inconvenience and possible risk by automobiles not legally equipped with two front lights. Inspector Reid says that any cars seen in this condition will be held up and the owners arrested.

Drivers approaching such one-eyed cars have no way of telling which side the light is placed, and when the meeting occurs on a narrow road considerable damage may result as well as loss of life. Drivers of such faultily equipped cars also have a tendency to whizz past other vehicles at a dangerous speed.

Inspector Reid says that it is not necessary for motor vehicles to operate in the city under full headlight illumination but that the cowl lights or dimmers are quite sufficient to suit the exigencies of city driving. This system, if universally adopted, would eliminate danger from glaring headlights and add materially to the comfort of all drivers.

U. S. BREWERIES BUSY.

Real Beer Flows From Supposedly Dry Breweries.

NEW YORK, Aug. 14 (Canadian Press).—Supposedly defunct breweries in New Jersey, Peinnsylvania, Massachusetts and the Middle West are flooding the east with thousands of barrels of real beer, according to prohibition officials.

Three carloads of beer from Pennsylvania seized here yesterday brought the total for last month up to 6,000 barrels with a value of about $100,000 at source, and approximately twice that amount in the bootleg market.

FINANCIAL NEWS.

Smelters and Canada Bread Active On Toronto Market

TORONTO, Aug. 14 (Canadian Press).—With shares to the number of more than thirteen hundred changing hands, Consolidated Smelters continued the active centre of trading on the Toronto Stock Exchange this morning. Smelters today suffered a recession from its advance of yesterday though rallying later to noon close of 117 unchanged. Canada Bread Common provided the feature, selling up to 59 1-2 and closing at 58 5-8 at noon for a net gain of 2 5-8. Bread Pf Preferred gained a half point at 93 3-4. Brazilian and F. N. Burt the other leaders, respectively dropped a quarter and advanced a half. Another noteworthy change was Twin Citys selling down, to a net loss of a point and a quarter.

Capitol and Vipond Made Advances on Mining List

TORONTO, Aug. 14 (Canadian Press).—Trading on the Standard Mining Exchange was very brisk with transactions number 221,025 shares. Capitol advanced a half to 32 1-2 under heavy sales as did also Columbus Kirk at 3. Trading was heavy in Lorrain and McKinley Darragh, both closing unchanged at 8 3-4 and 22 1-2 respectively. Vipond, Castle Tretheway and Mining Corporation each advance 1 point to 121, 93 1-2, and 257 respectively. Kirkland Lake was 1 point higher at 43.

Lower Liverpool Prices Weakened Chicago Wheat

CHICAGO, Aug. 14 (Canadian Press).—Reports on better weather in Europe, together with a break in Liverpool quotations for future delivery gave a sharp early set back to day to wheat prices here. Free selling ascribed to recent speculative buyers accompanied the downward swing of the Chicago market. Purchasing on decline was of a persistent character, but consisted mostly on small lots. The opening, 2 to 3 cents down, Sept. 162 3-8 to 163 and Dec. 160 1-2 and 161 3-4 was followed by a further drop which carried Sept. to 162 and Dec. to 159 5-8. Corn and oats displayed relative strength compared to wheat. As a rule selling of feed grain lacked volume and was confined to pit traders. After opening unchanged to 5-8c off, Sept. 103 1-4 to 103 1-2, the corn market recovered to about the same as yesterdays finish. Oats started at 1-8 to 1-2c lower, Sept. 41 to 41 1-8, and then made rallies.

Hog values higher tended to steady the provision market.

Railway and Mail Order Stocks Active In New York

NEW YORK, Aug. 14 (Canadian Press).—With the technical position of Wall Street market apparently improved by extensive short selling of the last few days operations for the rise were conducted with confidence throughout the morning. Squeezing of shorts in high priced industrials continued. American Can. ing run up to 246 before mid-day; Sears Roebuck jumping 5 1-2 points and U. S. Cast Iron Pipe 5 points. Expectations of large railroad orders next month stimulated buying of equipment shares while mail order stocks continued to reflect reported improvement in agricultural centres. Some of the early strong spots included Coca Cola, Montgomery Ward, New York Dock and White Motors; the last named crossing 97 to a new record top. Call money renewed at 4 per cent.

SPEAKER TELLS OF O.A.C. WORK

A. J. Madill in Interesting Address to Kiwanians at Luncheon.

EXPERIMENTAL FARM.

The Kiwanis luncheon at the Empress to-day was featured by the introduction of a new member in the person of Frank G. Stinson, who is assistant secretary at the Chamber of Commerce. Mr. Stinson was instructed by J. Wells Fraser.

After a discussion relative to the Ottawa convention, the speaker, A. J. Madill, was announced.

Mr. Madill, who is one of the Normal School staff, and as specialist in agriculture, gave a comprehensive report of the work done by the Ontario Agricultural College. He dealt more particularly with the instruction given summer students, who consist mainly of teachers desirous of widening their fund of information along practical lines.

Introductory to his address, Mr. Madill told of the beauties of the College and a history of its advancement architecturally and in the number of pupils annually instructed.

The O.A.C. includes 700 acres, and has been considerably added to since its foundation in 1874. One of the earlier incidents was a students' rebellion because certain privileges were taken from them.

Affected by the arduous field labors, they requested that nourishment should be brought to them at mid-morning and mid-afternoon periods in order that they might be fortified by the toil. This was granted for some time, but a new directorate scrapped the plan, with the result that the student body rose with one accord and protested. Their protest, however, was paid no attention to, and the movement of auxiliary meals slowly died out, although the desire doubtless remained.

Mr. Madill says that the O.A.C. has the finest collection of buildings in the province for an institution of that kind, and that the Memorial Hall recently constructed by funds supplied by old boys is possibly the best in the collection, being ultra modern in architecture and conveniences.

The farms are well stocked, there being a herd of 120 cattle and many pigs, chickens, etc., all of reputable breeds.

The institution of the public school summer course is a comparatively new one, and the adoption now of the privilege warrants its existence. There are special courses for rural leaders and for farm mechanics.

The students' work begins with a study of soil chemistry and the analysing of plant foods, while courses on bacteriological studies, and animal husbandry are given attention.

The work is thoroughly practical, and pupils go into the fields and barns to get their knowledge. Those in first year work cultivate plots and make various collections. The greatest advantage, however, is the meeting of men who are great in agricultural work, and who are constantly cultivating new varieties of grains and animal breeds.

The food provided at the College is pure and wholesome, and has its result in a corresponding scarcity of illness. Games form a great part of the daily routine, and a number of excursions also inject bright spots into the drab field of routine work.

STRONG RIFFIAN POSITION FALLS TO FRENCH WITHOUT A STRUGGLE TRIBESMEN'S MORALE CRUMBLES

Rebel Stronghold So Formidable That French Hesitated to Attack It.

HAVE CLEARED IT.

French Establishing Permanent Defense Line With Spanish Posts.

FEZ, French Morocco, Aug. 15.—(Canadian Press). — Everywhere along the Franco-Riffian fighting front, the situation is excellent for the French, while the Riffian forces appear to be going to pieces according to reports from French sources. Without a struggle the column of Colonel Freydenburg occupied the whole of Dejebal Sarsar position, which was so formidable that the French staff had been hesitating for a fortnight about attacking.

Dejebal Sarsar was the base from which the dissident tribesmen terrorised the tract of country astride Quezzan-Souk-El-Arba highway. The French troops have now completely cleared it and begun to establish a permanent line of defences joining the Spanish line.

Chieftains of the dissident clans in the Ouergha River district have sent a letter to Abd-El-Krim, the rebel leader, to the effect that they are prepared to fight the French if the latter invade them, but are unwilling to take the initiative in hostilities. Abd-El-Krim, in reply, warned the chieftains that he would not tolerate such an attitude, and threatened to punish those who failed to carry on the campaign.

The Riffian war lord told the chieftains that they should be prepared to give full support to his movement, to drive the "infidels" from the country. He said he intended to establish an independent Mussulman nation in North Africa to compete with the whole world. Abd-El-Krim's letter to the chieftains has been reproduced and thousands of copies posted in all mosques in Morocco.

The report that Marshal Petain is returning to Morocco to direct the Franco-Spanish offensive against Abd-El-Krim is said to have shaken the devotion of many of the Moorish chieftains, who have been supporting the Riffian war lord.

DUKE WILL SUE ON FRENCH SIDE

Solicitor Says He Has Established a Domicile in France.

SEEKS DIVORCE.

PARIS, Aug. 15. — (Canadian Press).—The Duke of Manchester, who filed application for divorce at Nice on July 25, insisted yesterday that he is entitled to have his action for divorce tried in the French courts. This statement was in answer to a claim advanced by the Duchess' solicitors in London recently that a divorce by a French court would in no way affect the validity of the marriage of the Duke and Duchess, according to English law.

The Duke's lawyer, Leroy B. Delaney, said last night that the Duke claims domicile in France, and therefore is privileged to file a petition for divorce in the French courts.

The Duke bases his action on grounds of desertion on the part of the Duchess, covering a period of eleven years. Mr. Delaney said:

"There has been no defence such as that alleged recently by the Duchess' solicitors in London, filed to date."

Mr. Delaney confirmed a statement that no divorce has yet been granted to the Duke, but reiterated his client's decision to fight the case through to an end on this side of the Channel.

You will find many things you thought you couldn't afford in the Classified Ads. of the Examiner.

Mink In Store Cause Of Great Commotions

FORT WILLIAM, Ont., Aug. 15. — Canadian Press. — Great excitement was caused in Chaple's department store here yesterday, when a mink, chased by a dog, made a dash into the dry-goods department. The young women clerks leaped to the counter tops. After a few dashes about the place, with the dog in hot pursuit, the mink sped into the show window, and mingled with the display of furs. All efforts of amateur trappers to capture the animal were unavailing, and H. Merrifield, manager of the Chippewa Zoo, had to be called in.

SLEEPING SICKNESS WAS DEATH CAUSE

Mrs. J. P. Morgan Had Been Ill Since June Fourteenth.

GLEN COVE, N.Y., Aug. 15. — (Canadian Press).—Mrs. J. P. Morgan, wife of the international banker, died at noon yesterday in her Long Island home from a "cardiac collapse," after being ill of sleeping sickness for two months.

No relatives were at the bedside. Mr. Morgan, informed at his Wall Street office that his wife was very ill, left before noon by train for Glen Cove. He was met at the station and rushed by automobile to the Morgan country home at Matinecock Point, on East Island, which lies a short distance off the mainland of Long Island. He reached his home three hours after his wife's death.

Guards were at once stationed at the causeway connecting East Island to Long Island, and none but relatives and close friends of the family were allowed to approach the home.

Mrs. Morgan was stricken with sleeping sickness June 14, while attending church services. Several days later it was announced she had passed the crisis, and was steadily improving, but she never entirely emerged from a state of coma.

Block Dance Given On New Country Highway

BROCKVILLE, Aug. 15. — (Canadian Press). Block dances held at the opening of new pavements are by no means a novelty but the members of the Women's Institute at the Blue Church, eight miles east of here, on the Provincial highway, furnished one when they held a dance on a section of the highway in the open country, which has recently been resurfaced.

About 200,000 textile workers in Yorkshire are affected.

ROADS LIKE CHEMONG HIGHWAY NO ENCOURAGEMENT TO TOURIST TRAFFIC WORTH THE WHEAT CROP

Suburban Area Commission Has Reduced Maintenance of Chemong Road to Only Necessary Work—Expect Department to Assume It.

PAVING ESTIMATES VARY FROM $35,000 TO $40,000 A MILE, CITY PAYING A THIRD

The ratepayers who are in favor of paving the Chemong Road appear to regard that question as a business proposition pure and simple, and not one which if given effect would benefit any particular class in the community. Naturally there is a wide difference of opinion as to the kind of paving to be used, the cost of the same, as well as the cost of maintenance, as compared to what is spent on the road now from year to year to keep it open for traffic.

A public official, who is regarded as an authority on the cost of building and maintaining roads, says that the highway to Chemong could not be paved with concrete for less than from $35,000 to $40,000 a mile. Of this amount the city and county would each pay 30 per cent., and the province the balance.

Peterboro is the only county in the province that has refused to accept the revised schedule of the Department of Highways for county and township roads. By that schedule the county road mileage was to be reduced to 170 miles, the remainder to be turned back to the various township. If the County Council would accept these conditions the grant by the province for county roads would be increased to 50 per cent. leaving the city and county to contribute 25 per cent. each. This increased grant would apply to the Chemong and other suburban area roads.

AN EXPERT'S FIGURES OF PAVING COST

John Carroll, the paving contractor, whose work on the city streets is the best testimony to his efficiency and reliability, says that he would take a contract to pave the Chemong Road with concrete, supplying all material himself, for $2.25 a yard. This figure works out at exactly $23,760 a mile. Mr. Carroll's estimate is for a roadway 18 feet wide, space enough to make traffic safe. He adds that the maintenance of the road would not exceed $100 a year. All that would be necessary would be to fill up any cracks that appeared on the surface.

PRESENT MAINTENANCE

In 1924 the amount spent by the Suburban Area Commission for the maintenance of the Chemong Road was about $250 a mile. This year nothing but what was absolutely necessary has been done on it, as the Commission have been expecting that the Department would take over that part of it that lies between the city and the Fourth Line—4 miles—such highway to be extended from that point to Lindsay. Even at that, it is necessary to have work done on it with a man and a team after every heavy rainfall, but in a day or two there is as much dust blowing, as many holes in the surface as ever.

WHY NOT GRAVEL?

A citizen who owns a cottage at Chemong Lake believes that a gravel surface on the thoroughfare to that resort would be sufficient; this to be given a coat of Tarvia and oil, the same as the highway between the city and Springville. The cost of such a roadway would not exceed six or seven thousand dollars a mile. There is plenty of gravel along the road.

In this connection Commissioner Gainey says that the Suburban Commission got an estimate on what it would cost to surface a gravelled roadbed with oil and Tarvia, and the figures quoted were $1,000 a mile.

NOT MOVING A HAND

The same citizen who favors a gravel roadway says that one estimate of the value of the total wheat crop in the Dominion of Canada is $352,000,000. Although it is likely to far exceed that. American tourists he says, spent that amount of money in this country last year.

The farmer goes to a heavy outlay in order to secure a crop of wheat. He must fertilize his fields, spend money for machinery, pay for labor and then run the risk of losing his crop by storm or by the ravages of insects. Wheat does not grow of itself like the weeds.

The American tourists come here with very little persuasion. If they find that condition are as represented, they are almost sure to come again. There is no better inducement than good roads to bring the tourists to a community. Peterboro County has attractions unexcelled for summer tourists. In spite of this fact, the City of Peterboro is not lifting so much as a finger to bring American visitors to our lake regions. Unlike the wheat farmers, they are making no effort to secure a share of the golden harvest.

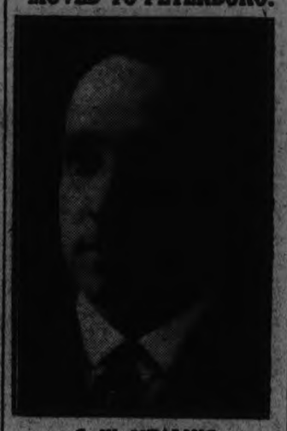
AS TO THAT ROAD

This citizen says that a highway such as the Chemong Road is sufficient to turn the tourist away from this community in the future. It is one of the worst advertisements the district could have. The farmers object to the clouds of dust that blow from the road over their growing crops, but the only way in which this can be stopped is to pave the highway.

ROAD NEEDS DRAINAGE

W. H. Bradburn, M.L.A., says the Chemong Road requires levelling and good drainage most of all. If these improvements were made, he believes at satisfactory roadbed could be made with gravel and Tarvia, but the upkeep would be heavier than if concrete were used. It is in vain to attempt to get a solid foundation for a roadbed unless there is proper drainage.

MOVED TO PETERBORO.



C. W. MEALING

Announcement has just been made of the appointment of Mr. C. W. Mealing to the position of manager of the Ordinary Branch of the London Life Insurance Company at Peterborough. Richman, who is manager of the Company Industrial Branch at this point.

PAL OF GERALD CHAPMAN SLAYS INFORMER AND WIFE WHO CAUSED ARREST OF FAMOUS MAIL ROBBER

"Dutch" Anderson, Who Escaped When Chapman Was Caught, Wreaks Vengeance.

AT MUNCIE, INDIANA.

Anderson Identified in Ante-Mortem Statement By Man He Shot.

MUNICE, Ind., Aug. 15.—(Canadian Press).—Ben Hance and his wife were shot to death here late yesterday afternoon by a man whom Hance identified shortly before his death as George ("Dutch") Anderson, companion of Gerald Chapman, notorious mail robber, who is now under death sentence in the Connecticut State Prison for the murder of a New Britain coon police officer. Anderson escaped with Chapman from the Federal penitentiary at Atlanta, Ga., where he was serving sentence for robbing United States mail.

Gerald Chapman's pal last night wreaked vengeance on the informer who caused the arrest, last January, of the notorious mail robber.

While Chapman and Anderson were in hiding at Hance's home last winter from Atlanta Penitentiary officials and New York detectives, Hance informed police authorities and Chapman was captured.

Anderson was not trapped when the detectives closed in on Chapman last January, and had kept himself safely hidden until last night.

Charles ("One Arm") Wolfe, one of the companions of George ("Dutch") Anderson, was captured by local police at 10.20 last night driving through this city.

Dog With Note Brings Aid To Victim of Fall in Alps

GENEVA, Aug. 15.—A Swiss named Champod, while climbing with a fox terrier in the Diableters Mountain region of the Bernese Alps the other day, fell down a steep slope and broke his leg. Unable to move and knowing he would be frozen to death if he spent the night in the open, Champod decided to communicate with his relatives by means of his dog.

He wrote in pencil a note describing the accident and the exact spot on the mountainside where he was stranded and asked his sons to bring a stretcher and hot drinks. He placed the note in a handkerchief, which he tied around the neck of the terrier and ordered it home.

The dog at first would not leave the spot, but when the master threw stones at him and pointed to the valley the animal seemed to understand and ran down. A few hours later Champod's sons, who got the note, arrived with a stretcher and the victim was carried to the valley, where his dog, barking with joy, was the first to greet him.

DOVER, England, Aug. 15 (Canadian Press).—Passing Dover at 10 o'clock yesterday evening the United States Shipping Board steamer Aquarius signalled that all was well with the East Goodwin lightship, with which she came into collision yesterday during a fog. The Aquarius reported that she had stood by the lightship until tugs arrived on the scence to ascertain the damage caused by the collision. This was difficult owing to the heavy fog still prevailing, but it appeared to be slighter to both vessels.

CHINESE EATING GRASS AND BARK

Drouth in Kweir Chow Province Creating Famine and Suffering.

RICE DRYING UP.

PEKING, Aug. 15. — (United Press.)—While famine and drouth wither the district, inhabitants of Kwei Chow province are eating grass, tree mark and roots, according to advices to the China International Famine Relief Commission here.

The next harvest is endangered by the drouht. Bishop Seguin writes here that the situation is "truly frightful," causing suffering among peasants, workers, mechanics, small merchants and similar groups, who are receiving a limited amount of money and rice.

The recent anti-foreign incidents along the coast appear to have driven the laborers from their work, and large areas remain uncultivated. In many places rice plants are drying up for lack of irrigation.

PRIZE WINNING PONY TO PRINCE

Gift From City of Montevideo as Souvenir of His Visit.

ROYALLY FETED.

MONTE VIDEO, Aug. 15—(United Press).—The Prince of Wales today possesses a prize-winning pony, the gift of Monte Video to him in honor of his visit here.

This token is a tangible memento of a welcome as warm and enthusiastic as this youthful royal globe trotter has encountered anywhere. The Uruguayan metropolis has opened its heart and doors to him, and the throngs which greeted him on his arrival yesterday are still present to shout him greetings.

The gift pony was presented to him in the course of his visit to the cattle show. Visiting the sheds where the huge specimens of the River Plate's famed cattle were displayed, the Prince was the centre of a human storm, for the crowds pushed into the exhibition hall to be sure they had a glimpse of him before he should depart.

His stay in Monte Video is crowded with sight-seeing and hospitality. Last night, after a day of military reviews, receptions and inspections, he was the guest of honor at a banquet in the Government House, and later went to the Grand Opera, where the wealth and beauty of the metropolis were gathered.

KLAN MEETING.

One of the Two Organizations Meets Sunday.

The Ku Klux Klan of the British Empire tacked up bills about the city last night announcing a public meeting in Victoria Park Sunday afternoon at three o'clock, and although it is alleged that the Ku Klux Klan of Canada's members tore down the placards the meetings will be held as advertised.

There were rumors this morning of the possibility of open friction between the two organizations, but as they have both been proclaiming their undying support of the principle of free speech it is generally accepted that the Victoria Park assembly would not offer the special attraction of overt acts. The rumors went so far as to tell of a request to Toronto for twenty-five special constables, according to one report, but it was thought that the informant had been badly hoaxed. In other words someone had been "kidding" him.

UNLOVED MAIDS DIE IN VOLCANO

Three Japanese Women Preferred Death to Spinsterhood—In Early Twenties.

TOKIO, Aug. 15. — (Canadian Press).—When a young woman in Japan passes marriageable age without having acquired a husband, it is tragedy.

Recently, three Japanese women who believed they were on the verge of spinsterhood, went to the Asama Volcano and, bidding farewell to a world that did not appreciate them, leaped to death, in the flaming crater.

They were Takeni Kobayashi, 25; Shika Sema, 24; and Kiyo Maruyama, 23. A police investigation disclosed that they had become despondent at the prospect for loveless lives.

COMING WEEK PROMISES TO BE ACTIVE ONE IN GOVERNMENTAL CIRCLES; MUCH BUSINESS IS ON

Hon. P. C. Larkin is Returning From London To-day.

CABINET TO MEET.

Premier Dunning is Still in Ottawa—No Decision on Election Yet.

OTTAWA, Aug. 15.—(Canadian Press).—With the Canadian High Commission to London arriving in Ottawa to-day, with the Dominion Prime Minister and the Premier of Saskatchewan engaged in conversations looking to the entrance of Mr. Dunning into the Dominion Cabinet and with a full meeting of the Cabinet summoned for Monday, the coming week promises to be an active one in Governmental circles. Premier King has gone to Quebec to meet Mr. Larkin, and will return with him to-day, when they will proceed to the Premier's country home for the week-end. They will be in Ottawa for the Cabinet meeting, however, and it is probable that Mr. Larkin will make a report on conditions overseas and the work of the departments which come under his direction.

The matter of overshadowing importance at present is the decision in regard to dissolution and a general election; hand in hand with it goes the question of Cabinet reorganization, and it is in this connection that the continued presence of Premier Dunning in the capital, gains its importance. Premier Dunning, it is understood, has been given the opportunity of entering the Government as Minister of Immigration, a portfolio which will become vacant when Rt. Hon. W. S. Fielding resigns and Hon. J. A. Robb becomes Minister of Finance, but neither Premier King nor Premier Dunning will give an inkling of what has passed between them or whether any conclusion has been reached. Any announcement will probably await the decision in regard to an early election.

Although Premier King's decision on the election question may be made earlier—and it is even suggested that is made now—there is a feeling that no public statement on the matter will be given out before the return of the Governor-General next month. The feeling now is that the Premier will ask for dissolution, and that an appeal to the country will be made late in October or early in November. It would, of course, be preceded by Cabinet reorganization and the filling of a large number of vacancies which have accumulated over a long period.

Hon. Charles Stewart, Minister of the Interior, who was appointed a delegate to the League of Nations, remains in Canada at any rate until things are cleared up. If the call is for an election, he will probably stay here, leaving Canada's representation in the hands of Hon. R. Dandurand, now in Europe, and Hon. P. C. Larkin, who, it is expected, will return after a short holiday on this side.

Band's Lawn Social

The Northumberland Regiment Band will hold a Lawn Social on Monday evening, August 17, on the Grounds of St. John's Church. If the weather is unfavorable the entertainment will be held on the following Tuesday evening.

The Band will be assisted in furnishing a fine musical programme by the Citizens' Band of Frankford, consisting of 20 pieces and by the Blue Orchestra of Campbellford. Refreshments will be sold on the grounds.

Admission: Adults 25 cents; Children, 15 cents.

The public can best show its appreciation of the excellent public service rendered by the Band and of its value as an advertising asset to the town by a liberal patronage of this entertainment.

Tonsorial Price War Gives Cheap Hair Cut

KIRKSVILLE, Mo., Aug. 15. — (United Press).—The cheapest thing a man can do here is get his hair cut.

A member of the Barbers' Union was expelled recently and began operating a shop, charging twenty-five cents for a hair cut and twenty cents for a shave. Then the war started.

The union barbers have gone him one better and cut their prices to fifteen cents. Meanwhile Kirksville citizens bask in the realization that it is indeed "an ill-wind that blows nobody good."

TRENT LACROSSE JUNIORS WON 7-3

Campbellford-Hastings Beat Havelock, Norwood and Marmora.

CAMPBELLFORD, Aug. 15.—Outplaying their rivals in the first and last period, the Campbellford-Hastings Combines gained a four goal lead on the Havelock-Norwood-Marmora Combines in a Junior O.A.L.A. game, played here yesterday afternoon, the score was 7 to 3.

The game was delayed by a heavy shower which left the grass slippery and the players had difficulty holding their feet; as a result, many well meant passes went astray.

Another factor was the lack of condition, of both squads. Lack of practice was also noticeable in the play of both teams and the snappy and accurate passing and shooting of the youngsters, was not much in evidence. "Huck" McArthur played his usual good game and was easily the best man on the field. Cochane wasn't far behind him in effectiveness and this pair kept the Havelock-Norwood sharpshooters out of scoring range and also found time for a jaunt into enemy territory quite often, McArthur scoring a goal and giving the pass for another, while Cochrane also bulged the twine, but it was disallowed, Vic. being inside the crease when he shot. Freddie Ingram was given the task of keeping Jack off the score sheet and he did it to the King's taste, the Havelock star failing to find the net during the game.

Harry Ingram was good in spots, as was Ibey, but both boys showed lack of practice and condition.

The only Hastings addition to the Trent Combines, Joe Gould, showed some clever stick handling. Jack, Kitchen, Plunkett and Davidson were best for the railroaders.

The Teams.

Campbellford - Hastings. — Fox, goal; McArthur, point; Cochrane, cover point; F. Ingram, 1st defence; Flint, 2nd defence; Ibey, centre; Gould, 2nd home; Blake, 1st home; H. Ingram, outside; Parsons, inside; Bland and Bush, subs.

Refree—Jack Nesbitt, Campbellford.

WHEAT EXPORT LESS LAST YEAR

Little More Than Half the Quantity Exported in Previous Year.

HIGHER PRICE PAID.

OTTAWA, Aug. 15.—(Canadian Press).—Exports of Canadian wheat for the twelve months ended July 31 last amounted to 146,958,158 bushels, valued at $296,979,571. For the same period ending July 31, 1924, total exports were 292,425,153 bushels, with a valuation of $296,274,446.

Exports to the United Kingdom, Canada's biggest wheat buyer, during the twelve-month period, show a great reduction when comparison is made with the preceding twelve months. For the twelve months ended July 31 last, exports of wheat to the United Kingdom totalled 115,774,595 bushels, valued at $178,896,383. A year ago, exports to the United Kingdom totalled 200,832,557 bushels, valued at $200,890,260. Of the total quantity exported to the United Kingdom during the twelve months just ended, 74,815,710 bushels went through the United States and 40,958,885 bushels through Canadian seaports.

The statement issued by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics show total exports to the United States during the twelve months ended July 31 last of 3,171,426 bushels, valued at $4,514,615, as compared with 22,040,584 bushels valued at $20,802,353 in the preceding twelve-month period. Exports to "other countries" during the twelve months just ended amounted to 28,012,117 bushels, with a value of $43,568,573. In the preceding twelve months, wheat to the extent of 69,552,012 bushels valued at $74,581,833 was exported to "other countries."

OBITUARY.

FUNERAL OF LATE GEORGE SMITH

CAMPBELLFORD, Aug. 15—The funeral of the late George Smith which was held on Friday from his late residence, Front St., and which was accorded military honors was very largely attended showing the esteem in which the deceased was held. The returned men of the district under Major Bygott, Capt. Hyland and Lieut. Free turned out in large numbers to honour the memory of the deceased while the Northumberland Regiment Band rendered very softly the "Dead March" and the Last Post was sounded by Mr. Walter Lowe. The pall-bearers, all members of St. John's Choir of which the deceased was a valued member were: Dr. H. O. Richardson, Messrs. Collison, J. H. Bell, L. O. Pearse, George Lucy, A. I. Bonney. The floral tributes were numerous and beautiful. The service was conducted by Rev. C. Fy McIntosh, associate pastor of St. John's Church of which the deceased was always a faithful worker in Sunday School and choir, assisted by Capt. Fisher of the Salvation Army.

Besides his sorrowing wife and three children, Leonard, Mary and George, the deceased leaves to mourn his loss his mother and four sisters: Mrs. H. Hargreaves, Mrs. Stanley Almond, Mrs. C. Mercer and Miss Ada, all of Preston, England, also two brothers, Edward of Toronto and William of the United States.

The town extends its most sincere sympathy to the family in their sudden bereavement.

Mr. Edward Smith and son Mr. George Smith of Toronto and Mr. and Mrs. C. Gadd of Peterboro attended the funeral.

A COMMUNITY LOSS.

Peterboro is the loser by the passing yesterday of Mrs. Elizabeth Kendry, a citizen who had constantly during a very long residence here interested herself in many movements that had as their origin a desire to serve others.

Of her good qualities it is scarcely necessary for the Examiner to speak; they were known to the very large circle of friends and acquaintances of Mrs. Kendry throughout the city and district.

A faithful worker in church and social service activities, she was not satisfied that she was doing her full duty in undertaking the labours that were hers because of these connections; on the contrary, she, on her own account, held out a helping hand to many who needed assistance, and the full record of her philanthropic efforts will probably never be compiled, although it is engraved in the hearts of those who have best reason to remember.

There will be genuine regret at the passing of such an estimable and useful citizen.

MUSIC AT THE FAIR.

Plans under consideration by the management of the Peterboro Industrial Exhibition to have some of the bands from district centres give programmes during the Exhibition are along right lines.

To have such bands come here for the Fair would be an excellent thing for the Exhibition and for the bands.

In small centres the village band is an institution that struggles along in the face of great difficulties, albeit that the community usually takes an enthusiastic interest in the organization.

It will be an inspiration to the smaller bands of this district to be invited to take a part in the programme of Peterboro's big Exhibition, and the visit would do much to increase the pride of their fellow-townsmen in the bands and to develop an espirt de corps among the members.

Incidentally, Peterboro is to have plenty of music during the Fair, for in addition to the local bands and the district organizations that are to be invited, the famous Al. Sweet's Singing Band, an attraction of unusual magnitude, has been engaged, and something new in music is to be expected from that organization.

Day by day, in every way, Peterboro's Exhibition looks better and better.

A BRIGHT OUTLOOK.

The earlier optimistic predictions regarding Canada's field crops seem to be justified, and even at the most conservative estimate the position of the farmer promises to be materially improved.

One caculation places the value of this year's crop at nearly four hundred million dollars more than that of 1924.

In other words, there will be an average increase of $6.00 for every family engaged in agriculture in the Dominion.

Other estimates are lower than this, but the most pessimistic expert places the increase in value as one hundred millions more than last year, so that it seems justifiable to expect that there will be considerably more money for the farmers of this country to spend.

Such a condition surely cannot fail to have a magical effect upon industry and business in general throughout the country.

Industrial cities like Peterboro should soon feel the beneficial result of this combination of banner crops and good prices, and there is every reason for looking ahead with cheerful confidence, judging by the tone of all the predictions.

CANOEING IN CANADA.

The Natural Resources Intelligence Service of the Federal Department of the Interior has issued a most attractively illustrated little pamphlet, entitled "Canoeing in Canada," the mere reading of which would make any one with red blood want to go right out and take the water trail.

Nothing more likely to appeal to those who love the outdoors has been issued by the department.

An extract will illustrate:

"To one there comes the strong appeal of imagination in following routes of the historic explorer; others find delight in the constant change of beautiful scenery, the forest-clad heights, the rocky moss-covered cliffs, the varying shades of colour; to others angling brings enjoyment, or the pleasure of paddling on wind-swept waters—each to his own taste finds treasures in the canoe-land of the north."

The National Resources Intelligence Service is to be congratulated upon this splendid booklet, which effectively brings out what Canada has to offer to those who want to get away from the dust and heat and noise of the city.

Readers of the Examiner will be interested in knowing that maps and details of various canoe routes are supplied on request by the Service.

OLD KING COAL.

When the development of electrical power began to receive attention, and its possibilities were canvassed, there were those who confidently declared that the vexed problem of heating was all but solved, says the Ottawa Journal. As it was predicted that the motor car would in time exterminate the horse, so it was forecasted that eventually electricity would eliminate coal as a fuel.

But though wonders have been accomplished by the practical application and adjustment of electrical energy to the needs of humanity, the "black jewel," which warms hearth and home and turns the wheels of industry, is, like the noble steed, still with us, and, indeed, was never more in evidence than it is now. Always a factor of importance in the economy of nations, its omnipotence has been strikingly emphasized within the past few years, and still more impressively within the past few weeks.

What at one time was a very ordinary item in the household bill of expenses has become a luxury. What used to be regarded by the manufacturer as a unit of comparative insignificance, is now a prime factor in the general cost of production. In Canada, particularly, the significance of coal is increasingly emphasized. Winter after winter, her people are haunted by the spectre of a shortage, which threatens the very life of the country, and seems to become more menacing as the years roll on without any real or definite promise of relief from its terrors. In the coal fields, at home and abroad, spells of peace are interrupted by disputes and strikes that lessen production, increase the price of fuel to the consumer, paralyze industry, and inflict misery and suffering upon untold numbers of people.

How all-powerful King Coal is, recent events have demonstrated in three different countries. In Canada, a whole Province was threatened with disaster and ruin; people starved, blood was shed and a Government went down to defeat, while the rest of the country was kept in a state of agitation for months because of a situation arising out of the coal that lay unworked in the mines of Nova Scotia. In England, the threatened stoppage of the coal industry brought about one of the gravest industrial crises in her history, from which she was relieved only by drastic action on the part of the Government; and now the United States is confronted with a situation somewhat similar and not less serious in its possible consequences.

It all goes to show that old King Coal is a troublesome old soul, very much to be reckoned with in an age of falling dynasties and tottering thrones; and the worst of it is that there seems no sure way of getting rid of his tyrannical sovereignty, or even of curbing it.

A NATIONAL OUTLOOK.

Mr. R. E. Howe of Westmount, Que., Vice-President of the Canadian Teachers' Federation, says the fostering of a national outlook upon the part of the citizens of the Dominion is the greatest objective that the federation can set for itself. Mr. Howe feels that nothing can be done in the way of changing the outlook of our adult population, but opines that the teachers must endeavor to educate the children nationally instead of provincially. Bringing the various parts of our country into a closer relationship and better understanding than in the past can only be done through the children, Mr. Howe believes.

This is a satisfactory ideal, but the Star does not agree with Mr. Howe that nothing can be done in the way of changing the outlook of adults. The fact is that much has already been done and more is being accomplished in this way every year.

Various factors are responsible. The spread of newspaper reading and the desire of better newspapers to correctly interpret and publish complete information and news concerning parts of the country other than their immediate own, form a combination that has helped a good deal.

Coming down to recent happenings, the election of a large group of Progressive members to the House of Commons has not been without its important effects. As the Border Cities Star said the other day, if the Progressive members have accomplished nothing else they have at least served to focus the attention of the East on things Western and to bring to the East a keener realization of the problems, claims and aspirations of that great section of the Dominion.

Still another factor is the Bonne Entente movement as between Ontario and Quebec. The leading men of these two great Provinces have exchanged cordial visits, and the results have been highly gratifying. Many a visitor to Quebec on these excursions has returned to confess an entirely new view of people and affairs in the lower Province. And in the same way, no doubt, many a French-Canadian has secured quite a different opinion of the customs, feelings and attitude of Ontario. In this connection it will be noted that a large party of prominent French-Canadians, headed by Mr. Henri Bourassa, will visit Ontario—including the Border Cities—next week. Last year Mr. Bourassa conducted a Quebec party on a tour through the Maritimes. These excursions cannot but be productive of increased good feeling and the strengthening of the national outlook stressed by Mr. Howe in his address to the teachers in Toronto.

Last spring, also, it will be recalled, an enterprising Saint John newspaper sent members of its staff through various Provinces of the Dominion to preach the gospel of "Maritime rights," or, in other words, to tell the people of the rest of Canada just what the Provinces of Nova Scotia, New Brunswick and Prince Edward Island are doing, what they have to contend with and what co-operation they believe is necessary from the rest of Sanada to improve conditions in the Atlantic region.

No doubt some readers of the Border Cities Star have been surprised, at times, to see a great deal of space devoted to Western grain conditions, market stories, explanations of the wheat pool and other matter of this kind. In years gone by, the average Easterner took a very slight interest—if, indeed, he took any—in Western agricultural reports. To him, the West was a vague and far away proposition that had little or no bearing on his own affairs or fortunes. But people have come to see things in another light. Most of us now appreciate the fact that Canada cannot be prosperous unless the West is prosperous. Consequently we are keeping a closer watch on Western marketing plans. If the farmers' wheat pool, a great co-operative scheme, is a success—and there is no doubt on that score—the East will secure a definite and direct benefit. We are all interested, then, or should be, in this and every other plan that may be introduced for bettering conditions on the Prairies. —Border Cities Star.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

Have you written your friends about the Peterboro Industrial Exhibition yet?

With every citizen a press agent for the Fair, new records could be expected this year.

As the Financial Post sees it, if there is not going to be an election this fall a lot of politicians will have wasted some perfectly good speeches.

Just in case it has been overlooked by the authorities, the Provincial highway between Peterboro and Port Hope is sadly in need of attention.

Hosiery colours are to be standarized by the Canadian manufacturers. No attempt, of course, will be made to extend the standarization to the fillers.

From Reading, Mass., comes the story of troops being called out to quell a Ku Klux Klan riot. Should we invite that sort of thing to Canada?

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE.

To the Editor of The Examiner:

Sir,—The Right Hon. Arthur Meighen has not yet secured a constituency. When asked this week if he was to stand for Portage La Prairie, he said he would leave it to the party there. Now why not invite him to Peterborough?

INQUIRER.

To the Editor of The Examiner:

Sir,—At last modernism has got into the press. The very extensive article in the Examiner of Wednesday sets out the doubts of Holy Scripture hitherto found only in books and in the colleges of our ministry. The Protestant churches have for ministers men who to the extent of 75 per cent. of the ministry no longer believe the Bible to be the word of God. It is in the Old Testament at any rate made up of Hebrew folk lore, myths and mistranslations. The most extraordinary fact about this Higher Criticism as it is called, is that hereafter if people choose to think religion just a lot of ancient yarns they are at liberty to do so.

How do Protestant churches expect to continue under these circumstances? What faith can anybody have in ministerial talks about a future life? The great revelation of God to man, called the Bible, falls to the ground. If one part of the Bible is untrue what guaranty is there that any other part is true? Protestant christianity is based on the Bible only, and with the Bible exploded, Protestantism must disappear. Our churches will gradually turn into lecture halls and places of entertainment.

But those who persist in believing that God did send a message to man, and that the Bible is His word, will go somewhere else. A mighty change is coming over the people and a great revolution is upon us.

A PROTESTANT READER.

To the Editor of The Examiner:

Sir:

As your readers are aware I have been writing upon the coming of Modernism in religion for some years. At last it has come. The Union Theological Seminary has issued its attack upon the Bible. It charges that the story of the creation is just a Hebrew concoction of childish folklore. It admits that the new or "modern"s view upsets Pauline theology but it avers that Christ remains untouched, although Christ referred to the Old Testament, not as the Modernists do, but as an authentic account of the words of God. Hitherto the Bible has been regarded by believers as the inspired message of God to man. The Union Theological Seminary and most of the Protestant clergy say that this view so long preached and believed in can no longer be upheld. But the action of the Modernists goes much deeper. It goes to the root of inspiration itself. It claims the right to say what is from God and what is not. It sets itself up as the source of knowledge and therefore of faith. According to it we must henceforth take our religion from the pulpit and not from the Bible direct. The moment that we admit that faith depends, not upon the direct message of God to man, but upon scholarship, we admit that God is and was not speaking to us and that we must look elsewhere than to God for information regarding what God wishes us to believe and do. In other words, our hope of Heaven depends upon scholarship. Now very few people will be content to take their faith from the Protestant clergy. Hence those who wish to retain the old faith in the Bible as the word and message of God to man will ask their ministers which view they take, the old or the new, and if they say the new then these people will see that scholarship is no sufficient substitue for the old faith and will demand that the pulpit be purged of its Modernists and that the old faith be preached as before. The attack on the Old Testament introduced by The Union Theological Seminary is launched on the grounds that it is incredible. This view assumes that man has a right to say what he will believe and what he will not believe. Such a religion as that takes the authority of God entirely away and puts it in the hands of man. Such a religion will not appeal to the people and it will fall down with a crash, leaving Protestants gasping amidst the ruins of their faith, brought about by Theological seminaries following in the wake of the old sceptics who professed the very same views. Whether this generation will see a restoration of peace in the church is doubtful but in any event it must be clear to any thinking man or woman that a religion that depends upon scholarship is no religion at all. The old believers who feel that they are in touch with God and believe that God has given them the truth direct can never relinquish that view and rely upon modern scholarship instead. This resolution in church matters has been coming for years, at first slowly, but at last quickly and the open claim of the Theological colleges now made throws down the gage of battle to the old believers. For some time it has been plain that people have been looking to themselves more and more and this, combined with scholarship, has pretty nearly ruined the old dependence upon God, without which there can be no true faith in God. The whole question turns upon belief in the direct revelation of Himself and His purpose by God to Man. Of these is no such revelation but only such as scholarship can set up and approve, then it is clear that we can have no sure and certain "hope" of anything let alone "a glorious resurrection."

TORONTO CATTLE

TORONTO, Aug. 15.—Common and unfinished stock met with a very poor reception on the cattle market this week, with the packers receiving heavy supplies of cheap cattle from the west. There were some 45 carloads received. Monday nights holdover was 2,000 head and the trade on Tuesday and Wednesday was decidedly slow with only the best moving. The feeling is that prices will have to be materially reduced before the market will be cleaned up.

Choice export cattle met with good active trading this week. Some 1,400 finished steers, 172 stores, 40 bulls and 40 heifers left for overseas this week. Rogers and Maybee bought about 1,000 head for export. The top price for steers was $8.60, with the bulk from $7.75 to $8.40.

Notwithstanding the slow market for common stuff the demand for well finished stock was good and packers paid as much or more for the better grade animals than last week.

Choice butcher steers and heifers held steady with last week, selling from $7.75 to $8 for steers and $7 to $7.75 for heifers.

There were not enough baby beeves on the market to supply the trade and as a consequence prices which were at $11 top on Monday increased to $11.50 for a few fancies on Tuesday.

Springers and milkers were unchanged. The demand was fair and the steers sold from $4.50 to $5.50, with the heifers from $3.75 to $4.50.

Choice veal calves met with good trade. Monday and Tuesday top calves were 10 cents, with a few fancy up to 11 cents.

The hog market, which was unsettled in the earlier part of the week, cleared up by Thursday and prices were $13.75 off cars for thick smooths and $15.08. Thursday's light offerings were selling steady.

MONTREAL PRODUCE

MONTREAL, Aug. 15 (Canadian Press):—The export trade in Canadian grain on the Montreal market yesterday was moderately active and considerable business was transacted with United Kingdom and United States buyers. The market for spot supplies of oats was active and steady.

The feature of the flour situation was the heavy buying by American buyers of Winter wheat grades. The heavy purchasing is attributed to the keen demand from abroad and as fast as the United States interests are buying they are arranging it for export. Prices were firm. There was little change in the spring wheat flour market, sales being normal and a good cable demand was in evidence.

There was a good demand for millfeed. Cable orders were plentiful and the home trade was fairly brisk. The tiend was steady. Extreme dullness marked the trade in rolled oats.

The local butter market was again strong, the good foreign demand compensating for the fairly quiet home trading. Receipts of butter were 6,152 as compared with 5,019 on the previous day and 6,909 on the same day a year ago. Prices were unchanged.

The receipts of cheese yesterday were 16,670 as compared with 11,292 on Thursday and 8,874 on the same day a year ago. Trading in cheese in the local market was a little better and fairly good for the time of the year. There was a moderate export demand an dthe home selling was fair. At the United Dairymen Co-operative sale here yesterday, 1,075 packages of No. 1 white were offered, 21 5-16c per lb. being bid. The same price was also bid for No. 1 colored, of which there were 1,091 packages, but there were no sales of either lot. Prices in the general trading were unchanged, No. 1 white and colored selling at 22 1-4c per lb.

No change was reportd in the egg situation, and there was little hope of there being any change while the hot weather lasts. Prices were unchanged. Receipts of eggs were 1,596 as compared with 1,603 on the previous day and 2,151 on the same day last year.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, Aug. 15 (Canadian Press).—With wheat from the new Canadian crop beginning to arrive in Winnipeg and with better weather in Europe, the wheat market here gave way yesterday under heavy selling. On somewhat light transactions, wheat closed unsettled, 3 1-8 to 4 5-8 cents net lower, Septembr $1.60 1-2 to $1.60 5-8 and December $1.5 3-4 to $1.58 7-8; with corn unchanged to 1 1-8 cents higher; oats 3-8 to 5-8c off, and provisions varying from 15 cents decline to a rise of 2 cents.

Some of the larger traders here and many of the smaller one let go of their market. Much selling on the part of Eastern operators counted also as a decided factor in sending the market downgrade. Besides, wheat available for immediate delivery here was in less active demand than has recently been the rule. Reports of better weather in Europe went hand in hand with a sharp break in quotations for future deliveries at Liverpool, and a drop of 2 to 3 cents a bushel in prices here took place as soon as trading began.

Throughout the day purchasing, although for a persistent character, was mostly in small lots, with the aggregate lacking the volume which would have been requisite to uphold values. Price rallies served only to bring about increased selling, and the day's lowest prices were reached shortly before the finish. Meanwhile, export business continued at a minimum, and it was pointed out that for years the first arrival of new wheat at Winnipeg has been accompanied by a notable pause in demand. On the other hand, the country continues to hold back domestic wheat, and no offerings to arrive here were made.

Corn owed its strength largely to the fact that rural offerings were the smallest in some time. Liberal receipts weakened the oats market.

Passage of the German tariff bill had a depressing effect on provisions.

STERLING EXCHANGE

Sterling demand $4.85 1-8.

Sterling cable, $4.85 5-8.

CHOOSING FEDERAL CANDIDATES IN MANY QUEBEC RIDINGS; BOTH PARTIES PREPARING FOR FIGHT

Names Are Being Mentioned as Standard Bearers.

CONVENTION CALLED.

Many Sitting Members Will Present Themselves For Re-election.

MONTREAL, Aug. 15.—(Canadian Press.)—The French language newspaper, "La Presse," carries the following despatch from Quebec:

"The nomination of Boutin Bourassa, Federal member for Levis, is spoken of for the commission of the Port of Quebec, representing the south shore. Should this eventuate, three candidates will dispute Mr. Bourassa's seat, Laetare Roy, Advocate, and ex-member for Levis in the Legislative Assembly, Mayor Kiely of St. Rombald and Dr. J. E. Dussault, of Levis.

M. J. Gauthier is mentioned for Rimouski and also for campaign manager in the Conservative interests in the Quebec district. In Nam-ouraska it is certain that Georges Bouchard is canvassing the suffrages of his electors with good prospects of success. He will have to contend with F. X. Dufour, whom the Conservatives are said to have selected as their candidate in this county. Mr. Dufour is a barrister of St. Joseph De Beauce.

"A Conservative convention will shortly be held at Dorchester, where a contest is projected against Lucien Cannon. The selection lies between Louis Morin, lawyer of Beauce, Leo Berube, lawyer, of Riviere Du Loup and ex-member for Temiscouata in the local legislature, and P. Vallieres of Quebec, who unsuccessfully contested the county in 1921.

"A movement is afoot among the Conservatives to secure the candidature of Henri Grandbois of St. Casimir, in Portneuf county. He will oppose Simeon Delisle, who will present himself again.

"With regard to Bellechasse, rumour singles out Wilfrid Asselin, secretary-treasurer of the municipality of St. Gervais, as next Conservative candidate, against J. A. Fournier, Alfred Coulet, Mayor of St. Gervais, is also spoken of in this connection."

BUSINESS IS FAIR BUT PROSPECTS GOOD IN CANADA

Credit Men's Report Shows That Harvest Has Stimulating Effect.

COLLECTIONS SLOW.

Manufacturing Concerns Show Signs of Picking Up in Ontario.

WINNIPEG, Man., Aug. 15 (Canadian Press).—The weekly trade report of the Canadian Credit Men's Trust Corporation, Limited, reads:

Halifax—Wholesalers report fair volume of business moving, and retail trade quiet.

St. John.—The outlook in wholesale trade circles is improving and retail trade fair. Collections satisfactory.

Montreal.—Boots and shoes: Sales have been fairly good for the past week, collections not very good. Hardware: Sales fair, collections not very good. Groceries: Sales have been very steady for the past wek; collections fair. Dry Goods: Sales fair, collections very slow.

Toronto — Wholesale and retail trade reasonably active; the industrial situation is slightly better. Tire and rubber factories very busy. Electrical manufacturing fair only, but other lines of industry show signs of picking up. Prospects of returns from the agricultural products are good.

Winnipeg—The favorable anticipations in connection with the Western harvest is having a stimulating effect on practically all lines of wholesale trade, greater activity being reported in dry goods, clothing, boots and shoes, hardware and kindred lines. Retail business in the city fair. Collections have been holding up pretty well.

Regina.—Wholesale trade reported steady with improvement shown in some lines, and prospects good. Retail trade fair generally. Collections quiet.

Saskatoon—Wholesale trade fair, retail trade poor with the exception of groceries. Collections fair. Crop conditions good.

Calgary — Business generally, whilst in excess of last year, is inclined to be quiet, pending the approach of harvest, which will soon be in full swing. Collections show signs of improvement.

Edmonton—Wholesale trade very active, on account of northern traders' business. Other business normal.

Vancouver — Wholesalers report business in most lines fairly good with collections fair, to good. Buyers' week in connection with the Exhibition is having a stimulating effect on sales.

INTEREST EXCITED BY BANK MERGER

Barclays Bank Has United With Banks in Africa and West Indies.

LONDON, Aug. 15 (Caandian Press Cable).—The main topic of interest on the stock exchange here is the merger in Africa of Barclays Bank, Limited, the Colonial Bank, the Anglo-Egyptian Bank and the National Bank of South Africa.

Under the cumbersome title of "Barclays Bank, Dominion, Colonial and Overseas," the institution starts business with an authorized capital of £10,000,000, of which nearly £7,000,000 will be issued and subscribed.

Barclays will have the controlling interest and the existing boards of directors of the banks merged will act as local directorate in the new financial institution. Practically the whole African continent is covered by these merged banks, while the Colonial Bank will continue to conduct business throughout the West Indies.

Considering recent experiences of the National Bank of South Africa, which had a serious setback for two years, but last year resumed payment of a dividend, its stockholders probably will welcome the support which is afforded it in association with such an institution as Barclays. The South African Government has a considerable financial stake in this bank, but its position with regard to the merger has not been revealed so far.

INCREASE SHOWN IN NUMBER ANNUITIES

Seventy-nine More New Contracts Were Made During 1924.

OTTAWA, Aug. 15.—(Canadian Press). — An increase of seventy-nine new contracts is shown in the number of Government annuities issued during the fiscal year ended March 31 last, as compared with the corresponding twelve months ended March 31, 1924, according to statistics available in the Department of Labor.

During the year ended March 31, 1925, 488 new annuities were purchased; while the total receipts for the year in question on all annuities in effect aggregated $1,607,989.58. The number of Government annuities in force on March 31 last was 6,539.

A steady increase, it is stated, has taken place in the number of new annuities purchased since May, 1922, when the branch became part of the Department of Labor.

LOCK HOLDS NEW CAR'S SPEED DOWN

Purpose to Get Engine Tuned Up Before Speeding.

LONDON, Aug. 15.—(United Press).—Impatient motorists who cannot wait for the first 500 miles of their new cars to be run before "letting her out" are being restrained by a new slow-speed device just marketed here.

A special washer is inserted in the inlet pipe of the new cars as they are delivered into the hands of buyers, so that the engine can not develop more power than is required for a speed of 25 miles an hour. This washer can only be removed by a special key.

May Not Get Key.

If the new purchaser doubts his ability to resist the temptation to speed he leaves the key with the manufacturers until the car has run 500 miles. If he is exceptionally strong-minded, he asks for the key at the time of purchase. If the manufacturers size him up as a man of patience, he gets the key.

STUDY U. S. POLITICS

Japanese Parliamentarians Will Attend Convention at Washington.

TOKYO, August 15 (Associated Press).—Leaders of the three major political parties in Japan, the Kenseikai, Seiyukaiand Seiyuhonto, have decided to send to the United States six parliamentarians for the purpose of studying American political practices. The delegation will attend the international convention to be held in Washington in October and will subsequently visit other cities. It is hoped the parliamentarians will bring back to Japan a number of new ideas which can be applied to the modern political situation in the empire.

London Clergyman Appeals Against 'Bareness' To the 'Sisters, Cousins and Aunts' of Britain

LONDON, Aug. 15—The campaign here against the audacious new fashions in woman's dress was continued in an open letter from the Rev. Richard Free of St. Clement's Church, Fulham, London, addressed to "the sisters, cousins and aunts of the British Empire." The irate clergyman denounces the feminine fashions nowadays without mincing his words.

"Why this briefness, this bareness?" he asks. "Why this bobbed and shingled hair, this realistic imitation of nature's body tints?

"The present fashions seem to be shed of everything possible in the way of apparel. When the women have succeeded in ridding themselves of the last available encumbrance—what then?

"There is no freedom beyond freedom. What lies beyond is laxity."

The vicar declares that women who think themselves up to date because they discard more and more clothing are merely old-fashioned, as the habit of going about with a minimum of apparel has been in vogue many times before, notably during the Directoire period in France. Then French women shed so many garments that, according to the horrified vicar, they died prematurely by the thousands because they caught such awful colds. In a final appeal to modern girls he says:

"If I were you, I would abandon this affectation and indelicacy and be again your own sweet selves."

MONEY FOR CANADA.

Premier Ferguson Expects British Investments.

MONTREAL, Aug. 15 (Canadian Press).—Hon. G. Howard Ferguson, Premier of Ontario, is convinced that in Great Britain there exists a sentiment that will ultimately express itself in tangible terms of financial investment and increased immigration to Canada. The Ontario premier reached here last evening after having spent considerable time in the Old Country, during which he took opportunity of presenting Canada's opportunities to those who would be likely to take advantage of them for the good of the Dominion.

Mr. Ferguson found a desire among Old Country people for closer co-operation with the Dominion.

MODESTY IN DRESS URGED UPON FARM GIRLS IN BELMONT ADDRESS PREPARATORY TO PETERBORO EX.

Sport and Party Clothes Offend Sanctity of Church, Mrs. Rowand Advises.

COACHING GIRLS.

Belmont Maids Will Take Part in Clothes Judging Competition.

(By a Staff Reporter).

HAVELOCK, Aug. 15.—Girls or grown-up women who go to church in sport suits or in party dresses are lacking in a spirit of reverence for the sanctity in which a place of reverence should be held. A woman advanced in years who dons juvenile attire places herself in the same class. Modesty in dress should rule on every occasion, and especially when the wearer fits herself out to attend public worship.

The above statements were emphasized in an address given Thursday afternoon by Mrs. Florence Rowand, of Walkerton, to the members of the Belmont Women's Institute, which was held in the Township Hall. Mrs. Rowand is one of the lecturers for the Women's Institute branch of the Department of Agriculture, and her main mission in coming to this community was to coach the girls of Belmont who will take part in the girls' judging competition which will be held this year in connection with the Peterboro Exhibition There was a good attendance of members, and the chair was occupied by Mrs. I. A. Sexsmith, who has been elected president year after year since 1914.

Dressing For Church.

Mrs. Rowand is not a prude in the matter of apparel. The dress which she wore was a convision to the prevailing feminine fashions, but she is an advocate of at least a measure of the modesty which was characteristic of the women of a past generation. How a woman should be dressed for going to church in the country on Sunday morning was the feature of her instructions given to the girls from here who will be among the judges of good dressing at the Peterboro Fair.

Suitable Dresses.

For Sunday morning wear a tailored suit, a street or afternoon dress would be suitable. Sport or party dresses would be a display of a lack not only of taste but of reverence. Dresses should conform to the age, the figure, the height and the complexion of the wearer. There should be no jarring notes in color or style. Hat, dress, shoes and stockings should harmonize. A costume should show individuality, but should not be so striking as to attract attention in a crowd or to excite comment.

House Dresses.

Teaching girls how to judge the dresses of others is equivalent to instructing them how to array themselves. Mrs. Rowand gave her audience pointers in the matter of material and style for house dresses, as well as those to be worn at church, as judging this class of feminine apparel will be one of the features of the competition at the Fair.

Other Instructions.

The lecturer also instructed the girls in the task of judging bread and school lunches. If the boys and girls of Canada are to grow up into strong and healthy men and women, careful attention must be given to their diet, and the school lunch should not mean, what it so frequently does for many children, a period of midday semi-fastings.

At the close of the lecture, for which Mrs. Rowand was tendered a hearty vote of thanks, refreshments were served to the members and their guests.

To Represent County.

Mrs. Rowand, during her stay here, was entertained by District Representative and Mrs. F. C. McRae at their summer cottage at Round Lake. Mr. McRae has selected to represent Peterboro County in the inter-county girls' judging competition at the Toronto Exhibition. Kathleen Barry, Mary Jones and Molly Lynch, all of whom reside in the county, although Hastings is the address of each.

APPOINT PILOTS

Royal Aero Club Designates Representatives for Schneider Cup Race.

LONDON, Aug. 15.—It has been decided to send Henri Baird and Hubert Broad to America to represent the Royal Aero Club as pilots in the Schneider Cup race at Baltimore in October. Baird will fly a Supermarine-Napier monoplane and Broad a Gloster III Napier biplane.

As a result of recent tests it has been decided to fit Broad's machine with metal floats. On the question of speed, the makers of the British planes realize that America is aiming at fast machines and their efforts are also being concentrated on speed as well as strength.

BLEMISHES OF THE SKIN

One of the surest signs that the blood is out of order are the pimples and unsightly eruptions that break out on the face or body. The same condition is indicated by an attack of eczema of scrofula. You cannot get rid of these troubles by the use of purgative medicines, as so many people try to do. Purgatives merely gallop through the system and leave it still weaker. What is needed when the blood is shown to be out of order is a tonic which will restore its missing elements and leave the blood rich and red. For this purpose there is no other tonic can equal Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, every dose of which helps enrich the blood, drives out impurities, and brings a new feeling of health and energy. Mrs. R. E. Bishop, Hawthorne avenue, Hamilton, Ont., tells for the benefit of others what these pills did for her. She says: "I was suffering terribly from scrofula. I doctored with several doctors, but without success. My complexion was sallow, I had no strength, feeling very weak and languid. My neck was full of lumps called scrofula, and at times they were very painful. After trying several so-called blood medicines, Dr. Williams' Pink Pills were recommended to me and I got half a dozen boxes. After taking them I found a decided improvement in my appearance, and to my joy the lumps were disappearing from my neck. I persevered in the treatment, and finally the only sign left of the trouble was a scar on my neck where one of the swellings broke. Since that time I have been in robust health and heartily recommend Dr. Williams' Pink Pills to any suffering from impure blood."

You can get these pills through any medicine dealer or by mail at 50 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

MINE UNIONS FIGHT FOR LIFE

Strike Threat Viewed as Lewis' Attempt to Stay Disintegration of Workers.

U. S. HANDS OFF

WASHINGTON, Aug. 15.—The United States Government has definitely determined not to intervene to prevent a coal strike, it has become known since the return here of Herbert Hoover, Secretary of Commerce, whom President Coolidge has designated to handle the situation. If a strike occurs it is made clear that it will be permitted to continue, so far as governmental interference is concerned, at least until there is concrete evidence of serious suffering of the public on account of it.

Several circumstances have contributed to this decision.

First and foremost is the fact that every instance of governmental intervention in a coal strike in recent years has resulted in an increase in prices paid by the consumer.

President Coolidge believes that the price, particularly of anthracite coal, has reached the limit, and he is determined that nothing his administration does shall raise it.

Second is the rapid decline of labor union influence over the production of bituminous coal. The unionized mines in operation, the Government experts say, now supply only 25 per cent. of production as compared with 65 per cent. in 1920.

The Unions Broken.

In West Virginia the unions have been completely broken. Union mines, unable to compete with the lower wage scales of their non-union competitors, shut down. The union miners stood the strain of idleness as long as they could and then voluntarily offered to go to work at the non-union scale. Somewhat the same situation prevails in the Pennsylvania bituminous mines except that fewer of the union members have consented to go to work at reduced pay. The unionized Pennsylvania mines are mostly shut down.

Government officials believe that the non-union bituminous mines can come very close to supplying the national demand. At the time of the strike in 1923 it was estimated that the non-union mines could produce 5,000,000 tons a week, as against a weekly consumption of 8,000,000 tons. It is believed that enough mines have been deunionized now to very nearly make up this difference.

"Time for a Strike."

Coolidge and Hoover are convinced that if an anthracite strike occurs, it will be precipitated by President John L. Lewis and the others of the existing hierarchy of the Federation of Miners, primarily in the hope of checking this disintegration of the soft coal mining unions. Strikes in the past have invariably boosted prices and brought a period of prosperity beneficial to the mine owners and workers alike. The shortage of coal had to be made up, and the result was to permit all sorts of mines to open and operate at a profit. A strike stimulant appears to be the only hope of opening up the unionized mines now shut down, and enabling the union to reclaim the membership it has lost in West Virginia and elsewhere.

More than that, the continuance of Mr. Lewis in his job may be at stake. The leader of the opposition to Lewis, long existent in the Federation of Miners, is Frank Farrington, leader of the Illinois miners. When the last national agreement was made in 1923, Farrington urged a reduction of wages in the less profitable mines in West Virginia, Ohio and Pennsylvania. The Illinois mines, he urged, were the only ones where the existing high bituminous wage scale was capable of maintenance as against non-union competition, and an attempt to maintain it in the East would inevitably invite the very disintegration of the union that is now taking place.

Lewis' Triumphs.

Lewis, who has maintained his power by his dominance over the miners in the eastern field, refused to accede to Farrington's proposal, with result that he was triumphantly re-elected to head the union at the 1924 convention. To accede to Farrington's advice now, Lewis apparently fears, would mark the end of his career as a labor leader.

Lewis now is basing his threat of a strike in the bituminous mines principally on the claim that West Virginia and Pennsylvania operators, in permitting their workers to accept a reduction in wages, have violated the Jacksonville agreement, which established the 1923 wage scale and was to have run until 1927. The operators on their side, however, assert that it was the miners asking the opportunity to work at lower wages, who nullified the contract. The agreement, they say, was specifically made by the local unions in the respective fields and therefore the West Virginia unions had a perfect right to accept lower wages as applied to themselves.

A significant fact pointed out by the Government officials is that the anthracite miners in conference at Atlantic City have brought forward no claim of suffering by the workers because of low pay. The sole basis of their contention has been that the mine owners are making huge profits and can accordingly afford to pay higher wages. Specifically they have shown that mine profits and rates on the mine owning railroads have risen much faster than wages.

Government officials admit that this claim of the miners is based on fact, but they say they have no power under existing law to regulate mine profits and therefore the situation is beyond their control. If the anthracite mine workers are to force a bigger division of the spoils they must accomplish it by their own power and not with the assistance of the Government.

SAVE THE CHILDREN

Mothers who keep a box of Baby's Own Tablets in the house may feel that the lives of their little ones are reasonably safe during the hot weather. Stomach troubles, cholera infantum and diarrhoea carry of thousands of little ones every summer, in most cases because the mother does not have a safe medicine at hand to give promptly. Baby's Own Tablets relieve these troubles, or if given occasionally to the well child they will prevent their coming on. The Tablets are guaranteed by a government analyst to be absolutely harmless even to the newborn babe. They are especially good in summer because they regulate the bowels and keep the stomach sweet and pure. They are sold by medicine dealers at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

OBITUARY.

MISS GRETA RICHMOND

LINDSAY, Aug. 15.—The sudden death of Miss Greta Richmond, of North Harvey, Peterboro County, is reported at Bobcaygeon. Miss Richmond came to the village a few days ago to visit friends in the village, and had been invited by Miss Humphrey, of South Verulam, to spend a few days at her home. Both girls retired the other evening, and in the morning when Miss Humphrey arose she thought Miss Richmond was in a deep sleep, and, therefore did not arouse her. Later when she went to call her friend for breakfast, she found that she was dead.

Dr. Kelly, of Bobcaygeon, was summoned, and he in turn notified Dr. Logan, coroner, of Lindsay, who after viewing the body and learning all the circumstances, deemed an inquest unnecessary.

The remains were taken to the home of the deceased in North Harvey. The funeral was in charge of the Ladies' Orange Benevolent Association, of which deceased was a member.

Petty Theft From Farm Near Orland—Straw Stacks Burn.

ORLAND, Aug. 15.—The carpenters have finished framing Marshall Tyler's barn and raised it Wednesday. This was the first raising in this neighborhood for about ten years.

The Orland boys extend their congratulations to Hastings for winning the Clarke Trophy in the Northumberland finals. Hastings boys certainly were clever to keep their intentions up their sleeve and let others do the boasting while they were biding their time to come across with the goods at the right time.

Grain cutting seems to be the whole thing at present with all the farmers hereabout. And many of them are a good many acres behind.

J. B. Wright set fire to a last year's straw stack on his farm and burned a stack of this year's hay containing about 17 loads, belonging to Harold Reddom, who is working the farm on shares. The two stacks were only a few feet aaprt and after the fire was started the wind changed and Mr. Reddom was surprised to see his hay in flames.

Farmers are getting good money from the cheese factory. Harold Suava's June check was over $335.00.

Frank Moran was cutting a piece of oats yesterday along the highway, and when he went to finish the field he was surprised that an eight pound ball of twine and a pitchfork that were left with the binder had been stolen during the night.

Everbearing strawberries are again starting to bear and if the weather remains favorable will continue to bear till the ground freezes up.

Wild long blackberries are the best they have been in years.

Simeon Cowan, J. B. Moran and Ira King have each burned large fields of hay which they were unable to cure on account of the continued wet weather.

Girls who study Chemistry

A knowledge of chemistry quickly teaches girls the value of a good pure soap like Baby's Own Soap.

They know why its freedom from excess of alkali makes it so precious for delicate skins, which are easily affected by strong soaps.

Baby's Own Soap is most pleasant to use, its creamy fragrant lather being very agreeable. It is used in many thousands of homes throughout Canada. Its low price is an added incentive.

Just a few days after Nature Lore had finished telling about bird experiences of golfers, who should come along but one of those same golfers, asking us to take a morning off.

We went over to the "Hit or Miss" Golf club and started to hack our way around the course, and had arrived at the tenth hole, when we had to sit down and admit that if we told all the bird and nature stuff about golfing, we would never be able to tell anything else.

I forgot to even mention the Bank Swallows and Horned Larks.

Think of it, a bird with horns.

This Horned Lark is a very decided favorite of the golf course for it has taken it for granted that all golf courses are bird sanctuaries. And, really, they are, for they have every facility, water, shrubs, meadow, woodlands and, in many cases, sandbanks. Also, they have that thing which makes them secure., the presence of nature loving folks all summer.

As a golfer, I am a good birder. I do not belong to any club, but occasionally am invited to tear up turf. I noticed the birds, and this Horned Lark is a great attraction.

If you see a bird with a dull coloured back, but with a light breast and black bib or breast band, dark forehead and two tiny horns or feather shafts, and a more or less pale face, you may be sure it is the Horned Lark.

When the season is not so far advanced, this bird sings nicely, a short, sweet song. It digs out a cup shaped hollow and lines it with grasses, for a nest. It is so tame on the golf courses, that its head markings may be seen clearly. it has a dark or black cheek. Sometimes the yellow in the face is very bright. It will not be afraid, even when you are ten feet from it.

GOOD NIGHT STORIES

By Blanche Silver

David Meets a Queer Little Fellow.

When David saw the funny looking, worm-like creature curled up in the bark of a log, fast asleep, he found a stick and began poking it gently to make it straighten out.

"My, but you're a funny looking caterpillar," he laughed. "I sure would like to know to which butterfly family you belong."

"Butterfly, butterfy family," mused the worm-like creature lazily. "Oh, yes, I know what you're talking about. No, I don't belong to that branch of the family. Fact is, I'm not a caterpillar. You have made a mistak."

"Then to what family do you belong, if you're not a caterpillar?" asked David, sitting on the log beside the funny fellow. "You have enough buttons down your sides."

"Couldn't use any more if I had them," chuckled the worm-like creature. "You see, the larva of the Stag Beetles look just as I do. My mother was a Stag Beetle, so I guess when I've put in four years of study, I'll be—,"

"Four years of study," laughed David. "Who ever heard of a worm even living that long? I never did."

"That's because you never

happened to meet me before," laughed the larva of the Stag Beetle. "Why, boy, I'm four years old right now, and ready to begin building. I bet you couldn't build your own house when you were four years old."

"Well, of all things," laughed David. "I'll bet I couldn't, either. Are you really four years old? And do you have to build your own house?"

"Of course I do," replied Mr. Larva. "Each Larva of the Stag Beetle family has to build its own house, or, you might say, cradle. Some build them when they are four years old and some don't get to it before they are six years old. See this pile of chewed up wood? I've sucked all the juice out of it and chewed it up into fine chips. Now I'll mix these chips together with a sort of glue that comes from my mouth and make myself a wee little case. In this I will wrap myself up and when I come out in the sunshine the next time, I'll be a fledged Stag Beetle. I'll be wearing a lovely black head and my chest will be black with tiny dots like carving on it, and my wing cases will be of a deep chestnut color. I'll have lovely large strong horns, but my sisters won't have any horns. It's just the males who can boast of horns. Well, if I stand here chatting I'll never get my house finished and without another word he began chewing the chips and mixing them with glue.

David sat quietly watching him until he had finished his house and wrapped it around himself, then he hurried back to the house to tell his Mama what he had seen.

Three-Minute Journeys

By Temple Manning

WHERE HOMAGE IS PAID TO NEPTUNE.

The time has passed when men offered sacrifices to the gods in civilized countries. But there is one custom that still persists, and probably will persist as long as there are sailors upon the sea and ships cross the equator.

For the sailor is at heart romantic, and he clings to the age-old customs which generations of sailors before him have practised. One of these customs is that of paying tribute to Old Father Neptune at the crossing of the equator. When this famous point is reached, every person on board, whether member of the crew or passenger, must take part in the ceremony.

The evening before the line is reached there is supposed to be a hail from Neptune. He challenges the ship to produce all on board who have never crossed the equator on the following day for his inspection.

At the proper moment on the next day the novices are gathered together. Then Neptune, with his Amphitrite and suite, appears at the side of the ship and comes aboard over her bow. He is preceded by a young man dressed very fashionably and he rides a gun carriage drawn by six almost naked negroes, spotted in yellow. His long beard of oakum, an iron crown which decks his head and the trident with a dolhpin between its prongs, makes him most impressive. He is, of course, a member of the crew, as are his companions.

His followers consist of a secretary, a surgeon, a barber and a barber's mate. Amphitrite, wearing a nightcap trimmed with seaweed, carries a ship's buoy dressed as a baby in her lap. She has three attendants, dressed as nymphs, carrying combs, mirors and pots of paint.

The novices are blindfolded, shaved, painted, and then thrown backward into a tub of water which has been prepared for the purpose.

Father Neptune Comes Aboard.

Games and theatricals follow the ceremony. Neptune presents his good wishes to the ship and its crew and departs, to reappear as himself.

This is a custom which has been upheld for centuries by men-of-war, merchant vessels, whalers and all ships which crossed the equator with any degree of frequency. It is rough sport at best, but most amusing for the spectators.

THE FIGHTING RANGER

By F. J. McCONNELL and GEORGE W. PYPER.

"What a wonderful night it is," she exclaimed, coming to Mary. "It reminds me of so much—you know, Mary, it was just such a night as this that Bud—Mr. Hughes—and I quit the circus. The moon was—"

Mary, smiling, lifted a coquettishly reproving finger, and said,

"Stella, Stella—I think you're in love with your memories. And—if you want—you'll find Bud down at the ranch gate on watch—in the moonlight, too. We have to keep a watch on, because we've had so much trouble with rustlers."

Stella, affecting a coy embarrassment, said,

"I think I will take a little run out and see him—I won't be long."

Mary picked up a book and settled down to read as Stella went out the door.

"Oh, Bud, on a night like this I couldn't resist the temptation to come and chat over old times with you," Stella told him.

She exercised all her most alluring wiles, and soon had Bud's heart going faster than it had in years, and his tongue gently rolling over soft words of sentiment.

Meanwhile Stella's eye was furtively watching something lurking in the brush just outside the gate. While Bud, oblivious to everything but Stella poured out his heart to her, she let her handkerchief drop to the ground.

There was a crackle of breaking twigs, several forms leaped out of the darkness and rushed upon Bud, taken completely off his guard. Screaming, Stella fled, as one of the attackers started to tie Bud up with a coil of rope.

"Now then," said Buck McLeod to the men, "We'll lock the ranch hands in the bunkhouse and drive off the herd we don't want any shootin' if we can help it."

They rushed off toward the cowboys' quarters. One lingered a moment, drew a knife from his pocket and slashed the ropes that bound Bud. It was Idaho Bill, the new member of the gang, but before Bud could catch a glimpse of him, he had hastened off in the dark to join his fellows.

The rustlers crept up on the bunkhouse, where the ranchmen were playing cards, and drew the heavy cross bar across the door, locking it. Then they sneaked back swiftly to get their horses. Again, unnoticed by the others, Idaho Bill lingered. He withdrew the cross-bar looked back cautiously, saw Bud running toward the bunkhouse, and disappeared in the direction of the ranch house.

Bud flung open the bunkhouse door, crying "Rustlers." Miquel and the other men jumped to their feet, whipped out their guns, rushed out to the stable, and mounted horses.

Buck McLeod, and his gang, now remounted, were dashing back. The light shining from the open bunkhouse door showed them they had been foiled in the attempt to put over the job quietly. Then they saw the ranchmen come flying around from the stable on their horses.

"Gotta be shootin' after all," muttered Buck with a curse.

They opened fire. It was returned by the oncoming cowboys. A running battle was on!

CHAPTER 22.
Mary Meets Idaho Bill.

At the sound of the shots Mary dropped her book, and jumped to her feet in frighted alarm. Uncertain what to do, she clutched a revolver in her hand and started for the door. Before she reached it, it was flung open, and a rough looking figure, his face half concealed by a huge sombrero, broke in and faced her.

"Stop—who are you?" Mary screamed, pointing the gun at the man.

"Don't shoot, lady," the man drawled, removing his hat and bowing with mock politeness. "Permit me to introduce myself—Idaho Bill."

He stared at her. Mary was still uncertain what to make of him, and continued to menace him with her gun. Outside the sound of shooting continued.

"Please explain yourself, sir, or I'll have to shoot," threatened Mary. "Mary, Mary," said Idaho Bill, and his voice changed to one that was familiar to her, "don't you know me?"

Mary lowered her gun, stared wide-eyed, and gasped.

"Terence O'Rourke!"

"The same, alias Idaho Bill, cattle rustler," Terence replied, rushing toward her and enfolding her in his arms.

After a kiss which more than reassured Mary completely of his identity, he said,

"That old Komi sure did a good job disguising me when even my own Mary doesn't recognize me."

He hastily explained his reported death, how Komi had saved him, and that he had adopted this disguise and joined the rustlers, the better to finally trap them into the hands of the law.

"But I must stay with them as Idaho Bill until I have got more evidence, and run down the wolf who has caused all your trouble," he said, continuing rapidly. "Only yourself and Komi know I'm alive. Keep the secret."

She looked at him with implicit love and confidence.

"I know all the time you had not deceived me, as they tried to make me believe," she said.

"But we must do something to stop them now and save the herd," said Terence. "They're going to open the corral and run the steers off. Quick, I must go out and do what I can to prevent them."

He started off. Mary, clutching her gun with one hand, and clinging to his arm with the other, cried,

"I'm going with you."

"No, no, Mary," he said, "Stay here."

She would not be thrown off. He tried to dart out alone.

"I shall, I shall," she insisted, following him. There was no time for argument, and Mary was not to be dissuaded.

They slipped out through the back of the house and toward the corral.

"I wish you wouldn't do this Mary," he said.

"You can't hold the fort alone," she answered, "and I can shoot as straight as any man."

CHAPTER 23.
Stampede and Battle.

While Buck and the main body of his men kept the ranch defende. engaged by gunfire up front, two of the rustlers had slipped away in the darkness and back to the corral gates.

As Mary and Terence came up the fenced lane into which the corral opened they were suddenly stricken with horror as a sound of many hoofs pawing the ground broke upon their ears, and they saw the stampeding herd rushing out from the corral toward them.

"We're too late," Terence cried in dismay. "They've already opened the gates."

"What can we do," screamed Mary.

They were trapped between the two fences of the lane, and in a moment the steers would be upon them. They could only run back the lane ahead of the steers—but they would never be able to outrun the herd. They would surely be trampled to death. They started running nevertheless, as there was no alternative.

Suddenly they tripped and stumbled. They found they had rolled into a small ditch crossing the lane. Mary started up, Terence held her back.

"Lie still—flat on the bottom," he cried. "This may save us. It's our only hope."

The thundering feet had reached them. The steers were leaping the ditch. Their hoofs passed through the air close overhead dangerously close to Terence and Mary, but did not touch them.

"I hope they're all sure-footed critters," laughed Terence, tying to inject a note of humor into their precarious situation to cheer Mary. Such thoughts come even in the face of death. "If none of them slip we'll be safe."

* * *

Out in front the ranch defenders were slowly gaining ground on the rustlers. Under their steady gunfire the rustlers were rapidly falling back.

"We'll have them on the run soon" said Bud to Miquel riding next to him.

From the distance came the sound of the hoofs of the stampeding cattle let loose.

"They've opened the corral" cried Miquel.

At this moment with the ranch cowboys pressing strongly forward the ranks of Buck McLeod broke and they started fleeing on the run. Buck cursing tried vainly to call them back and continue the battle but with several of them wounded and their courage breaking down they heeded their leader no longer. Disgusted he turned and fled after them the cowboys giving chase.

STREET NAMES

McDONNEL STREET

Lieut. Col. John McDonnel was a native of Greenfield, Invernessshire, Scotland, who emigrated to Canada along with his father's family and settled in the group of Highland communities at Glengarry.

Proving himself to be the scholar of the large McDonnel family John studied law being admitted to the bar in 1808. Three years later he was appointed Attorney General of Upper Canada, but the outbreak of war with the United States called him to sterner duties and in keeping with the martial renown of his clan and forefathers he offered his services to the Crown and enlisted a large number of Highland volunteers to swell the little army with which General Sir Isaac Brock had to stem the tide of invasion.

Brock was quick to discern the ability and courage of the young Highlander and had McDonnel appointed as one of his aide-de-camps. When the invading American army was chased out of Canada and hemmed in at Detroit, McDonnell acted as intermediary between Brock and the American General Hull and when the besieged announced their surrender it was McDonnel who took possession of the defeated general's sword.

General Brock repeatedly paid unstinted tribute to the admirable qualities of his young aide-de-camp. Despite a difference in age and military rank, a great friendship sprang up between the two men. They were constantly in each other's company and when Brock fell in an engagement near Queenstown, McDonnel shared his fate a few hours afterwards. Endeavoring to maintain order among the troops who were disorganized by the news of the death of the general, McDonnel was himself wounded in four places and died twenty four hours later.

SOLUTION OF YESTERDAY'S CROSSWORD PUZZLE

TOMORROW'S HOROSCOPE

By Genevieve Kemble

SUNDAY AND MONDAY, AUGUST 16-17.

Sunday's horoscope is one forecasting a degree of activity, with the prospect of important change or removal. It is a good day for employment and new ventures, but sign all writings carefully.

Those whose birthday it is may encounter a year of change or travel, which they may manipulate to advantage by care, especially in the matter of writings. A child born on this day may be quick, original and independent, and should make a moderate success of its undertakings.

Mondays' astrological chart shows but a fair state of activity in all that pertains to business, but in domestic or personal affairs there is a sign of sudden annoyance or anxiety, probably sensational in nature.

Those whose birthday it is may look for a year of the customary degree of activity in a business way, but in their social, domestic or affectional life there may be developments of a surprising or irregular nature. A child born on this day may be enterprising and resourceful in business, but in its personal associations in life may experience the unusual or unconventonal.

ST. ANDREW'S GIRLS RETURN FROM CAMP

Five Attended C.G.I.T. Camp Near Gananoque.

The Misses Jane Cathcart, Ruth Barns, Arleigh McKone, Marion Hall and Velma Strong, returned last night from the C.G.I.T. Training Camp, on Beau Rivage Island, one of the Thousand Islands, near Gananoque, where they spent one of the most enjoyable and profitable ten days in their young experiences. There were some 60 girls in all, under the leadership of 12 competent, trained leaders in Bible study, nature study, astronomy, basketry, life-saving, land and water sports. The girls hope to be a wonderful help to their group this year and will be glad to give any other group any help in the way of suggestions received while at the camp.

During last winter the Excelsior group raised over $200, which went towards financing their own camp at Grafton, the first two weeks of July. They also gave to home and foreign missions, handed over $342 to the Peterborough Health Association; ten of them took part in the Kiwanis concert for the work of the underprivileged children, and also sold $50 worth of tickets for the concert. They have also given clothing to children in need and did many deeds of kindness for others less fortunate.

This is only one little group, and only a commencement of what the C.G.I.T. or any other Teen-age group with the same ideals all over the Dominion are doing, and under God's guidance, intend doing for the work of their Great Chief.

Fall Materials

NEW YORK, Aug. 15.—(United Press).—Fall trimmings ring woe to the home-dressmaker. Frocks are to be more sophisticated than they have been in years and trimmings range from metal embroideries, colorful appliques, gilded leathers and fabric dangles to gorgeous beaded and sequin effects.

Afternoon costumes are dressy rather than tailored. Materials included are velvets, brocaded chiffons, moire silk, kasha in ombre effects, broadcloth, crepe satin and georgette. Furs, metal appliques and colorful embroideries are favorite trimmings. Shades for day wear are royal blue, grey, wood browns, bluish green, beige and black. Where black is used it is invariably enlivened by color or metal decoration. Plain colored fabrics are more in evidence than printed ones.

Evening shades include yellowish greens, pale shades of pink, scarlet and yellow. All greens from apple green to deep bottle green are chosen for evening, with yellowish greens predominating. Evening materials include chiffons, velvets, tulle, satin and crepe romain. Velvets are just a trifle smarter than sheerer materials for evening wear. Lace frocks still are in evidence and this season they are worn with velvet sashes in vivid color.

Evening wraps are featured in velvets several shades deeper than the frock and in richly colored brocades. Fur dipped in gilt is a new trimming for the evening wrap.

Several smart afternoon frocks are made of black satin with godets of black velvet in the skirt to give hemfulness. Velvet coats often show the Russian influence, with slender upper portions and flaring skirts heavily embroidered and bordered with fur. Where the tailored suit is shown for day wear the jacquette is long and of Directoire type. Ensembles lead over tailored effects and flared coats matching flared frocks.

ADVICE TO GIRLS

By Annie Laurie

Dear Annie Laurie: I am a girl seventeen years old and have been going for the past year with a man of thirty-two. Lately I have met a younger man who seems attracted to me and in whom I am becoming very much interested.

Will you please tell me how I can "get rid of" the first man so that I can have more time to go out with other friends, without hurting his feelings too deeply. —Gray Eyes.

Gray Eyes: If you refuse the invitations of this older man, repeatedly but tactfully, he will realize that you are no longer interested in him. Merely tell him that you are rather busy, and I am sure you will find that he acts accordingly. But make certain, first of all, that you are not interested in him, because it will be rather difficult to renew a friendship which you have broken off in this manner.

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE:

I am in my teens and I am in love with a young man. He never writes. What shall I do? TILLIE.

TILLIE: If this young man has never written you, it would hardly be in order for you to commence a correspondence, Tillie. However, if you are anxious to win his friendship I suggest that you invite him to call on you. Talk about the things which interest both of you, be cheerful and gay, and you will strike a responsive chord. If your friend has spent an enjoyable evening he will not hesitate to ask permission to call again.

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE:

I am in my teens and in love with a young man two years my junior. He asked me to keep "steady company." Should I accept his offer?

DIMPLES.

DIMPLES: Just what do you mean, Dimples? If the young man extended a sort of standing invitation to you—if he wants you to know that he values your friendship and would like to see you often—then accept his "offer" if you are fond of him. Of course, it is understood that you are not to limit your friendships until you are engaged. If you are devoting all your time to one friend it would be very difficult for you to make other friends later on.

Annie Laurie will welcome letters of inquiry on subjects of feminine interest from young women readers of this paper and will reply to them in these columns. Letters to Miss Laurie should be addressed to her in care of this office.

THE VACATION BUTTERFLY

By Juanita Hamel

All the rest of the year, she is just a quiet little grub. But when vacation comes along, she changes overnight. For two whole weeks, she is a glorious butterfly, flitting from one to another, enjoying to the full the honey of life and youth. But be careful with her, for butterflies are tender fragile, lovely things easily crushed and broken. And she hasn't a butterfly heart. She only wants you to think she has. She's just waiting for the right one to claim her heart, and he'll find out then that her heart is all that is tender, and true and faithful.

Let's Talk It Over

"White Dragon," says Mrs. Adams, discarding a tile.

"Pung!" says Mrs. Baker, grabbing it.

"It's your play, Alice," says Mrs. Carter.

"Hah jongg!" shrieks Mrs. Dexter, pouncing on the "two character" she's been praying for for the last five minutes.

"Time for tea," purrs Mrs. Baker, who is ahead $2.75, even if Alice Dexter did "mah jongg" first. And so they settle down to counting calories and having a "little talk."

"How is your new maid?" says Mrs. Adams, helping herself to bran (not fattening) biscuit.

"Just splendid," says Mrs. Baker. "Gerald just loves her cooking."

"The children well?" inquires Mrs. Carter politely of Mrs. Dexter.

"Just wonderful, dear," says Mrs. Dexter, "and so busy with their school work and their little affairs I hardly see them."

Get that last if you'd gather the Mah Jongg Mama's excuse—"So busy with their school work and their little affairs I hardly see them." That's the reason she doesn't know her children—the reason they're strangers—the reason young Mary doesn't chum with her and Henry Junior is so secretive!

Yes it is—not! The reason, as you know, and I know, and the children know, is because she is too busy playing Mah Jongg or bridge or some other thing to get acquainted with her own daughters and sons.

When are they going to talk to her? When Mary comes home from school she finds a note on the table and a glass of milk and an apple in the cooler. Mama's not home this afternoon. At the dinner table Papa holds the floor, and after dinner the children have to study, or Mama and Papa are going out!

Why should Mama stay at home? The maid or grandma or the lady next door will look out for the children. Besides, they are good children. They require no looking after. And her soul needs uplift. She must keep up to date.

And the funniest part about it—if you can see anything funny in anything so sad—is that the Mah Jongg Mama thinks so highly of herself and her own efforts. The children are well supplied with material comforts—they have clothes and food and spending money. What more can they want or need?

What more? Listen! I'll let Mary tell it.

So often we hear girls tell of the unreasonableness of their mothers in not allowing them to go out with boys to dances or rides, parties, etc. Elsie, if those girls only knew how lucky they are to have their mother take an interest in them, for that is just what is wrong with me.

No, mother is not dead; she is very much alive. But she has not time for me. I am sixteen. I have everything I want. But, Elsie, my mother doesn't care what I do, where I go or what company I keep. She thinks that because she sees that all my material comforts are given me that her duty ends there.

I am sure it doesn't.

Many a time I eat alone and would be alone all night, if it weren't for the maid. Mother is taken up with teas, parties and clubs. I am the least of her troubles. My father? Oh, father is business, business, business all the time. He thinks mother looks out for me.

Just now I am interested in a young man. Sometimes we have misunderstandings. I would like to confide in mother, but what's the use? She wouldn't even bother to listen. Don't think that I want mother to give up everything and devote herself entirely to me. Just a little interest in my affairs would help a lot.

Why is it that men and women have the nerve to bring children into the world, and when they get them here, leave them to shift for themselves? I would welcome a lecture from mother on what to do and what not to do.

I think that when I come of age I will leave home. I will probably get along much better. At any rate, it will be no worse than staying at home. What would you do?

I hope that if I have children they will not grow to feel toward their mother as my mother has made me feel toward her.

IN THE KITCHEN

By Jeanette Norton

GOOD POTATO DISHES.

There are many good dishes to be made from the Irish potato. While the new potatoes are generally served with butter and parsley sauce, or cream sauce, the old ones may be used in some of the following dishes:

Potato Roll.

Pare and boil two pounds of potatoes, and when tender mash them smooth. Add a generous lump of butter, salt, the beaten Yolks of three eggs, a teaspoonful of sugar, a little mace and grating of nutmeg, and a wineglass of home-made wine or grape juice. Turn onto a floured board, dust thickly with fine bread crumbs, form into a roll, place in a buttered baking platter, and cook in the oven fifteen minutes. Serve in the dish it is baked in with a good cream sauce. Garnish with meat cakes or chicken croquettes.

Potato Curls.

Pare as many potatoes as are needed and let them stand an hour in cold water. Take a sharp knife and cut the potatoes as you would pare an apple, in spiral fashion around and around, not too thin. Dust the curls with salt after frying them in hot fat. These curls make an attractive garnish for meat dishes.

A FASHION MODEL'S DIARY

By Grace Thorncliffe

SHE DESCRIBES A YOUTHFUL STREET COSTUME.

The manikins at Madame's have shown a decided liking lately for trim looking box coats, to be worn with separate skirts or with simple tub silk dresses.

To-day Pam came in with a pleased expression about her to find an audience, and then announced:

"I've just bought the most adorable black velvet jacket!"

I was the audience, so I felt called upon to answer:

"How perfectly grand. Do let me see it."

Pam dove into the tissue paper with eager fingers and brought forth a very stunning jacket of soft black velvet.

She donned the jacket, which had a gracefully curved collar edged with black silk braid, and turned so I could see the trick feature.

"Only one pocket!" Pam announced triumphantly, as she showed me the little flap pocket placed at one side.

"I got it to wear with this white tub silk frock," she confided.

"It looks awfully well with it," I assured her.

"How do you like my little red felt hat as a crowning point?" Pam queried.

"I think it affords just the correct amount of contrast I told her.

Pam turned about before the mirror examining her costume. I asked her:

"What other things will you wear the jacket with?"

"I'm planning to get a gray crepe de Chine dress to go with it. You know I have that little gray felt turban trimmed with gray ribbon cockades, and I've never had much chance to wear it because I didn't possess a gray dress."

"That black velvet jacket will be lovely with a gray frock and gray hat," I assured her.

"I'm sure it suits my needs better than the navy serge one with brass buttons for trimming," Pam said.

AN AUGUST PICNIC.

Times and picnics have changed and the modern version is no more like the old than a narrow, straight frock is like a hoop-skirt gown. The up-to-date luncheon kits make an excellent meal possible and the stuff can be easily and quickly packed for the return run. These luncheon kits vary to suit all tastes and pocketbooks. Those fitted with aluminum plates, cups and flatware are the lightest and perhaps the most attractive. Some motorists who have the heavy cases remove as many of the heavy fittings as possible and replace them with paper things.

The folding tables, chairs and stools, collapsible water buckets, and the folding broiler, takedown stove and folding oven are among the many conveniences that make picnicing a joy. Folding lanterns, aided by the car lights, make late feasts a possibility if the picnickers want to lunch on the way home. A crane from which the coffee pot may swing over the camp fire is part of the outfit. A long-handled extension fork accompanies the long-legged gridiron for the things that may be broiled on the spot. There is an ice basket, one lined with zinc interlined with charcoal, for perishable dainties. The special salad carrier with thermos qualities and thermos bottles of all shapes and sizes are always a part of the campers' or picnickers' equipment.

Of course, there are a few of the old picnics still given, but they have attained the stage of modern improvements, even to the type of food that is served. Sandwiches are no more just a slice of meat between bread. They are glorified treats to-day and in endless variety. Cakes of various sorts are packed in boxes in layers, so it makes no difference how fragile they may be, they arrive in perfect condition. Salads in glass containers are as delicious as those served at home.

ONCE UPON A TIME THE GOLDEN GOOSE. XI

by W. J. ENRIGHT.

THESE WERE THE HAPPY DAYS SAY PIONEERS OF THE WEST

Life Not Complicated and Living Was a Comfortable Thing.

MOUNTIES' RE-UNION.

Mrs. Macleod Tells of Early Western Days—Establishing Fort.

Members of the old time mounties, men who went to Alberta in 1873 and '74, gathered together in Calgary a short time ago to honor the widow of their early commander, Col. J. F. Macleod.

Col. Macleod was the man who founded Fort Macleod in 1874 and who, a year later, was responsible for the naming of Calgary. His position in the history of the Canadian west is a unique one and in all the pioneer work which he accomplished, he owed much to untiring support and unselfish aid of his wife.

Mrs. Macleod came west in 1876. A year previous, Col. Macleod had come, with a handful of men, to establish Fort Macleod. At that time it was wild country, inhabited only by Indians and whiskey traders from the States. As Col. Macleod came down the Belly River, dead braves lay along its banks. On pitching camp, many hundreds of Indians came to watch the strange proceedings. Two of the chiefs spoke at great length and with much gesticulation. On each occasion when Col. Macleod asked his interpreter, the famous Jerry Potts, to translate what the redskins had said, invariably Jerry would reply "They say, 'Dam glad you here'."

The first meal under cover was on Christmas Day. As yet no floor had been built and the table was set in the centre of a buffalo wallow. Col. Macleod had made a trip to Helena and had brought back with him a turkey, a dozen of eggs, for which he had paid $6.00, and some raisins for a plum pudding.

Next year Mrs. Macleod came from Winnipeg, driving by democrat and taking the boat on the Missouri river, then driving overland again by democrat, fording rivers en route that were so deep the four-horse teams had to swim, while the water came into the wagon box.

Finally she arrived at her new home —a typical fort of those days with palisade fence and log buildings with their interiors lined with factory cotton.

Mrs. Macleod used to ride with her husband each morning, before breakfast, while he inspected his men. Ideas of frontier defense were adopted from the Indians, such as placing the horses in the centre, while the men dropped to their elbows around.

They Were Badly Outnumbered.

During the first years of her marriage, Mrs. Macleod accompanied her husband on many of his trips, being one of the few white women present at the signing of Blackfoot Treaty Number Seven in 1877. In speaking of this Mrs. Macleod said they were encamped at Blackfoot Crossing for several days, while negotiations of the treaty were going on, a handful of white people among hundreds of Indians. "The only time that I was ever afraid of them," she said, "was during a thunderstorm, when white men and red men hurried to the council tent for shelter. It came to me suddenly how much we would be in their power if the Indians should take advantage of their strength."

Mrs. Macleod was a member of the well known pioneer Drever famkily, of Winnipeg, prominent loyalists in the first Riel rebellion of 1869. Her father, William Drever, left his home in the Orkney Islands and with twenty-five cents in his pocket enlisted in the Hudson's Bay service to try his fortunes, with the gentlemen adventurers in Prince Rupert's Land, in 1821.

Pioneer days were happy days, says Mrs. Macleod. Life was not as complicated as it is to-day and in many ways one was just as comfortable. Homes were always warmly built, the food, which was largely meat and pemmican, was good, while the clothing was both sensible and warm and the furniture for the most part home made.

The chief amusement was dancing, favorite dances being the R3d River Jig, four and eight hand reels, the polka and Sir Roger de Coverly.

CANCER EXPERT ACHIEVED GOAL FIGHTING ODDS

Was Son of Poor Parents in Working Class of Midlands.

SPARE TIME STUDY

During War Served With Mobile Laboratory Contingent.

LONDON, Aug. 15.—(United Press).—Day-by-day more light is being shed on the interesting career of Dr. W. E. Gye whose discoveries made in connection with J. E. Barnard, miscroscopist, have opened the way, it is believed, to the solution of the cancer problem.

Outside of a small circle of medical and scientific experts the two men were practically unknown until a few days ago, and the story of their lives was known to very few.

Son of Poor Parents.

It is now revealed that Dr. Gye has forged his way to the front rank of scientific circles against extremely adverse conditions. He began life as the son of poor parents of the working class and lived his early years in the Midlands.

When he was about 17 years old he determined to become a doctor and commenced studying in his spare time. He was then working as a railway porter at a Midland's station. By frugal living he saved enough from his small earnings to come to London, where he continued his studies and where he eventually took his B. Sc. degree.

Taught School.

His next step was to return to the Midlands, where he taught school, and tutored other students. He continued to save his money carefully against the time when he should be able to go to the University of Edinburgh to pursue a course of medical study.

When he finally went to Edinburgh University he found himself compelled to live on ten shillings a week to keep from running into debt. The circumstances would have discouraged a great many men, declared one of his friends, but Dr. Gye tightened his belt, gritted his teeth and went through with it, finally winning his certificate as doctor in 1912.

During the war he served with a mobile laboratory contingent in France and Italy. Following the war he joined the scientific staff of the Medical Research Council in whose service he is still engaged, and under whose auspices he and Mr. Barnard made their now famous cancer discoveries. Dr. Gye is just over 40 years of age.

KIPLING STUDIED CONTROL OF RADIO.

NO COMPROMISE ON SCRIPTURES

Fundamentalists and Modernists Cannot Settle Their Differences, Says Pastor.

CHICAGO, Aug. 15—Fundamentalists and modernists never will be able to agree or settle their differences, the Rev. Leander S. Keyser, pastor of Hamma Divinity school, Springfield, O., said in his talk on "The Beliefs and Misbeliefs of Modernism," before the Fundamental Bible conference at the North Shore Congregational church.

"We can never march in the same procession with them," he said, "Our differences are vital and fundamental. The modernists reject too many things which make up the integrity of the Word of God. They place human reason above the Scriptures, while we do not."

Part on Six Beliefs

Dr. Keyser named six beliefs of the fundamentalists which the modernists scoff at. The disbelief of the modernists in these six questions he said, will be enough to keep the two opposing forces forever apart. They are:

The full deity of Christ.
The virgin birth of Christ.
The belief that Christ died for us as an atonement for our transgressions.
The existence of angels.
The existence of evil spirits.
The belief in the visible second coming of Christ.

I don't see how the modernists can claim to be sincere and earnest in their beliefs when they can talk of commingling with us in peace. To my mind, and in the minds of most fundamentalists, our faith in the fundamentals of the Christian religion is the most vital part of our existence and we would never forego this faith."

Discusses Man's Origin

Dr. Keyser talked twice before the conference which will last two weeks. In his afternoon talk on "The Origin of Man, Was It by Evolution or Direct Creation," he claimed that God's use of words in Genesis prohibited the possibility of the evolutionists' doctrine being true. In his talk he quoted from the Hebrew manuscripts of the Bible.

" 'Bara" in Hebrew means to create out of nothing, and this word appears only three times in the original Hebrew version of Genesis: in speaking of the creation of the heavens and the earth, in the creation of animals without a soul and in describing the creation of man, who has both a soul and a spirit.

"The word 'asah' which means to manufacture out of something, is is used throughout the rest of the context. It seems evident that God would no misuse these words, so it is only reasonable to believe that God created man as the Bible states."

LOS ANGELES BIGGER

City of Angels Grew 33-4 Square Miles Last Year.

LOS ANGELES, Aug 15 (Associated Press).—Los Angeles grew 3.79 square miles in the past fiscal year, its city engineer reporting that its area now totals 410.77 square miles. From north to south the city stretches 44 miles, while east to west extends 20 miles. A little trip around the city's boundary line would amount to 269.8 miles. During the past year 129 miles of streets were paved, whole for the new fiscal year the city engineer has on hand orders including 229 additional miles of paving.

COME TO ENNISMORE

Come! come to Ennismore the land of your birth,
Come! Join with us in laughter and mirth
As you pass along the Smithtown road,
We doubt if you'll know one abode;
But if you're anxious to know the lots,
Just read the names written on the box.

The old watering trough in a murmur low,
Will gasp, "I'm the remains of long ago."
The Montgomery swamp with its narrow way,
Will bring back thoughts of another day,
When there was fighting and bottles, and "booze" galore
Oh! It was a grand old spot for Ennismore.

Now; instead of the howl of the wolf through the loney trees,
The bark of a sly little fox will be carried through the breeze.
The old floating bridge from its moss-covered planks,
Will beseech you to sink it and then will say "thanks",
For it is old fashioned and it is bound
To be just as good as the iron bridge at Cown's.

The big square store with its stately walls,
Will reverberate, and tell you of many a squall,
Of Fleury, and Patsy, and Mike and Bill,
Oh! come back again and try out your skill.
Nearby the store in a sequestered nook,
Stands a school that has turned out many a crook.

Step in! Look about! Examine the room,
In your memory many a picture of "Donoghue" will loom,
With Father Fitzpatrick, terrible, haughty, holding his sway,
Oh! didn't we boys yearn to be miles away.

The church still stands in the same old place,
But we're going ahead at a very great pace.

We erected a new one, larger, modern and gayer,
Oh! drop in! and recite a short fervent prayer:
You'll find in its pews three wise men,
By no means religious or free from sin,
But they joined up the people who came early and late
Hence the flappers hang no longer around the gate.

There is many a building and many a spot
That haunts your memory which I have forgot.
So visit them, here in the land of your birth,
It may be the last time on this old earth.
Come! Come! We implore; come spend three days
With us in Ennismore.

FATALLY BURNED

COST OF LIVING IN PARIS RISING

Country Remains Prosperous in Face of Increase, With Work Plentiful.

PARIS, Aug. 15.—Living costs have been mounting steadily the last few months. One week in July saw substantial advances in the prices of bread, postage and books. Other commodities have risen similarly.

Another method of stating the stiuation, of course, is to explain that the buying power of the franc has been declining because of lack of confidence in the currency, and inflation. In March an American dollar would buy 18 French francs, whereas since July it will buy 21 or 22.

But the depreciated franc does mean higher living costs for most of the French people. They are in the same situation as were salaried workers in the United States during the war years. Their incomes have remained fixed, while living costs have risen.

The one item that has remained practically stationary has been rents. People who have held their living quarters under leases, as most of the French people do, have benefitted from the depreciated currency. There is a strong possibility that they may be able to enjoy their advantage for some time to come. Agitation has started for a five years extension to all leases and if the social problem should become acute there is little doubt that the government will order the extension. The French government has much greater powers over the relations of landlord and tenant than are recognized in the United States.

Is Little Suffering.

When living costs have advanced, so far, according to all evidences, there has been no suffering. France has been prosperous since the war, her condition standing in strong contrast with that of other important European countries.

A higher standard of living has been established, and an eight-hour day introduced. Conditions in the labor market have been so favorable that there has been practically no unemployment, and, for the first time in generations, there has been a considrable body of immigration.

During the last months of 1924, the government made a study of the cost of living. Its investigation revealed that food and lodging now cost the unmarried worker about the same percentage of his wages as they did prior to the war, but that the man with a family, if he adheres to his pre-war standards has more money now than he did in pre-war years.

Since the first of the year, however, there have been several advances in the prices of necessities that disturb the accuracy of those governmental conclusions, although in what degree is uncertain, but employment remains steady.

The workingmen have become restive under the repeated advances in prices. Strikes are threatening inpractically every branch of the governmental service. Several times in recent months it has seemed certain that there would be a postal tieup because of the refusal of the government to yield wage increases, but each time there has been a compromise.

"Slow Motion" Strike.

Several large employers, including the street car and bus lines, have granted salary increases. One of the features of the bus wage controversy was a "slow motion" strike put on by bus drivers, something new in labor trouble.

The drivers ambled along in low gear despite the whistles and frantic shouts of exasperated gendarmes. Behind them was a terrific din from the horns of drivers who could not pass. Some of the truck drivers joined in with the bus drivers, either out of sympathy or a sense of humor.

The taxicab drivers are demanding increased fares, and will probably be granted them, since they have not enjoyed any boosts since the franc started its decline.

The outcome of the race between mounting prices and the demands of labor for higher wages is problematical. If Mr. Caillaux the finance minister, can succeed in stabilizing French finances and reducing the depreciation of the franc it will help a lot. But if he shoul fail, there will either have to be wage increases or a lowering in standards of living. Something will have to yield.

Voodo Price List Shows Odd Charms and Powders

ATLANTIC CITY, Aug. 15. — Twelve thousand circulars said to have been sent to this city by a New York voodoo doctor were seized by the police here as they were being distributed to negro homes on the north side by six negro boys.

All sorts of love powders, wishing dust, lucky charms and incantations are offered for sale on the circular, with prices ranging from $1 to $1,000.

Inquiry developed that "Bringing Back Powders" were designed to return an errant wife or husband to a grieving spouse, "Tying Down Goods" were said to keep the object of one's affections from departing, while "Chasing Away Goods" had the opposite effect. "Boss Fix Powders" keep one's employer in a friendly mood.

This is LEADERSHIP!

Two years ago, Chrysler predicted that the Chrysler Six would change the whole trend of motor car design, engineering, manufacture and equipment.

Today, while others proclaim Chrysler Six features of two years ago, Chrysler strides forward to new limits of quality, of performance results, of advanced engineering.

Chrysler Six owners the world over do not forget these truths:—

Two years ago, Chrysler pioneered the compact, roomy car, combining comfort and ease of riding, without wasteful weight or extravagant size.

Two years ago, Chrysler introduced a new ratio of horse-power per pound of weight. The Chrysler Six is today the only car in the world which gives a speed of 70 miles per hour and more, combined with gasoline economy of better than 24 miles per gallon.

Two years ago, Chrysler pioneered Purolator—the oil-filter which cleanses your crankcase oil as the motor runs.

Two years ago, Chrysler advanced an entirely new design in bodies, and today Chrysler-designed closed bodies are all executed by Fisher.

Two years ago, Chrysler initiated the four-wheel hydraulic brake trend. The Chrysler Six was the first car to have, as standard equipment, these self-equalizing brakes of super-safety.

Two years ago, Chrysler Six provided, as standard equipment, the air-cleaner which keeps dust and dirt out of your engine.

Two years ago, Chrysler gave thermostatic control of motor heat to assure greatest working efficiency.

Two years ago, Chrysler eliminated sidesway by a new method of spring suspension exclusive to the Chrysler Six.

Today, the new developments initiated by Chrysler quality have not yet brought any other car abreast of the Chrysler Six of two years ago.

And meanwhile, Chrysler has developed new measures of manufacturing fineness, new features of extraordinary equipment, new superiorities of performance and new standards of riding and driving ease now available in the new Chrysler Six at new low prices.

MILLBROOK WON FROM BETHANY

Came of Thrills and Interest Cinched in Ninth.

REAL BALL GAME.

Millbrook acted as host t. Bethany last evening when the representative teams of both villages met in the culminating games of the season and the result of the entertainment was that the guests were sent away with the small end of the score. The contest is well represented by the figures 4-3 which indicate that it was a battle from start to finish wit' very little to choose between the teams.

For Millbrook the pitcher took the burden of the song with a flock of 15 strikeouts while the Bethany gang showed more of a community spirit and shared the honors more evenly. The clouting was heavy on both teams and two extra base wallops made their mark on the score column. Both drives were to deep centre and fast fielding prevented the runn rs in each case from passing second.

The fifth was the big innings for both teams each grabbing two runs. In Bethany's half Neal s str ck out, G. Staples hit, Ryley walked and Staples drove a liner between short and second, s oring Staples and Price.

Millbrook then came to bat and got their two runs off four hits. No more runs were scored until the ninth when two hit batsmen, a sacrifice and Armstrong's timely wallop delivered the bacon.

One peculiar feature of the game was the fact that the Millbrook third baseman Russell, got all the assists. Four times he whipped the ball across to first to catch the runners flat-footed. Bethany uncorked two sparkling double plays, one in the fourth when Russell grounded, out C. Staples to Dawe, and Lancashire was doubled Dawe to D. Staples.

The other play was in the fifth, when Hickson was tagged out by G. Staples assisted by R. Staples. G. then raced back to second and caught Natrass cold as he was attempting to pilfer the bag. Both plays retired the side on each occasion.

The moist condition of the ground did not appear to affect the play, the two errors being of a trivial nature, neither of which affected the scoring.

COGS FAILED TO SCORE ON RAYS

Only Three Hits Off Shaughnessy in First Game of Final Series.

GAME ENDED 10-0.

Raybestos goose-egged Cognawagas all through the first game of the East Peterboro League finals at Exhibition Park last evening, and scored ten runs. Cogs were off their stride and were terribly weak at the bat, getting only three hits off Shaughnessy. The usually steady infielding also was missing, and against the double handicap, Harvey Smith's pitching availed nothing more than to keep down the score.

It was a battle for four innings, when Raybestos had a hard time getting a brace of runs. They got one in the first when, with two down, Moore, who was hit by the pitcher, advanced on a wild heave and scored on Rogers' single into left. Allen was playing deep for Rogers, and had no chance to head off the run.

With one gone in the fourth, Rooke allowed Nicholls' liner to go through. The runner advanced on McIntyre's out and scored when William's opened the gate for Webb's grounder. Shadgett made a nice play on Shaughnessy's hard chance and got Webb on a force at second to end the trame.

In the fifth, with one out, Grose walked and stole second, taking third when Moore went out, and scoring on Rogers' tap through the infield. Rogers made third on Nicholls' hit over second, and scored on a passed ball. Davis recovered to throw out the runner to third.

The sixth was a bad session for the Cogs. McIntyre took one of Smith's shoots near his "Charlie Chaplin," and C. Nicholls, who had replaced Webb, singled him to third. Shadgett dropped Turner's fly after a hard run, McIntyre scoring. On Shaughnessy's grounder Nicholls was forced at third. Batten flew out to Cripps. Rooke dropped a throw from Wilson off Grose's grounder and went down a casualty, Turner and Shaughnessy counting. Davis heaved high to second to get Grose and he went to third, scoring on Moore's triple. Rogers grounded out to Williams to end it.

Two were gone when the Rays made it ten times in the seventh. Nicholls walked, Turner got a hit on his drive to short, and Shaughnessy scored both with a drive into left. Batten fanned to retire the side.

Cogs looked good to score in the third with two on and nobody out. But Rooke flied to Nicholls, Allen went out, pitcher to first, and Williams popped to Batten. They got two on in the sixth without results, and a double play killed them off in the seventh.

The teams are playing a second game, and a third game if necessary, this afternoon.

PETERBOROUGH C. O. B. L. AVERAGES.

The complete averages for the Peterboro Central Ontario League team for the 23 games played show a few changes in the standing since the last lists were published. Fred Ash, the young outfielder, is leading the squad with a .375 average, while Herb Wolfe has dropped down to fifth place. The biggest gainer among the regulars is Hap Harrison, who has boosted his average 22 points.

Harrison, who is the only Peterboro player to take part in all the games played, leads by a good margin in run-getting, with 23, an average of one run per game, while he has also taken the lead in batting in runs, having driven home 21 counters. "Hap" is also the leader in total bases, his string including a homer, five triples and two doubles.

Swanston leads the list in doubles and shares top place with Jimmy Hall in sacrifice hits, while Wolfe is the leading base-runner with nine stolen bases.

AUSTRALIA WON IN CUP SERIES

Took Doubles in Straight Sets From Canadian Pair.

SUPERIOR PLAY.

MONTREAL, Aug. 15 (Canadian Press).—Australia eliminated Canada from the Davis Cup series yesterday afternoon, when Gerald L. Patterson and Jack Hawkes defeated the Canadian Stars, Willard F. Crocker and Jack Wright, in their second round cup tie doubles encourter at the Mount Royal Tennis Club courts. The Australians won in straight sets, 6-0, 6-2, 6-4, their win, coupled with their two victories in the singles Thursday, qualifying them to meet the winners of the Japan-Spain series, now underway at Baltimore.

Unquestioned superiority at every style of doubles play brought advancement to the 'Aussies," Petterson and Hawkes, teamed with perfect cohesion and continually held the aggressive against the Canadian pair, whom they drove back to a defensive game on the back court where they were unable to play as effectively as if they had had more chance of working up to the net. Hawkes carried the burden of the play for the Australian pair, engaging in volleying duels with Crocker and Wright and paving the way for the placements on "kills" for points made by the hard-driving Patterson.

Patterson played a much smarter game than he showed Thusday in his singles match with Jack Wright, when he barely saved himself from defeat at the hands of the flashy young Canadian.

INSIDE GOLF

By CHESTER HORTON

Maker of 51 Golf Champions. "Golf's most successful teacher," says "Chick" Evans

When an explosion shot must be made see to it that the feet are planted firmly in the sand. Dig them in until the sand feels solid under them. Have the feet rather close together. Swing the blade back and forth a few times over the ball, for the address, meantime focusing on a point in the sand some two or three inches back of the ball. Be sure to swing the club back slowly. Take it about half way back—a half swing—then poise it there until it seems to want to hit back of itself. Hold the body still and keep the weight about evenly distributed on the feet. As the blade starts down let it accelerate naturally—be very careful not to press. Pressing, or body lunging, will invariably ruin the shot. Design to push the blade straight through the ball to a point six inches in front of it. The main thing is not to be jerky with the club, and this must be particularly watched for because of the mental hazard involved. Be sure to fill up your foot prints.

JAPAN WON FROM SPAIN IN DOUBLES

Davis Cup Match at Baltimore Went Five Sets Before Decision.

BALTIMORE, Md., Aug. 15.—(Canadian Press).—Japan yesterday won the Davis Cup elimination tennis doubles from Spain, 6-2, 6-3, 2-6, 8-10, 6-3.

Harada, flashing a sensational game, carried the greater part of the burden for the victors. He was ably seconded throughout, however, by the steadier Shimizu, his teammate. Th eAlonso brothers, Manuel and Jose, fared badly in the first two sets when the smoothly working Japanese combination singled out Jose as the target for a back-court game which enticed the Spaniard into many errors.

In the third and fourth sets the Spanish team worked its way to the net, and in a style of the game the brothers seemed particularly to fancy, they forced the Japanese temporarily into retirement. Of the 18 games of the fourth set, 12 went to deuce, several many times. Japan resorted again to the back-court strategy in winning the final set with ease.

AMENDMENTS TO ELECTIONS ACT

Only Week Elapses Between Nomination and Polling Days.

OTHER CHANGES.

OTTAWA, Aug. 15. — (Canadian Press.)—The current issue of the Canada Gazette contains a notice by the chief electorate officer bringing into force amendments to the Dominion Elections Act made at the last session of Parliament. Among the more important of these amendments is that which reduces the interval between nomination and polling days from fourteen to seven in all but twenty-seven constituencies. Another is that which requires immediate appointment of returning officers, who are now to hold office during their pleasure, and to conduct such elections as may be directed to be held in their electoral districts during their tenure of office. Heretofore returning officers have been appointed only temporarily for the purpose of holding specified elections.

COFFEE SMUGGLERS LOST THEIR CARGO

Fight in Alpine Passes Ended in Victory For Customs Guards.

MILAN, Aug. 15.—(United Press)—Coffee bootleggers and Customs guards fought a pitched battle in the darkness of the Alpine Passes last night, which led to the capture of one contraband runner, and the loss of their smuggling cargo.

The battle occurred at the frontier when guards came upon a band of men with a large quantity of coffee which they were seeking to run into Milan in the hope of great profit in view of the scarcity and high price of coffee here.

The coffee runners fled through the mountain paths, firing at the guards as they went. The night spoiled their aim, however, and the guards kept up the pursuit until one smuggler had fallen into a ditch and was captured, and the others had found a hiding place in the passes.

Anti-Toxin Supplied to Ward Off Lockjaw.

BALTIMORE, Md., Aug. 15. — Mary Griffith, aged 33, is critically ill in a hospital here with tetanus symptoms from pin pricks, almost invisible, received while she was dressing her baby. The disease has spread in two weeks until the entire left side of her body and face is infected and little hope is held for her recovery.

Dr. J. B. Harding, staff physician, who immediately realized the gravity of the case, applied tetanus antitoxin to ward off lockjaw in the slim hope that it had not yet actually set in.

LOUIS DISBROW, SPEED KING, LATEST RACE ENTRANT

Entry For Peterboro Races Came as a Surprise — Will Compete Only at Monreal and This City.

Louis Disbrow, French auto racing dare-devil, idol of the dirt track speed fans throughout the United States and in many cities in Canada, is the latest entrant for the big automobile race meet to be held at the Peterboro Exhibition Grounds next Thursday afternoon. Disbrow's entry came as a distinct surprise to Manager Sloan, the little "Napolean of speed" as he is known to a huge throng of followers, deciding to engage in the speed duels here en route to Montreal, where he competes in the Delorimier Park meet on the 23rd. Disbrow's Peterboro and Montreal appearances will mark his only competition in Canada this season, as he will be forced to forego the Toronto Exhibition races on account of having to sail on the 25th for the Italian Grand Prix, which is to be held on September 6th. Disbrow, in a wire to Mr. Sloan, stated that he is anxious to get chance to lower the colors of Ray Lampkin before the British champion deserts the dirt track racing sport. Lampkin has declared that the present season will be his last at the wheel of a racing car, and should he make good his swan song Disbrow would never have an opportunity to get revenge for the beating his arch enemy of the speedways gave him the last time the pair met in Detroit. Disbrow will be seen at the wheel of his Disbrow special, a car built for him by one of the great makers of France.

Many of the men drivers have telegraphed protests against permitting Mlle. Martens, the world's champion woman driver, to compete in the open races. The noted French girl insists that jealousy over her prowess as a racing driver is behind the antagonistic attitude of the men. The men aver that they just do not relish the idea of taking a chance of man, Johnnie Green and Cleo Sarles loom as the drivers who will cause Lampkin and Disbrow the greatest competition.

Indications point to a huge out-of-town crowd being drawn to the Exhibition Grounds on Thursday. Hundreds of summer tourists who are at resorts near Peterboro are planning to come in for the afternoon. The popularity of automobile racing in other cities, the crowds drawn to the Indianapolis and other American speedways being far larger than are attracted to any other brand of sport, has spread to the smaller cities of the United States and Canada. Manager Sloan is taking no chances on having a big crowd at the Exhibition Grounds with inadequate policing and safety zone facilities. Arrangements are being made, in co-operation with Mr. Webber Turner, to handle a big crowd. Liberal applications of the dust-laying solution, calcium chloride, will be given the surface of the track on Tuesday and Wednesday nights.

"Puddy" Hoffman, chance-taking dirt track driver of great note who will set a hot pace for his competitors in the big automobile race meet at the Peterboro Exhibition Grounds next Thursday afternoon.

A TRIBUTE TO PETERBORO' HORSES.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Dear Sir: Will you kindly allow me a small space in your paper to pay a tribute to our noble friend and beast of burden, "The Horse."

The writer knows of two people who visited Peterboro recently for the first time, and who remarked, "What splendid working horses Peterboro has!" and we wonder just how many citizens appreciate this fact. This should be considered a wonderful compliment, not only to the City of Peterboro, but to the owners of these "splendid" work-horses. How much more wonderful to hear this remark than to hear: "What awful looking horses Peterboro has!"

Peterboro may well be proud of its commercial horses, which help to make our city beautiful, but there is still the odd one that remains a disgrace. There is nothing that responds more readily to kindness and good care than a horse. There are a number that have come under the writer's observation that are doing their work faithfully each day under such care, and we are going to name some of their owners: Fanning's Laundry, Parker's Dye Works, Allin Ice Co., Canadian Packing Co., Kinnear's, Peterboro Milk Products, J. E. A. Fitzgerald, coal dealer, Dominion and C. N. R. Express, Stock's Bread Co., and others that could be named, if space would permit.

There is nothing that will advertise a mans business any better than a good horse and a good driver. A cruel driver is expensive to his employer and slow poison to his horse. If you want to make an "old plug" out of a spirited animal; a vicious horse out of a kindly disposed one; a travelling "bone pile" out of a well conditioned animal, hire a driver that specializes in "yanking." Results can be guaranteed every time. An automobile shows quick depreciation but it is no greater than that caused by poor drivers in a stable of good horses. Any fool can jerk his horse's mouth but it takes a "man" to drive the creature properly. If every housewife would see to it that the delivery horse has to make only one trip a day to the door, a vast amount of work and actual suffering would be saved the horse, especially in hot weather.

It is amazing to see the number of "work horses" driven with a whip constantly over their back. If a horse could talk we wonder what he would say regarding this? It appears that the example the present "drivers"(?) are setting before the coming generations with regard to driving horses is bad. We fear that the young lads, instead of learning to drive with the reins and a kind voice, will be resorting a great deal to the whip. Employers could do a lot towards eliminating this if they would take time to humanely educate these lads, and at the same time benefit their own business.

We know of a large coal company in Toronto that uses 25 teams, and not one driver is allowed a whip. The confidence these horses must have in their drivers must be wonderful.

"People who give the square deal to the horse will be all the more likely to extend it to men." Human beings would do well to learn the lesson of patience and kindness from the horse. ANIMAL FRIEND.

THEATRES

AT THE CAPITOL

BIG CAST WITH MARION DAVIES IN HER "ZANDER THE GREAT."

One of the most brilliant casts ever assembled to support a motion picture star is that which is seen with Marion Davies in her newest photoplay, "Zander the Great," a picturization of Salisbury Fields' stage success of the same name, now at the Capitol Theatre.

As Mamie, heroine of "Zander the Great," Miss Davies is surrounded by a cast of noted players that sounds like the blue book of filmdom. Among them are Holbrook Blinn of "The Bad Man" fame and who also was featured with the Cosmopolitan star in "Yolanda" and "Janice Meredith," and Harrison Ford, who played opposite Miss Davies in "Little Old New York" and "Janice Meredith."

Others in the cast include the following: Hobart Bosworth, Harry Myers, George Siegmann, Richard Carle, Harry Watson, Olin Howland, Hedda Hopper, Emily Fitzroy and Baby Jack Huff.

George Hill directed "Zander the Great." It is a Cosmopolitan production, released by Metro-Goldwyn.

Steve Brodie took a famous chance once, and his name has been ringing down the corridors of time ever since. Don't forget to "take a chance" on Monday, or Tuesday or Wednesday, at the Capitol Theatre, and see something entirely out of the ordinary in a moving picture programme, with added novelties in the way of singing, music and dancing by a group of artists from out of town.

The entire programme is a mysterious affair, without any advance information as to the exact nature of the feature picture or musical entertainment, or short reels. "Take a Chance" and see it.

AT THE ROYAL.

COUNTRY STORE NIGHT ON MONDAY.

Some unusually good prizes have been secured for "Country Store Nite" at the Royal Monday. The picture attraction is Dix's newest and best feature 'The Shock Punch.'

"SHOCK PUNCH" WITH RICHARD DIX AT ROYAL MONDAY

Richard Dix arrives at the Royal Theatre next Monday in the role of a young man who has lightning in his fists in the Paramount picture, "The Shock Punch," directed by Paul Sloane from John Monk Saunders' Liberty Magazine story.

The story has to do with a young millionaire who dreads the thought of getting "soft" and hires a couple of professional pugilists to keep him in trim. The action starts with the first scene, and doesn't let up for a minute.

Frances Howard is the girl in the case. She is the daughter of a building contractor who likes Dix but doesn't take to his fistic accomplishments and tells him that if he wants to stay in good with her he'll have to tone down a bit. This Dix tries to do, but everywhere everyone seems to be tempting him to demonstrate the famous "shock punch" he has developed as the result of weeks of strenuous training.

—and he does, not once but several times, and when that old blow hits home, you'll almost break the handles off the seats.

If you don't like "The Shock Punch," the motion picture isn't made that will entertain you.

Do you want Domestic Help? Insert a small ad. in the Male or Female Help Wanted columns and they will be secured.

TRUTH VERSUS ERROR.

The time has come when the "church" (the Assembly of God) must recognize that the prevailing custom of one man usurping authority in the Assembly of God is erroneous. "One is our Master, and all we are brethren." Each one of the Assembly, severally, must fill their own office. In the gifts of the Holy Spirit there is provision made for the Assembly; for when the Holy Spirit is received, the gifts of the Spirit, and the manifestations of the same are to "profit" and "edify" the whole Assembly. The first of the gifts of the Holy Spirit is—"a word of wisdom," "a word of knowledge," then follows "faith," "healings," "powers," "prophecy," "discerning of spirits," "tongues," "interpretation of tongues." Just as truly could the natural body dispense with one or more of its members, as the Assembly to do away with one or more of the gifts of the Spirit. Just as consistently, let me pluck out one of your eyes, cut off your arm, or take away any member of your body, and thus stop their operations, as to discard or refuse any one of the gifts of the Spirit.—M. T. Butcher. 1d39 1667

FINANCIAL NEWS.

New Highs For Mack Trucks And General Electric To-day

NEW YORK, Aug. 15.—(Canadian Press).—Except for a break of five points in American Can, and sharp advances in some of the other high-priced industrials, the main body of stocks in to-day's stock market showed little change, although the undertone was distinctly firm. Mack Trucks was run up over 7 points to a new top just below 217, Westinghouse Air Brake jumped 6 points to 132, and General Electric 5 3-4 to 327 3-4, all new record high prices. Dupont was bid up 7 points and Havana Electric 3. In the general list the equipments, electrical and motor issues gave the best demonstration of group strength and there was a noticeable cessation of selling pressure in the oils. Closing was firm. Total sales approximated 500,000 shares.

Toronto Stocks Continue Their Sensational Advance

TORONTO, Aug. 15.—(Canadian Press).—An advance of 4 1-8 points in Consolidated Smelters was the feature of the week's closing session of the Toronto Stock Exchange this morning.
After a light opening the market broadened and active dealings took in an exceptionally wide list.
Smelters with transactions of more than fourteen hundred shares, dominated the session, but Pure Gold, Canada Bread and T. N. Burt were all active. Smelters climbed steadily from fractionally stronger opening at 117¼ to 121 3-8, a new current high. Pure Gold experienced a 2¼ point rise to 26⅜. Canada Bread gained 1 3-4 at 61 3-4. At the opening of the week it was at 45. T. N. Burt improved a further quarter point to 62½. Twin City and Winnipeg were slightly easier, as was Brazilian. City Dairy receded 1 5-8 in light dealings to 86 1-8.

Canadian Crop Reports Set Back Chicago Wheat

CHICAGO, Aug. 15.—(Canadian Press).—Despite an unexpected upturn in Liverpool quotations, wheat market here underwent a sharp setback in price to-day, during early dealings. Downturns in value were described largely to bearish crop reports from Canada. Considerable attention was also being given to a persistent dearth of the export business and to possibilities that the north-western markets would sink to a shipping basis under Chicago. The opening, 5-8c lower to 3-8c higher, September 160 to 161 and December 158 3-8 to 158 5-8, was followed by a drop that carried September down to 158 and December to 156. In the absence of any pressure to sell corn and oats were relatively firm as compared with wheat. After opening at a quarter cent off, to 3-8c up, September 104 3-4 to 105, the corn market declined fractionally all around, but then rallied to yesterday's finish or above. Oats started unchanged to 1-8 to ¼ cent lower, September 40 3-4 to 40 7-8, and later held near to the initial range.

STOLE RIDE ON AIRPLANE WING

Stowaway Unnoticed By Aviators Until Their Ship Was High in Air

LOS ANGELES, Calif., Aug. 15 (Canadian Press). — Ignoring the blind baggage train, Jack Richman finding himself up against it for transportation at Las Vegas, Nevada, yesterday grabbed the wing of an airplane and beat the best railroad into Los Angeles.
The plant Jack "flipped" as it was taking off and piloted by Major C. C. Moseley, head of the California National Guard Air Force, and the weight of the man hanging on the outer edge of the wing nearly sent the ship into a disastrous sideslip.
Neither Major Moseley nor Sergt. Chestnut Wood accompanying him, saw their uninvited passenger until they were well off the ground. They motioned him to crawl in toward the fuselage. He obeyed and thereby, Moseley relates, saved them from a crash.

IN MEMORIAM.

In loving memory of our dear daughter, Ethel McIlwain, who departed from us August 16, 1923:
She is not dead, although the voice of loved ones,
Calling in anguish, she nor heeds nor hears,
But calmly sleeps, e'en while so fast are falling
Upon her pallid brow, our bitter tears.
The silver cord is loosed, to God, our Father
Her spirit has returned, and on His breast,
Forever free from earthly pain and sorrow,
Where death can come no more, she is at rest.
Not dead, but living in that heavenly city,
Where life's broad river rolls serenely by
Through fadeless fields, there Christ Himself shall lead them,
And wipe away the tears from every eye.
The bright, immortal tenant has forsaken
Her earthly dwelling, till the last great day,
In sure and certain hope of glad awaking
In earths kind bosom, her loved form we lay.
—Sadly missed by mother and father, brothers and sisters.

Father and Two Sons Charged With Incest—Local Indecent Assault Case.

A father and two sons were charged with incest at a session of the county police court yesterday with Messrs. V. Eastwood and Frank Adams, Justices of the Peace, presiding. They were bailed until August 18th at $ 2,000. In the city court this morning before Magistrate Langley a local man was remanded until Tuesday on a charge of indecent assault and was liberated on $2,000 bail.
A resident of Belmont Township pleading guilty to unlawfully selling liquor was fined $600 and costs with the alternative of spending 3 months in jail. The fine was paid.
J. F. Strickland appearing on behalf of two men who pleaded guilty to being drunk in a public place explained that they got drunk in quite a lawful place but had not sense enough to stay there. This want of sense cost both $10 and costs. A younger man who was with them when they were arrested was quite sober but according to the police tried to be smart when questioned and "sassed" the officer who thereupon took him up on a technical charge of vagrancy. Justice of the peace Eastwood in dismissing him with a reprimand warned him that when he found himself in indifferent company he must answer any questons the police might put to him if he wished to keep out of the court.
An elderly man, charged with vagrancy was remanded for a week.

PETERBOROUGH CHURCHES

ST. PAUL'S PRESBYTERIAN.

Under the leadership of the Rev. J. Morrice Roger, a Church of Scotland minister from Aberdeen, and the pioneer Presbyterian clergyman in this district.
St. Paul's church was built in 1859, as a spiritual home for the congregation, which had been without a suitable place of worship for two years, following the loss of their church property as a result of the breaking away of Presbyterians of Canada from the Church of Scotland.
This structure cost $20,000, was of red brick and was 90 x 50 feet, surmounted by a lofty spire.
During the 31 years of active ministry of the late Rev. E. F. Torrance, the congregation so flourished that extensions and alterations became necessary and this work was carried through to completion, the restored church being re-opened for worship on May 3, 1885.
A new impetus was given to the church life, and in the following spring as a result of special evangelistic services, ninety new members were added, among that number being R. E. Knowles, who has since become famous as a preacher, lecturer and journalist.
To-St. Paul's has an auditorium with an area of 84 x 76 feet, and a seating capacity of 1200.
The interior is beautifully finished, and in the rear of the pulpit a large alcove is fitted with a splendid organ, costing $3000. A handsome and commodious school room, semi-circular in shape, adjoins the church at the rear.
Without, the church of Gothic style, with an imposing spire, is one of the architectural beauties of the city, the fact of the main entrances facing Victoria Park, enhancing its external appearance.
The Rev. William Allan was called to St. Paul's a few weeks ago.
Next St. Luke's church.

SOCIALISTIC DOCTRINE OF KARL MARX TRANSLATED INTO DEEDS DECLARES SECRETARY OF MINERS

"Nothing to Lose But Your Chains, and a Whole World to Gain."

NEW ERA BEGINS.

Workers of Britain Just Beginning to Realize Their Power, Says A. J. Cook.

LONDON, Aug 17 (Canadian Press).—"I realize now the power we have," said A. J. Cook, general secretary of the Miners' Federation, in a speech before an enthusiastic and overflowing audience at Pontypridd, Wales, on the coal crisis.

Secretary Cook declared that a new era had been established. The words of Karl Marx: "If the workers of the world unite, you have nothing to lose but your chains, and a world to gain," had been translated into deeds, he said. The coal mine owners, Cook stated, had said to Premier Baldwin, "You keep out of the ring; let us fight'; but the Premier was humanitarian and a man, and he and his Cabinet feared the result if it had come to a fight between the miners and employers. "It would have meant revolution, take it from me." Cook added.

"Revolution will come," Cook continued. "I want revolution that will have a disciplined army behind it—a revolution that will not only have discipline, but will be organized with an objective ahead of it, a revolution understanding its goal, a revolution when the mentality of the people will be free from terrible curses of criticism and apathy."

Several warnings against the Red menace were uttered from pulpits in Great Britain yesterday.

Rev. A. W. Gough, Vicar of Brompton and Prebendary of St. Paul's Cathedral, urged that strong measures should be taken such as re-enactment of treason laws to meet the threatened situation.

MENACED EDITOR.

German Youth's Threats Land Him in Jail.

BERLIN, Aug. 17 (Canadian Press).—For sending insulting letters to George Bernhard, editor of Vossiche Zeitung, in which the editor was threatened with a beating unless he refrained from his attacks on General Ludendorff, a young student named Lutz, a member of Facist Club, has been given three months in jail.

The court ruled it was time to put a stop to such "political excesses."

WEATHER

Saturday's highest temperature was 85 degrees, while Sunday went one degree higher. We have had few really warm days this summer, 90 degrees being reached only on three occasions, two days during the first week in June, and once in July, on the 6th. Showers have been abundant and well scattered, and it is not often that the countryside has at this date the green and fresh appearance it presents at the present time. Whatever harsh criticism may be levelled at our Canadian winters, the summer is usually ideal. With cool nights, conducive to sleep, and bright days, and little oppressive heat, conditions are such that American tourists in increasing numbers are being attracted. In scenery and climate this part of Ontario has a gold mine which has hardly as yet been worked, but only prospected.—W. P.

DEBT ATTITUDE OF U. S. ANNOYS BELGIAN PRESS

Hopes of Special Treatment By Washington Shattered By Coolidge's Stand.

PROMISES BROKEN.

President Wilson's Signature Treated as Scrap of Paper, Says One Editor.

BRUSSELS, Aug. 17 (Canadian Press).—Anger and bitterness continue to mark comments of the Belgian press on the conference at Washington between the United States war debt funding commission and the Belgian mission.

The optimistic tone of semi-official statements made in Brussels before the conference which encouraged the hope that favorable conditions would be made for payment of Belgium's debt to the United States, is resented as having misled public opinion.

The "Nation Belge" says that promises have been broken and that President Wilson's signature has become a scrap of paper.

President Coolidge has laid down the policy that all the debtor nations must pay their full indebtedness, including principal and interest.

News Better Today.

BRUSSELS, Aug. 17 (United Press).—Foreign Minister Vandervelde today told the United Press that Washington news on the Belgian debt negotiations, is "better today," adding that the newspapers had exaggerated the importance of disagreements there.

"There has never been any talk of recalling the Theunis Mission," he concluded.

Agreement Tuesday.

BORDEN'S PLAN TO GIVE DOMINIONS VOICE IN THE AFFAIRS OF THE BRITISH EMPIRE

Make Dominion High Commissioners Members of Own Governments and Admit Them to British Cabinet Meetings, He Proposes.

WILLIAMSTOWN, Mass., Aug. 17 (Canadian Press).—The problem of giving the Dominions of the British Empire, an adequate voice in the determination of its foreign policy is grave, but not insoluble, Sir Robbert Borden, former Prime Minister of Canada, asserted at the Institute of Politics today in an address on "The Dominions and Foreign Relations." He gave constructive suggestions for making effective the principle of equal nationhood, complete autonomy and a voice in the Empire's policy.

Sir Robert, advocated the following measures:

That High Commissioners of the Dominions at London be made members of their own governments and receive the status of imperial privy councillors, to enable them to attend cabinet meetings in London when summoned.

That the League of Nations' representative of "The Commonwealth of Nations," (The Dominions) meet before each annual sessions of the League assembly to discuss common problems as applied to Dominions, and that Canadian and other Empire delegates to the assembly should spend at least a week in London to discuss matters on assembly agenda and also vital questions touching foreign relations.

VICTORIA PARK SCENE OF KLAN SPEECH SUNDAY

Dr. Hawkins Tells the Big Crowd of Constitution and Ideals.

AUGMENT CHURCH.

Klan Meetings Open in Presence of Bible and Union Jack.

The Ku Klux Klan of the British Empire came into the open yesterday, when a special meeting was held in Victoria Park, addressed by Dr. Hawkins, who elaborated on the policy and ideals of the organization which he had fostered since leaving the ranks of the K.K.K. of Kanada on June 26 of this year.

The meeting was largely attended by an audience which was appreciative of Dr. Hawkins' eloquence. He remarked that the business of the Klan was to augment the Church which was falling short of its mission. If Christ were on earth, he said, He would not be found in any of the big churches or in any other large institution, but would be present in some alley reaching those who were left without the ministration of the Church.

The organization known as the Ku Klux Klan of the British Empire embodied Christ in its constitution—any organism which does not do so is doomed to ultimate failure. Meetings of Klansmen are not opened until the insignia of the Order of the open Bible and the spread Union Jack are displayed, which gives an idea of the lofty ideals and patriotism which form the primal urge. Incidentally the speaker dealt with the emblems of the flag and what they should signify to men of the white race.

FORT WILLIAM, Aug 17 (Canadian Press).—Two men were struck and killed by a westbound express on the Canadian Pacific Railway tracks west of Finmark Sunday.

N. S. Wales Council, Contending Restrictions on Borrowing Were Detrimental.

MELBOURNE, Australia, Aug. — (Canadian Press Cable via Reuters). 17 The Commonwealth Loan Council has passed a resolution urging New South Wales to rejoin the loan council, pointing out that joint action will benefit all the states. Mutual agreement has been reached concerning Australian loan arrangements in London for the ensuing financial year. The loan council will continue to operate until the next financial year.

The New South Wales government resigned some months ago from the commonwealth loan council, contending that the restriction placed on the loaning of money by states was detrimental to the development of New South Wales.

SPONSOR AND FIRST CHAIRMAN OF HYDRO COMMISSION PASSES AWAY AFTER LENGTHY ILLNESS

Had Suffered From Pernicious Anaemia, and Spent Winter in South, But Gradually Sank After Return Home Late in Spring.

FUNERAL TAKES PLACE ON MONDAY.

Burial Will Be in Mount Pleasant Cemetery, Hamilton, Beside Lady Beck—Expressions of Deep Regret Received From Premier Ferguson.

LONDON, Ont., Aug. 17 (Canadian Press) — Sir Adam Beck, chairman of the Ontario Hydro Electric Commission, M.L.A. for London and Minister without portfolio in the Ontario government died at his residence here Saturday night at 10.05 o'clock, after an illness of many months. At the death bed were his daughter, Mrs. Strathearn Hay of Toronto and her husband, his brother Fritz of this city, his nephew Horacec Beck of Toronto, his secretary, Miss Stella Venning, and F. A. Gaby, chief engineer of the Hydro Commission. The end was peaceful, Sir Adam being only semi-conscious since Friday.

Sir Adam's illness first took a serious turn last winter when he was ordered to take a rest and seek a warmer climate. He left for Aiken, South Carolina, and soon after went to Johns Hopkins hospital, Baltimore. Here he was given blood transfusions to stay his disease—pernicious anaemia — and late in May he returned home. Since then he gradually sank though until quite recently he continued the direction of the vast hydro enterprise and other affairs in which he was interested, including the Queen Alexandra sanatorium. His last public appearance was six weeks ago when he addressed the board of education urging them to accept an offer from Hon. Lincoln Goldie for the purchase of part of the Ontario hospital grounds as a site for the East London collegiate.

Funeral Tuesday

The funeral service will be in St. Paul's cathedral Tuesday noon at 12:45. In order to give the public an opportunity of paying their last respects the body will lie in state in the cathedral from 10 a.m. to 12.45 p.m. A private service will be held at the residence for the immediate members of the family early in the morning. Interment will take place in Mount Pleasant cemetery, Hamilton, where Lady Beck was buried.

Right Rev. David Williams, Bishop of Huron, assisted by Very Rev. L. Norman Tucker, M.A., D.D., D.C.L., Dean of Huron and rector of St Paul's cathedral, will have charge of the public services. They will also officiate at the private prayers at the residence as well as at the services in the cathedral and cemetery.

Following the public services the body will be conveyed to a special Canadian National Railway train which will leave for Hamilton at 2 o'clock with the relatives and friends. The cortege will proceed direct to Mount Pleasant cemetery on the arrival of the special train. This train will leave for London again at 7 p.m.

Hon. Howard Ferguson, Premier of Ontario, with the other members of the Provincial cabinet will come to London on a special train to attend the public services. They will go to Hamilton for the burial services. As many members of the cabinet as can come will be here to pay their last respects to their late colleague.

J. Frank White, M.P. for London, J. P. Moore, vice-chairman of the London Railway Commission, Philip Pocock, member and former chairman of the Public Utilities Commission, Dr. J. L. Todd of Montreal, P. A. Gaby, chief engineer of the Hydro Electric Power Commission of Ontario and ex-Mayor C. Alfred Maguire of Toronto have been chosen as pall-bearers.

The news of Sir Adam's death occasioned deep regret in this city where he has been a resident since 1884. Feeling references were made to him in the city pulpits yesterday.

Premier's Statement.

TORONTO, Aug. 17. — (Canadian Press.)—Hon. G. Howard Ferguson, Premier of Ontario, last night issued the following statement concerning the death of Sir Adam Beck:

"Speaking on behalf of the Government, and, I believe, of the whole people of Ontario, I desire to express the feeling of profound and universal sorrow occasioned by the death of Sir Adam Beck. Our sorrow at the parting of Sir Adam is equalled only by the sense of loss which has befallen the public life and the public service of this province.

"Sir Adam was an outstanding figure in Ontario, and indeed in all Canada. It is now some twenty years since Sir James Whitney launched his Hydro-Electric policy, which many well-meaning people in those days thought to be visionary and impracticable. Sir James ensured the success of the undertaking through the wonderful organizing ability, and zeal and energy of Adam Beck, who realised the value of the opportunity of placing within the reach of all and great advantages which nature and science had combined to bestow upon this community. To the achievement of this task, Sir Adam gave his life down to the last fleeting moment.

"The difficulties, the discouragements Sir Adam had to meet would have deterred any man less zealous and less energetic in the service of the public. During the greater part of his public career, it was my privilege to sit in the Legislative Assembly, and in the governments, with Sir Adam, and I had many opportunities of observing his keen watchfulness, and his untiring zeal, for the great project which was his life work and which will for generations to come be his monument. No man in public life ever gave himself up so fully and so effectually to a great ideal than did Sir Adam during those years.

"As is well known, Sir Adam was a man of moderate political views, and had practically retired from public life when he did me the honor to accept my invitation to join the present administration. In his relations with the government he has been a wise councillor, a faithful colleague and a zealous public servant. My colleagues and I, therefore, have a deep sense of personal loss, in which, I am sure, very many people throughout the province will participate.

"Because of his long and intimate connection with the power movement, the burden Sir Adam has had of necessity to carry has been enormous and has finally taxed his resources beyond their powers of endurance. Even when it was clear that the end was approaching, his determination to work was so great that he remained cheerfully and actively at his post to the last. It was a great satisfaction to him to have witnessed the vindication of his administration, both actually and in the public mind, and to have the knowledge that the creation of the greatest publicly-owned power project in the world has been successfully accomplished largely through his efforts and personality.

"Ontario pays grateful and respectful tribute to the memory of Sir Adam Beck, as one of its most unselfish and most devoted public men. The verdict of history will be that he served his country worthily and well, and that he won the highest place in the esteem, the regard and the gratitude of his generation."

RETURNED MISSIONARY TELLS OF THE HOLY CITY OF BENARES AT MEETING OF WARSAW WOMEN

Saw the Sacred Gang es and the Places Where the Faithful Bathe.

HOME ON FURLOUGH

Natives Believe There is a God in River to Save Them.

WARSAW, Aug. 14.—An interesting address on missionary work in India was given by Mrs. Smith (nee Maria Fletcher) at Wednesday's meeting of the Warsaw and Cottesloe missionary societies, at the home of Mrs. Wm. Forsythe.

Mrs. Smith and her husband have been engaged in missionary work at Benares in India for fourteen years and are now home on furlough, spending a few days with Mrs. David Drain. The two main things they found to do in India was to learn the language and study the people, Mrs. Smith said.

The Hindoos believe there is a God in the Ganges River and that by bathing there, they may be saved. When they went to Benares they had a Brahmin guide; he showed them the beauties of the city. They wished to see the religion, and told him so. He was very reluctant to do so; but took them to the river. Different castes had their own parts of the river front for bathing. Many people died there and the funeral pyres were to be seen. One who knew, could judge the wealth of the person, by the size of the pyre. They were glad to get back among the Christions again. There is such a contrast between the expressions of the Hindoo and the Christian.

School for Boys.

Mr. Smith is principal of a school of three hundred boys. About one hundred of them are Christians. The boys have the privilege of earning their own way through school. This is quite an innovation.

There are twice as many missionaries needed. Those there try to do two men's work, but they cannot.

A single woman has definite work set her. A married woman organizes, strengthens, helps wherever and whenever her help is needed. She went on one of the missionary tours. A man, an idol maker, wanted to know about the true God. From 7 a.m. until noon they saw people in the dispensary, where, having been a trained nurse, she could help. Then they just closed their doors for one and a half hours, and after 1.30 p.m. they went visiting in the homes. In the evenings, there are meetings.

Mrs. Smith told a story of a little girl who was not wanted, so they brought her to the school, and they kept her; now she is teaching.

Sometimes the Christians give the missionaries their idols as keepsakes.

When the missionaries go to a place, the children come and peep at them, and may ask to see the top of the house. They take them in and show them all they can, mirrors especially interested them, and when they say Good-bye, they tell them about the Sunday School, and invite them to come. Sometimes as many as twenty-five will come, and that number may be doubled by next time.

The speaker sang a little motion song, "Praise to Jesus," which the children love.

In the Zenanna visiting, the missionary goes with a Bible woman, and takes a Bible and an hymnbook. Their home is there for the people, and the people come. They have never a quiet time.

One thing Mrs. Smith was asked to do is to name the babies, in which she delights. They want Bible names. Once she decided to break away from the rule, and asked the father— the mother had died—if he would mind, so she named the child George Henry, after her own brother.

She told of a woman whose child died, and she was broken-hearted, she could get no comfort and the priest scorned her; she went and lay on her child's pyre. While there, she heard children singing "There a Home for Little Children." She followed the children, who sang of this strange thing, to the missionary compound, learned of Jesus, believed and stayed. The next day was Easter.

Mrs. Smith wore, outside her dress, a handsome purple silk native costume, which she removed, and showed about eight yards of material in one piece which she had wound about herself. She also had some curios, for exhibition, and some native lace for sale.

Supporting Missions.

Rev. Mr. Harrington spoke on some reasons why some give nothing to missions, others give very little, and others give simply to get rid of the collector. The actual value of studying a text book is great. It makes people interested. He himself had a great desire to go to India, and it came to him as the result of attending a great missionary gathering in Boston in 1911. "Until we get the sacrificial spirit, we do not get very near to Christ."

Miss Florence Little, Lakefield, is visiting friends in Warsaw.

Mr. and Mrs. Stark are spending two weeks with Mrs. John Tucker.

Miss Elsie Tucker gave a picnic for her Sunday School Class on Wednesday afternoon.

HASTINGS LOSE FIRST PLAY-OFF WITH SMELTERS

Leal Pitched Deloro to Victory With Almost Perfect Support—Few Fanned.

PLAYED IN DELORO.

Second Game in Hastings on Wednesday—Trent Team Hit the Ball Hard.

(By a Staff Reporter.)

DELORO, Aug. 17.—The hard-boiled veterans in the Deloro team will make mince meat of the youngsters from Hastings, was the prediction of more than one pessimist on Saturday before the first game in the playoff between the leaders in the Northumberland and Bay of Quinte leagues started. Deloro did win by a score of 8 to 1, but the visitors put up a creditable exhibition of baseball, and when the return game is played at Hastings on Wednesday the supporters of the Hastings boys have not lost hope that the tables may be turned. Leal, pitcher for Deloro, and they call this flourishing village the "Land o' the Leal," since he took up his residence here, and helped bring it into the baseball limelight, was in good form Saturday, but the best he could do was to strike out three of the visitors. It was the almost perfect support of his field mates that saved him from defeat. The visitors had no trouble in landing on his curves, sending long drives to the outfield but there was a Deloro man on the spot ready to take care of them, no matter into which corner of the lot the ball was sent.

The first two innings were brief and snappy, only three men on each side going to bat. Dodd, the first man up for Hastings, landed on the first ball pitched by Leal, but it went outside the foul line. Then, in one, two, three order, the side was out at first on grounders to the pitcher.

In their first turn at bat the star hitters of Deloro were snuffed just as quickly, Ada on a grounder to Stephenson, who pitched the first four innings for Hastings, Shultz on a roller to Cruickshank, and Regan on a fly to the same player.

Hastings was first to get a man on first base, L. Scriver in the third, sending a grounder to Johnston at short, who made a brilliant stop and then threw high over the head of Hughes, the first baseman, Scriver going to second on the error. Gould sacrificed him to third, but he got no further, Cruickshank and Dodd being thrown out at first.

The visitors were blanked for the first seven innings, their single tally being made in the eighth. Cruickshank, the first man up, sent a high fly to left which the fleet-footed Brown was unable to reach. Gould hit to left and was allowed to take first, while Cruickshank was being put out at third, a feat which half the Deloro team gathered to perform, Leal, the pitcher, getting the put out.

Gould scored, but he had a close call, as he sprinted from third to the plate, Quinn met him with the ball but with a feet-first slide Gould upset the Deloro catcher, who, in the mix-up dropped the ball and failed to touch the runner.

In the first four innings, Stephenson held Deloro to three hits and two runs. In the fifth, four hits, two of them doubles by Bondreau and Schultz, added four runs to Deloro's tally.

Scriver went into the box in the sixth , Stephenson taking short and Gould going to centre. Three hits and two runs was all that Deloro could gather of Scriver in three innings and none of the runs was earned. Scriver hit Brown, the first man that faced him and the runner was sacrificed around to third by Leal and Hughes, scoring on a single by Ada. The score:—

Notes of Game.

The attendance Saturday was not one-third of what it was at the Hastings-Brighton game at Hastings last week.

The next game between Deloro and Hastings will be played at Hastings on Wednesday afternoon.

The Deloro diamond is shifting sand. To a team like the Hastings nine, always used to play on solid ground, the change, not to put too fine a point upon it, was embarrassing.

RAIN INTERRUPTED LEAGUE BALL GAME

Seymour West Ahead When Game Was Stopped in Fifth.

BURNBRAE, Aug. 17.—The regular league season of the Seymour Baseball League closed on Friday afternoon when Seymour West met and defeated Rylstone at the fair grounds. The game was called at the end of the fifth inning because of rain, and play was not resumed after the shower as the hour for the junior lacross game had arrived.

Both teams turned in erratic games in the field, the West side having a slight edge with eight misplays, of which number McCulloch at third contributed four, an unusual feat for this player who generally turns in a clean sheet. Inkster at short had two, while Christe and McArthur had one each. Rylstone had four all told, Caldwell having two, Bateman and Kerr one each. Practically all of these errors figured in the scoring.

The score by innings:

	R.	H.	E.
Seymour West.....31032—9	7	8
Rylstone.....23000—5	4	4

The line-ups:

Seymour West—Armour c, Reynolds lf, McCann 1b, J. Christie p, Wood cf, McCulloch 3b, Inkster ss, McArthur 2b, Ruttan rf.

Rylstone—Bateman 1b, Heath 2b and p, Hazlett, c, Burkitt 3b, Caldwell, p and 2b, Fry c, Spencer rf, Kerr ss, Dunk lf.

Rylstone have withdrawn their protest regarding the four inning game of August 4, which will stand as a win for Seymour West. The standing of the teams with the regular season completed is as follows:

	W.	L.
Burnbrae	6	2
Seymour West	6	2
English Line	5	3
Rylstone	2	6
Hoards	1	7

It is probable that the leaders will draw lots for the bye in the play-offs, the loser to go back to play English Line for the right to enter the finals. Should Seymour West be the team to play in the semi-finals, the games will take place early in September, but should Burnbrae be the team the play-offs will not start until after the 12th of September as Hume, the Burnbrae catcher, exhibits cattle at Ottawa and Toronto.

The interest in the league games has been sustained throughout, and the good brand of ball dished up in most of the games has been the means of drawing large crowds. Seymour West, at the start of the season, could not get enough good players to take an interest in the game and, as a result, dropped two of their first three games and postponed three others. Later in the year, they got recruits from Trent Bridge and Percy, and put in a snappy team that has won five straight games.

Reports indicate that the English Line has lines out for one or two promising players also, so that speculation as to probable line-ups will be the order of the day until the teams take the field in the first play-off game.

ENNISMORE'S FIRST INEXPERIENCED SETTLERS LACKING MACHINERY PLANTED THEIR GRAIN WITH HOES AND CARRIED IT ON FOOT AROUND THE LAK

First Settlement of 67 Families in 1825 and Their Harvest.

ISOLATED BY LAKE.

Ferry Built in 1844 Proved a Boon But Was Expensive and Lapsed.

The farmers of Ennismore township are celebrating this week the hundredth anniversary of the founding of their township. On Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, many of the sons and daughters of the old families who cleared the land and established homes will return for this reunion, renewing acquaintances and recalling memories that never grow dim. Only by tradition, however, will the oldest know of the first hardships and labors of the pioneers related in chronicles of the county of Peterborough, of which the following is an interesting excerpt:—

The township of Ennismore was surveyed in 1825, and was thrown open for settlement in the same year, being occupied by 67 families of the 1825 immigration. During the first year of settlement, 195 acres were cleared and the official returns for that year give the produce grown as 8900 bushels of potatoes, 3000 bushels of turnips and 1042 bushels of Indian corn. The settlers had also made 1330 pounds of maple sugar—which results were an earnest of the work that was yet to be accomplished.

These results were the more creditable when it is borne in mind that all the settlers without exception were newcomers, who had had no previous experience in clearing land for cultivation. Some of them made a practice of sweeping the newly cleared land in the spring with a broom in case it should not be sufficiently clean for the seed that was about to be sown.z Oxen were almost unknown, and, instead of harrowing in the grain, it was hoed in as well as possible among the stumps. Lake Chemong was a serious obstacle in the way of procuring supplies, for the inexperienced Old Countrymen were as yet unable to build canoes, and all wheat going to the mill and flour brought back had to be carried on their brawny shoulders round the head of the lake.

Roads were luxuries not to be thought of then and the heavy loads had to be carried as they followed the "blaze" on the trees through bush, swamp and over fallen timber for miles along the dense forest.

Gradually Prospered.

During the first 10 years, the population of Ennismore decreased, chiefly owing to the fact that the younger men had to shift to the older settlements in search of employment. Notwithstanding the drawbacks of isolation and inexperience, the patient perseverance of the pioneers overcame all difficulties, and an increasing measure of prosperity became evident in course of a few years. Owing to the influx of new settlers and the development of extensive lumbering operations in neighbouring townships, Ennismore increased in importance and prosperity and steps were taken to provide transportation between the lonely township and the lately formed village of Bridgenorth.

In February, 1844, a by-law was passed by the District Council, authorizing an appropriation of 26 for the purpose of building a scow and ferry boats to ply between Ennismore and Smith. Three commissioners were appointed to take charge of the venture and to contract with a ferryman to carry out the work. Tolls were fixed which according to present day standards, were ridiculously low. The ferry thus established was kept in operation for a few years, but was found troublesome and expensive and, though it had proven a boon to the people, was discontinued. Since that time the lake has been bridged by the present structure, and the question of erecting a more stable work is still in the air.

The soil of Ennismore is naturally rich and fertile, the location of the township on the direct route between Peterborough and Bobcaygeon making it a thoroughfare between the two points and has done away with much of the isolation that was formerly a serious drawback to its progress and, it is safe to predict, that greater times are yet in store for the community. Many of Ennismore's sons and daughters who have travelled far afield will return to the old home and will recall the tales told by their sires of hardships that did not daunt and difficulties that were overcome—tales of honorable toil and healthful labor which has already achieved great things and may lead to more wonderful results in the future.

MILLBROOK GIRLS WON.

Beat Omemee 6-4 in an Exciting Game of Softball.

OMEMEE, Aug. 15.—On Friday evening last, the girls' soft ball team of Omemee, accompanied by a number of fans, motored to Millbrook to contest with the Millbrook team. Both teams played well and a good clean game was witnessed.

Mr. A. McCorry of Millbrook, was plate umpire, and Campbell Mackey, of Omemee, on bases, while the score keeper was J. A. Vance.

The score was a tie, 4 to 4, at the end of seven inning, and all were willing to play an extra inning. In this Millbrook succeeded in gaining two runs, thus making the score 6 to 4.

After the game, the visiting team along with the entire contingent of Omemee fans was generously treated to sandwiches, cake and lemonade.

Arrangements are made for a return game on Friday evening, Aug. 21, and the locals are looking forward to the expected battle.

A large contingent of Scotch people who travel and camp in gypsy style, and had pitched their tents near the power house north of the village, have now moved to new headquarters. As is the general custom, th ladies visited every home, in the hope of disposing of their many pretty hand-made laces and doylies, and in many cases were not disappointed in making a sale. The men also made a tour of the village offering a sort of reed furniture for verandah or outdoor use.

OLD HOME WEEKS.

The objection raised by a number of Peterboro citizens when an old home week was suggested for this city that such affairs were hopelessly old-fashioned and could not possibly succeed, must be pretty well knocked out of sight by this time.

During the present summer communities all over Ontario have staged old boys' re-unions with marked success.

Down in this section of the Province Belleville and Kingston are able to report a great week's fun, with a huge registration of old boys and girls, the Kingston total being 3,200.

The Examiner has for a number of years been suggesting that Peterboro should not let all the fun and excitement go to other communities, and the success of this summer's re-unions elsewhere supplies fresh evidence of the fact that this city could undertake a similar celebration with every confidence of scoring a triumph.

A little co-operation among the citizens would make it possible to put over an old home week that would surpass in interesting features anything that has been held in this part of Ontario.

A PLEASING TOUCH.

The Rotary Club is adding to its community service in maintaining a boys' camp at Clear Lake by making it possible for mothers of the boys at present at the camp to pay them a visit.

That is a little touch that will appeal to many people as being decidedly worth while.

Naturally the mothers are interested in seeing for themselves how well their boys are being taken care of, and no written description can take the place of a personal visit.

This year's Rotary camp will be all the more enjoyable because of this new feature that has been decided upon.

It is pleasing to know that the fifty boys at the camp are having a most enjoyable outing, and those who helped to make the Rotary carnival a success will be rewarded by the feeling that they have contributed toward the enjoyment of fifty Peterboro youngsters who otherwise could not have expected such a holiday.

Peterboro is a better place because of the activities of such organizations as the Rotary and Kiwanis Clubs.

BIGGER THAN EVER.

The Examiner has been saying, and intends to say, a good deal about Peterboro's Industrial Exhibition this year.

There is a number of reasons why the Exhibition should be talked about this year.

In the first place, it will be a five-day Fair for the first time, just a step away from the week's Exhibition the Examiner predicted a few years ago.

That makes it especially notable.

In the second place, it will be bigger in every department—more and better exhibits, more and better entertainment features.

These things are well worth talking about.

The Examiner wants the people of Peterboro to look forward to the Exhibition as the biggest event of the year, because it is their Fair and they, in the last test, can make it a success or down it to failure.

Especially at this time would we suggest that citizens in general write to their friends about Peterboro's Exhibition and talk about it wherever they happen to be in the next few weeks.

All attendance marks should be shattered if the community will really behind the Exhibition.

THE PACIFIC ERA.

The cheers for the American battle fleet that echoed across the waters of Melbourne Harbor may or may not be heard around the world. They will surely be heard around the Pacific. If historic occasions are difficult to identify with confidence at the moment of their occurrence, here is at least a moving and unforgettable scene, one of many episodes that prophesy the dawn of that new era which the historians have discussed, wherein the civilizations of the world centre about the Pacific Ocean.

It is a stirring conception and there is the logic of long events behind it. The first known civilizations began in the river bottoms of the Nile, the Tigris and the Euphrates. The next era was the Mediterranean, and the great civilizations thereof confronted one another across the blue waters of this closed sea. The adventurous era of the Atlantic is still about us as the first hints of another westward drift are discernible.

The long heave of the Pacific swell seems to fit with the magnificent spaces of that greatest of oceans. The triremes of Greece were hard put to conquer the Mediterranean or a part of it. Modern invention has brought even the distant nations encircling the Pacific within easy trading touch. Here is a group of powers, young, alert, adventurous, expanding, whose interests cannot but touch and cross and interweave for the next centuries. Of varied origin, the westernmost of the West and the easternmost of the East, here is a confrontation of peoples upon a scale and with a contrast unequalled in all the earlier chapters of history.

What has happened at Australia is the sealing of an old friendship between the greatest of the Western powers of the Pacific. Understanding between this country and Australia is no new thing. The Anzacs seemed of our own breed of pioneers when they marched the streets of New York. Today forces mightier than any men or generations of men are welding this understanding into a strong and lasting bond. Through speech, through political institutions, through every industry and art, America and Australia draw nearer and nearer.

Canada, America, Australia, New Zealand—it is a far-flung friendship, based on no governmental unity and looking toward none. But it is built upon the solid facts of race, a common civilization and an outlook upon the same great sea. It is the solidest and most important international pact of the hour and is certain to continue so throughout the Pacific chapter of history.—New York Tribune.

WHY BRITISH CAPITAL IS SCARCE.

The small investments of British capital in Canada in comparison with investments of American capital have been attributed in some quarters to a British financial boycott of Canada owing to ill-feeling over the Grand Trunk question. The explanation offered by the Advertiser's correspondent in London, England, however, discards the Grand Trunk question as having practically nothing to do with the stoppage of British investments and places responsibility entirely on the low exchange value of the pound sterling as compared with the dollar.

Acceptance of this explanation and its circumstances are of assistance in removing misunderstanding which has been created by circulation in Canada of statements appearing in certain English newspapers inspired by a combination of ignorance and individual malice. The Grand Trunk controversy has been maliciously exploited against Canada. It has doubtless done Canada some harm financially and still more industrially. By financial harm is meant the discouragement of British investments in Canada. Anti-Canadian prejudice, fomented by Grand Trunk propagandists, has probably been more effective industrially, that is to say in depressing ordinary trade relations between Canada and Britain. Canadian businessmen going to England with their propositions have found a fairly widespread belief that Canada has repudiated her debts. Of course, it is impossible to measure exactly any harm that has been done to Canadian trade thereby, but it may be quite appreciable.

There is no doubt, however, that if British financiers had been filled with the greatest enthusiasm and affection for Canada they would still have refrained from sending their money there from the time that the exchange was "unpegged" in 1919 until sterling went back to near par this year. The sterling dollar exchange fluctuated wildly, but for about five years the pound sterling has been worth, on the average, only $4.40 instead of $4.86. To invest in Canada a Britisher has first to convert pounds into dollars and at this rate of exchange he suffers an initial depreciation in his investment of 10 per cent.

If an investor could know that the rate of exchange would remain at $4.40 he might be willing to accept this initial depreciation, for he would expect to get his dividends in dollars and when converting them into sterling he would make a compensating profit. But all investors have known that it was the policy of England to get sterling back to par and therefore it was certain that the rate would not remain at $4.40. It was morally certain, therefore, that an investment in Canada would entail an exchange loss of 10 per cent. in capital and interest. No one who knows the A, B, C of finance will think it necessary to look any further for an explanation of the cessation of British investments in Canada. Some investments have been made, despite the exchange, because they were of such a character that 10 per cent. did not make a decisive difference. A man who speculates in a mining prospect, for example, knows he may easily make a 100 per cent. loss, but he may make a 100 per cent. or even larger profit. The exchange is a minor consideration in such gambles. In an ordinary investment, however, 10 per cent. on capital makes all the difference. This is the reason why British investments have not been going to Canada on any considerable scale.

The pound, however, is now back to par. The former barrier to investments of British money in Canada has been removed. This is the result, of course, of the restoration of the gold standard. Will British investments now resume their pre-war flow to Canada? They will not, for the reason that Britain has very little money to invest. Britain's unemployment, which has now lasted nearly six years, has told its tale. Britain has now lost most of its power to save and it has almost lost its favorable trade balance.

Mr. Lloyd George has gone further and has suggested that the country is living on its reserves, but this pessimistic conclusion is rejected by Sir Philip Cunliffe-Lister, who speaks with all the information available to the President of the Board of Trade. A certain number of foreign loans continue to come on to the London market. Thus London is still lending abroad, but she is lending with borrowed money. Anyone who wants to read an authoritative statement should consult the British Hansard for July 6, 1925, when Sir P. Cunliffe-Lister made a statement on the British trade position and prospects. The salient points of the speech were:

"I estimate that in 1913 we had a net trade balance of £181,000,000. That is the whole of the exports and imports taken together, visible and invisible, yielded us a net balance of £181,000,000 before the war, all of which, of course, was available for re-investment. In 1923 the Board of Trade estimated that the net balance was £102,000,000. In 1924 the estimate which the Board of Trade made was that that net balance had fallen to £30,000,000. I have had a further calculation made out, taking the same basis for the twelve months ending May this year, and, so far as I can see from the calculation, there is no doubt the balance has fallen considerably and that probably we are hardly better than square on the trade account. My right honorable friend said last time that he thought we were living on our reserves. I am sure that it is not as bad as that. We are certainly re-investing borrowed money. There is no doubt about that. We are not saving enough ourselves to meet the whole of the foreign loans that come into the market, and that means that we are re-investing borrowed money."

—London Advertiser.

A THOUGHT.

GOOD BOOKS.

Milton said, As good almost kill a man as kill a good book," But almost in the same breath he also said, Have a vigilant eye how books demean themselves as well as men, and do sharpest justice on them as malefactors."

Among the great flood of books to-day, men, especially young men, must choose with care. If they saturate their minds with idle, worthless books, the better books are lost to them; and every good book has a lesson, a chapter from life.

Good books are introductions to the minds of greatest men. Association with greater minds raises our own through contact, as a needle becomes magnetized by rubbing it against a steel magnet. It is not a mere absorption of print, a great amount of reading, it is what you read and what you get out of it.

It is true that often to cultivate a taste for reading, or to learn how to appreciate better reading, we must first take in some of the inferior. The mind seems to glide smoothly over this at first until gradually it tires and demands something better. In this way has the poor reading aided us to reach the better.

The intellectual system of most of us nowadays needs a little renovating and cleaning. Start in now with a good book. It may teach you to appreciate things in other places and people that you never noticed before.

MONTREAL PRODUCE

MONTREAL, August 17 (Canadian Press).—The export trade in Canadian grain Saturday was reported very quiet, there being little demand from any source for supplies. Spot prices for oats were steady and the volume of business in this direction was moderate sized.

There was a lull in the extensive American buying of winter wheat flour on the local market on Saturday. No change was reported in the situation of the local spring wheat flour market, sales being normal considering that it was only a short market day and there being a few cable orders. Prices were firm.

The good demand for millfeed in the local market was again in evidence on Saturday and there were both home and foreign orders in plenty. This good business, which commenced on Wednesday last and has continued during the week, appears to have an inclination to continue for some days yet, if the present flow of orders can be taken as a criterion. Prices were the same as on Friday.

Rolled oats were active in the local market on Saturday, there being an especially good cable demand for the commodity. Prices were unchanged.

The local baled hay market was again quiet on Saturday, the supply being very low and orders few. It is not expected that there will be any change in the market for some days as the stocks of hay are too low to admit of any business being done and until the new stocks come to hand, there can be little trading done. Prices were firm.

The good foreign demand for butter was again in evidence here on Saturday, and it shows every sign of continuing for some time. Local demand is very quiet. Prices were firm.

Receipts of butter on Saturday were 8,862 rackages as compared with 4,100 on the previous Saturday and 5,034 on the same day a year ago. The week's receipts were 30,530 as compared with 32,817 during the previous week and 26,358 for the corresponding week last year.

The local cheese market was a little improved on Saturday, both home and foreign trading showing a marked increase. Receipts were 9,474 as compared with 9,494 on the previous day and 10,031 on the same day a year ago. For the week, the total receipts were 66,357 as compared with 62,130 on the previous week and 60,186 for the corresponding week last year. Prices were firm, No. 1 white and colored selling at 22 1-4c per lb.

Receipts of eggs were 1,482 as compared with 1,066 on the previous Saturday and 1,502 on the same Saturday a year ago. The week's receipts were 9,830 and for the previous week 8,210, the same week last year showing 9,616. The day's trading was a little better than during the week. Prices were unchanged.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, Aug. 17 (Canadian Press)—Sharp setbacks in the price of wheat Saturday accompanied glowing reports of harvest yields in some parts of Canada. Enlarged movement of spring wheat, together with prospects of a liberal increase of the U.S. visible supply total on Monday, tended also to depress wheat values. Closing quotations for wheat were unsettled, 1 3-8 to 1 3-4 cents net lower, Sept. 1.59 to 1.59 1-8 and Dec. 1.57 1-8 to 1.57 1-4; with corn ranging from 3-8 cents decline to 1-8c gain, oats 3-8 at 1-2 at 5-8c off and provisions unchanged to 20c down.

Downward swings in the wheat market here were in the face of an unexpected upturn at Liverpool. One of the best known crop authorities had wired here that wheat throughout a big stretch of territory in Saskachewan, Canada, would yield as much as 40 to 50 bushels an acre, and that for 160 miles from Melfort to Birch Hills there was hardly a poor field. He added "It is by far the best crop I have ever seen." At the same time Minneapolis receipts of domestic spring wheat Saturday totalled up 334 cars as against 216 a year ago.

Possibilities that wheat prices at Northwestern markets would sink to a basis for profitable shipments to this city attracted considerable notice meanwhile, and so, too, did persistent dearth of any important new export business. Under such conditions, the breaks in price amounted to nearly 3 cents a bushel before a reaction set in. Both December delivery and May reached the lowest levels of the week, with December off about 9c from high point on Thursday. As heretofore, however, strong interests were buyers on today's decline.

Scarcity of rural offerings to arrive gave relative strength to the corn market. Offerings of oats were also diminishing.

Provisions were responsive to a decline in the price of cotton oil and in hog values as well.

To Merchants and Salesmen

"As indispensable as the Telephone"

"As indispensable as the Telephone" is now a favourite slogan used by some large manufacturers in their advertising, when describing their goods.

A frank recognition that speed of communication is the most vital factor in expanding business and social life.

Indeed, a firm's position in the business world may be fairly judged by the extent to which it uses the telephone — and especially Long Distance.

We now handle an average of over 41,000 Long Distance calls a day.

METHOD USED IN LONDON STATION IS CONDEMNED

Investigation Followed Arrest and Bad Treatment of Innocent Man.

POOR IDENTIFICATION.

LONDON, Aug. 17 (Canadian Press Cable).—Vine street police station in the heart of the West End theatre district which necessarily has intimate association with London's hectic life and consequently often figures in melodramatic or sensational novels, has just had a month of drama all of its own making. Severe criticisms concerning the method of identification and granting of bail to accused persons is contained in a report by J. F. P. Rawlinson, K.C., M.P., who, on behalf of the Home Secretary, conducted an inquiry following the arrest of a distinguished army officer on a charge which was quickly proved entirely unfounded.

Mr. Rawlinson finds the methods of regarding the detention of prisoners without bail "absolutely wrong." The accused officer was detained without proper opportunity of finding bail and could have been spared the indignity of being driven through the streets with a notorious woman and two policemen. He was questioned and statements taken from him under circumstances "in direct defiance of the rules approved by the King's Bench Judges and circulated among the police," says the report.

"The process of identification was little more than a farce," continues Rawlinson. "Finger prints were taken whereas it is admitted that the police possess no power to compel a prisoner to have his finger prints taken but the accused officer was not informed of this."

The report in its entirety condemns the procedure at this famous police outpost and the police themselves are hardly disposed to question its justification. The police commissioners intends to take remedial and disciplinary action forthwith. While the revelations are disturbing the public is unlikely to imagine that the London Police Force as a whole is inconsiderate to accused people or in any way generally inefficient. It seems that the present trouble has arisen through gradual neglect of rules definitely promulgated.

DOCTOR ADVOCATES LESS MALE CLOTHES

Ultra Violet Rays Prevented By Present Styles From Curative Work.

LONDON, Aug. 15.— (United Press). — Loose, short trousers, sleeveless coats, and collarless shirts for men are being advocated here by physicians.

Insufficient exposure of the body to the curative ultra-violet rays of the sun which is the result of present styles in men's wear was declared by Dr. Leonard Hill of the National Institute of Medical Research to be the cause of many of men's ills.

"Girls," said Dr. Hill "by wearing low open necked blouses and short skirts with artificial silk stockings, secure more ultra-violet rays than men, and in general are healthier than men." In the choice of clothing material Dr. Hill recommended artificial silk as being the most transparent to ultra-violet rays.

He also said that hospitals should no longer be brick buildings but bungalows with open air wards, verandas, and unroofed open air courts. Beds should be on large easy running castors, so as to be easily run in in case of sudden rain, or shunted about from position to position to take advantage of the shifting direction of the sun's rays.

GLASGOW PAPER EXPECTS DEFEAT OF GOVERNMENT

Revolt of Maritimes and Tendency of Ontario to Make Liberal Outlook Dismal.

QUEBEC IS FIRM.

Strength of Progresisves Prevents Conservative Revival on Prairies.

LONDON, Aug. 17 (Canadian Press Cable).—Discussing Canadian political tendencies the Glasgow Herald thinks that bitter memories of conscription still held in Quebec will probably hold that province firm in its allegiance to the Liberals, and that the strength of the Progresives prevents much expectation of a Conservative revival on the prairies, but that the revolt in the Maritimes, added to the known Conservative tendency of Ontario, makes the outlook for the government dismal to a degree. Severe losses if not humiliating defeat, seem inevitable if an appeal be made this autumn, adds the Herald, and asks how great is the chance of improvement next year in a country where no government which stayed its full term has ever been successful at the polls?

"With the passing of Sir Adam Beck the Dominion of Canada in general, and Ontario in particular, has lost a master mind, one who conceived and developed the control of electric energy by the state for the people.

"The work no doubt has been so well organized that others will carry on, but to Sir Adam Beck we give credit for the vision to advocate the policy of development of natural resources for the benefit of all."

Her Wonderful Teeth

Remove the dingy film that's clouding yours and you'll be surprised that your teeth are just as white and charming as any one's—make this unique test.

HERE is a simple test that proves the truth that most of us have pretty teeth without ever knowing we have, or ever revealing it.

This is the reason:

Run your tongue across your teeth, and you will feel a film. A film which absorbs discolorations ... hides the natural color of your teeth.

Remove it and your teeth take on a new beauty. Maybe you have really beautiful teeth without realizing it.

Film is charged too with most tooth troubles. It clings to teeth, gets into crevices and stays. Germs breed in it. And they, with tartar are the chief cause of pyorrhea.

So, besides loss of tooth beauty, film is a serious danger to healthy teeth. You must remove and constantly combat it. It is ever present, ever forming.

Old-time dentrifices were unable to combat it successfully. And tooth troubles were a serious problem.

Now modern science has discovered a new way. A new-type tooth paste called Pepsodent that acts to curdle film, then harmlessly to remove it. No soap or chalk, no harsh grit dangerous to enamel.

ST. LAWRENCE CREW WON YACHT RACES

Defeated Lake of the Woods Boat in All Three Races.

MONTREAL, August 17. — Canadian Press — By winning the third race of the series against the Royal Lake of the Woods yacht club on Saturday afternoon, the Royal St. Lawrence crew, skippered by Victor Whitehead, won the J. N. McIntyre trophy, the local yachtsmen made a clean sweep of the series, winning each of the three races in a decisive manner.

Saturday's race was the most interesting of the three, and had the visiting Winnipeg crew been able to hold their own on the two beats to windward the race would probably have been decided by a matter of seconds instead of the ... minutes or so that separated the craft at the finish. The better man... ment of the Beaver on the windward tacks won the race, for there was little to choose between the boats on the reaches.

CHURCH EXCLUDED WOMEN TOURISTS

Dress Requirements Exacted of Visitors to Florence Cathedral.

FLORENCE, Italy, Aug. 17 (United Press).—While American women tourists were barred from visiting the Florence Cathedral yesterday, due to their scanty attire, tape measures were used to determine whether female worshippers were observing the proprieties in dress as prescribed by the Catholic Church. The Church has recently been warring on what it regards immodesty in dress, particularly as to bare arms, bare throats and bare ankles.

In view of their campaign, the measure was applied to determine whether the skirts were sufficiently long, and whether the neck and arms were adequately draped.

The American tourists desired to see the famous Cathedral apparently rathre than to worship there.

PRINCE ARRIVES IN BUENOS AIRES

Left Montevideo Last Night —Was Well Received Everywhere.

ROYAL WELCOME.

MONTEVIDEO, Aug. 17 (Canadian Press Cable).—The Prince of Wales, after a three-day visit to Uruguay, sailed last evening on board the British cruiser, Curlew, for Buenos Aires. The cruiser was escorted by a squadron of Uruguayan warships.

Yesterday the Prince attended services at the British church. Saturday night he was given a banquet at the residence of President Serrato, after which there was a reception which was attended by the diplomatic corps, members of the British colony and prominent Uruguayans.

The Prince on Saturday made a most favorable impression at a luncheon given by the Anglo-Uruguayan Community of Montevideo by responding in Spanish to a toast.

"Muchas gracias por esta linda fiesta. Viva el Uruguay," said the Prince, which means "Thank you very much for this very beautiful feast. Long live Uruguay."

The Prince's words were received with tumultous applause and as a return for the compliment the luncheon guests joined heartily in singing the traditional British post-prandial song, "For He's a Jolly Good Fellow."

Arriving Friday morning from South Africa, the Prince's visit here has been one continuous round of entertainment. Saturday morning he visited the tomb of Jose Artigas, Liberator of Uruguay, and deposited a bronze wreath bearing an inscription, "From the Prince of Wales." In the afternoon he laid the cornerstone of a new British school building in the presence of President Serrato and other high officials.

His stay here has been characterized by extraordinary popularity. Patient crowds have waited outside his residence for his arrival and departure, while his progress on the streets on the way to various functions has been met by demonstrations of friendliness such as he witnessed in South Africa.

Big Welcome Prepared.

Buenos Aires, Aug. 17 (Canadian Press).—This city of 2,000,000 inhabitants will lay aside business cares this afternoon fittingly to welcome the Prince of Wales. When the British cruiser, Curlew, arrives, it will be saluted by the Argentine squadron in the harbor.

After the formalities of disembarkation, which will include an address of welcome by Mayor Noel, the Prince, accompanied by President Alvear, will drive along troop-lined decorated streets to Government House, where there will be a reception by members of Congress, the cabinet ministers, and army and navy officers.

A varied program for the fortnight's visit of the Prince has been arranged. Thousands of dollars have been spent in transforming the principal thoroughfares of Buenos Aires into a virtual fairyland.

ADVICE TO GIRLS

— By Annie Laurie —

Dear Annie Laurie,—I am a young man eighteen years of age, and I have a girl friend who is somewhat older than I am, and who is deeply in love with me.

She is continually urging me to show my affections at all times. I know that a young man should not kiss a young lady until they are engaged, and so I am afraid to give her the "millions of kisses" which she continually begs me to give. She kisses me many, many times and tries to make me affectionate by relating what I think are only supposed occurrences about being out with other young men who have given her a good time by being much more demonstrative.

Could I safely avoid conventions in this case and try to console her? Would her desires be requited by my kissing her as much as she wants? I am unfamiliar with her type. Should I allow her to bring me into secluded places so much? I may say by way of explanation that she always chooses our walks and always tries to get me away alone. If I took her out in company more would that solve the difficulty?

I am more and more troubled about this every day, so please don't delay in replying.—Spectacles.

Spectacles: Yours is a sad case. I am just a little doubtful as to whether it is a bona fide affair, but I'll give you the benefit of the doubt.

I should strongly advise you to act the part of prudence and flee immediately from your importunate lady friend. At eighteen years of age, you can't afford to take any chances. If the girls are going to run after you like this so young, what will it be like later on? The prospect is appalling. Remember Joseph and Mrs. Potiphar, and do likewise. Say "Nay, nay, Pauline," and shake her without any further ado.

By no means, give her all the kisses she wants. It would be impossible, and besides, think of the germs. Let her bestow her affections elsewhere, while you bury your spectacled countenance in a good book. Any girl who makes a vocal demand for "millions of kisses" and tries to get a young man of eighteen years of age into secluded places with her is a bold female, and should be put in her place without any further delay.

Dear Annie Laurie: I am a young girl of twenty-eight and I have been keeping company with a young man, whom I think a great deal of, for about a year.

Personally, I like dancing very much and he is a good dancer and says he likes dancing too. Consequently we often go to the nearby summer resorts to dance. Now, either he is getting tired of my company, or else he does not like dancing, as well as he claims, for, after about two dances he insists on taking me for a walk through the grounds, which are usually dark and lonesome at these places. Although I trust this young man to a certain extent, I sometimes feel insecure as I have known him for so short a time. He sometimes gets quite familiar, too.

How can I check him in this familiarity and not hurt his feelings? Sometimes I enjoy the walks myself and I don't want to stop them altogether, for his sake anyway. I don't want to lose him. What am I to do? Please advise me.

Thank you.

"WORRIED."

Worried: Here is one place where you can't temporize. You can either be weak-minded and continue as you are doing at present, and then take the consequences, which won't be pleasant, or you can do the right thing, and stop this familiarity at once. At twenty-eight years of age, you are either infatuated with this friend, and would do anything rather than lose him, or else you are just a little bit too soft-hearted. I think the latter is your trouble.

How do you know that this man isn't simply trying you out, testing you to see just how much he can get away with? And then he will tell his pool-room friends all about it.

You don't need to take an axe to break the news to him that you aren't exactly easy do you? Tell him nicely that you don't like familiarity of this sort, the very next time he takes you for such a walk, and then see how he takes it. If he is a man and cares for you, he may be a little peeved, but he will like and respect you all the better very soon after. If he is the other sort, he will be angry and probably sarcastic, and then you can have the satisfaction of knowing just what fate you have missed. I wouldn't think too much about his feelings, if I were you. Likely his skin is quite thick.

About Ourselves And Other People

By Winifred Black

Betty is home from the university. She says she doesn't know what on earth she is going to do until the next semester. It seems so quiet and lonesome at home, after the campus and the sororities and things.

Betty is a good deal upset about Marie.

Marie was her roommate when she first entered the university.

"Marie was a perfect darling," says Betty. "I was just crazy about her. She was pretty as a pink and so sweet tempered and nice, bright too, not a dig don't you know or anything like that but just intelligent—of course she wore rather plain clothes. Oh, they were alright enough but they were very simple and she didn't have any jewelry at all. Not at all!

"But I thought, of course, she would make one of the big sororities—and at first she thought so, too.

"The girls were awfully nice to her but we all went to a luncheon and she ate the lettuce in her salad—and that settled it.

"Of course they couldn't have her after that.

"I told them that I thought she was just absent minded when she ate it but they said any girl who would be absent minded about a thing like that didn't belong in a really smart sorority, so they didn't ask her.

"Afterwards they were awfully glad too.

"Somebody saw her having dinner with some friends in town at a smart restaurant and what do you think, they had their salad first instead of after the meat course—so of course that showed she wasn't used to things.

"I changed my roommate for one of the sorority girls. I didn't want to, but they all said it would be best that way so I did.

"And you know its the queerest thing—Marie's father and mother came to visit her along the middle of the term and they really were too swagger and smart for anything and her brother's at Harvard—in the football team too. Of course if we'd known that, it might have been different about the sorority.

"And here's a letter from Marie's new roommate. She went out to California with Marie for a visit this summer. And she says they have a perfectly spiffling home—crowds of servants and fleets of motor cars and everything—and she says the reason they eat salad first is that Marie's father is a gourmand and he says salad was alright after the roast in the days when you had a hors 'd-oeuvre first and then oysters and then soup and then an entree and then a roast and then a salad and then the bird and then two or three kinds of dessert.

"He says you had to have the salad then to get an appetite for the birds.—But now when nobody eats that sort of dinner, salad should come first as an appetizer.

"That sort of reasonable doesn't it do. He must know because they go abroad every two or three winters and give wonderful dinners at home and everything like that.

"Oh, if Marie hadn't only eaten the lettuce in her salad, just think how different things might have been.

"I might be in California this very minute myself."

Poor Betty, life is really very confusing sometimes—isn't it?

IN THE KITCHEN

— By Jeanette Norton —

GOOD HOT-DAY SALADS

Salads are of the deepest interest to the Summer housewife. Hearts of lettuce cut in half length ways, or the hearts sliced in thick slices, or cut in ribbons with the kitchen scissors and sprinkled with minced pepper, radish or onion, with French or Russian dressing is refreshing. Another version of the same salad is to top with minced cucumber, chopped watercress, or chopped fresh pineapple. They are all good with Russian, French or white mayonnaise dressings.

Tomato Sandwich Salad.

Select tomatoes of uniform size and shape, pare by smoothing from top to stem and with the back of the knife, then remove the skin. Chill, then slice in medium slices. Grate one onion and add to it a finely minced, cold, boiled chicken liver, pepper, salt, a saltspoonful of sugar, and a heaping teaspoonful of mayonnaise dressing. Spread on a slice of tomato and cover with another slice, dust with a very little powdered dried mint. Put each sandwich into a dark green lettuce leaf and top with a teaspoonful of mayonnaise, or French dressing.

Banana Salad.

Cut off a section of skin from a ripe banana and take out the fruit. Dice the fruit, add to it two pared, quartered, cored and diced apples, a heaping tablespoonful of very finely chopped walnut meats, the juice of half a lemon, and mayonnaise enough to bind. Add a tablespoonful of minced celery leaves and a strip of minced red pepper. Fill the skins with the salad and serve them on green lettuce leaves. Serve crackers, with grated cheese toasted in the oven and dusted with paprika, with the salad.

Egg Salad.

Boil six eggs hard. Remove the whites and chop them coarsely. Devil the yolks, adding the juice of a small onion, juice of half a lemon, pepper, salt, a saltspoonful of sugar, teaspoonful of Worcestershire sauce, just enough mayonnaise to bind the mixture, then form into small balls. Put a little of the minced white on to a lettuce leaf and lay three balls on top, dust with paprika and top with a heaping teaspoonful of mayonnaise dressing. Garnish with olive curls spread with a tiny bit of anchovy paste. The curls are made by cutting the olive from the stones as an apple is pared.

Dutch Salad.

To two cupfuls of thinly sliced cabbage, add a heaping cupful of cold diced potatoes, a cupful of diced cold carrots and green peas cooked and drained, a large grated onion, pepper, salt and a tablespoonful of sugar. Mash in a boiled dressing and serve in a salad bowl lined with carefully washed red beet leaves. Boiled dressing: Mix together a half teaspoonful each of mustard and salt, two tablespoonfuls of sugar and a half teaspoonful of cornstarch. Add the yolks of two eggs, two tablespoonfuls of melted butter, quarter cupful each of vinegar and water, cook over hot water, and add a little whipped cream when cold.

HE LOVES ME

By Marguerite Lewis

What else can the daisy tell her, excepting just what she wants to know? The lover's rosary, told with the dainty petals of the daisies, is as real to her as though each petal represented a prayer. And it is a prayer—for reassurance as to whether he loves her or not. And the daisies never fail. They always tell her he does. And she believes it. And it makes her happy. And the daisy suffers. But it doesn't mind, because the suffering has brought happiness. And she knows he loves her, or, rather, she's convinced of it now. But I wonder who will reassure her after the daisies die? Oh well, Love will take care of that.

Do you know the value of the sun bath as a stimulus to beauty?

Really, women who have had experience with this beauty aid consider it invaluable because of its sure effect on their health and beauty.

I want to speak of it especially at this time, because there are so many women who have the opportunity to go bathing in the Summer, who should know a few facts about this beauty bath.

If you have the chance, I am sure you like to sit on the beach in your bathing suit and let the pure sunshine bathe you. Let it get into your hair, let it get into your very blood. You will feel better and you will look better.

Now, of course, you must use common sense. I do not favor lying in the broiling sun until you are fairly blistered. Take your sun bath either before you go into the water and get your suit wet, or after you come out. If you take it after you come out, do not remain in your wet suit. Drying your suit on your body takes up a certain amount of your energy.

I will tell you what the women do at a certain fashionable beach. Their bath houses are, of course, divided from those of the men. There is a section in the center of the small dressing rooms where there is no roof and the sun fairly pours in on the wooden floor. The fair bathers remove their suits and dry themselves with a Turkish towel. Then they wrap a fresh Turkish towel about them, so that their legs are exposed, as well as their arms and shoulders. Then they lie in the sun for as long as they wish. They get a bit sunburnt, to be sure, but the sun does them much more good than harm. Those who want to avoid the sunburn on their neck and face can protect them by a light covering of some kind.

Then again, a famous singer of my acquaintance spends her Summers at a small exclusive mountain lake resort in Europe. Her sun bath is taken in a small row boat, and I will tell you how she manages it. She rows to the middle of the lake, clad only in her bathing suit. From this point she can be seen by no one. She slips her bathing suit off and lies down in the boat, protecting her eyes with some fresh green rose leaves and her neck with a dark silk handkerchief. She declares that she feels better in every way, and she enjoys the small amount of sunburn she acquires. It is never enough to harm her beauty.

Of course all of us cannot have a lake to ourselves, but if we are in the open at all we can manage in some way to get a beauty sun-bath.

Let's Talk It Over

ONE WAY TO MANAGE FAMILY DESPOTS

Remember the Benevolent Despots in history, Pal? Old Joseph the Second of Austria was one of them. He was the old bird who wanted to build a park in a hurry. He couldn't wait for the young saplings to grow, so he had a perfectly good forest dug up and moved over to his park. His tactics with his people were about the same. He saw that there was room for improvement in the country, so he got busy and ditched the Constitution, kicked out the prevailing religion and canned the educational system, substituting his own institutions. The people rose up in revolt, and the old man, on his death bed, was weary and heartbroken, lamenting that, though he had labored all his life to make his subjects happy, all of his efforts had come to naught. Which merely goes to show that despots, even the most well-meaning despots, are never appreciated.

Yet, how many Mothers and Fathers, Elder Sisters and Brothers, not to mention Aunts, Uncles' and Old Family Friends, put themselves up as such? Deep down in every one of us is the desire to BOSS—to impose our will on another human. If that other human is younger or less experienced or dependent on us in any way, we justify our noisiness and bossiness on the grounds that we're keeping 'em from making mistakes. We acknowledge that we're "butting in," but we assert that we're doing it for their own good. In other words, we try the Enlightened Despot stuff.

Perhaps you remember Marjorie—who wouldn't call her soul her own. Here's "A. L. D.," whose family is working overtime trying to live her life for her. She's holding out for her constitutional rights, however.

It's the truth, the whole truth and nothing but the truth; and will our loving relatives ever come to realize that we are human individuals, given a free will by our Creator, therefore by Divine Right should have the privilege of exercising it—at least, when we have arrived at the years of discretion.

I am in the same predicament as Marjorie—that is, I have relatives that are just determined I shall live my life as they plan it, and I have resolved many times it cannot be done. I am having an awful struggle on account of it. I am living away from home, but I still feel that I must stand up for my rights.

Of course, I get credit for being very stubborn and ungrateful but I am not at all. I am simply forced to take that stand. I am of age and have been for a number of years, and am paying my own expenses, too, and had paid them for some time past.

At home, my oldest sister is the one who does all the bossing in that respect. Neither my father or my mother are so unreasonable.

I had a sister and a brother, both married under similar conditions to Marjory's, but, just the same, they went through with the ceremony, and they were both happy afterwards. The family got over it nicely. They got over it so sweetly that one would really think afterward that they had had their way about it after all.

So, you are right in telling Marjory her happiness depended on her own little self. If they love each other they will find happiness, and the family will just naturally fall in line, too, after it is all said and done. So here's wishing much success to Marjory and Jim.

WELL DONE AND ILL PAID. I

THE FIGHTING RANGER

By F. J. McCONNELL and GEORGE W. PYPER.

"Come" said Bud to Miquel "we're not needed here any more. Let's chase back close the corral and save as many of the steers as we can."

They spurred off toward the corral. At the gates they found the two rustlers who were stampeding the milling herd through into the lane. They opened fire. Taken by surprise the two rustlers fled precipitately without even returning the fire.

Laboriously Bud and Miquel slid the corral gate shut against the still oncoming steers and finally had the balance of the herd locked in.

When the flying hoofs of the cattle ceased passing over them Mary and Terence breathed a sigh of relief. They waited a moment to make sure that no more would come then rose to their feet.

"Well dear looks like your boys got them on the run" said Terence. "They've got away with part of the herd but I'll trap them."

Mary looked at him pleadingly.

"Oh, don't go back to them," she said. "Stay. They'll discover you if you rejoin them.

"No, Mary, I must—it's for your sake. I'm learning things about this gang, and the real chief behind their operations, that are important—to save your father, and the ranch."

He looked at her lovingly. Then he noticed Bud and Miquel coming down the lane toward them.

"The boys—they mustn't know about me—make believe you're struggling," he said.

He seized her with mock burliness, and she struggled. During the struggle he planted a kiss on her lips—tenderly—laughing—and for a moment she ceased to struggle while she returned it. "This won't do, Mary," he laughed under his breath, "fight me, fight me." She laughed too and resumed her struggle.

Bud and Miquel, running, were coming close.

"I'm going to throw you to the ground, now, scale the fence, dash for your stable, steal one of your horses, and beat it—" Terence whispered. "Now be ready so you'll fall easily and not hurt yourself."

He hurled his beloved to the ground and scaled the fence. Bud and Miquel, coming up, more concerned over Mary than the escaping rustler, bent over her limp body, giving Terence ample opportunity to escape. Mary, pretending unconsciousness, continued to lie still to hold the boys from pursuing him.

When she finally permitted them to "revive" her and escort her back to the house there was no more sign of the "rustler" who had "attacked" her. None of the boys returning from the running gun battle with the fleeing gang had seen him either.

"One thing puzzles me," said Bud, as the boys gathered together and discussed the fight, and those who had been wounded bathed and bandaged their hurts. "First these guys jump me and tie me up, and run off, then one of 'em cuts the ropes and frees me, and runs off after the rest of 'em. Now what do you make of that?"

CHAPTER 24.
Hard Knuckles.

Buck and his men, back at their camp early next morning, were counting the cattle they had stolen, and commiserating about the debacle of their raid.

"If some traitor hadn't let those ranch birds loose from the bunkhouse we'd a had the whole herd," growled Buck.

He looked over the men, then snarled, "Where's that road agent—Idaho Bill?"

They counted heads and discovered the new man was missing. At this moment Topaz Taggart rode into camp, and calling Buck said,

"Stella Montrose is coming to meet me. Leave some of the boys here for another little job. Send the rest of them over the border with those cows, Pronto.'

Buck told him about the disappearance of Idaho Bill. Taggart's eyes glared.

"We must find the double-crosser," he snapped, "before he can expose us. I have a way of dealing with skunks."

Back of the brush at the edge of the camp lay Terence, watching and listening intently. With him was Komi, whom he had met on his way. Terence hastily scribbled a note, and handed it to the Indian.

"Take this to Mary Marshall; then wait for her at your hut on Sierra Diablo," he said. "I'll come later."

The Indian mounted his horse and sped off. Terence leaped to his saddle and rode into the camp.

"Look—there he is," shouted one of the men as Terence appeared.

Two of the men jumped him, only to meet his bare knuckles and be knocked cold. As Buck came up shouting, "We'll give him a rope's end," and the other men crowded round, Terence drew a gun.

"Idaho Bill ain't in the habit of takin' rough jokes in the dark," Terence said, calmly but menacingly. "Maybe you kin shed some light."

"Ye've been missing," Buck snarled accusingly. "Why?"

"I've been savin' your necks by throwin' them ranch punchers off your trail, that's what I been doin'." Terence answered derisively.

"Ye mean ye double-crossed us on the job," Buck hissed, "an—"

Terence leaped from his horse and grabbing Buck by the throat, cried,

"You lie! I got good eyes—an' they're lookin' at the guilty snake now."

Buck answered with a staggering blow to Terence's jaw. Terence retaliated in a flash, and the two men closed in fierce combat. Two of the men made to interfere, but Taggart stopped them.

"Let 'em fight it out themselves," he said.

They did. For half an hour, Terence held the offensive almost throughout. They sloughed and punched each other mercilessly. Each hit the ground time after time, Buck more often than Terence. But both were game fighters, gluttons for punishment, always coming back for more. Until finally in one of his rushes, Terence plunged at Buck, hitting like a battering ram, registering iron blow after iron blow, till Buck fell crumpled up on the ground, cut, bleeding, battered, and completely dance

He lay still, and Terence, facing about to the others, well battered up himself, but grimly game for more, shouted,

"Any of you other hombres got funny ideas about me?"

None responded.

"Then from now on Idaho Bill's running this gang," Terence yelled.

They exchanged looks of approval at this announcement, and Taggart stepped forward and looked him over with calculating half suspicious eyes. After a moment Taggart said,

"Guess the right man won—you'll do for the job," and offered his hand.

CHAPTER 25.
Seige.

At the Bar M that morning they were making plans for protection against further attacks, when Komi rode in and delivered the note from Terence to Mary. Excitedly, she read it aloud, to Stella and Bud:

"Rush word to sheriff at Pico he can trap rustlers with stolen steers at Coyote Pass near Mexico line. You ride to Komi's hut quick and await me there. I've found my wolf. If we can locate Laqui gold your troubles will be ended.—Idaho."

"Who'n blazes is Idaho?" asked Bud.

Mary was on the point of revealing that it was Terence; then she remembered he asked that no one be told, and simply replied.

"A friend we can rely upon." She went on:

"The phone wires were cut last night—how shall we get word to the sheriff?—Is the airplane in shape for use?"

Bud scratched his head, and said, "May be a little risky, but—"n

"I'll go with you, Bud," Stella broke in. "If it's got wings we'll make it fly as we used to in the old flying circus days."

He hesitated a moment, and finally agreed.

"Miquel and Komi can go with me," said Mary, "and the other boys will stand guard on the ranch until a posse comes."

Bud ran out, instructed the other boys, and got the plane ready. Miquel came with horses for himself and Mary. The plane flew off with Stella and Bud, and Mary and Miquel mounted and followed Komi to keep the rendez-vous with "Idaho."

Half an hour later, with the stolen cattle on the way to the border, in charge of several of the rustlers in command of Terence, alias Idaho Bill, Taggart and several others awaited Stella at their secret rendez-vous. Hearing a noise in the sky, they saw the plane hovering up above them.

* * *

"What in the hell does this mean?" growled Taggart, watching intently.

Up there in the sky, Stella, sitting behind Bud, had been gazing down over the side of the cockpit for some time. Finally, seeing what she wanted down on the ground, she deliberately jammed one of the steering wires which passed through her compartment.

Bud felt the flying machine leave his control. He grabbed desperately at the levers, then cried.

"The steering controls have jammed."

"If we fall with the machine it may cost our lives," Stella replied. "There's only one parachute, but one of us must reach the sheriff. I'll jump it." And she began to unfold the parachute.

Bud protested, but Stella ignored his pleas. He could not leave his place, trying to pilot the plane in the face of death. Before he could realize it, Stella leaped from the plane with the parachute, just as she had in the old circus days as a stunt.

The plane kept on. Bud could not regain control. He sought a safe spot to make an emergency landing. But there was none in sight, and the plane kept dropping—dropping—

* * *

Taggart and his men saw the daring leap from the plane, watched the parachute unfold, and rushed to the spot where it seemed likely to land.

Down through space Stella came sailing, and finally, landed, safely. She quickly disengaged herself from the parachute, and bolted toward Taggart and his men. As Taggart came up he lifted her on to his saddle, faced about and rode back whence he had come.

The crippled plane fell into a clump of trees, a few minutes later. Bud emerged from the wreckage, miraculously unhurt. Looking about, he saw the parachute lying on the ground, not far off, and started toward it.

While he was staring at it, he beecame aware of horses approaching. It was Mary, Miquel and Komi. They pulled up in surprise as he ran to greet them.

"The plane wrecked," he said. "But Stella dropped with the parachute before the fall. She must have gone to the sheriff."

"Then come with us, Bud—there is no time to lose," cried Mary.

Bud leaped up behind Miquel, and they were off.

"You chose a good way to come," laughed Taggart to Stella, as they rode into the camp.

"Well, I was in a hurry," she replied. "Wait till you hear what I've got to tell you."

She recounted to him what had transpired at the ranch, how by flying to him she had prevented word reaching the sheriff, and about the note from Idaho Bill, concluding,

"And the Marshall girl's on her way to the hut of this Indian, Komi, at Sierra Diablo, to meet this Idaho fellow, for some treasure hunt."

"Hmmm, this is serious," glowered Taggart, fondling his topaz watch charm, as he realized the real reason for all his plotting was endangered, "We must act at once."

"Mighta known he was a double crosser, that Idaho," put in Buck.

As Taggart began making plans with Stella, one of his men broke in upon them.

"Just saw that Marshall girl and a couple of fellows riding like fury down the road there," he said. "They stopped and picked up the guy who fell in the plane, then beat it off."

"Give chase at once," shouted Taggart. "Seize them all."

Buck and the other rustlers mounted hastily, and led by the man who had seen Mary's party, dashed off on the chase.

* * *

Down in Coyote Pass, Terence, still disguised as Idaho Bill, was supervising another group of the rustlers driving the stolen cattle through the pass. They had run only a few through, when after looking at his watch, he called out,

"Boys, keep these steers in the pass until I return from—from the boss."

The men nodded, and Terence wheeled his horse and spurred off.

* * *

"We nearly there," said Komi.

Mary glanced back and perceived the group of rustlers in the distance, dashing furiously towards them.

She emitted a nervous cry.

"Look, we're being followed."

All turned and saw, then spurred their horses on to greater efforts.

Komi pointed ahead.

"See, there it is," he cried.

TROPHIES FROM SCHOONER HULK

In the upper picture is Dr. F. J. Conboy, director of dental services for the province, with Jack Fraser, right, and Charles Connacher, left, the two boys who helped him dig out the Nancy's stern after he had re-discovered her last Thursday. DERRY DAY WAS CELEBRATED BY NORWOOD LODGE

Lodges From District Attended Ceremonies of Norwood Preceptory.

REMEMBERED DEAD.

Wreath Placed on Soldiers' Monument—Many Speakers and Bands.

NORWOOD, Aug. 15.—The Norwood Black Preceptory No. 311 held its first celebration on Wednesday, August 12, and it proved to be a splendid success. Representatives were present from Cobourg, Frankford, Omemee, Marmora, Campbellford, Roseneath, Peterboro', Havelock, Centerton, Springbrooke and other places.

At 1.30 p.m. the lodges formed at the Norwood lodge rooms and marched to the Soldiers' Memorial plot at the head of Colborne Street and, after a short ceremony, deposited a wreath at the base of the monument in loving memory of their departed brethren who had paid the supreme sacrifice, after which suitable music was rendered by the Kilties' Band of Peterboro'. Again forming in line the members repaired to the lodge room and were joined by some other lodges, who were late in arriving. The parade of the day then began, and was headed by Sir Knight Thos. Morrison, of Norwood, who carried a large Union Jack. He was followed by eleven of the members of the local lodge, who wore the regalia of the order and high silk hats and were mounted on beautiful black horses. Those who were on horseback were: Sir Knights Wm. Montgomery, Preceptor; Walter Rogers, Robert Gordon (Sr.), Samuel Buck, Oscar Kelly, Ernest Baptie, Geo. Peoples, Russel Thompson, Cecil Cuthbertson, John Parker and Robt. Gordon, Jr. Then followed the Peterboro' lodge, with the Rangers' Band in attendance. Marmora lodge had the Spencer Kilties of Springbrook with them, and Norwood Preceptory had secured the Peterboro' Kilties' Band. The line of march was from the lodge room along Peterboro' Street to Colborne, up Colborne to Ridge, to Pine, to Peterboro', to Colborne, Victoria, Queen, Alma to the exhibition grounds, where the following were invited by ex-Reeve Wm. Montgomery, Worshipful Preceptor of Norwood Lodge No. 311, to take seats on the platform: Reeve Jno. Robb, Norwood; Rev. Lennox, Havelock; Hon. Sir Knight J. R. Cook, M.P. for East Hastings; Rev. W. F. McLennan, Rev. F. Stillman, Rev. T. J. O'Conor-Fenton, and Rev. G.Bennette, of Norwood; G. A. Brethen, M.P., Norwood; Col. T. D. Johnston, M.S.A., Peterboro'; Sir Knight Bro. J. A. Sexsmith, ex-M.P., Blairton; Bro. Oulton, Campbellford; Dr. Embury, Bancroft; Mrs. Navin, Lady Mistress, L.O.B.A., Cobourg; Mrs. S. McGill, Lady Mistress, L.O.B.A., Havelock; Mrs. Geo. Scott, Past Lady Mistress, L.O.B.A., Trent River; Walter McGee, Sir Knight, Bro. Geo. Porter, Right Worshipful Past Grand Preceptor of Eastern Ontario, Peterboro'; Mr. James Drury, aged 96, a member of the Orange Order for 82 years, and who joined the Blacks this past Spring; also Mr. Isaac Barlow, of Havelock, aged 75 years, and a member for 57 years. The latter proposed the membership in the Orange Order over 50 years ago, of W. L. Clark, at present Grand Secretary of the Grand Lodge of Ontario.

Addresses, interspersed with music by the Kilties' and Rangers' Bands, were given by J. R. Cook, M.P., G. A. Brethen, M.P., J. A. Sexsmith, ex-M.P., Rev. Lennox, and Mr. Kinard.

A softball game was played by the girls of the continuing Presbyterian Church, Norwood, and the girls' team from Trent River, the score being 20-11 in favor of Norwood.

After the ball game, the Norwood and Havelock midgets played a game of lacrosse. The visitors were much heavier than the home team, but the result was a tie, and they had to play overtime, Havelock winning the goal which made the score 4-3.

Between the first and second periods, there was a tug-of-war between members of the Peterboro' and Havelock lodges, the latter winning. Then, between the second and third periods, Havelock and Norwood members competed, the home team winning the prize.

The local preceptory should be proud the first celebration under their auspices. Thirty-three years ago the YoungBritons and True Blues held a celebration in Norwood on August 12.

It was owing to the suggestion of Mr. Hendry, secretary of the Kilties' Band, that the wreath was placed on the soldiers' monument, and the members of the Norwood lodge appreciate very much his thoughtfulness.

Crops Judged.

Mr. H. B. Jeffs, graduate of Guelph Agricultural College, was in this district the first of the week judging the standing oat crop. The crop is good and fairly clean, and will be extra good for seed. Those scoring 85 points and over, alphabetically arranged, are: David Barrie, W. G. Barrie, G. A. Brethen, Ralph Cuthbertson, G. J. Edwards, Jno. English, Philip McConnell, Jno.

Sergeant and son, Thompson Brothers. Wheel Came Off.

Norwood friends heard with regret of the serious accident that happened at Stoney Lake to Mrs. John F. Elliott. While driving down a hill a wheel of the buggy struck a large stone and Mrs. Elliott was thrown out with such force that she was rendered unconscious. Her condition as yet shows very little improvement, but all hope for a full and speedy recovery.

GOOD NIGHT STORIES

By Blanche Silver

DORIS LEARNS SOMETHING NEW ABOUT PUSSY CAT

"Oh, Pussy Cat!" Doris cried, when Pussy Cat crept up into her lap. "Why didn't you make a noise to let me know you were coming? You never made a sound and it almost startled me." Doris put her arms around her kitten's neck and smoothed her pretty fur. "You must have rubber heels on your shoes, too."

"Not rubber heels," mewed Pussy Cat, "but soft pads," and she lifted up her paws and showed her feet to Doris. On every one of them, she had little soft pads right on the soles of each foot. "These soft pads do the work," she laughed. "You'll find that all animals that belong to my tribe have those same soft pads on their feet. We can slip upon our enemy without the least bit of noise. Now, if the soles of my feet were hard, Mr. Mousie could hear me and skip away before I could catch him. But with these soft pads, he can't hear me coming any better than you did, and I have a nice meal."

"Well, you are certainly a mighty pretty kitty," and Doris snuggled her closer. Pussy Cat's whiskers touched her nose and made her sneeze. "You know, I've always wanted to know why cats had whiskers. Why is that?"

"If you take a good look," mewed

"See, My Tongue Is Rough."

Pussy Cat, "you'll see that my whiskers are just as wide as my body. You see when I'm watching a mousie, I can't afford to turn my head to see whether there's anything in my way, for fear of disturbing Mr. Mousie. So I just stick my head in first, if my whiskers go in all right, then I know that my body will get through without brushing against anything and making a noise. Then I go after my prey. I just couldn't get along without my soft pads on my feet and my whiskers."

Pussy Cat stuck out her pretty pink tongue and kissed Doris on the hand. Doris shivered and Pussy Cat laughed.

"Goodness, Pussy Cat," Doris giggled, "Your tongue is so dry. Towser's tongue is always wet. Oh, how prickly your tongue is."

"That's why I kissed your hand," mewed Pussy Cat. "I wondered if you knew the difference between a dog's tongue and a cat's tongue. A dog's is always wet and ours are always dry. A dog's tongue is smooth and mine is rough. See all the wee, tiny points on my tongue," and she stuck it out so Doris could get a good look at her tongue. It was covered with little points that slanted backwards. "With that tongue, I can strip any bone of every single bit of flesh."

"Well, if I want to go out tonight, I'll have to get to sleep," and Pussy Cat crawled off Doris' lap on to the big arm chair where she curled herself up in a knot and was soon fast asleep.

TOMORROW'S HOROSCOPE

By Genevieve Kemble

TUESDAY, AUGUST 13.

A rather doubtful day is presaged from the conflicting rule of the governing planets. While there may be a certain amount of activity in some directions, yet the obstructing position of Saturn is square to the Moon will make any real progress difficult. There may be delays and depression, as well as danger of losses. In personal affairs, particular discretion is enjoined, as these are under an augury promising irregular or sensational turns.

Those whose birthday it is are under a peculiar ruling for the year. There is some sign of activity, but delays and disappointments are also among the auguries. The most eventful and surprising developments may be looked for in the personal relations. A child born on this day may be versatile and have a fairly active business life, but will probably be subject to depressions and disappointments. It may be expected to have an interesting social or domestic career.

International Bridge Has a Wobbling Fit But Niagara Falls Crossing is Quite Safe

By C. R. GREENAWAY

THE engineers have reported that the international upper steel arch bridge at Niagara Falls is perfectly safe. So now the story can be told.

On the evening of June 8 several hundred Canadians and Americans taking part in the dedication celebration of the new lamps for the illumination of the Falls had the most unpleasant thrill of their lives.

The bridge began to rock. There is no exaggeration about it. The bridge did not just tremble. It began to rock.

You know the ordinary shaky vibration that sometimes sends a creepy earwig along your spine. Up the river only a little distance, the mighty maelstrom plunges into its spraying cauldron. One hundred and ninety-two feet below, the portentous sheet of water rushes towards the whirlpool. Ahead stretches the second longest bridge arch in the world.

Ordinarily, the bridge only trembles. But on the evening in question the great span attained a sway of from six to seven inches.

The swaying was first perceptible in the afternoon when the Shredded Wheat band and the procession of the officials of the American city, led by Lieutenant-Governor Seymour Lowman of New York State, marched from the United States side to the center of the bridge to meet the Canadian delegation led by the Lieutenant-governor of Ontario, Harry Cockshutt.

As the bandsmen and officials took their place in the middle of the bridge the swaying became very pronounced. There was a flutter of excitement, but the shaking was only temporary. The bridge officials came to the conclusion that it was the regular step of the bandsmen causing a steady vibration which had started the great structure to commence swinging slightly, from north to south.

But when the gates at each end of the bridge were later opened, and pedestrians allowed to start across, the swaying recommenced, reaching its climax when the great crowd started back from the Canadian side over the huge span.

Guards, stationed along each side of the bridge, ordered pedestrians to keep to the middle. Traffic was controlled by allowing only a few people to cross at stated intervals. Automobiles were not permitted to cross with the pedestrians. The crowds were shifted from one side to the center, and, again, to the other side, in an effort to equalize the weight and vibration caused by the continual tramp of feet across the floor of the bridge.

Yet all these precautions were ineffectual. The swaying became more and more pronounced. At its height the movement of the bridge made walking difficult, and produced a feeling not unlike sea sickness. To an observer, persons crossing appeared as if intoxicated, stumbling and tottering as they hurried to reach the American side. The trolley wire poles in the middle of the structure are described as "swaying like trees in a windstorm." Even the Lieutenant-governor of Ontario admits that it is difficult to exaggerate the wabble. The wires strung along the poles swung back and forth like skipping ropes. Some of them were even broken.

The Bridge is Safe Enough

TOURISTS to Niagara Falls have often wondered how the safety of the great bridge is assured. Even before the dedication celebration the doubt had been expressed that the structure is now too old-fashioned and inadequate to take care of the present day traffic. The immediate inspection ordered by the International Railway Company's officials laid the rumor.

Although he had just finished his regular report, Frank A. Hastings, of Pittsburg, a structural and consulting engineer of internationally recognized experience, was requested to make a special investigation to determine the cause of the bridge's swaying.

"Not any weakness in the iron-work but too many people in regular step," was the verdict.

"With proper maintenance of floor and frequent inspection, cleaning and painting when found advisable, the present strength of the structure may be preserved for many years."

Every two years the Niagara Falls and the Lewiston bridges belonging to the International Railway Company are thoroughly inspected. A most extensive overhauling had taken place on the Niagara Falls bridge as a result of the 1923 report of Mr. Hastings. Approximately $125,000 was expended by the company. The paint put on in 1919 was on the whole in excellent condition, but, in order to insure against weakening through rust and corrosion, the entire iron work was "sand blasted" and "spot-painted" last year wherever the slightest spot of rust showed. Over 6000 steel plates were removed, cleaned, painted and re-riveted on the structure. A smoother type of floor was recommended by the engineer and adopted. The masonry supporting the ends of the bridge was also found to be in the best of condition.

"That this bridge is not being overstressed beyond its normal and safe capacity," said Mr. Hastings, "is well borne out by the fact that careful examination of all its parts shows no loose stress-carrying rivets in the entire structure and no member, pins or connections that show any evidence of overstressing.

"The action of the bridge under high winds has been carefully watched and no more than a slight side sway has been noted.

Under certain conditions of traffic, such as heavy trucks or heavily loaded horse-drawn wagons, some slight vibration and side sway has been noticed, but not more than should be expected on a span of such great length and height."

No probable condition of loading that the engineer could imagine under present conditions, he said, could possibly cause the span to give way.

Once before, explained one of the company's engineers in Buffalo, the bridge eerily swayed in the same way. It was on June 28, 1911, at another International Carnival, when Lincoln Beachey, the daring and ill-fated aviator, made two sensational swoops under the central span. Besides 20,000 people on the banks of the river, many hundreds more lined the southern rail of the bridge. When these, just as Beachey dipped under the structure, suddenly rushed to the southern railing, the big framework seemed to take on the disquieting swell of an ocean liner.

The upper arch bridge was built in 1898, but twenty-seven years need not be of any consequence in well-cared for iron work. "If foundations are good and first class material has been used and well tended a steel bridge might last forever," a C. P. R. engineer said. "The most corrosive agents to be guarded against, of course, are water spray, especially salt water spray, and the sand blast and gases from engines, a factor which, however, does not enter into a consideration of the upper arch bridge.

"When you divide the amount of the seven-inch sway along the whole Niagara bridge, a distance of 1240 feet, you see that it wasn't, in reality, anything to be very excited about."

Problem is One of Vibration

AS an illustration of how some forms of light vibration will shake a bridge more than very heavy bodies, another engineer quoted the warning to "walk your horses" on many structures. "Let a horse gallop across a bridge, and there is usually no swaying, but let the same horse trot across and it will probably shake the framework in alarming fashion. Walking in step across a bridge is just as bad. The whole problem is one of regular vibration. Get a vibration that starts a bridge swaying and keep it going, every following one only increases the sway. The whole thing is to break the unison. That's what happened on the Niagara bridge. The band did not break step. That started the sway, and people, accommodating themselves to the regular motion, only increased it."

Engineers point out again, as an example of how thoroughly bridges are inspected, that there has never been a case of a great bridge collapse in Canada. The Quebec bridge disaster was a different matter; an accident during construction. It is true also that two Niagara gorge bridges in the past were wrecked, but this happened under conditions which were by no means modern. The first upper bridge to be built at Niagara Falls was Samuel Keefer's suspension structure of 1868 with a span of 1268 feet and wooden towers at the end. In 1888, a month after it was widened, a tremendous gale swept up the gorge, tearing loose one of the storm stays from its anchorage and flinging the swaying bridge into the river. Wind also, in 1864, swept away the suspension bridge between Queenston and Lewiston, when the storm stays and wind cables had been removed during reconstruction operation.

Bridge building in Canada has for many years been characterised by achievements unsurpassed in any other country. The greatest tubular bridge ever constructed was the original Victoria bridge at Montreal. The widest single opening ever spanned is accomplished by the Quebec bridge. The first successful suspension bridge for railway traffic was thrown across the Niagara gorge by John A. Roebling, a Canadian engineer. The upper arch bridge at Niagara Falls with its 840 span, until the construction of the 977½ foot span of the Hell Gate bridge at New York, held the world's record for the greatest arch.

Bridge experts point out that the scrapping of the world-famed cantilever bridge at the head of the "Whirlpool Rapids" now going on, since the completion of the new two and a quarter million Michigan Central combination cantilever and steel arch, casts no reflection upon the safety of the Niagara Falls bridge. Railway bridges are an entirely different matter. Railway equipment has been increasing enormously in weight. When the original Roebling bridge was built across the gorge, locomotives did not exceed twenty-five tons in weight and cars had a capacity at most of sixteen tons. By 1897, the locomotive weights, however, had risen 100 tons, and cars often carried 30 tons of material.

"No probable condition of loading that would be likely to occur on the upper Niagara bridge under modern traffic (even assuming four lines of trucks of a gross weight of 10,000 pounds each, which is extremely improbable) would produce dangerous stresses in the arch," says Mr. Hastings in his report, clearing up the rumors about the most used frontier bridge between the United States and Canada.

CLAIMS HE HAD IDEA FIRST

MR. JOHN W. CAMPBELL, formerly of Belle Ewart, but now living in Toronto, claims to be the first man to originate the idea of the maple leaf being superimposed on the Union Jack to form a Canadian flag. He had the idea copyrighted some fifteen years ago and is now making enquiries to see if his rights have run out. His interest is largely an academic one. It certainly would be a feather in his cap if the design should ever be officially adopted.

At the same time it is also a matter of record that some years ago the late Lord Strathcona gave dinners and held meetings to promote the idea of the maple leaf on the Union Jack to make a flag for Canada.

REPUTATION WOULD BE SAFE

IT does not do to jump to the conclusion that you are bound to get off lightly if brought up before a magistrate who happens to be a personal friend of yours.

Mr. Seymour Hicks once asked Sir Chartres Biron what would happen to him if he stood in the dock before him to receive sentence.

"Oh," replied Sir Chartres, "I should do my best for you. I should address you something like this: 'Prisoner at the bar, I am not dealing with you as leniently as I might have done, for you have aggravated your offense by taking the name of Seymour Hicks, an honored and respected member of the community, whereas both you and I know that your real name is John Jones.'

"Then," continued Sir Chartres, "John Jones would go to prison for six months, and Seymour Hicks would have to announce that, owing to a nervous breakdown, he was going abroad for a like period."

AND WHY NOT, WHY NOT?

May Cross Atlantic In Four Days' Time

Mauretania Might Be Able to Do It If She Had New Boilers and Engines

WHAT is the likelihood of trans-Atlantic passengers being able to cross the ocean in four days? To do this they would have to travel in a ship capable of maintaining an average speed of 30 knots. The highest average speed of any existing ship for the whole passage is credited to the Mauretania, which soon after her recent overhauling made the crossing at an average speed of 26.25 knots. It is probable that the maximum speed of this vessel for a single day's run is about 27 knots, for she has actually averaged that on one or two occasions. Variable conditions of the wind, sea and ocean currents, however, render it unlikely that she will ever make the whole crossing at 27 knots. At the speed of 27 knots she must have developed at least 80,000 horsepower and to drive the ship at 30 knots in smooth water and under favorable conditions would necessitate raising her horsepower to 108,000.

It is questionable if this could be done with steam turbines. Her present motive power is of the early type, with large direct-connected turbines turning at the low speed of 180 revolutions per minute; moreover, she is equipped with Scotch boilers. If she were reboilered and re-engined, she would carry water-tube boilers and smaller high-speed turbines with a single or double mechanical reduction gear. Thus equipped, she would undoubtedly be faster, but she would be incapable of making the required 30 knots for a four-day trip.

If ever a 30-knot ship is placed on the trans-Atlantic passage, she will undoubtedly be furnished with improved Diesel engines of the two-cycle double-acting type, which has been showing such excellent results in the later motor ships; but in the present state of the art we doubt if there is any Diesel engine builder who would be prepared to guarantee an output of 108,000 horsepower on four shafts. It is true that a ship designed for this speed would be given a finer form even than that of the Mauretania, and in such a vessel of the displacement of the Mauretania 100,000 horsepower might prove to be sufficient. In that case two engines placed tandem on each of the four shafts would call for 12,500 horsepower per engine, or, say, about 2,000 horsepower per cylinder. However, the development of the Diesel engine is going ahead by leaps and bounds and its low consumption of four-tenths of a pound per horsepower-hour relieves the problem of the obstacle of high cost of operation, which renders a steam-driven ship of this speed impossible from the shipowner's standpoint.

Greyhound is Classic

THE Italian greyhound, which was evolved by Roman and Greek lovers of beautiful dogs, is considered by many artists of to-day as without a peer in grace. It is known of Frederick the Great that he was especially attached to the breed and always had them around him. He established a beautiful cemetery for his beloved greyhounds in the park of San Souci and directed that he be buried among his dogs.

BRITISH LADIES LEAD FOR WIGHTMAN CUP

Took Two Out of Three Tennis Matches From Americans.

FOREST HILLS, N.Y., Aug. 15 (Canadian Press).—Displaying unexpected strength, Great Britain's racquet stars gained a commanding lead in their battle to defend the Wightman Cup, emblem of international supremacy, by taking two out of the first three matches from United States rivals yesterday at the West Side Tennis Club's Stadium.

Miss Helen Wills, United States national champion, saved the home forces from a rout by overcoming Miss Joan Fry, 6-0, 7-5, in a spectacular tussle between these two 19-year-old rivals, but Britain was decisively victorious in the remaining tests.

Miss Kathleen McKane, former Wimbledon champion and ranking star of the invading team, opened the series with a three-set triumph over Mrs. Molla Mallory, seven times United States titleholder, 6-4, 5-7, 6-0, while Mrs. Lambert Chambers and Miss E. H. Harvey, British doubles team, turned in the second victory by defeating Mrs. May Sutton Bundy and Mrs. Mallory, 10-8, 6-1.

As a result of these setbacks, the United States faces an uphill task in the concluding matches today, when three singles and one doubles encounter bring the series to a close.

The tussle between the two youthful stars of the rival teams, Miss Wills and Miss Fry, was the most interesting and spectacular. The United States champion seemed headed for an overwhelming triumph when she took the first set at 6-0 in eleven minutes, but before the gallery had time to readjust its focus, Miss Fry had raced through the first four games of the second set with the loss of only two points.

This sudden and effective spurt by the English girl whose play had been nervous and uncertain in the first set, seemed likely to carry her through the set, but Miss Wills steadied in time to check her rival and put out the match.

It was Miss Wills' cool playing and persistent court covering that gave her the match. Miss Fry traded drive for drive with Miss Wills from the baseline, but invariably she erred under the monotonous attack of her opponent.

HEROIC RESCUES IN RESORT FIRE

Eight Children and Elderly Blind Man Saved Near Battle Creek.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Aug. 17 (Canadian Press)—Even if the anthracite miners go through with their plan to strike on September 1st there will be no coal shortage this fall, according to Fred D. Underwood, President of Erie railroad.

"I do not believe the impending strike will effect the public and business generally except the coal business," Mr. Underwood said. "There is plenty of soft coal available to meet all needs."

BATTLE CREEK, Mich., Aug. 17 (Canadian Press)—Eight sleeping children, imprisoned by locked doors, were carried through flames and smoke in a daring and spectacular rescue from the Labelle resort hotel at Gull Lake, 14 miles west of Battle Creek, which was totally destroyed by fire yesterday with an estimated loss of $85,000. James Milne, 76, and blind, of Grand Rapids, was rescued by means of hastily improvised wire cable. C. W. Dunkley, of Chicago, sporting editor of the Associated Press, central division, and A. L. Spaulding, orchestra leader of the resort dance pavilion fought their way through the fire up a burning stairway, bound a cable around Milne's body and lowered him to the ground below.

BLIGHT HITS POTATO CROP

The potato blight has made an appearance in the fields of this neighborhood, and has already taken considerable toll of the crop.

Judging by the comments of the farmers, the disease is affecting both early and late varieties. Late potatoes appeared free from the blight until recently, but latest reports indicate an extension to all varieties. Some farmers report loss of the entire early crop, with the late potatoes also seriously affected.

The disease is in no way uniform in extent of destructiveness — one farmer getting off comparatively lightly, while his neighbor, who sowed about the same time, being hard hit by losses. The crops in light soils appear to be most affected.

Opinions differed at the market on Saturday as to the origin of the disease, but the majority appear to think the primary case has been wet weather, following by intense heat, causing the leaves to curl and wither thus stopping the growth of the plant.

ONE BIG INNING TIED UP ROUND FOR KNIGHTS OF COLUMBUS IN JUVENILE GAME ON SATURDAY

Six Hits and Seven Runs Were Enough to Win Game for the Petes.

SCORE WAS 8-3.

Poor Outfielding By Visitors Contributed to Win—Masterson Hurled Nicely.

One big inning won the juvenile game here Saturday for the Knights of Columbus. In the first frame they obtained seven of their eight runs, and the final score of their game with Oshawa St. Andrews was 8-3. As the round is now tied up, a third game is taking place in Port Hope this afternoon.

This is how it happened. May, the Oshawa hurler who turned back the Peterborough kids a week ago, was no puzzle Saturday, and didn't get any too good support. Milly Archambault, first man up, greeted him with a single to centre. Rishea dumped a sacrifice in front of the plate which Luke fielded neatly. Kennealey beat out a slow roller to shortstop. Baird misjudged Masterson's long drive and it went for a double, scoring two. Smith singled over second, scoring Masterson. The batter took second on the throw to the plate, and third on Walton's grounder to Gummow. Baird dropped Starr's fly and Smith scored. Carver misjudged a fly from Grady, for a single scoring Starr. Grady stole second and third and Austin walked and stole second. Hubbell, Gummow and Baird all went after Archambault's high one back of first. None of them got it, giving him his second hit of the inning, and sending in Grady and Austin. Rishea rolled to the box.

From that time on, May allowed only three hits, which came in the sixth, and were good for one run. He was a trifle wild but received good support in the pinches and the local boys couldn't connect squarely with his slow hook.

In the first three innings, May, who was walked, was the only Oshawa batter to get on base, and six of the ten men who faced Masterson struck out. Then the visitors counted their first. With one out, May drew his second walk. He went to second on Carver's single to left. Trying to take another base on a momentary fumble by Archambault, he was thrown out at third. Carver took second on the throw, and scored when Baird singled after Gummow had walked.

The visitors were not dangerous in the fifth, but scored two in the sixth. May rolled to Rishea. Carver cut a hot one through Smith's hands for a single and took third on Gummow's single. The hitter went to second on the throw. Baird walked, crowding the cushions. Hare laid down a neat sacrifice forced so that Masterson could make no play at the plate. Starr failed to touch first and the bases still full. SPORT GOSSIP AND COMMENT.

The biggest sporting event of the season will be the Kingston-Peterboro play-off, which will begin here on Saturday, with the second game of the series in Kingston on Wednesday. The series is already the subject of animated discussion all over the district, and there is no doubt of the fact that under favourable weather conditions the attendance, particularly of outside fans, will be unusually large.

There is confidence in the Petes' camp as to the result of the clash. they are stronger than last year's PeterboroThe home talent believe that outfit, and that the Ponies are not as formidable as they were with Compeau at short and Rice behind the bat. The Petes will be at full strength for the play-off, and pepped up with a hard week's practice, are decidedly hopeful of the outcome.

* * * * * * * * *

The Ponies, too, are full of confidence as to the result, figuring that they can hit hard enough behind the pitching of Cairns and Gallagher to turn the trick.

* * * * * * * * *

It is too early to announce the pitching selections for the opening clash, but a good guess is that Cairns and Whitehouse will draw the assignments for their respective teams. Cairns was batted out of the box by the Petes the last time he faced them, but Gallagher saved the day for him.

INDIANS FAILED IN THE PINCHES

Couldn't Hit Keene Pitcher With Two On and One Out.

REGATTA GAMES.

KEENE, Aug. 17.—The Keene baseball team returned to its old time form Thursday afternoon as a climax to the Serpent Mounds regatta, and defeated Curve Lake 6 to 5 in one of the best games ever played in this locality. The game was full of sprakling baseball from start to finish, the climax coming in the last inning with Curve Lake at bat, with a man on second and third and one out, and only one run needed to tie the score. But Robertson, the Keene pitcher, was equal to the occasion and struck out the next two batters, amid thunderous applause. Until the last inning Robertson had been in fine form for Keene, the Curve Lake batters being helpless in the pinches. Curve Lake got two cheap hits in the final inning when the Keene centre fielder could not cover ground for a couple of fly balls on account of being hit by a pitched ball in the previous inning. W. Fletcher injured his ankle on a nice slide into third base in the fifth inning, and retired in favor of E. McCarthy.

The Keene infield played errorless ball and only one was made by the Keene team, when Nelson dropped a high fly ball in the seventh inning, allowing a runner to cross the plate. But they had to be in form as the whole Curve Lake team played a fine ball, and took every chance that they possibly could. Taylor struck out three while Robertson struck out seven. Taylor hit two batters and walked another, while Robertson hit one batter.

The line-up :

SEE-SAW GAME IN BANTAM FINAL

Rotary Was on Top When Final Out Was Called, Tieing Up Round.

SCORE WAS 12-8.

A game in which the lead changed hands often was played by the Rotary and Dufferin All-star bantam teams at Riverside park on Saturday. When the game was over, Rotary was on top, 12-8, and the final series of the City Bantam League was all tied up once more, making a third game necessary.

Eighteen hits off Rotary bats tell the story. Many of them were wasted, in fact, four in one inning, but the others were combined properly with errors and wildness on the part of the Duffs' defence, to produce twelve runs. MacDonald, with five hits in five times up, led the Rotary hitters.

Crary, on the mound for the winners, struck out seventeen. In one inning he struck out four, two of them choosing wild pitches as the third strike. Crary walked two, hit one, and made four wild heaves, while his catcher had four passed balls. Errors behind him at critical moments didn't help him when he was in hot water, but in every case the trusty bats of the team came to the rescue.

The East City boys used two hurlers. Armitage started, and stayed in until the fourth. Green came in from third and retired the side, allowing only one of the three base runners left him by Armitage to cross the plate. The All-stars piled up a lead again in their half of the fifth and Armitage came back for more. He got by in the fifth but in the sixth was touched for four more runs, putting Rotary finally in the lead. Green pitched the seventh and eighth innings and allowed five runs.

Starr, catching for the East City team, was the "star" of the game. In the second the Rotarians made four hits without scoring, due to his good pegging down to second, which cut off base stealers. After that inning only one base was stolen without a runner on third. He also help up the two pitchers well. Holland, at short for Rotary, made the best play of the game when he pulled down Green's drive in the first inning.

BRAKEMEN TOOK LAST COG GAME WINNING SERIES

Raybestos Win Final Fiasco By Barrage of Base Blows.

SCORE 17-1.

Next Step to Battle Lindsay Greybirds in Their Yard.

Raybestos took the final game of the East Peterboro League play-off when they amassed a score of 17 runs from the Cognawagas, who copped one counter on Roger's wild heave to second, when third was populated. Raybstos' players fattended their batting averages by 19 safe clouts, going after the ball with a vengeance and hammering the offerings of the Cog. heavers to all sections of the lot.

Three hits was the stingy gift of Moore to the languishing Cog. averages, and he deferred those gifts until the final stages of the game, when the Rays had piled up discouraging lead. In the third, Shadgett lashed out a two bag blow, but he died there when the next batter whiffed, retiring the side. Rooke made another attempt in the sixth, but he also perished. In the seventh Prest hit, Allen was thrown out, Batten to Turner, Billingsby hit and left Prest reposing on third. As Billingsby went down Rogers tried to cut him off, but his toss was wide and allowed Prest to canter over the para with the solitary digit of the day's work.

For Raybestos, Grose was the prize sticker of the day, coming through with 4 hard bingles in as many official appearances. Duggan got two doubles and a single in four tries, while Batten scared his jinx away with three out of five. Every Raybestos man on the roster figured in the score, while Rogers' three-bagger chased two over the pan.

Should the Brakemen continue in their present stride, they should wander far before they are halted. In Saturday's game, the infield worked like a piece of fine mechanism and with the exception of two drives which pierced Nicholl's defence, and a long distance fly which eluded Duggan's grasp, nothing happened to gum the works.

Batten was right on the mark in every start, and with his pick up in hitting, will pep up the team considerably. Turner handed in a fine card for his afternoon's work on first, as he accepted shoots from all angles without a mishap. The only work assigned the outfield was done by Shaughnessy, when he clamped his mit around Rooke's long drive in the first inning.

The infield work was done with vim and gusto, Moore being given little to complain about in the line of support. The line up:

Raybestos—Batten ss; Grose 3b; Shaughnessy lf; Rogers c; H. Nicholls 2b; Turner 1b; Duggan rf; Webb cf Moore p.

PONIES BEAT OSHAWA.

Score of Listless Game Was 7-3—Last Scheduled Contest.

OSHAWA, Ont., Aug. 17 (Special) — The Kingston Ponies paid their last visit to Oshawa in the 1925 schedule of the Central Ontario Amateur Baseball League Saturday afternoon and as a farewell defeated Oshawa by 7-3. The game had no bearing on the league standing, as the Ponies and Peterboro are the two teams to play off for the championship and as a result it was a listless affair, the feature being the first appearance of pitcher Cairns on the mound for Kingston before an Oshawa audience. BALTIMORE Md., Aug. 17. — Canadian Press. — Japan on Saturday won the right to meet Australia in the third round of the Davis Cup preliminary matches by halving the two singles matches with Spain at the Baltimore Country Club.

Takeichi Harada the youthful Japanese star proved himself the master of the Spanish Captain, Manuel Alonzo, in a thrilling match played under a broiling sun. The scores were 2-6, 6-4, 6-3, 6-4.

Eduardo Flaquer of Spain, who lost to Harada in the first day's play, showed improved form in defeating the Japanese veteran, Kenzo Shimizu, 5-6, 6-0, 6-3, 6-4, but the day had already been lost to Spain. Japan had won the round three matches to two.

CHARLEY PADDOCK PLANS RETIREMENT

Champion Sprinter Intends to Give Up Active Track Work.

By HENRY L. FARRELL.

NEW YORK, Aug. 15.—(United Press).—Charley Paddock, world's champion sprinter, the sprinting mainstay of two American Olympic teams and one of the most colorful athletes on the track, intends to retire from competition when he returns to the United States.

Paddock and Loren Murchison, another American ace, are now reaching the end of an exhibition tour that took them around the world and got them into some hot water when Swedish and German officials charged that they demanded too much money for the appearance in several meets.

This, however, has nothing to do with the retirements of Paddock. His legs started to go back on him two years ago and at that time he told the writer he was dubious that he could make the 1924 Olympic team.

"I'm going out for the team, and if I win a place and make any kind of a showing in Paris I don't care what happens after that," he said.

He didn't make a phenomenal showing in Paris, but he was short of work, and if the games had been held a week later he might have won both the sprint events.

Paddock's place will be hard to fill when he decides to hang up his shoes, but there is a youngster coming up—Frank Hussey, of Boston College—who not only may take Paddock's place, but may nab some of his records.

* * *

"We'll see a lot of new faces on the Olympic team that goes to Amsterdam in 1928," Lawson Robertson, head track coach of the 1924 team, said recently. "Paddock is about through. Murchison is past his prime and most of the college athletes that are now shining will not be in competition. Jole Ray, Watson, Buker and many of our star distance runners are no youngsters. I wouldn't attempt to make a guess on ten runners that are sure to be on the boat in 1928."

* * *

Murchison, writing recently from the other side, said that Nurmi was resting up at his home in Abo and indulging in light training.

Here, according to Murchison, is Nurmi's idea of light training:

"He arises at five in the morning and takes a long walk in the cold morning air. He returns to eat a breakfast of fresh milk, porridge and hard bread. He takes a sleep, goes for another walk and then takes a steaming.

"He goes into a room where there are a pile of big stones on the floor. He pours warm water over the stones first and then some cold water until the steam generated would suffocate an ordinary man. After the steaming he goes right out into the cold air. Some of the Finns go out and roll in the snow after one of these steam baths."

* * *

The time which Nurmi seems to have for his light training cause one to wonder where he gets the money to buy his hard bread and porridge and keep the hot water ready for the bricks.

* * *

Helen Wainwright, 1924 swimming champion, and Etheldra Bleibtrey, 1920 national and Olympic champion, are employing the tactics of the prize ring in their argument as to counter-claims for the world's championship. They are hurling challenges back and forth, naming conditions for a match test and disputing like a couple of cauliflowers.

They were both amateur stars before they turned professional, and if their tactics in the controversy are testimonials of professionalism, the A.A.U. should get a congressional decoration for its efforts to preserve the ideals of amateurism.

* * *

They are quite excited in England since Cyril Tolley, former amateur golf champion, laid aside his clubs and said he was going to take up tennis as a patriotic duty. There has been much speculation in the London papers as to the possibility of a champion in one branch of sport reaching the top in another sport.

Perhaps they have never heard of Miss Mary Browne, former American national champion, who took up golf, won several sectional titles and became a semi-finalist in a national golf and tennis championship the same season.

Tolley played tennis before he started in golf. The fundamentals of the two games are closely related and he might become a very good tennis player.

In collegiate athletes there have been examples too numerous to mention of athletes who starred in two, three and four branches of sport but they did not become national champions.

One of the most interesting examples of a "switch-over" was furnished when Paul Berlenbach, Olympic wrestler of 1920, took up boxing and became the world's light-heavyweight champion.

(By Canadian Press)

TORONTO, Aug. 17.—Sir Adam Beck, chairman of the Ontario Hydro-Electric Power Commission, popularly known in this province as the Minister of Power, was a native son of Ontario. He was born on June 20, 1857, at Baden, Ont., which was founded by his father. After having passed through the public school at Baden, he attended the famous Dr. Tassie's school at Galt, then the Rockwood Academy, and afterwards the Western University, London, Ont., from which he graduated and which later conferred upon him the degree of LL.D.

Sir Adam, who was then simply Mr. Beck, in 1878 engaged in the iron foundry and milling business with his father, the late Jacob B. Beck, at Baden. In 1880 he removed to Galt, Ont., where he commenced the manufacture of boxes and the business of veneering thin lumber. He continued in this line for four years, then went to London, Ont. Here he built an extensive plant, and established branches at Montreal, Toronto and Hamilton.

The beginning of Sir Adam's great interest in the supply of cheap electric power to the people of Ontario began in 1903, when he was appointed a Commissioner to investigate the development and distribution of electric power from Niagara Falls. In 1906 as Minister without portfolio in the Whitney provincial government, Sir Adam Beck introduced a power bill in the Legislature, creating the Hydro-Electric Power Commission. He was appointed chairman of the Hydro-Electric Commission in June of that year. This position he continued to hold up to the time of his death. He was first elected to the Legislature for London in 1902, and was re-elected for each succeeding term until the provincial general election of 1919, when he was defeated by H. A. Stevenson, Labor representative. Sir Adam was again elected to the Ontario legislature as member for London in the general election of 1923, and was appointed minister without portfolio in the government of Hon. G. Howard Ferguson.

Whitney's Caution.

"Remember, Beck, $6,000,000 is the limit, Sir James Whitney is said to have cautioned Beck when the first government guarantee of hydro bonds was demanded. Mr. Beck found little difficulty in getting the Whitney limit raised to hundreds of millions after he had shown him what he could do. The first provincially owned current from Niagara was turned on in the town of Berlin, now Kitchener, in 1910. The second transmission line was built to Toronto. Beck continued to represent London in the legislature until 1919, when he went down with the Conservative party in the provincial general election. He was retained by the Drury U.F.O.-Labor government, however, as chairman of the Power Commission, in which capacity he at that time was paid a salary of $18,000 a year.

Sir Adam Beck's plans in Hydro affairs met with setbacks under the Drury United Farmer government, particularly with reference to Hydro-Electric Railways. A Royal Commission, after several months of investigation, recommended against building certain radial railways under provincial guarantees, and thereby took issue with the Hydro Commission and Sir Adam Beck. This report caused a certain division between Sir Adam and the government when the latter made it clear that they were inclined to accept the Royal Commissions report as the one to follow.

Chippewa Expenditure.

Then there was the break over the cost of the Chippawa project and while the Drury Government did not stop the work there, it held up the latest advance of three and a half million dollars until the legislature could vote on it. Sir Adam defended the stand of the Hydro Commission with characteristic vigor, attacked the Royal Commission's report and defended the Hydro Commission's expenditures.

Sir Adam had very wide interests and probably was the best known man in his native Province. He was Mayor of London from 1902 to 1904. He was President of the Union of Municipalities in 1904, and held office in various local associations. Known far and wide for his interest in thoroughbred horses, Sir Adam was a promoter of the Canadian Jockey Club and was Master of the London Hunt Club. He was knighted in 1914.

Married in 1898.

Lady Beck, to whom he was married in 1898, was an expert horsewoman, also an owner of thoroughbreds. With her husband she was prominent at the leading horse shows in London, England, and in the United States and Canada. Lady Beck died on October 17, 1921.

During the war Sir Adam Beck rendered valuable service to the cause of the Allies as Director of Remounts. He personally supervised the purchase of army horses for the Canadian forces.

In the earlier period of his life, while extending his operations as a manufacturer, Adam Beck's health was threatened by overwork and he was advised by his physician to spend more time in the open, walking or riding. He hired a hack horse at a livery stable. After a few rides on this animal, which never had done anything more exciting than to haul people to the railway station and the cemetery, the young manufacturer discovered that the horse could scale a fence easily, so Mr. Beck bought him. This horse, known as Rosebery, developed into a famous jumper under the skilful management of his new owner, and he won prizes in Canada, the United States and England. This was Sir Adam's first start as a horse expert.

Sir Adam's first experience in public matters was obtained as a hospital trustee in London, Ont., where he resided for about 30 years. He was prominent in promoting the Byron Sanitarium near London, and the handsome residence for the nurses in connection with that institution was the gift of Sir Adam and Lady Beck.

One daughter of Sir Adam survives. She is the wife of Major Strathearn Hay, of Toronto.

FATHER DROWNS WITH DAUGHTER

Girl Got Beyond Her Depth and Father Couldn't Swim —Sudbury Tragedy.

SUDBURY, Ont., August 17. —(Canadian Press.)—A double drowning occurred on Sunday afternoon, when Charles Dennis, aged 40, of Sudbury, plunged into the Vermilion River, about twenty miles from here, to assist his daughter Amy, who had got beyond her depth.

Heroic efforts to save the pair were made by Miss Bethilde Hawthorn and James Guse, eye-witnesses of the tragedy, failed.

According to eye-witnesses Miss Dennis and Miss Hawthorne were propelling a raft along in the water, when the former fell into a hole and called for help.

Miss Hawthorne immediately tried to seize her companion, and Mr. Dennis, who was on the shore, jumped to the rescue, but, being unable to swim, sank.

James Guse, an employee in the lumber mill, who was near by, went after Dennis, and brought him to the surface but was obliged to abandon him to save his own life.

The bodies were quickly recovered but attempts to revive father and daughter failed.

Dennis is survived by his wife and another daughter, Nellie.

MLLE. MARTENS, FRENCH SPEED ARTISTE, ARRIVED IN CITY TO-DY — AT EMPRESS

Arthur Chevrolet Enters One Of His Speedway Cars for the Big Races—Floyd Roberts Will Drive It — Has Ford Motor With Frontenac Head.

Arthur Chevrolet, himself a famous automobile racing pilot of yesterday, now one of the great automotive engineers of the world, this morning made a personal entry of one of his fast speedway type cars for the big automobile meet to be held over the Peterboro Exhibition Park track on Thursday afternoon. Chevrolet has devoted his genius during the past two years to building a Frontenac head for Ford engines and has produced an appliance which, when fitted to one of the little Ford engines, makes Henry's chariots run like a Deusenberg or Miller racing job. The car he is sending here will be driven by Floyd Roberts, of California, and will be the same machine which startled the auto racing fraternity by finishing sixth in the 500-mile race at Indianapolis against 30 of the greatest speed creations of Europe and America. The racing committee in charge of the "big league" speedfast scheduled for Thursday is elated over Chevrolet's entry. His car will be on exhibition at Duffus' sales room, beginning at Tuesday noon. While the body and chassis is like other special racing cars, the engine is a standard Ford motor with one of Chevrolet's Frontenac heads added. The noted car has been campaigned all over the United States and has created a sensation especially among Ford owners wherever it has raced.

Following a conference this morning between Webber Turner of the Exhibition, and John Sloan, of the auto racing committee, a price schedule for Thursday's events was adopted, which Sloan declared is far lower than that in effect at any of the big automobile events held in the United States. Admission to the grounds will be 75 cents, with a 25-cent extra charge for the grandstand. Children will be admitted to both grounds and grandstand for 35 cents.

"Automobile racing is a most expensive proposition," said Mr. Sloan this morning. "In the United States the prices run from one dollar to three dollars for general admission, and grandstand and box seats run as high as eight and ten dollars. One smashed racing automobile in Peterboro would take away the profit of the entire day, even with a big crowd present. Three of the cars that will compete here Thursday cost in excess of $15,000 each. The price scheduled was adopted after Mr. Turner urged us to make the admission as low as possible, as he is anxious to have a large crowd turn out and approve of the races in order that the Exhibition might plan on staging an auto race day next year during the Exhibition and put Peterboro in the international auto racing circuit.

Under direction of the grounds superintendent and a representative of Mr. Sloan, work began this morning of erecting the safety zones around the track, which the rules of the International Motor Contest Association demand. Spectators will be kept at least 40 feet away from the track on the turns and twenty feet on the stretches, both on the infield and on outer edge of the course. There will be no charge for automobiles to enter the grounds. The hegira of the racing drivers will begin to-morrow morning.

Mlle. Martens will be the first of the celebrities to arrive. After registering at the Empress the little French girl will be given the use of a Chrysler car by the Gillespie organiation, and will take a spin over the roads adjacent to Peterboro. In the afternoon she will have her first whirl around the Exhibition Grounds track.

Louis Disbrow, Ray Lampkin, "Puddy" Hoffman, Cleo Sarles, Johnny Green, Ray Claypool, 'Scotty' Montieth, George Stevens, Eddie Dailey and the other pilots who are slated to write a few new chapters in auto racing history here, are spending to-day in Toronto, where they are making suggestions to the officials of the Toronto Exhibition as to how the track may be best prepared for their races there in ten days.

Nearly a ton of calcium chloride will be mixed with water and be sprinkled on the local track to lay the dust. This work is done after sun-down and just about dawn on the two days before the races.

When the racing cars arrive they will be placed on exhibition so that those mechanically inclined may get a first hand idea of the latest things in racing motors. Several different garages will house the steel steeds.

The Lloyd's indemnity insurance policy, taking care of liability up to $20,000 in case of accident, has been received by Mr. Sloan.

Motion For Dismissal of Injunction Near Kingston.

KINGSTON, Aug. 17 (Canadian Press).—An entirely new angle to the controversy over the possession of St. John's Presbyterian Church, Pittsburgh, Ont., was brought to light today, in a motion by Cunningham and Smith to have an injunction against the Continuing Presbyterian Church, Rev. R. J. Craig, Rev. W. M. Fee and W. A. Finnigan dismissed. The motion will be heard in Toronto on Thursday.

Cunningham and Smith are asking for costs against each solicitor personally, on the grounds that the plaintiff is not an entity and cannot sue and that proceedings should not have been launched.

The car turned over, but none of the occupants were seriously hurt, though all were badly shaken, and after the car had been repaired they were able to proceed on their journey.

ROTARIAN DOBBIN TALKS ABOUT TRIP

Had Variety of Experiences Which He Retailed at Luncheon.

At the Rotary luncheon to-day Rev. J. E. Todd, minister of George Street Methodist church and R. C. Flitton were introduced as guests.

A. L. Killaly told of a visit to the Rotary Boys' Camp in which the mothers of some of the boys were present.

Arrangements were made to facilitate similar visits and members were requested to be present at the camp field day to take place on Thursday, August 20th.

Rotarian Ross Dobbin then presented a humorous account of a western trip from which he had but recently returned. In his opening remarks he aimed a pungent stab at the Canadian National Railways, when he said that the party wished to reach Winnipeg the worst way so they took a National train and arrived eight hours late. Mr. Dobbin noted various changes in the prairie city since a previous visit, the most striking being the number of trees responding to cultivation.

He also dilated upon the lawns, the great park, consisting of 1000 acres, the Parliament Buildings of limestone, inlaid by nature, with fossils, the interior of the buildings being of rich walnut. He enlarged upon the current grievances of the Westerners which were, in brief, the government, the freight rates, and the foreigners.

Mr. Dobbin reported Edmonton to be at a standstill, but they viewed its varied attractions and journeyed on to Jasper Park. They proceeded to Edith Cavell Mountain and "walked one mile horizontal and two vertical," but were rewarded for their efforts by the glimpses of beauty and engineering skill. Bears were playing on the golf course, their presence possibly being the handicap under which many played. Bears not on the course were obtaining light refreshments at their exclusive garbage cans, which they manipulated with considerable skill. The route led the trippers down the Columbia, and the train stopped at convenient intervals to afford a more prolonged view of the surrounding scenery, and many evidences of forest fires were present in the low hanging banks of smoke.

Vancouver is a very busy city, with a metropolitan aspect. The streets throng with foreigners, including Hindoos in their native regalia, whiskers supplying the distinctive feature.

Victoria is a city of a different type, and very little manufacturing is carried on. The main idea of the city is to supply residences in which people may retire. Mr. Dobbin was of the opinion that the retirement might prove expensive.

The return trip gave a better view of the agricultural prospectus, and the estimate given was 20 bushels to the acre. Farmers were optimistic and had dreams of paying off the mortgage. Cattle were more numerous than had been noticed previously.

Rotarian Dobbin concluded his travelogue, voicing a protest that B. Lee Barnes and Tom Barrie were not similarly importuned.

$175,000 DAM AT YOUNG'S POINT

G. N. Gordon Announces Tenders to be Called—Work For Next Winter.

G. N. Gordon, K.C., M.P., advised The Examiner this morning that tenders will be called for the construction of the Young's Point section of the Trent Canal, and will be received until noon on Tuesday, September 8th.

Mr. Gordon said for some time the condition of the lock at Young's Point has been unsatisfactory, and he has continually brought this to the attention of the Government, with the result that the Government has now decided to construct a new lock, including piers, dredging, blasting, machinery, etc., at a cost of about $175,000. This work will continue all winter, and will furnish employment for a considerable number of men.

Mr. Gordon further says that he expected the Scott's Mills work on the dam three miles of Hall's Bridge to continue pretty well through the winter, and this will keep employed probably twenty men and teams most of the time.

British Textile Wages

Through the present strike among the workers in the wool textile trade in England, which affects about a quarter of a million employees and is chiefly centred in the big mills at Bradford, the effect of free trade on workers living under that fiscal policy and its reaction in Canadian workers are brought forcibly before the public. Low wages in the old country in the past, coupled with low standards of living and low standards of working conditions, has resulted in unfair competition from British manufacturers with similar products made in Canadian mills by workers receiving Canadian wages and living at Canadian standards of comfort. This competition resulted in a large number of textile plants in this country having to close and in throwing Canadians out of employment or putting them on part time work. It is not a question of a manufacturer abroad competing with a manufacturer in Canada, but of wage earners abroad producing goods for wages which would not, and should not, be tolerated in Canada.

Now the British manufacturers are asking their employees to accept still lower wages which would result in a still lower standard of living.

Outlook for Industry.

Briefly the outlook of the wool textile trade may be summed up as follows: A prolonged strike with the accompanying inactivity of the mills in England would result in a diversion for the time being of business to the Canadian product. On the other hand if the wage earners in England should agree to accept the reduced wages as has been suggested by the manufacturers there British cloth would continue to be imported into this country in an increased amount, and Canadian manufacturers and their employees would be dealt another blow.

In checking up the wages paid in Great Britain in January, 1924, for seventy-five occupations in the woollen industry there, it was found that with due allowance for differences in hours of work and sex of workers that on the whole the wages in Canada were double those paid abroad. According to statistics on wages gathered by the Department of Labor of the Dominion government for male employees, such as carders, spinners, knitters, fixers, dyehouse employees, etc., the average wage in Canada is $20. For female help, including winders, folders and finishers, the average wage is $14.50 a week.

In contrast with the wages in Canada the following, taken from a British publication, the Textile Argus of July 8, which gives a history of the strike negotiations, indicates the present wages in that country and also the reductions proposed by the employers, although to arrive at an acurate knowledge of the comparative wages paid in Great Britain and Canada the wages paid for each type of work must be compared and not averages. The Argus says:

"Subsequently an official statement was issued to the press by the trades union representatives, in the course of which it was stated that on June 1, after the operatives had rejected the employers' counter-proposal to withdraw the ten per cent. advance granted in 1919, thereby causing a reduction in wages of $1.20 per week to adult male time workers and 70c to adult female time workers, and from 72c to $1.80 per week to piece workers—the employers amended their proposals so as to reduce base rates by five per cent, and the cost of living figures to 65 per cent. for day workers and other sections in proportion.

"The general effect of these amended proposals, it was stated, would be to reduce the wages of the adult female time workers by 66 per adult female time workers by 66c per week. These proposals were rejected by the trade unions and on June 25 the employers again amended their terms to those which were rejected by the N. A. U. T. T. on July 4th.

"The effect of the final proposals of the employers was stated to be as follows:

Time-Workers.

"The present rate for schedule male adults is $13.16 per week; the proposed wage is $12.40, and the reduction is 76c.

"For unscheduled male adults the present wage is $12.64 per week; the proposed wage is $11.90; and the reduction 74 cents.

"Female adults have a present wage of $7.74 per week; the proposed wage is $7.29 and the reduction 45 cents."

The heavy unemployment in Great Britain in the woollen and worsted trade, and the present attempt to have the workers accept a reduced wage is said to be due to the fact that competition from foreign countries with still lower wages is cutting into the British trade. Press dispatches discussing the labor trouble in Bradford point out that taking Yorkshire wages at par or 100 per cent, those of France are 53 per cent, and Germany 46 per cent. If the low wages in continental countries are having such an effect on the workers in Great Britain how much greater will be the effect on Canadian workers, for if the wages paid in Canada are represented by 100 per cent., those in Great Britain would be represented by 50 per cent., France by 26½ per cent., and Germany by 25 per cent. The need for tariff protection for Canadian labor would seem to be self-evident. — Galt Reporter.

THISTLE WON G. N. GORDON TROPHY FOR SECOND YEAR IN SUCCESSION BEATING DUMMER 5 TO 3 IN FINAL Township Boys Put Up a Gallant Fight Against Greater Experience.

CUP PRESENTED.

Jones Could Not Stop Richmond's Shots — Hutton ton and Browell Brilliant.

The Thistle won the Gordon Cup for the second year in succession on Saturday afternoon, by five goals to three, when Dummer was their opponents, at Nicholls Oval, before a very large attendance of spectators. Up to the interval it was anybody's game, but the Thistle indulged in combination that proved more productive in goals, while Dummer's long punts was free-kicks for the defense. They made a creditable show for the first ime in senior soccer, and they complimented the winning team. Thorpe, the new man for Thistle made a good impression.

Presented the Cup.

G. N. Gordon, K.C., M.P., presented the cup to the Thistle after the game. He complimented both elevens for the splendid sportsmanship on the field and intimated that he was willing to give a trophy to the juveniles so as to foster the game in the city and country. Hugh Richmond accepted the cup and responded with a snappy speech. "Three cheers all 'round was given."

Goal in Two Minutes.

Captain Anderson lost the toss and Dummer United decided to make the Thistle face the sun and kick into the west goal. Referee Alex. McKinley got the tusse started few minutes late. From the kick off, Hutton dribbled his way through the defense until Taylor conceded a flag-kick, then a throw-in followed that proved disastrous when Dawson banged a left foot drive inside the upright, after two m nutes duration. On the centre-kick, the Dummer boys raided the Thistle goal that only brought forth goal kicks. Thorpe sent Browell away on the left wing, Crowe tackled, but the wing man left him standing. He crossed, but the defense responded well and were relieved by a foul against Williams. Jory punted up to his right wing pair who made progress against the Thistle full-backs. The township's centre-forward carried the sphere forward but a little too far because Brown lifted the ball away from his foot and the man into the net.

Taylor's Clever Clearance.

Quick as a flash, the Thistle half-backs concentrated a well-planned attack that permitted nice combination on the whole forward as the ball swung across from wing to wing. Browell went down into the corner where he returned to his inside man and a first-timer from the left foot banged against the cross-bar. Without hesitation, Taylor caught the re-bound from amongst the attackers. Dummer went down in a body to gain no advantage as the defen e frustrated the movement, but they got a fright when Bell's long drive whizzed over the cross-bar. Hutton again attracted attention with his clever manipulation and anticipation of attacks. He went inside the defense and about five yards out compelled Wilfred Jones to concede a fruitless comer. Dummers half-backs replied with a spirited assault when Anderson handled.

Rufus Payne Equalised.

The free-kick was punted into the goal by Taylor which made the Thistle goal-keeper pull-off a clever safe, but he lost the ball. Darling sent back across to Rufus Payne who ripped a fast shot into the rigging. At last, the Thistle found themselves amongst a formidable opponents.

Browell's Wonderful Control.

No other player was more conspicuous on the field than Browell, by his manner n outwitting an opponent. After gaining possession in mid-field, he travelled down the wing himself, all the defense went over to offset him, but he bewildered them when his parting shot landed a tthe foot of Richmond, who made no mistake with a body-high rocket past Jones for number two. This did not upset Dummer in the least, because they made play interesting in the Thistle territory when they gained two unconverted corner-kicks. Play ran from end to end for a while, with each team missing scoring opportunities. Time and again Darling and Munro wing were dangerous, but the outside man became a little "peeved" owing to his team-mates advice to "cross the ball." When he did, it was a perfect centre that the full-backs found difficult to clear and it was "heads all," in front of goal. Wade punted forward to Pulley, who made a bee-line for goal, while Hutton followed up.

Richmond's Left Footer

They passed backwards and forwards against the defense. The ball came across like a rocket to the centre where Richmond's left foot connected to Wilfred Jones discomfort, when he threw himself across the goal to be a little late as it bounced off his outstretched arms into the net. Fouls were very common thereafter as the result of infringements of the laws—then Dummer put on the pressure without tangible reward, their shooting being wild at his point. Play was in mid-field at the interval. Thistle 3, Dummer 1.

Half Time.

When play was resumed Dummer at once pressed and forced a comer-kick which brought nothing better. Then Tommy Monks gave Brown a stinger to stop. They all bunched in the goal mouth, they by offsides spoiling a chance to score.

Hutton's Surprise Goal.

Seven minutes had gone when Hutton dribbled past two players from a throw in. The two opponents kept right after him as he travelled to the coveted spot and, losing control of the ball, he gently tapped it but it also deceived the goal-keeper as its peculiar roll carried it into the net. Each goal was attacked in turn, Monks and Payne giving the Thistle many a tussel around the goal and Darling was swinging across the ball, but it was a heading competition between Wade and Sharman, for the former to gain possession. On one occasion, the whole Dummer eleven was down in front of goal but somehow or other Anderson came out of the melee with the ball.

Hutton's Master Stroke.

The right wing traversed the attack to the other end through Hutton who beat three men in succession by feinting a forward movement then back-heeling, but letting go a burst of speed to the goal. The referee kept him company and as two players hemmed him in, he took a glance across to see if Richmond was offsides before parting with the ball, but he was O.K., when he connected with a first timer into the net. Jones had no chance to save.

Lackadaisical Tactics.

After this goal, the Thistle fell away in play and Dummer revived with their usual last minute attacks. A foul against Carmichael for using "hitching kick" was placed to Darlings advantage, who crossed into goal. Then Brown was a busy man in repelling shots rained at him from all distances.

Two Goals in Five Minutes.

Offside decisions prevailed against the Thistle forwards on many raids. Another centre by Darling was headed out by Anderson but Payne made certain as he whipped the sphere into the net. Just before the final whistle, Sharman connected to make the score stand Thistle 5, Dummer 3.

CLEAN SWEEP IN DAVIS CUP MEET TO AUSTRALIANS

Took Final Singles From Canadian Players on Saturday.

STRAIGHT SETS.

One Set Went Twenty Games Before a Decision Was Reached.

MONTREAL, Aug. 17 (Canadian Press).—With two victories in the final singles matches, Australia made a clean sweep of the American zone Davis Cup semi-final tie again Canada, concluded on the courts of the Mount Royal Tennis Club Saturday afternoon. Gerald L. Patterson, Australia, triumphed over Willard F. Crocker, Canadian champion, 6-4, 11-9, 6-4, in the first of the two concluding matches. While the Australian captain, J. O. Anderson, defeated Jack Wright in straight sets 6-2, 6-4, 6-1.

By winning the first two singles and the doubles match Thursday and Friday, Australia had clinched the tie and the right to meet Japan in the American zone final, so that nothing was at stake in the matches Saturday.

While Wright played up to his best form shown in the first two days, Crocker showed vast improvement in his play. The Canadian champion gave Patterson a real struggle. He forced the Australian to smash his hardest to win. Crocker played with more confidence than in the previous contests. He had more control of his strokes and managed frequently to return bullet-like drives of Patterson for placement points. He made his best show in the second set, when he took service for service with the Antipodean for 18 games when Patterson finally broke through with terrific driving and took two in a row to win the set 11-9. The effort took some of the dash out of the Canadian champion and, though he extended Patterson in the third set, the Australian found it less difficult to make his placement strokes, frequently catching the tiring Canadian flat-footed or out of position.

Wright met Anderson at his own style of play in the second tilt. Both played a back court game and relied on placement shots to count. The Australian captain held the Canadian flash away from the net where he is at his best, and Wright had to battle "long Jim" at a disadvantage. The Canadian fought gallantly, making many smart strokes, but while he played tennis that would beat many first string players, he was outclassed by the leader of the visiting team, who was at his very best and who drew round after round of applause by the ease with which he made most spectacular placements—strokes which even caused Wright to marvel at times. This match provided the gallery with the most finished display of tennis seen on local courts in Davis Cup matches.

It also produced a display of sportsmanship on the part of the Canadian. One of the linesmen called a double fault on Anderson when to Wright and many in the crowd it appeared as if the Aussie had scored his second serve, the ball seemingly hitting the centre line. Wright purposely drove the next one out of the court to even matters—an act which received its just recognition both from his opponent and the gallery.

INSIDE GOLF

By CHESTER ... RTON
Maker of 51 Golf Champions. "Golf's most successful teacher," says "Chick" Evans

The niblick will serve the player in many useful ways, and is not simply a weapon for removing the ball from traps. Often the ball lies just off the green with a considerable rise between it and the pin. Or perhaps a rather wide trap must be carried, and yet the ball be made to stop. Obviously if a mashie is used the distance may be carried but the run will be too great. Pull the niblick for this shot. It will lift the ball high and cause it to fall without roll of consequence. You can make the ball go almost straight up in the air with the niblick by learning how to lay the blade back to different degrees. Only experimenting can give you the range of this. When using the niblick for such shots be sure to keep the blade low to the ground as it starts back from the ball, then hit straight through the ball and out after it.

Underspin on the golf ball can sometimes perform such antics that the goldfer is completely mystified at the action of the ball. Often the pitched mashie shot will hit the green then roll beyond all reasonable expectation. The ball persists in this until the player sometimes will abandon the mashie. The ball pitched or exploded from a trap, the player sometimes observes, runs clear across the green when it was expected it would stop dead. The reason for this unexpected roll is that the ball still has "forward energy" and this causes the underspin to change into overspin when the ball strikes the ground. The good golfer has a way, which I shall explain in subsequent articles, of taking this into account.

Action! Punch! Red blood! Comedy!

That's the order of the day down at the Royal Theatre to-day, where the Paramount picture, "The Shock Punch," starring Richard Dix, is the feature.

"The Shock Punch" is a screen version of John Monk Saunders' Liberty Magazine story, adapted for the screen by Luther Reed and directed by Paul Sloane, who made "Too Many Kisses," also starring Dix. Frances Howard, who played opposite Dix in "Too Many Kisses," is featured at the head of the cast in this one, too.

In "The Shock Punch," Dix has the role of Randall Lee Savage, scion of a wealthy family, who, in a course of boxing to keep physically fit, develops a "shock punch." He is forced to use this knockout punch on several occasions, especially when in an attempt to prove his daring, he takes a position among structural iron workers. These workers take delight in teasing the embryo and force him to perform hazardous feats on iron beams as they are being hosted to lofty heights.

Miss Howard plays Dorothy Clark, whose love Dix seeks to win by his courage and daring.

Walter Long, "Gunboat" Smith, Paul Panzer, Charles Beyer and other prominent screen players appear in the strong supporting cast.

"The Shock Punch" is typical Dix entertainment.

MANY GOALS AND RAGGED PLAY IN SCOTCH LEAGUE

Home Clubs Gained a Majority of the Decisions in Openers.

NOT SETTLED DOWN.

Play Lacked Precision That Comes in Mid-Season—No Favorites Yet.

GLASGOW, Aug. 17 (Canadian Press cable)—The Scottish Soccer season opened Saturday with a general goal-getting fest, no fewer than thirty-seven counters being registered in the first division to thirty-six in the second, and it is noteworthy that five of these goals were accumulated by the Celtic in their game against the Hibernians at Celtic Park. Home clubs obtained most of the decisions where games went to dfienite results, and of the ten played in the senior string seven were decisive while three resulted in draws.

The league champions, the Rangers, had little difficulty in disposing of St. Johnstone, on the Perth Club's ground, three goals being scored against the home team, while the runnersup, the Airdrieonians, were forced to accept a draw from Paisley St. Mirren, one goal each being the outcome. The teams from the Capital city fared badly; Hibernians were soundly trounced by celtic, while the heart of Midlothian divided the points at Tynecastle Park with Falkirk, the "Bairns" coming well out of the contest in compelling the Hearts to yield half of the aggregate.

Considerable interest centred in the appearance of Dundee United for the first time in the senior division of the league, but their tilt with Raith Rovers, played at Kirkcaldy, showed them up in a fashion that was not particularly impressive. Raith were too good for the newcomers, but at that the United's dogged play aroused confidence among their fans that the team has come to stay. Clydebank, the other second string club that secured promotion last season, were also indifferent, succumbing to Motherwell by two goals to one.

Rangers were the only club to win away from home.

In the second division most of the interest surrounded the performances of the two clubs relegated from the first, Ayr United and Third Lanark, and the two promoted from the third, Queen of the South and Nithsdale Wanderers. Of these only the "Volunteers" came out with a clean sheet. Defeating East Fife in handsome fashion. Queen of the South played a sterling game against Clyde, sustaining defeat by only the odd goal in seven, while Ayr United went down to Allom and Nithsdale Wanderers broke rather badly before Dunformline Athletic.

The games throughout were characteristic of the season's beginning. The teams were ragged and their play for the most part lacked the precision that comes only around mid-season. Nothing in any of the contests could be accepted as indicating which are likely to be favorites in the long race for league championship. A long playing season is ahead and it will require several weeks before the various combinations can settle down to real play.

You will find many things you thought you couldn't afford in the Classified Ads. of the Examiner.

WIGHTMAN CUP TO STAY IN ENGLAND

British Ladies Won Tennis Series From United States Team.

FOREST HILLS, N.Y., Aug. 17 (Canadian Press).—The Wightman Cup, emblem of international women's tennis supremacy, goes back to England for another year's sojourn.

Britain's feminine racquet wielder successfully defended the trophy Saturday when they emerged victorious by the margin of four matches to three at the end of the two-day international tournament.

The invading forces clinched their triumph in brilliant fashion when the doubles team of Miss Kathleen McKane and Miss Evelyn Colyer, vanquished Miss Helen Wills and Miss Mary K. Browne, 6-0, 6-3, after the United States forces had staged a sensational uphill battle to square the series.

Holding a lead of two matches to one as a result of Friday's play, the British forces increased their edge when Mrs. Lambert Chambers, veteran captain, conquered Miss Eleanor Goss, 7-5, 3-6, 6-1, in the first match of the afternoon, but by spectacular singles triumphs by Miss Wills and Mrs. Molla Mallory put the United States back in the running until Britain's hurricane finish decided the issue.

The conclusion of the series, requiring five hours of play, not only brought out an unusually close battle for honors, but also witnessed demonstrations on the part of the gallery of some 6,000 fans unparalleled in American tennis annals.

Aroused to a high pitch by the tenseness of the McKane-Wills struggle, the crowd grew more unruly as the play progressed, voicing vigorous protest against the line decisions that seemed questionable and later going so far as to boo Miss Wills when she finally appeared for her doubles match after delay.

JOHNNIE SUTHERLAND'S LACROSSE COMMENTS

Saw Bailey "Hooked" and Fall—Weir Around After the Game.

Johnnie Sutherland last night was lamenting the "bust up" of Friday's lacrosse game.

"I wouldn't have had that happen for any money, said the local manager, "and I want to say our boys were no more to blame than the visitors. I was right near the north goal when the fight started, and I spoke to Captain Bailey afterwards and what he told me tallies with what I saw. Bailey was circling the Havelock-Norwood net when Hooper slashed him over the ankle and he fell to the ground from the effect of the blow. Just then Charlie Brennan shouted at him "Get up, you're not hurt," in an insulting tone that nettled; Bailey had accepted the injury but not the insult. He made for Brennan and then Weir butted in. Bailey had the mark of Weir's fist on his face, but he retaliated and landed on the Norwood man's jaw and toppled him over. The story that Weir was taken to the hospital was all poppycock. They did take him to the Clinic, but he was around here Friday night with a bruised but not a dislocated shoulder. However, in view of the abuse our boys have been through against these teams, and the beating they got in Norwood, they still have the long side of the account if they choose to look at it in that way. I for one don't, and I certainly regret what has happened, both here and elsewhere."

PASSION PLAY AT ST. JEROME

Sacred Drama Enacted Near Foothills of the Laurentians.

MONTREAL, Aug. 17 (Canadian Press).—For the first time in Canada, the Passion lay was produced Sunday by residents of the town of St. Jerome, a thriving industrial community set in the heart of an agricultural district close by the foothills of the Laurentians. The sacred drama was enacted on a large scale based on the methods followed by the natives of Oberammergau, and as the story of the great tragedy was unfolded by picturesque and stirring tableaux, and gripping narrative, it enthralled a large audience which had gathered from the town itself and all the neighboring communities. The situation oft he town lends itself admirably to such a production. First by reason of its location on the North River which tumbles down from the hills at the point where the Canadian National Railways bears off on its climb into the charming mountains, and then by the fact that the people of these communities are intensely religious in sentiment and enter thoroughly into the true spirit of the faith that is theirs.

Some of the individuals who essayed the characters in the sacred drama came from odd walks to the stage of the passion play. The actor who essayed the role of Christ, and gave a most appealing performance in its impersonation is a lawyer in eevry day life. Mary, is a good housewife of St. Jerome.

The Magdalene is a sister of the priest who produced the work. St. Peter is a cloth cutter while Judas, who also gave an impressive performance, is employed in a packing plant.

It is intended to repeat the performance every Sunday during August and throughout the month of September.

The summary follows, the first-named players representing Peterborough:

Jackson defeated Winfield, 6-0, 6-1.

Cranfield defeated Bradley, 6-2, 6-3.

Weber and Jackson defeated Briden and Ryan, 6-3; 6-3.

Chicago Wheat Opened Unsteady But Recovered

CHICAGO, Aug. 17.— Absence of any influencing feature other than weather reports, account for the wheat market having a listless opening here to-day, with the market from 1-4c. higher to 1c. lower. Reports of a severe hail storm in Mantioba seemed to sustain the market for the first half hour, but selling eased off and a real sharp setback soon took place that caused statues to decline 7-8 to 2 5-8c. down from opening figures. The market rebounded somewhat later. The opening showed September 157 5-8 to 159 3-8; Dec. 156 1-2 to 157 and May 159 3-4 to 160. Corn and oats were dull but showed some steadiness. "CINDERELLA" MAN FLEES FROM NEW YORK ROOF GARDEN KISSED BY GROUP OF CHORUS BEAUTIES

Millionaire Who Adopted Mary Spas Caught in Swirl of Gay Dancers.

DINERS INFECTED.

Edward W. Browning Subjected to Good-Natured Razzing By Dinner-Dance Crowd.

NEW YORK, N. Y., Aug. 18. — (United Press). — Smothered with kisses from painted-faced chorus girls who wanted to be adopted, Edward W. Browning, millionaire 'Cinderella man,' fled last midnight from the roof garden of the Belleclaire Hotel, where he has an apartment.

As soon as the wealthy realtor's identity became known, he was surrounded by a flock of excited show girls, who hugged and kissed him and forced him to dance a few steps.

"Won't you adopt me, Mr. Browning?"

"Oh, please adopt me, Mr. Browning."

"Oh there's the Cinderella man."

These exclamations from the chorus queens came to Mr. Browning.

The millionaire realtor, who was dining on the roof, tried to retreat when two dozen girls circled his table and asked him to adopt them. Then a blonde ingenue circled his neck so strongly that it was a minute before her arms could be pried loose.

Soon other diners caught the spirit of the occasion, and then joined in the fun. The orchestra struck up, "If that's the kind of a girl you are," which was sung to improvised words.

Plainly embarassed, Browning tried to break through the cordon of young women, but they held fast and he could not budge.

Finally he turned to one of his companions and said, "Now look what you've got me into."

A show girl induced the millionaire to dance, but as soon as they neared an exit, Browning broke away and fled.

COTTAGE BURNS AT STONEY LAKE

Contents Were an Entire Loss When Frame Structure Was Destroyed.

SAVED OTHERS

A Stoney Lake summer cottage owned by William Cuthbertson of Norwood and occupied by Messrs. Owen and Thompson and their families of New York was totally destroyed by fire shortly before noon yesterday. Nenrly all of the guests at the cottage, which was situated a short distance west of Crowe's Landing, were absent on an excursion to Bobcaygeon and lost all their personal effects.

The blaze which, it is said, was caused by using kerosene to light a fire in the kitchen, spread through the wooden structure with great rapidity and there was no opportunity to save any of the contents. Cottagers in the neighborhood who went to the rescue and organized a bucket brigade were unable to do anything more than to keep the flames from spreading to neighboring summer homes, some of which were for some time in danger. The building burned to the ground in a very short time.

FEAR OF CHAPMAN SHOWN AT INQUEST

Police Guard Witnesses Who Are Heard in Secret.

MUNCIE, Ind., August 18th. — (United Press.) — Fear that the long arm of Gerald Chapman, the convicted killer, might again strike in revenge, caused the police to-day to take extraordinary precautions to protect witnesses summoned to testify at the coroner's inquest into the murder of Ben Hance, and his wife.

Police guards were afforded witnesses and the testimony at the inquest was kept secret.

While the inquest was in progress the police of Indiana and Ohio were pushing a hunt for George ("Dutch") Anderson, charged with taking part in the double slaying, charles "One-Arm" Walfe is under arrest on a charge of having helped Anderson execute the couple beacuse they betrayed Chapman to the police.

NEW YORK AIR DEFENSE CALLED "AN ABSURDITY"

Guns Made Only 19 Hits in 18,000 Shots.

NEW YORK, August 18. — Canadian Press. — Only nineteen hits have been made in 16,000 shots which anti-aircraft machine gun batteries at Fort Tilden fired during a test of the ability of the coast defense to protect the port of New York from attack by air.

Representative F. H. La Guardia, a former major in the air service, who observed the tests, said he would report to congress that the air defenses here were an "absurdity."

CHEMONG ROAD'S TRAFFIC LOCAL

County Clerk Elliott Says Lakefield Road Carries Heavier Traffic.

Editor Examiner:

Chemong Road "Turning Tourists away from Peterborough County" prominent on the first page of the Examiner Saturday, Aug. 15 1925. The expressed opinions of citizens of the City of Peterborough in nearly every case.

What percentage of the tourists from outside that come to Peterborough County summer at Chemong Park? Not one in a thousand.

95 per cent of the summer resorters at Chemong Park are resorters from the City of Peterborough.

An appeal and advice to "pave the road from Peterborough to Chemong Park." The argument is all "outside tourists." During the 12 months Lakefield carries more traffic than Chemong Road without fear of contradiction.

One refers to the narrowness of the road at the fox farm swamp. True, the road for some 400 yards is 18 feet of hard gravel surface; the balance is from 20 to 28 feet wide.

The roads leading to summer resorts, namely: Young's Point, South Beach, Mr. Julian, Viamede, and all the Stoney Lake resorts, Catchacoma, McCracken's, Crowes' Landing, Hiawatha, and all East Rice Lake resorts, have mile after mile not more than 8 feet wide. Such roads being Lakefield, Warsaw, Norwood and Keene roads, that carry 1,000 tourists to one Chemong road carries.

Why discriminate and expend all the money on one short piece of road that carries such small percentage of OUTSIDE TOURISTS and neglect the roads that carries nearly all of such people.

Not disputing the estimate given re paving, namely: $23,700 per mile for 18 feet wide concrete surface. But what about ditching, draining, widening, to a width of 28 feet from shoulder to shoulder and laying a suitable foundation of gravel as required by the Department (otherwise no Government subsidy).

Another $5,000 per mile would be required or about the amount per mile expended by the Sub-Area Commission in the construction of 11 miles, one of such miles being on Chemong road just north from the city limits and the only mile of construction on Chemong road, the balance being maintenance.

All of the citizens of the City of Peterborough do not appear to be of the same opinion, from the fact that a deputation of representative citizens from the City of Peterborough, accompanied by at least one prominent Alderman waited upon the Highway Department less than one year ago, demanding that the City of Peterborough be relieved of payment towards the Provincial Highway in this county leading into the City of Peterborough, and that all work on Sub Area roads be stopped for five years. Surely those who were on such deputation forgot about the summer resorters from the City of Peterborough that summer at Chemong Park.

The County Council did not refuse to adopt the revised system as suggested by the Highway Department but are awaiting a visit from the Advisory Board from the Highway Department when all details will be adjusted and the system adopted by by-law.

The local representative, the Highway Department, the County Council and the Sub-Area Commission are endeavoring to meet those requirements and if all will have patience, the proper course will be pursued, the same having been their object during the past five years.

BOY'S FLAMING CLOTHES CAUSE FACTORY FIRE

O. J. Smith Shoe Company Plant at St. Jacobs a Complete Loss.

ODD CIRCUMSTANCE.

Cement on Boy's Boots Ignited—Spread to Pile of Cement Nearby.

KITCHENER, Aug. 18.—(Canadian Press.)— Another disastrous fire hit the village of St. Jacobs, near here yesterday, when the O. J. Smith Shoe Company plant was burned to the ground. The building and contents are a total loss, about fifty per cent. covered by insurance. It is estimated that the plant and stock was worth upwards of $12,000, of which $2,000 was finished stock awaiting shipment.

A peculiar chain of circumstances was responsible. One of the boys working in the plant got some rubber cement on his shoes. In some manner while he was in the yard this cement caught fire and ignited his clothing. Inside the door of the shop stood a large tub of water, to which the boy ran to extinguish the flames. But as he jumped into the tub, flames ignited a large quantity of cement nearby, which exploded, setting the frame building housing plant on fire. The boy was, fortunately, only slightly burned.

WHEAT CUTTING WELL ADVANCED

EDMONTON, Alta., Aug. 18 (Canadian Press).—Wheat cutting is well under way all along the Edmonton, Dunvegan and British Columbia line to the north. Crop reports received yesterday indicate that in some districts as large a proportion as forty per cent. of the wheat crop is cut and that the oat harvest will be under way soon. The weather for the most part has been warm and dry and good progress is being made with the harvesting.

ELECTIONS DIVIDE CABINET OPINION

Cabinet Meeting Again This Afternoon—Decision Unlikely.

OTTAWA, Aug. 18.—(Canadian Press).—The Cabinet meets again this afternoon. Political conditions throughout the country will possibly be under review, but there is not much likelihood, it is intimated, of a decision on whether or not Parliament is to be dissolved this fall. According to current gossip, there is a divided opinion on the advisability of a general election, although the chances favor a dissolution.

THUGS BREAK PLATE COP TRAY OF RINGS

Use Stone Wrapped in Handkerchief—Get Away in Automobile.

MONTREAL, Aug. 18.—Canadian Press. — Bandits thought to have operated with an automobile, smashed a plate glass window in the store of Henry Birks and Sons, the silver smiths, early this morning, and made off with a tray of rings valued at approximately $1500. A stone wrapped in handkerchiefs was used to break the window.

Toy Rubber Balloon Kills Curious Canine

LONDON, Aug. 18 (United Press)—A small dog was choked to death here by a toy balloon.

The dog attempted to swallow a deflated toy balloon it found in the streets. The balloon stuck in its throat and made it cough. The coughing inflated the balloon, blocking the air passage in the dog's throat and killing it by suffocation.

GLAND GRAFTED FROM CRIMINAL CORRECTS GIRL

Operation Reported at Lille, France, Cures Mentally Defective Girl.

TRANSFER THYROID.

Thyroid Taken From Criminal Immediately Following His Decapitation.

PARIS, Aug. 18.—(United Press). —Nearly five months ago a gland taken from the neck of a beheaded criminal was transferred to a mentally defective girl.

Dr. Rene Lefort, professor of medicine at Lille, with his chief assistant, Gene Piquette, operated on the child, whose thyroid was insufficient, and installed the thyroid gland of the man just guillotined. The operation of transferring the gland to the child was successful.

The progress of the grafted gland was carefully watched. It is recognized now that the gland has been "accepted" or "incorporated" completely.

The patient, whose name is Denis, now eats, drinks and plays with children of her age. Indeed, the semi-idiotic child is now said to be a normal healthy girl.

HUNT RATTLERS FOR HOPI DANCE

Tourists Gather at Arizona Village For Annual Snake Dance of Hopis.

WINSLOW, Arizona, August 18.—Canadian Press. — The three day hunt completed, during which they rounded up and captured every available rattlesnake in the vicinity of their reservation, the preliminaries for the annual snake dance of the Hopi Indians got under way in earnest at Walpi, their village near here to-day.

The snake dance will take place to-morrow and tourists are gathering to watch the spectacle.

The priests have made innumerable "prayer sticks" and to-day they are preparing charm paints and antidotes. Hopis are bitten frequently by rattle snakes during these ceremonies since they handle reptiles without restraint, but no Indian has ever been known to die from a reptile's poison. The preparation used by the Hopis to counteract the poison has never been made known to white man.

The snakes are washed and sprinkled with sacred meal. The prayers of the tribe are bestowed upon them, and they are turned loose to carry benedictions to the "Snake Mother" and to the "Spider Woman of the Underworld."

MISS EDERLE STARTS.

Exceptionally Favorable Weather For Channel Swim.

CAPE GRIS-NEZ, France, Aug. 18. — Canadian Press. — Gertrude Ederle, 17 year old New York girl, began her attempt to swim the English channel this morning, entering the water here at 7.09 o'clock.

It was one of the most favorable days ever attending a channel attempt, with absolutely no swell, and a light breeze from the south east. At 9.30 Miss Ederle was four miles out.

PROBABILITIES.

Light winds; mostly fine and very warm to-day and Wednesday; thunderstorms in a few localities.

ABUNDANCE OF LIQUOR FOR DEPARTED SPIRITS

Spiritualist Pastor Holds Out Hope For Thirsty Ones.

NEW YORK, Aug. 18. — (United Press).—An abundance of liquor is available to thirsty souls in the great beyond, the Rev. John Hill, pastor of the Spiritualist Church of Advanced Thought, 123 West 94th Street, New York, told the United Press to-day.

"The spirits of the thirsty ones who have departed return to earth and enjoy their favorite liquor," Rev. Hill said. "Naturally the world's supply is available to them."

"Do you really mean that the spirits actually drink the liquor?" the correspondent asked.

"Well, not exactly," Rev. Hill replied "but they absorb the essence."

BIG OFFENSIVE AGAINST RIFFS LEFT TO PETAIN

Famous Marshal to Decide the French Course in the Morrocan Campaign.

HEAT INTENSE.

Month Available For Concerted Effort or Delay Ensues Until Spring.

PARIS, Aug. 18. — (Canadian Press).—The Echo De Paris says Marshal Petain is going to Morocco to decide whether the big offensive to break Abd-El-Krim's power shall be undertaken now or next spring, and not to direct opening movements of that offensive.

By the end of the present month, the paper continues, French forces, together with their reinforcements, will amount to 100 battalions, 72 of them in line and 28 forming for mass manoeuvre behind the line between Fes and Taza.

The heat in the zone of operations is intolerable at present, the mercury hovering around 100 in the shade, making large scale operations out of the question for the moment.

If Abd-El-Krim is not forced to capitulate by the middle of September, it is declared, the French will be obliged to suspend operations until April.

Marshal Lyautey, the French Governor-General in Morocco, is going to Ouezzan on a tour of inspection to view for himself the result of the recent successful operations on that sector. The Marshal declared yesterday that he was not going to Vichy, France, to take the cure. He said his health was perfect and that if he went to France it would be only on a hurried trip to give government the fullest details regarding the situation in Morocco.

SKIRMISH WITH SPANIARDS.

MADRID, Aug. 18.—(Canadian Press.)—A war office communication issued yesterday evening says that six Spaniards, including an officer, were killed, and six wounded in a hard battle with 200 rebels Sunday. The rebels were protecting a enemy convoy between Regaia and the international border. The Spaniards took fifteen prisoners. The rebels left five of their dead behind.

LIBERTY EXISTS ONLY IN THE IMAGINATION OF PHILOSOPHERS, DECLARES MUSSOLINI, REALIST

"Civilization Is An Inversion of Personal Liberty in the Opinion of the Italian Leader.

LONON, Aug. 18 (Canadian Press).—"I maintain there can be no such things as liberty," Benito Mussolini, Italian Premier, is declared to have said to a correspondent of The Daily Express in Rome. "Liberty exists only in the imagination of philosophers who seek their unpractical philosophy from the sky. My philosophy is drawn from very near the earth for those of the earth."

Asked whether he was content with the fruits of his philosophy as materialised in Fascism, Mussolini replied, "Fully content, fully content with Fascism—with its results, with its future promises."

Following out his idea that liberty is impossible, the Premier went on: "Civilization is an inversion of personal liberty. In the long run it resolves itself into a matter of space, more space, more liberty, and those who would benefit from the advantages of civilization must necessarily pay in the coin of personal freedom."

PETERBORO' CONTINGENT NEARLY 300 STRONG LEFT THIS MORNING TO JOIN LEGION OF HARVESTERS

About 200 Were From the City and Its Immediate District.

MOBILIZED HERE.

Many From Nearby Towns, Who Arrived on Early Trains to the City.

When the train that pulls out from here at 9.35 for Port McNicol left this morning, three coaches in the rear were filled with passengers who were taking in the harvesters' excursion to the West. The coaches were crowded. The two rear coaches were colonists' sleeping cars, and the third was a regular tourist coach reserved for women and children and their escorts. The coach intended for the regular passengers was attached to the baggage car.

Altogether over 200 Western excursionists were on the train. Fifty of these came from Campbellford, 30 from Lakefield, and the remainder, over 200, were from Peterboro and the immediate vicinity. A large number of women and children were among the passengers.

The C.N.R. brought the excursionists from Campbellford and Lakefield, whether they had purchased tickets for the remainder of the trip over that road or the C.P.R. Those in the latter list were transferred from one depot to the other in taxis. The C.P.R. officials spared no effort to care for their patrons, and James Skinner, the local agent, was busy at the depot until the train pulled out, seeing that all passengers were properly seated.

The majority of the passengers were young men, many of them making their first trip to the West. Others have been over the road so often on similar occasions that for them the journey has lost all novelty.

Several young men who are college students in the winter time, left this morning to work in the Western harvest fields. The trip will be rich in experience, for a student the physical exertion will be beneficial, and the money earned will go a long way towards meeting the expenses of a term in college.

The excursionists who left here this morning will not be required to change cars until they reach Winnipeg. They will strike the main line at MacTier, and after that it will be a clear course to their destination.

At Lindsay or further down the line, the excursion train will be policed by Provincial officers, but train officials say that there is as a rule little difficulty in preserving order, as whiskey is no longer available, and nothing is to be feared from excessive indulgence in 4.4 beer.

On the C.N.R.

The C.N.R. excursion coaches were attached to the regular train to Toronto. These travellers, too, will make the trip to Winnipeg without change. There was a big crowd of harvesters on the train, over 50 of them being from Peterboro. Conditions on both lines are practically identical, the passengers being well cared for by each company.

The next harvesters' excursion will leave for the West on Friday next, but the majority of those who go West at this season leave on the first trip.

The resignation of Mr. Lewis from his position as acting editor of The Toronto Globe over a difference of opinion on poltiical matters was recently announced. Mr. J. S. Lyon resumes the editorial position.

LOOSE GRAVEL DITCHED AUTO

Rumors of Death on Chemong Road Were Considerably Exaggerated.

J. Jackson, of R. R. No. 5, who was taken to Nicholls Hospital, suffering from a dislocated shoulder as a result of a motor accident on the Chemong Road on Sunday, was yesterday discharged from that institution.

The accident occurred shortly after eight o'clock, about half-way between Chemong and Peterboro, when a small racing car travelling at high speed, got into difficulties in the loose gravel, and in the endeavor to right matters, the car was upset into the ditch, rolling over twice. Jackson sustained slight body injuries, in addition to his damaged shoulder. The car was considerably damaged, the top being totally damaged, the top being totally destroyed and the hind right wheel completely broken off.

On account of some reports which insisted that Jackson had been killed, quite a stream of inquiries concerning the matter came into the Examiner Office all day yesterday.

SPEED CARS STIR YOUTHFUL INTEREST

Numbers Throng About Fleet Looking Autos in City Garages.

A new sport, "Seeing the Racers," has been instituted among the youth and aged of the city. It consists of rushing from Brewer's Garage to Gillespie's to gaze upon lean and rangy speed cars, exhibited at those places.

Loving hands caress the enamelled surfaces of the cars, and predictions are made as to the speed and possibility of an upset. A morbid aspect was evident for many expressed the hope that some crash would happen on Thursday to relieve the monotony. The wrecked chassis in Brewer's garage is looked upon with considerable hope.

Any mechanic or well-dressed person in the crowd is at once assumed to be a racing driver and is accordingly deluged with questions relative as to whether cranking is necessary, how do they slide around the corners?; and how can they see through the dust? They want to know who drives each car, how fast it will go, and the use for all external appliances.

Those fortunates who have seen auto races relate their experiences, telling of the marvellous speed, the thrills at the corners, and the skill of the drivers. Those who have had no intimate experience of the saucer or dirt tracks drink in the information with rapt attention and vow inwardly that they will attend the Peterborough classic.

REPORT TO G.A.U.V. GIVES ACCOUNT OF PROGRESS IN ORGANIZATON

Development of Pension and Adustment Bureau Gave Results.

MEET IN WINNIPEG.

Dominion Auxiliary is in Favor of Veterans' Amalgamation.

WINNIPEG, Man., Aug. 18 — (Canadian Press). — H. McLeod, Dominion secretary, Grand Army of United Veterans, presented his annual report to the annual convention of that body here yesterday.

He pointed out progress made along the lines of organization and greater development of the Pension and Adjustment Bureau, which latter organization showed satisfactory results. Reference was made to the dissemination of useful information to local units at different times and to the inauguration of an official organ that had been well received and enforsed. Altogether, he said, satisfactory progress had been made.

Major Albert Oliver, delegate from the local D.S.C.R., spoke on the close co-operation between his department and the G.A.U.V. and asked for its continuance.

The Dominion auxiliary held a meeting yesterday under the presidency of Mrs. C. Kemp, with delegates from all parts of Canada in attendance. The president said that all the ladies were in favor of the amalgamation of veterans' organizations. Meetings of the auxiliary continue to-day.

Last night delegates to the convention were guests of the C.P.R., at an outing to Winnipeg Beach.

THE FIGHTING RANGER

By F. J. McCONNELL and GEORGE W. PYPER.

They saw his hut, an old tumbledown rickety affair, on the edge of Sierra Diablo, high above the gorge. It protruded over the very edge of the precipitous mountainside, its bottom supported by two wooden supports, not very staunch looking.

"That's a great perch for a hut," said Bud.

But they spurred their horses on. On behind them and coming to gain at every step, came the pursuers.

At last they pulled up at the door of the hut. They found Terence already there, standing in front waiting for them.

"Hurry, hurry," he cried, seeing the rustlers pressing forward in hot pursuit. He helped Mary from her horse, and they all rushed into the hut. Terence last, just as the enemy drew up. He had only time to slam the door in their faces, and lock it.

"D'ye see that," cried Buck to his fellows, as they dismounted in front of the tumble-down structure. "That was Idaho Bill with them—the damn double crosser. Well, we've got 'em trapped now. This is their last stand."

From crevices between the boards of the hut pistol and rifle barrels began to protrude, spitting bullets at the rustlers.

The rustlers retreated a short ways, and took cover.

"So that's their game," is it," said Buck. "Well, we'll give 'em all they're looking for."

He gave orders to his men to deploy themselves, taking advantageous positions, under cover, at various angles from the hut, and keep a steady fire on it. The edge was soon raging. The rained bullets down upon the fragile structure. Buck himself took careful aim at the weak, rotting wooden supports underneath the hut. He chuckled as he saw the wood of one of them splintered by his bullet. He fired at it again. It cracked, and sagged. The hut staggered, as if about to fall, but hung on precariously.

CHAPTER 26.
Inside the Hut.

Poor Miquel shrieked, clutched wildly at his breast, swayed, and dropped to the floor. One of the enemies' bullets, piercing the wooden walls of the hut, had caught him. Mary and Terence rushed to his side. Horror spread over their faces.

"What is it—what is it?" cried Bud Hughes, his nerves on edge, as he bent over his faithful little sidekick.

"Dead—dead."

Kosni remained at his post shooting his rifle through a crack in the wall.

There was a crashing cracking sound—the hut rocked backwards.

"The supports are giving way—they're shooting at the supports," said Bud hoarsely.

Kosni suddenly stopped firing, threw his rifle on the floor despairingly, and motioned that he was out of ammunition.

"We can't resist much longer," said Mary. "Look, all my cartridges are used up too."

Terence and Bud each had a couple left. The hut was swaying perilously, as its rotten supports gave way more. They exchanged tense glances. Desperately, Terence and Bud fired their last bullets, vainly hoping to get one of the enemy with each. But it was impossible to take careful aim through the cracks.

"We're at the end of the rope."

A few minutes after they had ceased firing they heard a terrible battering at the door.

"They're breaking in on us."

The hut rocked and swayed more dizzily than ever.

"Perhaps we'd better let them in."

Terence started toward the door to open it and surrender. He never reached it. There was another terrible crash against it from the outside—the strain had been too great—the hut sagged and creaked—They heard a cracking sound as the last of the wooden supports gave way—the hut started to topple—Terence made a wild reach for Mary and held her in his arms—they were falling—down, down, down—

* * *

As the hut tottered and slid over the crumbling edge of the mountainside, Buck and his men quickly retreated with the heavy log they had been using as a battering ram, just in time to save themselves, from sliding over and following it, for they had put their whole force behind that last plunge, and the momentum almost carried them over.

They wiped the perspiration from their foreheads, then peered downward over the side of the mountain, and saw the splintered remains of the hut where it had smashed to bits far below.

With a hard grin, Buck turned, and said,

"They're done for—and that double-crosser, Idaho Bill along with 'em—This'll be big news for the boss. C'mon, let's beat it and tell him."

They ran back to their horses, mounted and sped away.

CHAPTER 27.
Kosni's Gift.

While the hut was falling, its weak walls gaped open, the occupants slid out, and were hurled to earth at different points.

Terence, clinging to Mary in his arms, was first to slide out. They landed in a clump of brushwood on a ledge, half way down. The brush broke their fall and saved them from serious injury. Coming out of his daze, Terence turned his attention to Mary. She revived a few moments later, and they embraced tenderly in the joyous discovery that both had survived. Then they clambered to their feet and started searching for the others.

Descending cautiously down the steep mountainside, they found Bud, who luckily had escaped similarly. The three went on farther. At the bottom they found the dead body of poor little Miquel.

Bud, deeply touched, knelt at his side, pressed the cold hand, and murmured sadly,

"Good-by—little pal."

In the wreckage of the hut they heard groans, and rushed towards it. They found old Kosni caught in the debris, unable to extricate himself. They lifted him out, and carried him aside, but as they bent over him it became apparent that the last of the Yaquis was mortally injured.

The old Indian, in great suffering, breathing hard, turned his eyes to Mary and Terence and recognized them. With a painful effort he reached into his torn blouse and withdrew a fragment of parted, worn yellow paper bearing crude Indian inscriptions. It was half of a map. He held the paper toward Mary, and muttered weakly,

"Kosni's face is turned to the setting sun. Take it—Miss Mary—a gift to your father—the great white friend Kosni loved."

Mary took the paper, scanned it, but not being able to make it out, handed it to Terence.

"It's part of the old map showing where the Yaquis hoarded gold in their shrine. It belongs with the piece I inherited from my father."

He drew forth his own fragment, and placed the two together. After a scrutiny, he said,

"But it still does not indicate the exact spot—there must be something else, a key to—"

Old Kosni, gasping as his life ebbed, interrupted, saying, with difficulty,

"The secret is in—the topaz—your father, O'Rourke, put it there—he Kosni's friend, too—He could read the signs."

Kosni clutched his chest, as breathing became harder, gasped, and went on—"But O'Rourke was killed—the topaz was not found on his body—ask Kosni's great white friend, Marshall—he know—who"

He could not finish his sentence. With a last gasp the old Indian expired, and sank back dead.

(To be Continued.)

Ethel—"It was a great descent I made when I married you."

Fred—"Yes, everybody said I took you down from the top shelf."

THE TEMPLE BAND.

A musical organization that is showing steady and progressive improvement is the Temple Band of the Salvation Army, which has completed its series of park concerts—voluntarily undertaken without any financial reward.

It will be remembered that when it was impossible for the Symphony Orchestra to play any concerts that the Salvation Army musicians stepped into the breach and offered to take the orchestra's place in the programme for the summer, and to waive the grant made by the Council in favour of the Symphony organization.

Thus the Temple Band not only assisted a very worth-while musical body, but also provided Peterboro people with a series of very delightful programmes in which the fine playing of the band made a most favourable impression.

It is one of the best Salvation Army bands in the Dominion, and the citizens generally are proud of that fact and appreciative of the fine spirit shown in connection with this year's park concerts.

SIR ADAM BECK.

Even those who sometimes did not see eye to eye with him in all his policies are saying today that Ontario has lost a great man in the passing of Sir Adam Beck.

His devotion to the ideal of public ownership, as demonstrated by the development of the huge Hydro-electric enterprise in this Province, had impressed itself so unmistakably upon the people of Ontario that his death will be viewed as a heavy loss.

Sir Adam Beck was a remarkable personage, a fighter supremely confident in the correctness of his own judgment, and prepared to face any opposition that stood between him and the carrying out of the work to which he had pledged himself.

The story of the growth of Hydro is the story of the career of Sir Adam Beck.

His was the vision that looked into the future and saw what could be accomplished, his was the confidence that inspired less staunch colleagues, his the fighting spirit that conquered all obstacles.

His judgment was sometimes questioned; his sincerity of purpose never.

With him Hydro came first, and he served it as long as he had strength to do so, literally dieing in the harness.

THE END OF THE HOLIDAY.

For Peterboro's school children the melancholy time has arrived when the end of the summer holidays is in sight and the date of the opening of school has been announced.

The old puzzle of how two months that seemed so long when looked foward to in June could pass so quickly is bothering young minds.

Older folks ask themselves the same question when thinking of their two weeks' vacation.

Yet school children, and adults, too, in Peterboro have much to be thankful for inasmuch as they are living in a city that is described by American visitors as a summer resort in itself, and that is situated close to some of the most beautiful summer playgrounds in the Dominion.

A very large percentage of Peterboro's population has been able to take advantage of this fortunate circumstance, and the healthy tan seen upon the faces of so many youngsters and elders supplies evidence that a large amount of new energy and "pep" has been stored up for the grind that lies ahead.

The school work of the children and the daily routine of the older folks should be the easier because of what old Dr. Sun and Nurse Nature have been able to accomplish.

GASOLINE FISHERMEN.

Old-time fishermen, agreeing with the Examiner that it is unwise to do too much advertising about the fishing in some of the district waters, at the same time are emphatic in declaring that if motor-boat angling were prohibited there would be an immediate improvement shown.

In the days when fishermen had to depend upon the paddle or the oar to get them to the haunts of the maskinonge fishing was a sport.

Some of these sporting anglers remain, but there are far too many of another type, men who sit in a motor boat, sometimes with two or three lines out, and "chug, chug" hour after hour until they reach every "bed" within miles.

The number of fish taken by these gasoline fishermen is necessarily much larger than could be caught by the same number of men using canoes—so much so indeed that the result is being seen in depleted fishery resources and complaints that "the lake is fished out."

Representatives of the older school are unanimous in their contention that fishing should remain a sport, and not a business, and that the use of gas-propelled boats for trawling should be eliminated.

Naturally the motor-boat owners cannot agree with that suggestion—but the old-timers have many sound arguments to back up their charge.

NOT WANTED HERE.

Teachers in convention in Toronto have rendered a very real service in protesting against the adoption in Ontario of Saskatchewan's system of paying, on a piece-work basis, those engaged in the work of passing upon examination papers, says the Hamilton Spectator. The Saskatchewan Department of Education, it is understood, justifies this method of payment on the ground that it has proven to be the most economical plan yet evolved, but there can be no denying that it is neither fair to examiners nor to students. It is a system that invites slip-shod perusal of papers that should be accorded careful, conscientious consideration. Examiners do no kindness when they pass boys and girls who are not properly equipped to enter higher grades, and it is reasonable to presume that when they are paid so much for each paper examined they will not take the pains they would take if they were being paid a fixed fee. Dr. E. A. Hardy of Toronto, who called the attention of teachers in convention to the practice in the West and the danger of it being adopted in the Eastern Provinces, declared it was "undignified." One can picture in the mind's eye examiners working to the clock, like pressmen in a tin-can factory, but it is a different kind of raw material they are working with. It has been complained for many years that the professions are overcrowded and that misfits are being graduated who cannot hope to succeed. The need of tightening up the examinations has become apparent, but it would be ridiculous to make the examination papers more difficult and then turn the completed product over to "piece-workers" who would have to rush through them to make their job worth while.

EMERGING FROM RUTS.

Good advice is given in an editorial in the Halifax Herald, which, though addressed to the people of that particular Province, is equally valuable for the people of other Provinces. It speaks of the danger of getting into ruts. Besides having been in a political rut, says the Halifax Herald, the Province has, in a general way, been in business ruts, in economic ruts, in industrial ruts, in mental ruts. "We have been in the state of mind that makes for dependence on Governments." It is a dangerous state of mind and is one to which people are particularly prone in these times. "The mentality that regards experiments, enterprise, progress, with suspicion—and, at times, opposes—is not the mentality that will get people out of ruts. It is the mentality that keeps people in ruts. If we make candid confession, we must admit that there has been more of this mentality than has been good for this Province."

This attitude of dependence on Governments is not one which is conducive to progress, says the Hamilton Spectator. It is destructive of initiative, and it is certain that the person, or municipality, or Province which looks to this means too exclusively for getting along will not get very far. The mind which is open to new suggestions, too, which does not reject everything which is not customary, is the mentality which promises the greatest amount of advancement. It is well, however, to stand by the old tried-out principles in all matters of doubt, and not to be too hasty in accepting every novelty on its own claims. Undesirable as it may be to be "in a rut," it is preferable to wandering hopelessly astray. As the Halifax Herald expresses it: "It is wisdom to reflect on what has been done; and to learn from it how to improve. It is not wisdom to think that because certain methods, enterprises and habits in business, industry and economics were good enough for our fathers and grandfathers they should be good enough for us. We should recognize the ruts, and get out of them when we discover, as we must, that they are hindrances to progress and to broadening out of activity."

WHERE THE LAW HOLDS FIRM.

Spite of all prophets of evil omen and the loud wail of the pessimists, Old England has not yet gone completely to the dogs, if the diminishing ratio of criminals to the population be any criterion of a safe and sane statute of society. It is refreshing to learn, on the authority of the Home Secretary, Sir William Joynson-Hicks, that during the past half-century there has been a notable decrease of crime in Britain. Fifty years ago there were twenty thousand persons in local jails; today less than half this number are in durance vile. Fifty years ago ten thousand convicts were under sentence of penal servitude. Today the prison list stands at sixteen hundred, less than one-sixth of the former total. Just as the number of criminals has become beautifully less, so two-thirds of the prisons required during the Mid-Victorian era are today standing idle or have altogether vanished. Considering the tremendous excitements through which human civilization has passed during the last ten years, and the social upheavals which in many sections of the globe have developed into crime waves of volcanic violence, it speaks remarkably well for the sturdy good sense of the British people in general that they have kept themselves so well in hand. The alleged stodginess of the English temperament has its compensations. The Britisher is not easily persuaded to go on the rampage. The crowd, which has a wholesome regard for ancient traditions, is not suddenly stampeded. England has, like every other nation, a criminal minority dangerous and evilly-disposed as any criminal class can be, but it is something to know that the fires of vicious passion and vengeance do not find inflammable fuel amongst the British oaks.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

At present the Hydro-electric Commission consists of Hon. J. R. Cooke. The Ontario Government will have to act without delay.

Nobody ever thought August could slip by without an opportunity for everybody to say, "Is it hot enough for you?"

The question is not so much why they call them Plus Fours as why they wear them.

A writer says there is plenty of fishing at Muskoka, but no fish. That sounds familiar.

Of Sir Adam Beck it can be said that he remained in the harness until the last. No man was ever more faithful to any enterprise than was the Hydro knight to the cause of public ownership of power in Ontario.

ONTARIO-QUEBEC KIWANIS MEETING

Peterboro Members Plan to Attend Ottawa Convention.

Many members of the Peterborough Kiwanis Club will attend the Annual District Convention of the Ontario-Quebec District, which is to be held at Ottawa, Ontario, on September 21st and 22nd.

Official delegates of the local club are: President Charles D. Cook and Secretary Hugh M. Niven.

The Convention of the Ontario-Quebec District is but one of twenty-nine of Kiwanis International which is being held this fall for the yearly election of District officials and to outline policies for 1925-26. The programs will be devoted to interesting International subjects and activities, and will include prominent speakers on World topics. The carrying on of the under-privileged child work, one of the major objectives of Kiwanis, will be given thorough consideration at the Ontario-Quebec convention, for it is hoped that this undertaking may be intensified the coming year.

One of the big features of the convention will be a special exhibit made up of displays of Kiwanis activities of this district and of Kiwanis International. All clubs within this jurisdiction are sending in exhibit material which will be shown to thousands attending the sessions, and Kiwanians of Peterbourough will have this opportunity of viewing the good work being done by other clubs in this vicinity.

In exhibits of club activities, the Peterborough Club took third place with their exhibit at the Convention in Hamilton, Ont. last year and are hopeful of being in the lead at Ottawa in September.

A THOUGHT.

THEY ARE NOT GOOD

Genius is constructive intelligence. Genius is the heart guided and the hand helped by brains.

Often this word 'genius" is misapplied. Genius is the never-ending and always-climbing character that is helpful, not harmful.

Genius is not just getting out a patent or inventing a new light.

Glorious is the world of God, but how much more glorious is the genius of God within us.

When satirical criticism really rectifies, the genius becomes a public benefactor, but this is seldom what chronic critics are trying to accomplish. Their aim is to attract attention to their own superior (?) selves.

A cynic is crosseyed morally and tongueties where there is a chance to help with a cheerful word. One can excite more personal publicity through the plan of introducing negatives, but I've noticed these geniuses never last long.

What a wonderful gift it is to be able to nerve others with incessant affirmatives—to chart the beauty of the good in this world where we must all live!

Chattering critics have daubed this world with their gloom and sable stuff, and have been called geniuses, but they are nothing but disconsolate destroyers.

The cynics who never see a good quality in anything or anyone, but who always discover the bad in everything and everybody, often send the unthinking into moroseness. They are no good.

MONTREAL PRODUCE

MONTREAL, Aug. 18 (Canadian Press).—The feature of the export trade in Canadian grain on the Montreal market yesterday was the good enquiry for foreign buyers for spring wheat on spot, but owing to the very limited offerings little business of importance was transacted. The demand for oats and barley was slow and no sales were reported. Ocean grain room from this port for the month of August is now well booked up, and rates rule fairly steady.

The local market for grain was quiet, the demand being only for odd cars to meet immediate wants, but the prospects are that there will be considerably more activity as soon as the new crop commences to move. Prices for all grades of oats were reduced 2 to 3 cents a bushel.

There was no change in the local market for Spring wheat grades of flour, the feeling being still somewhat unsettled and in consequence prices were rather irregular, but no actual change was announced. The demand was steady from local and country buyers for broken lots to meet immediate wants and a moderate amount of business was done.

The export trade was reported dull which was due to the fact that foreign millers were offering at much lower prices, but the prospects are that as soon as the new spring wheat crop commences to come forward a fairly active business will be done.

The tone of the market for winter wheat flour remains very firm owing to the limited supplies available on spot, and the light offerings from Ontario millers.

A very firm feeling continues to prevail in the local egg situation and prices generally were unchanged. Owing to the very warm weather the demand was somewhat curtailed yesterday and in consequence the volume of business was only fair, sales being chiefly in small lots to meet immediate wants and in consequence the market was rather quiet. The receipts were 1,337 cases, as compared with 1,654 for the same day last week, and 1,052 for the corresponding day a year ago.

The exports of butter from the Port of Montreal for the week ending August 15, 1925, were the largest on record for the season to date; they amounting to 39,112 packages showing on increase of 24,382 packages, as compared with the previous year, and an increase of 26,684 packages with the same week last year, while the total shipments for the season to date showing an increase of 169,924 packages with the same period for 1924.

The exports of cheese from the Port of Montreal for the week ending August 15 were 51,043 boxes, which showed an increase of 10,786 boxes as compared with the previous week, and a decrease of 3770 boxes with a year ago, but the total shipments for the season to date have been 51,043 boxes in excess of the same period last year.

The receipts of cheese in Montreal yesterday were 8,839 boxes, as against 11,722 for the same day last week, and a decrease of 3,770 boxes ing day a year ago. In sympathy with the lower prices ruling at the country boards at the close of last week and the lull in the demand from foreign buyers for supplis, a weaker feeling developed in the spot market yesterday, and prices were reduced 3-8c to 1-2c per lb.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, Aug. 19 (Canadian Press).—Brisk rallies took place in the wheat market toward the close yesterday on the announcement of the decrease in the visible supply. This followed a drop in values after an irregular opening, occasioned by a general bearish attitude on the part of local traders, as a good increase in the visible supply had been anticipated.

At the finish, wheat was 3-8 to 1 1-8 cents net higher, with September at $1.59 1-2 to $1.59 3-4, and December at $1.58 to $1.58 1-8. Corn finished down 1-8 to 5-8c, and oats were 5-8 to 7-8 cents lower, while provisions showed a loss of from 5 to 12 cents.

The report of the visible supply, combined with liberal buying by millers, who took advantage of the break, and reports that hail had damaged the ripened crop in Manitoba sent wheat slightly above Saturday's closing. The latter two features had been known before the visible supply report was posted and had served more to keep wheat from a more pronounced drop earlier in the day. There was pressure being exercised from commission houses and local operators, and stop loss orders were caught as the market descended.

The millers began buying, however, and this checked the decline, so that when the visible supply showed a decrease the market reacted quickly to the information and rose to above Saturday's closing. The break at one time amounted to nearly 4 cents a bushel.

Coarse grains were dull and featureless during the session and price changes were of little importance, short covering steadying corn near the finish. The oats market was also uninteresting.

Provisions were dull.

GRACE CHURCH ANNUAL PICNIC

Millbrook Sunday School Outing at Wallace's Point—Mrs. B. Raper Injured.

MILLBROOK, Aug. 18—The annual picnic, under the auspices of the Sunday School of Grace Presbyterian church, which was held last Thursday afternoon at Wallace's Point, Otonabee River, was a well-attended and most successful event.

Cars and trucks conveyed the picknickers to the Point, the boys, who filled the trucks, evidently enjoying the drive as much as any other part of the outing.

Games of various sorts, with the slides, swings, etc., gave happy employment until the tea hour, when all were seated on the grassy slope and served, in true picnic style, with an abundance of good things until everyone was fully satisfied.

The superintendent, Mr. L. C. Russell, the Mentor of the C.G.I.T. group, Miss Kathleen Lancashire, and the officers and teachers of the school were the committee in charge, and spared no efforts to make the outing a complete success.

The booth on the grounds, with Mr. H. Caldwell in charge, was well patronized throughout the afternoon, and Mrs. Caldwell, as usual, did everything in her power to make the party welcome, and assist in the entertainment of the visitors, both young and old, when any demand was made upon her time, or for supplies for the supper hour.

Boating, fishing, and bathing were among the facilities that appealed especially to the younger element of the party, some of the older members giving careful supervision to these sports.

Ladies Aid At Work.

A work meeting of the Ladies' Aid Society of the United Church was held at the home of the president, Mrs. M. E. Needham, on Friday afternoon when a considerable amount of sewing in connection with the bazzar to be held this fall, was accomplished.

Special attention was given to cutting out and stamping, the material purchased by the apron committee, under the supervision of the convener, Mrs. C. C. Garside.

On Tuesday, August 18, at 2 p.m. all the women of the church are again invited to gather at Miss Needham's' home, coming prepared to sew, when it is hoped further progress will be made with the work on hand, and supplies given out to those who will take material home and complete the embroidery, etc., on the articles so placed.

Those present last week included Mrs. H. W. Johnston, Mrs. W. Mullen, Mrs. Walter Williamson, Mrs. Geo. Locke, Mrs. J. McKnight, Miss M. Finnimore, Mrs. T. H. Aiken, Mrs C. C. Garside. Public announcement having been made for the gathering this week, a much larger attendance of workers is looked for

Not only members of the Ladies' Aid, but any others willing to help, will be cordially welcomed at the work meetings.

Fell Down Stairs.

Mrs. Benjamin Raper met with an unfortunate accident on Friday of last week, falling down the stairs in her own home, fracturing her collar bone on the left side and breaking a rib. Fortunately Mr. Raper came in immediately afterward and medical attention was at once obtained.

Mrs. Raper has since been removed to the home of her daughter, Mrs. A. Fallis, Fallis Line. Improvement is as satisfactory as could be expected under the circumstances, the injury having proved a most painful one.

NO ELECTION TALK

No Appointments Have Been Made to Any of Existing Vacancies.

OTTAWA, Aug. 18 (Canadian Press).—"We had a delightful afternoon listening to a report from Mr. Larkin of the activities of the office in London," reclared Premier W. L. Mackenzie King, as he emerged from the Council Chamber shortly before 7 o'clock yesterday evening, in company with Hon. P. C. Larkin, Canadian High Commissioner in London, after a session of the cabinet lasting over four hours.

The Prime Minister declared he had no statement to make in regard to a possible general election, and added further that no appointments to any of the accumulated vacancies existing had been made. A further meeting of the Cabinet will be held this afternoon.

While no official statement was made in the matter, it is believed that the High Commission is recommending certain economies among the branches of the Government departments in London, due to the housing of many civil servants recently under the one roof of Canada House in Trafalgar Square, involving possible changes in the Immigration and Trade and Commerce departments in London.

Yesterday afternoon's meeting of the Cabinet was largely attended. Those present, in addition to the Premier and the High Commissioner, were: Rt. Hon. Geo. P. Graham, Minister of Railways and Canals; Hon. J. A. Robb, Acting Minister of Finance; Hon. E. M. MacDonald, Minister of National Defence; Hon. Ernest Lapointe, Minister of Justice; Hon. W. R. Mr. Griffin had lighted the fire in the kitchen before going out to the stables. A member of the family coming down stairs found the kitchen in flames, and making his exit from the house, shouted to Mr. Griffin. The latter rushed through the flames and mounted stairs to the upper apartment, which were partially burned by the flames. GREAT WELCOME GIVEN PRINCE BY ARGENTINIANS

Thousands Crowded Streets as Wales Drove to Government House.

BRILLIANT DISPLAY

Uniforms and Decorations of Military Shone Brightly—Police Kept Busy.

BUENOS AIRES, Aug. 18.—(Canadian Press.)— A noisy welcome greeted the Prince of Wales upon his arrival here yesterday afternoon for a state visit to Argentina. As the guns of the Argentine warships boomed a salute and the whistles of scores of vessels in the harbor went into action, the Prince, in the uniform of the Welsh Guards, came ashore from the cruiser Curlew. He was met by President d'Alvera and the members of his cabinet.

The thousands who had gathered to see the royal visitor gave him an ovation, and airplanes circled over the city as he drove in a state carriage with the chief executive through the gaily decorated streets to the Government House. Every point of vantage was occupied along the Calle Florida, the principal shopping street of the city, and there were shouts of welcome from hundreds of Britishers who had come from all parts of the republic to participate in the fortnight's festivities.

After a brief reception at the Government House, the Prince's second public appearance on his way to his official residence assumed even greater popular proportions. The squad of mounted police were taxed to their utmost in handling the crowds which were spread out for a mile along the Avenida de Mayo. Flowers were thrown from the balconies on the carriages as they passed along. The weather was ideal, the gold laced uniforms of the President's bodyguard and the multit-colored decorations making a brilliant display in the sunshine of a late winter day.

Buffalo Have Not Started To Return To Old Home

EDMONTON, Alta., Aug. 17.—Canadian Press. — A flat denial that any buffalo transported from Wainwright to the wood buffalo reserve at La Butte, on the Slave River, are breaking away to the south back to their old home at Wainwright, or that they are ever likely to, was made to the Journal yesterday by D. H. Christie, of the Northwest Territories and Yukon Branch of the Department of the Interior, who superintended the whole movement of the 1634 plains animals to northern regions recently.

Rumors have been spread and contradicted by different people, but the official in charge has taken upon himself to investigate right through from Fort Smith to Fitzgerald, and on to Chicemyan, and could find no one had actually seen a buffalo within 40 or 50 miles of the latter place.

DISCUSS JOINT LINE OPERATION

Peace River Railway Situation Was Subject on Railway Meeting.

PLAN FEASIBLE

EDMONTON, Alta., Aug. 18 (Canadian Press). — Premier M. Greenfield and other members of the government sat in at a conference yesterday afternoon with Sir Henry Thornton, of the C.N.R., and Grant Hall, of the C.P.R., on the Peace River Railway situation. The particular point around which the discussion is revolving is the question whether or not a joint operation agreement between the Canadian National Railways and the Canadian Pacific Railway is practicable.

Sir Henry Thornton, who is accompanied by W. A. Kingsland, the new Western manager of the National lines, said yesterday, that the dual operation plan is feasible, in his opinion, if both companies and the Government will so agree. So far as his own line is concerned, he said, the Canadian National Railways stand ready to do anything it can to relieve the situation in the north.

Grant Hall said that he had come at the invitation of the Premier and without knowing of the proposed joint scheme, and the details to be brought out at the conference. He was not in a position to express any opinion.

Remember the old immovable rim, motorists?

A puncture—then dirt, barked knuckles, delay!

Autoists nowadays would not put up with anything like that; but people are still buying electric ranges with many antique features.

An outstanding feature of the new Beach Electric Range is its accessibility for repairs.

To replace a heater coil in the cooking unit, you open up the top of the range as you would open a book, disconnect the ends of the wire, remove the old coil and insert the new one. You don't have to remove the burner or call in an electrician.

And remember — the Beach is the fastest electric range on the market—brings a quart of cold water to the boiling point in 3 minutes.

Ask your dealer to show you a Beach Electric, or write direct for full information and prices.

CAMPBELLFORD SENDS 50 MEN TO HELP HARVEST THE PRAIRIE CROP

Travel By C.P.R. and C.N.R. With Special Accommodation Provided—Band Scores Hit.

PLAYS AT PARTY.

CAMPBELLFORD, Aug. 18.—F. W. Wood and R. W. Ryder, downtown ticket agents for the C.P.R. and C.N.R. respectively, have between them sold a total of over 50 tickets for the harvesters' excursion which started for Winnipeg this morning. Those who have purchased C.P.R. tickets will go on the C.N.R. as far as Lindsay, where they will be transferred to the other line, and will proceed to Winnipeg by way of Lindsay, travelling the entire journey without a change of cars.

The C.N.R. also operates through trains, passengers embarking at Campbellford going to Toronto, thence to Winnipeg. The competition between the two roads for the harvesters' traffic is the best guarantee that the safety and comfort of passengers will be looked after carefully. Each line runs special cars for women and children, and at intervals along the line stons will be made at points where restaurants are in operation.

To preserve order, a member of the Provincial Police will be on each car. The "Bluenoses" from Nova Scotia have in the past earned for them so unenviable a reputation for creating disturbances that the cars in which they ride will have a double detail of police.

The Band's Success.

The members of the Northumberland Regimental Band, at their first public entertainment under the leadership of William Pearson, held Monday evening on the grounds of St. John's United Church, scored a brilliant success which will net them the handsome sum of over $200. The grounds were crowded, a large number of tickets had been sold to citizens who were unable to attend, but who invested as a mark of appreciation of the work of the band. The booths did a thriving business in disposing of the articles and refreshments that had been donated, and a splendid musical programme was enjoyed by the crowd.

The Campbellford Band was assisted by the band from Frankford, an organization that has been in existence for less than a year, and which is led by Floyd Ketcheson, a young and self-taught musician of 22, who took over his present duties only last spring, and who has already brought the band up to a high stardard of efficiency. Mr. Ketcheson plays the cornet besides directing the band.

Some years ago Frankford had a band that ranked high in the district, but like so many similar organizations in small towns, it lapsed for lack of support. Mr. Ketcheson's father, D. R. Ketcheson, was a member of the former band, and plays with the present organization. The son learned to play the instrument upon which his father performed, so that his musical talent is inherited. About a year ago the present band was organized largely through the efforts of E. Richardson, of Frankford, and last spring the younger Ketcheson was voted into the leadership. The band, assisted by the Campbellford players who will repay the visit of last evening, will hold a lawn party at Frankford on Thursday evening.

The popular Blue Orchestra assisted with the programme last evening, and the entertainment was closed by the two bands playing a medley of airs in unison.

CAMPBELLFORD, Aug. 18. — Four hundred boxes of cheese were inspected by J. L. Irwin, the official grader, and shipped from the station Saturday. This represented the output of nine of the 20 or more factories in this district, the remainder shipping their cheese without having it graded here.

The price paid for cheese Saturday was 21⅛ cents. Allowing 90 pounds to the box the number of pounds shipped by the nine factories and inspected here was 36,000 of a total value of $7,605. Saturday's business is a fair sample of the turnover made here weekly by the dairying industry so that some idea may be formed of the amount of money brought to the farming community by the sale of cheese.

Ball Team Defeated All Entries at Smith's Falls Turnament.

HAVELOCK, Aug. 18 — The large crowd which attended Havelock's C.P.R. Recreation night Friday, Aug. 14th, was not only a suitable recognition of the success of the baseball team in bringing to Haevlock the handsome silver cup, measuring twenty-four inches in height, presented by Mr. J. J. Scully, General Superintendent of Eastern Lines for competition between the teams of Farnham, Smith's Falls, Toronto and Havelock on C.P.R. day at the Old Boys' Reunion, Smith's Falls, but was also a demonstration of the fact that clean sport is honored and appreciated by representative citizens.

A parade was formed at the town hall at 7 p.m. in the following order and proceeded to the park which was specially lighted for the occasion: Reeve Curtis, the Cadet Corps, school children, aldermen, Recreation Band, C.P.R. Baseball team, the Scully Cup, C.P.R. Veterans, C.P.R. employees, Hydro Commission, School Board, Park Board and automobiles.

At the conclusion of the programme a large number assembled at the town hall for dancing.

In the competition at Smith's Falls, Toronto and Smith's Falls met first and Toronto won by a score of 11-1. Then Havelock and Farnham met, Havelock winning by a score of 6-3. The play off game between Toronto and Havelock resulted in a victory for Havelock by 4-1.

VOODOOS PREPARED TO SACRFICE BABE

White Child Rescued From Blacks Near Havana.

HAVANA, August 18. Canadian Press. — Kidnapped by Voodoo worshippers, Paula Cejas, a white baby, living on the Averhoff sugar plantation, near Havana, was found yesterday in a cane field near her home, bound, gagged and nearly suffocated while fanatics prepared to sacrifice her life. Rural guards arrived in time to stop the rites, capturing two men and seizing a large quantity of the articles used by the strange cult in human sacrifices. This was the third attempt of the Voodooists in a month to sacrifice kidnapped babies.

It was the first time Fred's father had seen her, and they were talking things over.

"So my son has proposed to you," he said, "and you've accepted him. I think you might have seen me first."

She blushed sweetly as she replied "I did, but I think I prefer Fred."

BEATTY IN LINE FOR BYNG'S JOB

Canadian Newspapers Indorse Him—Earl Haig Also Mentioned.

MONTREAL, Aug. 18.—The approaching termination of Lord Byng's tenure of office, as Governor-General of Canada, has brought much speculation as to his successor and has raised anew the issue of whether London or Ottawa controls the choice of the Crown's representative to this Dominion.

Some months ago, the Canadian Government let it be known that the reappointment of Lord Byng for another five-year term would be welcomed and the suggestion received universal approval throughout Canada.

The Governor himself, however, put a quietus on the idea by voicing his disinclination to serve another term. There were rumors at the time that Byng's decision was perhaps based more upon a suggestion coming from London that his reappointment, if carried out, might be regarded as a somewhat invidious reflection upon his predecessors in the office, none of whom had been accorded a similar honor, than by any strong feeling of his own. Since then many names have been suggested both in England and Canada.

Haig and Beatty in Line.

Earl Beatty and Earl Haig both have been mentioned and both have received newspaper indorsement. Earl Haig, who visited Canada recently, admitted, on his return to England, that he would regard the appointment as a signal honor, but pleaded that, as he is 64 years old, he would prefer to remain at home and rest. Earl Beatty can not plead advancing years; he is but 54.

London cables reported definite objections raised in Ottawa to the appointment of another Governor at this time identified as a warrior. It also was represented that Canadians would prefer the new Vice-Regent and his consort of British birth. It was said that Canada's views were well known in London and that it even had been suggested that a native Canadian should be appointed. These reports have led to an official denial from Ottawa that objection had been taken to the appiontment of either Haig or Beatty.

Express for Beatty.

The London Daily Express, one of Lord Beaverbrook's papers, which aims to represent Canadian opinion in London, leans strongly towards Earl Beatty, pointing out that his term at the Admiralty expires at about the same time as Lord Byng's term, and arguing that his appointment would be acceptable to Canadians because of his natural temperament and his radiant personality, while his bluffness by no means would be displeasing to this country.

The desirability of Earl Beatty's appointment from the point of view of the British Government, according to the Express, lies in the fact that the Governor-General is "practically an ambassador of Great Britain to the Canadian people, and the atmosphere surrounding the relations between Canada and Great Britain peculiarly are difficult just now. The tangle of European commitments has tended to throw Canada into the diplomatic orbit of the United States, resolutely determined to keep out of Europe."

This, suggests the Manitoba Free Press, would seem to exaggerate the influence which Beatty might exert as a diplomatic agent of Great Britain and that, in spite of his personal prestige and of the fact that he would be welcomed warmly wherever he went, Canadians would be likely to decide in their own way, and for the reasons that seemed best to them, just what their attitude would be in regard to inter-Imperial and foreign affairs, regardless of the views of Beatty or any other occupant of the Vice-Regal office.

Pointing out that, in practice, the British Government does not now name a Governor-General without ascertaining that the appointment is satisfactory to the Dominion, the Free Press thinks it would be a natural development if, in time, the actual choice of Governor-General passed to the Canadian Government and says that such a move would be in keeping with the constitutional trend of recent years.

Other Canadian newspapers, particularly in the West, support this view.

This is Where a Corn Hurts You

at the Root!
Cutting the top of a corn off with a razor or burning it off with caustic lotions, plasters, etc., doesn't do any good. It may do great harm by causing infection or even blood poisoning.
Also it hurts and the root just sprouts right up again, so your corn soon has a brand new top making it bigger and more painful than ever. The top is only dead skin anyway. The business end of a corn is the little pointed part or core that extends down into the toe. That is what hurts when it presses on sensitive nerves, and it is the part you have to get out. A good handful of Reudel Bath Saltrates dissolved in a gallon or so of hot water will soften corns and callouses, like water softens soap. Just soak them in this for a while, then take hold of the corn with your fingers and out it will come root and all. The refined Reudel Bath Saltrates costs very little, and any druggist will have it. A half-pound is sufficient to rid the whole family of all foot troubles.
Obtainable at most drug stores for 50c. or direct from the distributors, Macnamara Limited, New Birks Building, Montreal.

HIGH PRICE EXPECTED FOR CANADIAN BONDS

New York Syndicate to Compete For Refunding Loan.

NEW YORK, Aug. 18.—(Canadian Press.)—Canada is likely to get "an extraordinarily good price" in New York for the forthcoming Dominion loan, the Evening Sun states. The Sun says: "Two syndicates now are planning to compete for the forthcoming Canadian loan, it was learned to-day, and other groups may enter the contest a little later. A part of the issue may be $15,000,000, thereby becoming the largest foreign loan of the year. Canadian bonds rank in a class by themselves and since the bulk of the loan is for the purpose of refunding maturing bonds owned in the United States, competition on the part of bankers here will be particularly keen.

YOUR HEALTH

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M.D., Former Commissioner of Health, New York City.

LEARN TO USE YOUR BEST ROOMS MORE.

Not so long ago I went to Kansas City to speak at the annual convention of the United States League of Building and Loan Associations. For more than thirty years I have been interested in this plan for helping the ordinary man to build a home.

Even now in the cities there is a serious lack of housing. It is difficult for the family of small means to find a decent place to live. What will it be fifty years from now when the population is twice as great as it is now?

Every doctor who has studied the effects of bad housing on health is sure to become interested in the economic improvements essential to solving the building problem. We must strive towards the ideal of having every family occupying a single dwelling or living in a well-lighted and ventilated apartment.

A baby born in a house of six rooms has twice the chance to live that he has if born in a home of two rooms. The mortality rate is bound to be higher where there is overcrowding.

All communicable diseases, especially those involving the breathing organs, are rapidly spread in over crowded places. Conspicuous examples of this are influenza and pneumonia. It is difficult to maintain quarantine under such conditions.

We are apt to think of tuberculosis as connected with hospitals and fine sanitoria. As a matter of fact, the records show that 80 per cent of the tuberculosis patients are obliged to live at home. We know this disease is acquired by contact.

I am giving these few examples of what bad housing does, to cause you to give thought to the problem. I do not do it to alarm you or to make you unhappy. I am attempting to create in your soul a divine discontent that will lead you to better your housing condition if it needs betterment, and you can possibly improve it.

It may not be necessary to move into another house or another apartment to make your living quarters better. It is not uncommon to see the best rooms in a house kept under lock and key or, at least, excluded from common use. What is the use of an unused parlor, with formidable and uncomfortable furniture, if it is a room which can be opened to the sunshine and fresh air? Why dedicate it to convention, when the bedroom where the children sleep, is small, stuffy and dark? Use your best room to live in and put the family photograph album and the wax flowers in the attic!

There can be no doubt that a clean, sunny, well-ventilated house is a great factor in the health of the family. If your pocketbook is thin, you can't do as you would like to, of course, but a little study of your own surrounding and your budget may make it possible to plan better things.

Answers to Health Queries.

A. B. W. Q.—My baby is a year old and weighs 22 pounds. He is very slow in teething. Would you advise me to wean him? He is very healthy and is walking.

A.—Most babies are weaned at about the ninth month, so that it would be perfectly all right to wean your baby now. Many perfectly healthy babies are slow in teething.

A.—Shampoo the hair frequently and use a good tonic. For further particulars kindly send a self-addressed, stamped envelope and repeat your question.

TOMORROW'S HOROSCOPE

By Genevieve Kemble

WEDNESDAY, AUGUST 19

According to the lunar aspects for this day a moderately active and successful state of affairs should obtain. Those in the employment of others are under a fairly propitious rule for recognition or advancement if qualified. It is, on the whole, a good time for seeking favors or preferment from those in places of authority. It is enjoined that speculation and money risk be avoided, and there is read in the stars a definite menace of fraud or treachery. A friendly place of Venus promises pleasant social and domestic conditions.

Those whose birthday it is are under a fairly good prospect for a successful and happy year if they will shun speculation and guard against fraud and deception. Those in employment should fit themselves for advancement and recognition. A child born on this day may be clever and agreeable, but disposed to be extravagant and reckless in the use of money. It may find itself subject to subtle enmities in life.

GOOD NIGHT STORIES

By Blanche Silver

BETTY HAS A PLEASANT SURPRISE.

"Oh, dear," Betty sighed, "I wish I had something to do. I wish Gocomeback would come by this way and take me——"

"Well, well," laughed a wee little voice, and Betty looked up to see the wee travel elfin smiling at her from the porch rail. "Isn't that funny? I was just wishing some little girl would call for me. Where would you like to go?"

"Oh, any old place," replied Betty, jumping up and shaking his hand. "Some place that would surprise me."

Gocomeback laughed merrily, and before Betty knew what was happening, she found herself sailing through the air beside the wee, little elfin.

"Don't ask me where we're going until we land," he laughed. By this time they had crossed seas and mountains, and began to drop towards the ground.

My, but it was a pretty country, with grass and trees and flowers growing everywhere. Little wild roses, dandelions, wild peas and blue violets dotted the hillsides, and here and there scattered over the green grass were dear little tent houses make of skins of some kind.

"We Dry All the Berries."

"I'll bet you can't tell me where we are," laughed Gocomeback as they lighted on the grass. "I'll give you two guesses."

"I couldn't," replied Betty. "And yet it seems as if I had been here before, only I have the feeling things have changed."

"I'll say they have changed," laughed a merry voice, and a little brown girl came from the nearest tent to greet them. "When you came to Eskimo-land before, it was——"

"Eskimo-land!" exclaimed Betty excitedly, "You don't mean this beautiful country is Eskimo-land?"

"Certainly, we do," laughed Gocomeback, "and this is the same little girl you visited in the snow house."

"You remember the seals Daddy brought in the day you were here?" laughed the wee little brown girl. "Well, there they are made into a tent."

"Why, I thought it was always a cold, cold country," laughed Betty. "This is a beautiful country."

"It is just as lovely in summer as it is in winter," replied the little brown girl. "Why, sometimes it's so nice and warm, we sleep out of doors. Then we are up bright and early to go hunting and trapping with our Daddy. We have several months of this lovely weather, and we gather all the cranberries, strawberries and salmon berries we can, so we can dry them for the winter table. So many little American girls and boys seem to think an Eskimo always lives in ice houses. I'm glad you visited me in the summer time."

"So am I," agreed Betty. "It has been a pleasant surprise, I can tell you Now I must run home and set the table for dinner," and bidding the little Eskimo girl goodby, she and Gocomeback reached America just in time for Betty to get the table set before her Daddy came home from the office.

FAMOUS "FIRSTS"

By Temple Manning

HOW THE PRINTER'S DEVIL WAS NAMED

Have you ever wondered what the term "printer's devil" means? Very often you hear someone say: "He was a poor printer's devil five years ago, and look at him now!"

This phrase dates back to the inception of printing. From the very beginning the art of printing was popularly associated with the evil spirit who rules in the confines of the nether regions. In 1450, John Fust, or as some records have it, Faust, was accused of using magic in the production of his books. Other writers, whose works were well received soon found themselves designated as "wielders of the black art."

The Printer's Devil Exposed.

At the beginning of the sixteenth century Aldus Manutius, the founder of the famous Aldine presses, had in his employ a negro boy whom he brought into Venice by a merchant vessel. The more superstitious among the populace who believed that printing was an evil art and one which was to bring ruin upon their heads, spread the report that this boy was an imp. With his black, shiny skin and gleaming eyes, the negro lad fired the imaginations of the unlearned and excited them to such an extent that the city was in an uproar. To quiet the upheaval, Aldus exhibited the boy in public and made this proclamation in church:

"I, Aldus Manutius, printer to the Holy Church and to the Doge, have this day made public exposure of the printer's devil. All who think he is not flesh and blond may come and pinch him."

Although this public declaration served to put the Venitians at their ease, they still continued to use the term "printer's devil" for every subsequent printer's apprentice.

In England, however, the term was interpreted differently. According to Moxon, the duty of the printer's devil was to stand by the tympan on which the blank sheets of paper were spread, and take them from the frame as fast as they were printed. Consequently the faces and hands of the men were so dirty and grimy that they took on a very Machiavellian aspect, and their associates observing this, called them "devils" in jest.

STREET NAMES

BOSWELL AVENUE.

Boswell avenue receives its name from the fact that it is located on what was once part of the Boswell estate, owned by Walter W. Boswell, an old pioneer of the town and county. Walter Boswell, the son of a naval captain, was born on Jersey Island, in the English Channel, in 1808, and arrived in this country in 1818, when the Boswell family settled at Cobourg. Boswell was a pioneer in more ways than one. He had the first steam engine built in the Province of Upper Canada, for which he was granted a bonus of £100 by the Provincial Government. After he came to North Monaghan in 1840 he put into operation the first steamship to ply the waters of the Otonabee. Another of his titles to local fame was the size of his family, which numbered 14. He served in the militia during the Rebellion of 1837, and was given a commission as captain. He died at Trent Bridge in 1876 and was buried in Little Lake Cemetery.

During baby's teething time, the bowels become loose and diarrhoea, dysentery, colic, cramps, etc., manifest themselves; the gums become swollen, and cankers form in the mouth.

This is the time when the mother should use "Dr. Fowler's," and, perhaps, save the baby's life.

25-YEAR SEARCH UNITES FAMILY

British Sailor, Prisoner in the World War, Finds New Home.

FARGO, N.D., Aug. 18.—Separated from his family for almost 25 years, during which his wanderings led him into many adventures, including imprisonment by the Boers in the war with England, Samuel Watterson, of this city, recently was reunited with his wife and children whom he had thought lost to him forever.

It was in 1900 that Watterson, then a sailor, left his family for a trip to Canada. In Montreal, he shipped on a troop ship bound for Capetown, South Africa. The first trip was uneventful, but when the ship reached South Africa, on its second voyage with troops, the vessel was sunk in some mysterious way in the harbor. Watterson, with some of his companions, was able to reach shore safely, only to be confronted with Boers who took him prisoner, marched him inland and imprisoned him in an abandoned mine. For 11 months he managed to live in a dark hole of filth and terror with little food, no proper exercise and no knowledge of the outside world. He lived but he became a ragged, starved wretch of skin and bones, his nerves shattered and his memory gone.

The war ended in 1902 and Watterson was rescued by the British and sent to Canada. He recovered sufficiently to appreciate the need of a job. He got employment in a railroad construction gang and was given the name of John McDonald as he did not know his own. Later he made his way to Medicine Hat, thence east across from Sault Ste. Marie. There followed several years as a sailor on the Great Lakes. In 1907 he came to Fargo. Here his health and memory returned and thoughts turned to his family.

He wrote to Liverpool but could find no trace of his folks. Friends aided him in his search and an advertising campaign started in England and America which lasted until two years ago when by curious chance an American women, who had noticed the advertisement in newspapers, met the sister of Watterson's wife. The family had long given up hope of finding the father. He was believed to have died in the Boer War.

Communication was at once established with Watterson here in Fargo. The oldest son, Samuel, a veteran of the World War, who was a mere infant when Watterson last saw him, came to America at once. Father and son began preparations to bring the rest of the family to the United States. The two men furnished a home, and this spring they sent money to Liverpool to provide family passage to America. The mother and two children have arrived and the rest of the family will soon be here.

C. B. McALLISTER DEAD.

Former Cereal Manufacturer of Peterboro, Died in Vancouver.

(From the Renfrew Mercury of Aug. 14th, 1925.)

Mr. C. B. McAllister, a former well known resident of Pembroke, Pakenham and Peterboro, died suddenly at his home in Vancouver, on Tuesday, July 28th. The late Mr. McAllister's death occurred shortly after he had returned from his son's residence, where he had had dinner. Death was due to heart disease. The funeral was held on Friday afternoon from the family residence, Connaught Drive, Vancouver, and was largely attended. He is survived by his wife and two sons, Neil and Charlie, both of Vancouver. His eldest son, Lieut. Alex McAllister, was killed in action.

Born at Eardley, Quebec, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. W. B. McAllister, he removed to Pembroke when a boy. Educated there, he was afterwards employed by his father in the McAlister flour mills. Going into business for himself he operated flour mills at Peterboro, and Pakenham, later removing to Western Canada, and then to Vancouver, where he has resided for several years. He married Miss Jean Barnet, eldest daughter of the late Alex. and Mrs. Barnet, of Renfrew. — Ed.— The McAllister building on the north side of Huntmill was operated in the stoner street, on the east side of the river, and the McAllister residence is now occupied by Judge Huycke.

PETERBORO' IS NOW ON THE RACING MAP OF THE WORLD

All the Auto Racers to Compete at Ottawa and Toronto Exhibition Are Here For Thursday.

Peterboro is one of the automobile racing capitals of the world to-day. Nearly a score of the fastest racing cars in the world are within the city, many of the most daring pilots of the game are enroute, and will be here within a few hours, and Mlle. Martens, the most widely heralded woman racing pilot in the whole world is a guest of the city. The Exhibition grounds and track are ready for the spectators and the onslaught of the speed demons on Thursday afternoon, when the big auto race meet is to be staged.

Predictions of broken records for Canadian ½ mile dirt tracks are heard among the automobile speed fans. Many declare that the local track is more conducive to high speed of the demon drivers than either the Toronto and Ottawa courses. The Peterboro meet will witness the gathering of every one of the great drivers who are to compete in the Ottawa Exhibition auto races next Saturday and races on four days of the Toronto exhibition. Local automobile dealers and garage men are congratulating Webber Turner of the Peterboro Exhibition on his inducing the big league auto race promoters to stage a racing programme here and hang up purses of sufficient size to attract the noted speed kings. Hundreds of out-of-town auto race fans who have heretofore journeyed to Ottawa and Toronto to get their annual feast of speed thrills are to take advantage of seeing the racing here.

While the high-powered cars, many of them capable of 120 miles an hour speed on a beach or board speedway course, will be driven over the local one half mile track by desperate drivers, every safeguard possible will be thrown around the spectators. Realizing the intense desire of an auto race patron to get as close as possible to the track while the cars are whirling around at express train speed, the management has laid out a safety zone which will not only be roped off but will be well policed, so that in case of a wrecked car, or cars, or a crash through the fence by a driver who suffers a broken steering knuckle or a blown tire, there will be no human buffer into which the car might be hurtled.

The track will be rendered dustless by the application of calcium chloride (the dust-laying solution) in order that the drivers may not be hampered in their desire to get in and out of short turns of the track without shutting off their motors to get their bearings, as is often the case on a dusty track. The absence of dust will also enhance the enjoyment of the races by the spectators.

The racing cars arrived here in two express cars. They will be unloaded late this afternoon and assigned to different garages. After a few hours in the hands of wash rack experts the machines will be placed on exhibition.

Louis Disbrow, the intrepid Frenchman, the hero of over 1000 races, beginning now his 23rd season of high speed work, Ra Lampkin, the British speed king, Ray Claypool, Eddie Dailey, Cleo Sarles, "Putty" Huffman, George Stevens, "Scotty" Monteith, Bobby Green and Roy Repp are among the great pilots, whose cars are in the lot. The gasoline chariots range from eight-in-a-row Millers and Deusenbergs, replicas of the winning cars in recent Indianapolis 500 mile races to French Bugattis Italian Fiats and other special racing jobs. Mlle Martens will pilot a French Peugeot, made famous by the late Dario Resta. The Frontenac-Ford entry of Arthur Chevrolet, the Indianapolis racing motor building wizard, should attract a lot of attention at the Duffus garage. It will be tooled by Floyd Roberts, the California champion.

"I have received many messages commenting favorably on the low admission scale Which I induced the racing promoters to adopt for Peterboro," said Webber Turner this morning. "Many who have patronized high class auto races in other cities in America thought that a much higher price would be charged here but we are endeavoring to establish Peterboro as a city on the international auto racing circuit and will probably stage an auto racing day at the exhibition next year. I am sure spectators will get a great run for their money on Thursday."

SEWAGE PLANT FORMS ARE UP

Ready For Pouring Cement at Construction Work Across the River.

READY IN OCTOBER.

Through the courtesy of R. H. Parsons, City Engineer, an Examiner representative was taken over the new sewage disposal plant this morning, and the most interesting features of the plant were explained very fully. Most of the forms are placed in position in readiness for the cement. The pipes are laid across the river, and the channels in one section have been made and concreted. The plant will be ready for use about the end of October or the beginning of November.

When finished it will be thoroughly up to date, and will embody all the latest features in sewage disposal although, as Mr. Parsons pointed out, new ideas are being continually sought out, some of the American cities particularly having spent large sums in sewage disposal experiments —Milwaukee spent $500,000 in this way—so that new ideas may be introduced at any time.

Two Sewerage Mains.

The sewerage from the west side of Peterboro passes into two mains —Lock street and Park street. All this sewage will be run into an outfall chamber at the south end of Park street and will be carried across the river in two suction pipes, 18 inches in diameter, into the sewage sump, the flow being controlled by valves on the north side of the river. Four motors (one of which will be a reserve) will be installed, and will supply the motive power for the pumps which will bring the sewage into the grit chambers, where the rate of velocity of the water being reduced, the grit will sink to the bottom. It is then conveyed into aeration tanks, passing through a channel which divides in two, feeding the tanks in two different sections of the plant. This arrangement allows of two sections to be worked separately or in combination, according to the amount of sewage being received.

Treat 6,000,00 Gallons.

When in full operation the plant will treat 6,000,000 gallons of sewage, but at first will only be called upon to handle 3½ million gallons. The total length of the channels in the aeration chambers is 560 feet, and the sewage passing slowly along the these channels, up one and down the other, takes about two hours to reach the three sluice gates, 24 inches square, through which it passes out.

Within the aeration chambers a continual circulatory motion and aeration process is kept going on, oxidizing the sludge, and fostering the development of such bacteria as have a beneficent action on the sewage.

The sewage next passes into the sedimentary tanks, 78 feet square, sloped with a 3 3-4 inch drop per foot towards the centre. On a bridge extending from side to side are placed the clarifiers with four arms operated by an electric motor, and by these arms revolving once in seventeen minutes, the solid sewage, is pushed into the centre, and some of the water, about 25 per cent., is squeezed out.

Some of the activated sludge is raised by air lift and flows back into the re-aerations tunnel, being carried to meet the incoming sewage among which the bacteria is distributed, and multiplies rapidly. Four or five weeks will be required to bring the earliest sewage received into the desirde condition, but after it has been thoroughly activated, all incoming sewage brought into contact with it will undergo sufficient change in composition during the two hours of oxidization in the aeration chambers.

All the other sewage will be run into a lagoon, which has yet to be hollowed out. The effluent which rises to the top, and is run into the river, is by that time purified to the extent of 95 per cent. of harmful bacteria.

WEDDING BELLS.

SCHANZ—LANE.

A very pretty wedding was solemnized at the eight o'clock mass in St. Peter's Cathedral this morning, when Helen Agnes, second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Lane, Hunter street, became the bride of Dr. Robert F. Schanz, of Rochester, N.Y., son of Mr. and Mrs. Felix Schanz, of Fort Wayne, Indiana. The ceremony was performed by Rev. P. Costello.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, looked charming in a gown of orchid and silver. The fitted bodice was of orchid satin-faced crepe, and a skirt of silver lace was posed over a taffeta slip of orchid color. Orchid slippers and stockings were worn, with a hat of deep orchid, panne velvet, trimmed with metallic French flowers. The bride carried a boquet of ophelia roses.

The bridesmaid, Miss Hilda Lane, was in buttercup yellow georgette, the godet draperies trimmed with clusters of small yellow silk flowers, centered with pearls. Her hat was a large shape of black, panne velvet, and she carried a bouquet of columbia roses.

Mr. Jack Lane acted as best man.

The wedding march was played by Miss Lillian Hurley, and Miss Annie Simons sang a pretty "Ave Maria" during the nuptial mass.

After the ceremony, a dainty wedding breakfast was served to the immediate relatives and friends at the home of the bride's parents, 243 Hunter street.

Dr. and Mrs. Schanz left later by motor, for a trip through Quebec and Maine. They will reside in Rochester, N.Y.

The bride travelled in a smart sports suit of yellow and black, with frock of pleated yellow canton crepe under a short jacket of black paillette satin. She wore a small hat of black panne velvet and satin and a red fox fur neckpiece.

Simpkins, being introduced to golf for the first time, hit the ball a terrific wheck and sent it about three hundred yards. "Now, where do I run to?" he cried excitedly.

ADVICE TO GIRLS

By Annie Laurie

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE:

I am a young girl in my 'teens, and have been keeping company with a boy a few months my senior.

I liked him very much and I know he liked me, but after a number of times I went with him, some of my friends and relatives disapproved of him, and said that his manner, with boy friends was not all it should be.

As I did not want to fall lower in their opinion, I believed what they said, and so refused all other invitations he extended to me.

Since then he has always been polite to me but cold in his manner, when we meet.

But he went with a girl whom I did not approve of. She has gone away and he is not going with anyone now.

Please, dear Annie Laurie, as I still care for him, what should I do to win his former friendship back again?

I do not believe now, what my friends said, and am very sorry for refusing his company.

Please advise me in the way you think best.

DULCIE

DULCIE: I think a little of your trouble comes from a desire to regulate this young man's life according to your own pattern. You turned him down because other people disapproved of him, and then you disapprove of a companion he finds to take your place. You will have to learn your lesson that you cannot manage other's affairs according to your liking. A paraphrase on a famous Shakespearian saying: "The world is out of joint. Oh, cursed spite, that I was ever born to set it right," is the more common sense rendition: "The world is out of joint, but I was never born to set it right."

If you two truly like each other, matters will in time adjust themselves. "What began best can't end worst." As you took the first step in the misunderstanding, I think it would be all right for you to drop him a friendly little note and ask him to call and see you, or else get some mutual friend to invite him and you both to the house. If you can't see you way clear to do either of these things, then make a point of stopping for a little chat every time you meet him, and be as friendly as possible on these occasion. And, if you make it up, don't listen to what other people say. Judge for yourself

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE:

I am a young girl of 17. I have been going out with a young man of 18. We got along very nice till others got jealous of us and tried to separate us. At first they did not succeed but at last they have succeeded and parted us. I feel it very much. I would like to know if he still loves me. I meet him often but he will not speak to me, but he often tries to make me jealous. What should I do?

UNHAPPY ONE

UNHAPPY ONE: I am sorry for you. I know very well just how black things look at seventeen years of age, but I hope you won't mind if I tell you that a love affair between two young things of seventeen and eighteen years isn't so very tragic, after all. Cheer up. The time will come when you will laugh over this falling-out, and if you don't laugh in company with this young man, you will with another. I think I would let this matter stand for awhile and in the meantime have a good a time as possible with your other friends. If the young man will not speak to you when he meets you, and tries to make you jealous, I think it is quite an indication that he still cares for you, and possibly wants to make up just as badly as you do. Give him time.

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE:

I am nineteen years old and have been going with a young man two years my senior. We love each other, but my parents don't like him. As we are engaged to be married, I don't know what I shall do—go on and marry or not. Please give me your advice.

—GREY EYES.

GREY EYES: I suggest that you have a heart-to-heart talk with your parents and learn why they disapprove of your fiance. If they really feel that he is unworthy of you—that his character is not above reproach—then you should be guided by their advice and break your engagement. But, if, on the other hand, he is a fine young man of estimable character and they have merely taken a personal dislike to him, you must persuade them that you are right. You can do this tactfully and in a kindly manner so that no one's feelings will be hurt.

Annie Laurie will welcome letters of inquiry on subjects of feminine interest from young women readers of this paper and will reply to them in these columns. Letters to Miss Laurie should be addressed to her in care of The Examiner.

Most of Alberta Coal Has Been Shipped To Ontario

TORONTO, Aug. 18.—(Canadian Press).—Very little — not more than two or three thousand tons—remains unshipped of the trial quantity of 20,000 tons of coal from Alberta mines, it was stated to-day in response to inquiries. The remainer will likely be moved east after the bulk of the grain rush is over.

FEMINISMS

By Annette Bradshaw

WHEN DAME FASHION DECREES CIVILIZED BARBARISM.

PEGGY—"My dear, the poor, benighted heathens have nothing onyou when it comes to adornment. Their hoop earrings, though, are not nearly so practical as your adorable watch earring."

ANITA—"Don't talk, my dear! I've been wondering how on earth you keep that earring on, that outlines the lobe of your ear so smartly."

Let's Talk It Over

GOSSIP OR A SLY HINT OFTEN CUTS DEEP

Once upon a time, unnumbered centuries ago, a wise and good old gentleman climbed a great mountain to commune with God. And after many days of storm and prayer God gave him tablets of stone, whereon were graven Ten Laws by which the sons of men should live. The good and wise old gentleman passed to his fathers long since, but those ten laws have been preserved and, in theory, at any rate, they form the basis of our moral code. Certain of them we have indeed found it highly expedient to observe. "Thou shalt not kill." "Thou shalt not steal." Those two hold their own against changing standards. But how about the other commandment likewise graven by the hand of God on awful Sinai and held by him of equal weight with the other ten?

"Thou Shalt Not Bear False Witness Against Thy Neighbor."

With what reverence do we observe that law? A dozen times a day we may bear "false witness against our neighbors" and think nothing of it. And this doesn't mean that sneaky little stenog across the hall, that gabby woman who lives in the next block, or the gang who play bridge every second Tuesday—It Means YOU! It means law abiding, pious, prudent YOU, with your pew in church and your name in the best clubs in town. In fact, pewholders seem particularly liable to transgress that law. Being one of 'em myself, I know whereof I speak. For however exalted our aim, Christianity does seem to lose its savor for most of us unless we sit in judgment on the unrighteous and look with scorn on the sinful!

How lightly we stick the rusty blade of malice under the ribs of our fellow man!

"Yes, of course, her complexion looks awfully pretty at a distance. But did you ever get near her. Honest, that girl wears it an inch thick. You can't tell me, Ida, that any girl can be really Nice who makes up like that. You know as well as I do that a girl doesn't stick gobs of black on her eyelashes to attract Girls."

"I think it's perfectly awful, Ethel. I don't know how her husband stands it. Why, I went into her kitchen this morning at half past ten and the baby was crawling around the floor as dirty as a pig, there was not a dish washed, and, would you believe it?—she was playing the piano as if she didn't have a care in the world. They say she Never has a meal on time. She buys every stitch of clothes ready made, and everyone knows what a small salary Fred Robbins has. Well, as I said to Harry last night, I wouldn't blame that man one bit if he began to chase around with someone else. What sort of a home and wife is that to come home to, I'd like to know?"

"Say, Jim, see the nifty little steno Smith's got in? Some baby! No wonder Smith's acting like a yearling. Wouldn't surprise me if something merry'n dictatin' goes on.

"Thou Shalt Not Bear False Witness." You thought it only meant getting up in court and swearing a wrong oath, didn't you? It doesn't! The mean remark, said carelessly and forgotten in an other minute, can kill a reputation assurely as legal perjury. And the seemingly grave judgment is even more deadly and less excusable than idle chatter. For what right have we to judge one another? What do we know of the motive that lies behind another's error?

All Unkindly Comment Is False Witness, And He Or She Who Makes It Surely Breaks God's Law!

TODAY'S FASHION

—By Vera Winston—

This Little Girl's Challis Costume Is Made of Rose and Cream.

Challis makes an ideal fabric for the small girl's costume. It is light in weight and it launders beautifully.

The diminutive ensemble sketched above is made of cream challis with crossing stripes of rose, combined with the plain rose color. The little frock has a hem and collar and cuffs of the plain material, and the coat is of the plain rose color, unlined.

The same type costume could be developed in Fall materials. Navy kasha might be used, with striped silk for the upper part of the dress.

WARKWORTH PERSONALS.

WARKWORTH, Aug. 17.—Mr. and Mrs. Bob Mowat, of Toronto, are visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alex. Mowat.

Mr. Gilbert Dinwoodie, of Lucan, attended the funeral of his mother, Mrs. A. Dinwoodie.

Mr. Alex. Davidson, of Moncton, N.B., attended the funeral of his mother.

Miss Evelyn Hermiston is visiting relatives in Toronto.

Mr. and Mrs. C. T. Maycock and Everett are spending a couple of weeks with relatives in Toronto.

The proceeds received from the supper given by the Women's Institute on Friday evening, at the agricultural grounds, amounted to one hundred dollars and fifty cents, and on the same evening a donation of two hundred and fifty dollars was given the W. I., by Mr. Jas. Douglas, of Toronto, in aid of the vault.

Mr. C. J. Boyce was in Belleville on business, on Friday.

ECONOMICAL FLOWER HOLDERS

Tall papier mache tubes, such as the florists use, can be painted inside and out with black water-proof paint and varnished. They hold the long stemmed flowers and are heavy enough so that they do not topple over. There are different sizes in the tubes to be had, and the small ones are very attractive. They may be painted black or white, then decorated with gold motifs and then be varnished.

A small, wooden chopping bowl painted black or white, and waterproof, varnished inside and out, makes a splendid receptacle for the large, short-stemmed flowers. One filled with heads of scarlet geraniums made a brilliant appearance, red above the black base. Small, unfired pottery bean-pots may be treated with a coat of gold paint, then decorated with small, black, silhouette figures, then covered with a coat of water-proof varnish. It is a wise precaution to paint the inside of the jar with a coat of black paint, as this fills the pores and makes the jar water-tight.

For the fall lilies, half fill a glass bowl with white sand and keep it wet. The lilies may be stuck into the sand and they keep wonderfully well in this way and may be prettily arranged in one or more colors as desired.

One woman with a garden bought several of the white crockery churns. She painted them in solid colors, old blue for red peonies, gold for the cosmos, soft green for the stalks of gladiolas, and burnt orange for the late yellow flowers.

Mustard pots, ginger pots, wooden salt bowls and cups, may one and all be disguised by decorating and become useful containers. The newest idea is to paint glass jars and bottles, and some very unusual results are obtained.

About Ourselves And Other People

By Winifred Black

KNOBBY KNEES AND SCRAWNY BACKBONES

Dear me—I never knew there were so many queer knees in the world, did you?

Great big fat knees, a sort of ugly, creepy white.

And thin, bony knees, with lumps on them—what a mercy we've had all these years when they were hidden from sight—and we never knew it and now—

Elbows—we got acquainted with them quite a while ago—they weren't so bad in the evening—even a scrawny elbow can look quite poetic with a wist of floating tulle for a disguise—and then the evening lights are always flattering.

Many a homely girl looks pretty by electric light—if she knows how to dress for it.

Collar bones—oh, yes, we know them, too—they taught us how to show them in Paris, and the girls are proud of them—the bonier the better.

Ankles—I always thought every pretty woman had a pretty pair of ankles, but oh, how full of disappointments life is.

The prettiest girl I know—she has eyes like corn flowers and hair like corn silk and a figure like a pocket Venus—but oh, those terrible ankles and how she does love to show them.

She's always crossing her knees and swinging her foot and almost saying: "Look at my ankles, I like 'em big and bony—don't you?"

And now the knees—and some of them aren't set right—have you noticed that? Did you ever dream there were so many bow-legs or so many knock-knees in the world?

What a disappointment it must be to the men.

Here they've been going through life dreaming and imagining and all at once whisk—up come the skirts and there are the knees cruelly exposed to view—and in the broad daylight, too.

I wonder if the girls with the ugly knees realize the sad disillusion they are giving the poor, old, hopeful, trusting world?

I sat opposite four girls on the street car the other day and one was knock-kneed and the other had bony knee-knuckles that made you think of a rangy colt, and one was so fat that really—and only one had a pretty pair of knees—and the things that go with it.

But she had the longest dress of all of them.

Have you noticed it? Isn't it queer?

Backbones we know these days as we used to know wrists—and somehow they aren't half as pretty as we used to imagine they were.

Those little knobs now—up and down the spine—there's something so frank about them, isn't there?

Oh, well, I suppose by next year we'll be wearing our skirts sweeping the ground—but it will take a whole generation to build up the fiction about what's under those skirts a gain.

And that does seem rather a pity, doesn't it?

A FASHION MODEL'S DIARY

By Grace Thorncliffe

SHE CHATS ABOUT A MODISH DINNER GOWN.

Madame has been busy lately designing a number of frocks for clients who are going away on trips.

To-day a young girl came in and confided to Madame that she was going abroad quite unexpectedly and needed a modish dinner gown, above all else.

"That would be easy," Madame assured her.

"I knew you could take care of me," the client returned.

"I've been turning over a few dinner-gown ideas in my head," Madame responded. "I'm sure I can design one you will like very much."

So saying she reached for the handy pencil and pad and started putting her idea down in drawing, so the client could see what kind of frock was being planned for her.

"The newest dinner gowns from abroad have necklines that are round ed in front and slope to deep V-backs," Madame informed the client, as she sketched.

The young girl leaned forward eagerly to see the drawing take form. She asked:

"What material are you planning to use for me, Madame?"

"Lace," Madame replied without hesitation. "Lace makes a t erribly smart dinner frock, and it is such a useful material for a dress that is to be worn travelling."

"I do want something that won't need to be pressed every time I unfold it," the girl remarked.

"This is to be gold lace," Madame told her. "It is the kind that does not crush, and all you will have to do is to hang it up for a while before you put the dress on."

By this time the simple drawing was finished.

"The model will be untrimmed," Madame explained. "Of course lace needs no trimming."

"Suits me," the young girl assured her.

"The neckline is oval at the front and slopes to a deep V at the back," Madame added. "That cut will be most attractive on you because you have a nice neck."

"I adore the long tight sleeves," the young lady remarked approvingly.

"They are very good just now" Madame assured her. Then she went on to explain:

"The frock is to be worn over a gold tissue slip."

"That will be excellent," the client replied. "I can use my gold beads and ear-rings too."

"You'll like the costume," Madame assured her. "Then, too, it is most appropriate for wear all through the Fall."

HEDDA HOYT TALKS ABOUT THINGS THAT INTEREST THE BUSY WOMAN OF 1925

Waist Lines

(Written for the United Press.)

NEW YORK, Aug. 17 (United Press).—Higher waistlines are on the rebound! This means that the corset will also return. Straight-lined frocks combined with a corsetless era have given women he-sized waists which must be curbed by stays if the feminine figure returns.

At recent showings of Fall fashions in Paris most of the fashionable gown houses sponsored gowns with a suggestion of the normal waist. In some cases it was fulness placed at the front and sides of the skirt which raised the front waistline, leaving the back flat and straight-line.

Again the fulness in the skirt was concentrated in the rear leaving the Princess front effect with side-seams nipped in to suggest the normal figure. Berthe was the only designer who clung to straight-lined silhouettes though some of the Berthe models showed skirt fulness.

Redfern's frocks were extremely short-skirted with much flaring at the rear fulness as to introduce the bustle of embroidery or belts worn at the normal position. Often the belts had large silver buckles which were worn at the center front. The Redfern sleeves were long and frequently very full, being gathered into wristbands.

Paul Poiret even goes so far with rear fulness as to introduce the bustle gown. He also features Princess effects made with seamed sections and suggesting the waistline.

Whether the normal waistline will prove favorable to women remains to be seen but Princess effects will undoubtedly become popular as the Fall season progresses. Rear fulness also will have many followers. Skirts will remain short. Sleeves for day wear will be long and flowing or very full and gathered into wristbands. There is a tendency toward the V-shaped neckline.

DUMB BASEBALL LOST ROUND FOR JUVENILE TEAM

Masterson Pitched Good Ball, But Received Terrible Support in Final.

EIGHT ERRORS

Knights Gave Weird Exhibition of Fielding and Base Running.

Dumb baseball in every stage of the game cost the Knights of Columbus juvenile team the game with Oshawa St. Andrews yesterday at Port Hope. The score was 10-5. By their victory the Oshawa team wins the round and will play the Ottawa juvenile champions for the championship of Eastern Ontario.

There were eight Peterborough errors. Half a dozen hits were made because Peteborough fielders stood and watched the ball until it was too late to stop it. Six men were put out on the base lines owing to bone headed work on the sacks. There you have the story of the game. The Pet..borough kids did nothing right; the Oshawa boys did nothing wrong.

Every man but one on the Oshawa team made a hit. Slow work by the fielders gave them some, but many were good solid smashes, the kind that's good in any league. Hubbell was the leading hitter, making five singles in five trips to the plate. Gummow, with three in five, and Little, with two in four, were next.

For the Petes, Rishea had two hits in four tries. Calladine and Swanger had a perfect average, going in as pinch hitters in the ninth and making safeties.

In fielding, Oshawa had a big edge. Besides the eight errors, there were many errors of judgement and much slow work that told in the run column. The two Oshawa errors came in the first and last innings and both allowed runners to score. Gummow at second and Little at short handled fifteen chances between them. Gummow got into the limelight with a fine catch of Kennealey's high fly back of second.

When the Petes did get on the bases they didn't stay there. Some died stealing, making a wild dash without a leadoff, so effective was May in holding them on. Some were nipped off by May, and one fell for the old short throw on a double steal. May's throw to the bases at times lacked the necessary step, and one balk was called on him.

Masterson had an edge on control over the Oshawa hurler. Casey walked one and hit one, while May walked four and hit three. May struck out four, while Masterson fanned eleven, getting out of some bad holes by good pitching.

Three Peterborough boys started at eight o'clock in the morning to walk to Port Hope. They received several lifts on the way and were on hand to root for their friends. Despite the short notice a number of Port Hope fans turned out for the game.

One umpire, Nicholson of Toronto, was appointed by the O.B.A.A. He worked behind the bat until runners got on, and then went behind the pitcher.

He showed great activity, chasing all the passed balls, and one of his decisions were questioned.

BETHANY BEATS MILLBROOK 9-7

Series Now Tied Up Again —Final Game Next Monday.

MANY ERRORS

The second game of the play-off series between Bethany and Millbrook was played in Bethany last night resulting in a score of 9-7 which, as Millbrook won the first game will necessitate another contest, deciding game to be played in Bethany next Monday.

While the brand of ball displayed was by no means up to the high level attained by other meetings there was, nevertheless, a good assortment of stick work shown and it as amply demonstrated that the teams were well supplied with hitters of no mean ability.

The game as staged on a beautiful little lot which is owned and operated by the Bethany Athletic Club and is the finer esult of considerable toil. The diamond is perfectly level and the measurements are strictly correct. The boys may well be proud of their playing field for there are many bigger towns that would gladly have such a diamond if it were available.

The game as played last night had very few remarkable features although excitement ran riot over each movement. Millbrook copped one run in the second and three in the fourth when Staples was relieved by Ryley in the box. Staples shifted to first while Dawe moved down to second to fill the spot vacated by Ryley.

In their half of the fourth Bethany wnt to work and came out of the fog with a catch of nine run, which they netted by a combination of two errors, a sacrifice, a hit batsman, twofre e passes, a double and three singles. And that was all for at no other era in the debacle did they invade the score column. The 9 runs, however, gave ample lee way and a lead which they retained throughout.

Millbrook batters hammered away steadily and amassed a total of 11 safe blows off the delivery of the opposing moundsmen. They hooked one run in the second, three in the fourth and in the seventh collected another trio. At the final stage Bethany men indulged in the ancient pastime of throwing the ball around and the Millbrook men advanced accordingly. The final heave was from centrefield to third when the last man was retired.

RUGBY STAR KEPT MARRIAGE SECRET

Mr. and Mrs. Warren Bertram Snyder, the former the well-known Toronto University Rugby star, and the latter formerly Miss Constance Godfrey, daughter of Hon. Dr. Forbes Godfrey, Minister of Health and Labor in the Ontario Government, who were married last St. Valentine's Day in Hamilton. They kept their marriage a secret because of the fact that Mr. Snyder has not completed his university course. The secret was so well kept that even the bride's father, who is chief registrar of marriage licenses, did not learn it until recently. Now the young people are being showered with congratulations.

SPORT GOSSIP AND COMMENT.

Kingston's victory over Oshawa in the Motor Town Saturday tied the Ponies with the Petes on the season's campaign, so that the two teams go into Saturday's game at Riverside Park, the first of the play-off series, with a record of fifteen wins and eight losses. The fans all over the district are busy trying to pick a winner, and many of them are making preparations to be at the ringside Saturday afternoon when Joe Daley will lead his Kingston crew into action here. The second game of the series will be played at Kingston on the following Wednesday, and if a third is necessary it will take place a week from Saturday.

* * * * * * * * *

Last year the Ponies won the play-off in two straight games, but this is another season. The Petes, stronger than last year, have been playing consistently good ball all season, and they hope to go into the crucial series at full strength and the top of their form. The squad are all in good shape, including Ray Rose, who was out of the last three league games with an injured hand, but is now all ready to go. Manager Johnston will drive the team hard in practice this week, and they should go to the barrier Saturday night on edge for a hard battle.

* * * * * * * * *

The play-off is the talk of the sporting world down in this section of Ontario, and the attendance of outside fans will be the largest Peterboro has seen in several seasons. Oshawa is sending a big contingent and the Petes will likely get the support of the Motor City visitors.

* * * * * * * * *

Peterboro is out of the juvenile series of the O.B.A.A., the Knights of Columbus team being defeated in the third game of the series with Oshawa at Port Hope yesterday by 10 runs to 5. Bill Prindible's team, who stepped up from the midget series this season, were picked to go further in the race, but they failed to get going in the Oshawa series and had to accept defeat.

* * * * * * * * *

Lakeviews were beaten at Belleville yesterday, and as a result the junior series is tied up and a third game is necessary. This will be played at Belleville on Wednesday, Lakeviews having lost the toss. Three-game series are an old story to Lew Lebarr's team, and although Belleville will have some advantage in playing on their own grounds, the Lakeviews have Carl Woods ready to send in at Belleville after a good rest, while Gerow, the Belleville twirler, will be pitching his third game in six days. Woods made a fine job of stopping the Easterners in the first game here and should repeat tomorrow.

BUFFALO WON

JERSEY CITY, N.J., Aug. 18. — (Canadian Press). — Pitcher Cliff Best's twirling, supported by snappy fielding and opportune hitting, gave the Jersey City Skeeters an easy victory in their third line-up with Toronto Leafs yesterday, 9 to 1. Best was invincible, holding Toronto runless and to one hit until the ninth, when Layne's double and Manion's single netted their only tally. Jersey City put the game on ice in the open ing round on Dowd's base on balls, a steal, Jacobson's safe bunt, an error by Stewart, and Holt's sacrifice fly which brought two runs. Seven hits and an error accounted for Jersey City runs in the seventh.

JUNIOR SERIES IS TIED AGAIN BY BELLEVILLE WIN

Lakeviews Were Beaten 6-3 in Second Game of Play-offs.

MANY MISPLAYS

Thirteen Errors Made By Two Teams—Third Game on Wednesday.

BELLEVILLE, August 18. (Special.) — In a fair game of ball before a fair sized crowd, Belleville Juniors defeated LeBarr's Peterboro Lakeviews here yesterday afternoon by 6 to 3, making a third game necessary to decide the issue between the two teams in the play downs.

The third game will be played here Wednesday afternoon, the locals having won the toss.

"Chum" Gerow for the Bellevillians, and Mein for the Lakeviews, lasted for the full nine frames, each turning in good games on the mound.

The locals used but nine men throughout but Manager LeBarr used Holland and Hillier in the last frame as pinch hitters, but they did not get him anything.

Though Gerow was in a bad hole in the first frame, he held the Petes, and no score was made until the third when Belleville ran three over, with two clean clouts and two bad errors. Each netted one in the fourth, and Belleville added another in the fifth, when Right sent Ross home with a single after Ross had doubled to the left garden.

There the score stood with snappier ball being dished up until the eighth when with two down the locals showed signs of tiring in the hot sun, and taking advantage of their slump the Petes sent across two cheap runs.

LeBarr was hit by a pitched ball, stole second, and scored, when Latchford overthrew third attempting to get him as he stole third.

Collins walked and Delahey trotted him over with a three bagger to right.

That ended the scoring, Manager LeBarr trying hard to get hits by using two pinch hitters.

Gerow had the best of the pitching argument, allowing but three hits while Belleville touched Mein for ten safeties. Both teams were loose momentarily, but for the most part played good ball. Both pitchers were cool and had good control.

CANADIAN LADIES WIN THEIR MATCHES

Several Advanced to Second Round in U. S. Tennis Championships.

FOREST HILLS, N.Y., Aug. 18. —(Canadian Press).—An upset in which Miss Helen Jacobs, of California, defeated Mrs. Harry Bickle, of Toronto, 6-0, 6-3, featured the opening round of the women's national tennis championship tournament here yesterday. The generalship of Mrs. Bickle, former Canadian champion, was no match for the agility and speed displayed by the sixteen-year-old California girl, holder of the national girls' title.

Two Ottawa entrants, Miss P. Grierson and Miss Muriel Bremner, came through the first round all right, Miss Griersron defeating Miss Jessie Gott, of New York, 6-1, 6-1, and Miss Bremner accounting for Mrs. William H. Pritchard, New York, 6-8, 6-3, 8-6.

Canadians who lost were: Miss G. Gallery, Miss Mildred C. Brock of Toronto, and Miss P. Rykert.

Miss Helen Wills started the defence of her title by disposing of Miss Helen Pollak Falk, 6-3, 6-3, while Miss Elizabeth Ryan, of California, considered the champion's strongest rival, swept through two love sets to beat Miss Caroma Winn of Mountain Lakes, N.J.

Miss Kathleen McKane, ranking British star, and another close rival of Miss Wills, advanced without trouble to the second round, along with her countrywomen, Miss Joan Fry and Miss Evelyn Colyer.

INSIDE GOLF

By CHESTER H. RYON
Maker of 61 Golf Champions. "Golf's most successful teacher," says "Chick" Evans

When the golf ball is struck with a lofted club, say a niblick, the object obviously is two-fold—to send it upward and forward. Thus, if the ball is to stop dead when it hits the ground it must be sent high enough so that all its forward-travelling energy will have been spent before it falls. The back-spin does not arrest the forward energy of the ball entirely, though it has a tendency to do so. In long mashie pitches for instances, the ball has time to lose all its forward energy before it falls. In short mashie pitches it often does not have this time. The ball in flight may actually be whirling with backspin, but the instant the ball hits the firm ground the forward energy remaining in the ball will reverse this backspin and change it to overspin, so that the ball runs.

CROCKER ELIMINATED.

Canadian Tennis Star Beaten By Spaniard in First Round.

NEWPORT, R.I., Aug. 18 (Canadian Press) — Willard Crocker, Canadian Davis cup star, was eliminated in the first round of the ninth annual Newport invitation tournament yesterday, but not before he had carried Jose Alonzo, former member of the Spanish Davis Cup team to three hard sets, 5-7, 6-4, 6-2. The match featured the day and the fight put up by the Canadian against the generalship of the Spaniard was reecived with favor by a large gallery. Crocker had been one of the seeded players in the tournament.

David R. Morrice, of Montreal, reached the third round, drawing a bye in the first and winning by default in the second.

Two of the four members of the Oxford-Cambridge tennis teams were likewise eliminated, and Claude Butlin, singles champion of Mexico and a member of the Davis Cup teams, fell victim to the steady play of S. Howard Voshell, of Kew Garden, New York.

MARBLE WORKERS TAKE RETURN GAME

Beat Fontaine's 7-6, But Lose Round to Taximen.

The Vermont Marble softball team defeated Fontaine's Taxi Service in a close game of soft ball, by the score of 7-6. The game was played at the Vermont Marble field in East City.

It was the second time these two teams have met, Fontaine's winning the first game 15-13. Fontaine's won the round from the Marble team, 21 to 20.

Both teams are very evenly matched, as is indicated by the close scores that resulted in both games.

M. Leonard and E. Leonard were the battery for the Marble Works while Scates and Dugan worked for Fontaines. Both pitchers twirled good ball and were accorded good support. Dugan turned in a good game behind the bat for Fontaine's.

Some great fielding was turned in by Fontaine's outfield. The outfielders accepted 12 chances without a slip, Grover Halpin getting seven flies, Craig three and Fontaine two. Wyatt on first was also good.

For the Marble Works, J. Sullivan, Mongraw and E. M. Leonard turned in good fielding performances.

There was very little heavy hitting, Oxley and Dugan starring for Fontaine's, and E. Leonard, McCoy, E. M. Leonard and Williams doing the slugging for the Marble Works.

The line ups follow:

Vermont Marble Works — M. Leonard, p; E. Leonard, c; E. M. Leonard, 1b; D. Sullivan, 2b; Murdock, ss McCoy, 3b; Mongraw, rf; Williams, cf; J. Sullivan, lf.

PRINCE SETS MODE FOR BRAZILIAN MEN

Commodious Breeches and Coats Now Flaunt in Rio.

RIO DE JANIERO, Aug. 15.—(United Press). — Although the Prince of Wales does not intend to visit Brazil on his South American tour, simply because he has not as yet received any official invitaton to stop off at Brazilian ports when he comes this way, Brazilian men are dressed for the occasion in event His Royal Highness gets a bid later on and decides to call in at Rio.

After Wales' last visit to the United States and the tremendous change in the cut of men's clothing resulting from that visit, Brazilians have also left the tight fitting trousers and corset-shaped coats for the wide and baggy trousers and short rounded coats long since so popular in England.

Although the English gentleman's cut of suits was known to Brazilians for years previous it was not until Americans followed suit after the last trip of Wales to the United States, and American films showed what Americans were wearing, that the Brazilian men fell in line and began cutting their breeches wider and their coats roomier and shorter.

Now, however that American films have shown Brazilians what the American man-about-town is wearing, the Brazilian is not considered well dressed who wears anything else but the Prince's own as introduced into Brazil by way of the United States.

BILLY EVANS SAYS

SPORTSMANSHIP.

Sportsmanship seems to be waging a losing battle with the desire to win.

It is odd, yes extraordinary, how far people will go out of their way in an effort to put over some scheme that will aid in victory.

Recently, it was discovered that a certain prominent club had concocted a most unusual stunt in an effort to lessen the effectiveness of opposing pitchers.

On many major and minor league parks it is customary to have a pitching rubber and plate for the twirlers to warm up by. These pitching lanes are either off to the side of the diamond or in the bull pen.

In baseball the so-called bull pen is where the relief pitchers are stationed to answer emergency calls. Usually the pitching lanes are placed there.

UNUSUAL SCHEME.

These pitching lanes are supposed to be the regulation distance, so that the relief twirlers or the pitching selection for the day can properly test his control.

It seems a visiting club invariably had trouble with its pitching when playing at a certain park. There was a tendency to wildness on the part of even the pitchers noted for good control.

The manager of the team, being much perturbed and rather curious, set out to find the cause, some reason that would satisfactorily explain the sudden form reversal of his pitchers.

Being of an analytical turn of mind, the manager of the visiting club tested out several theories, but to no avail.

As a last resort he measured the pitching lanes used in practice and found them six feet short of the regulation distance.

GROUNDKEEPER BLAMED

Whether or not the lack of regulation distance in the practice lanes was really responsible for the wildness on the part of the pitchers, is a question.

Of course the manager of the home team insists it was all a mistake. The blame is placed on the shoulders of the groundkeeper who laid out the lanes.

However, it would be difficult to convince the visiting manager that the short distance wasn't a premeditated scheme to lessen the effectiveness of visiting pitchers.

If so, it would cetrainly make it seem that sportsmanship is waging a losing battle with the desire to win.

THE SUBSTITUTE.

Manager Miller Huggins of the New York Yankees has won his argument as to how long an umpire should wait for a substitute to take his place in the game.

Early in the spring in a game at Washington, Manager Harris, having used up most of his pinch-hitters, sought to find another. He wanted Walter Johnson to bat for the pitcher.

It was the ninth inning and Johnson had retired to the club house to take his shower. He had removed most of his clothing.

The game was delayed until he could redress and make his appearance as a pinch-hitter. He hit safely, scoring two runs, and beating New York out of the ball game.

Naturally Miller Huggins let out a yell that could be heard unto the heavens. No longer will such a happening be possible.

President Johnson has ruled that only a player who is on the bench or warming up on the sidelines can be used as a substitute.

That is perfectly proper. If it is intended to use a player, he should remain on the bench until the conclusion of the game.

MERCANTILE GAMES POORLY SUPPORTED

Fan Remonstrates With Public Over Neglect of This League.

Dear Sir,—I am a fan who has attended practically all the Mercantile League ball games at the James Stevenson Park this season, and would like to speak a few words in public about the support accorded the players in operating this League. Practically no fans attend, and the players themselves have to pay all running expenses and keep the League supplied with balls, etc. Some good games have been put up this year in this League, but few fans have witnessed them. It must be remembered that Herbie Wolfe, who is now the star centre-fielder of our crack Peterboro Seniors, spent two or three seasons playing with the Westclox when that factory operated a team in the League in former years.

Also Cairns of Kingston saw service in the Mercantile League, hurling for the Bankers two years ago. In last night's game it was made quite evident that young "Johnnie" Baird, the shortstop of the Bankers' present clan, showed every sign of developing into a comer. He was out at short, and even John McGraw himself never talked more to scourge a team on to victory. He did something more than this in last night's game in which the Bankers defeated the Lock Works Victorias and earned a place in the League play-off. He scored the first run in the third inning, drove in the tying counter in the sixth with a hard smash, and then came in from second himself on an overthrow to centre field with the winning tally, after displaying some fast baserunning on the pathways. Then to form a climax, he ran out into left field, and with his back to the plate, made the most spectacular catch of the game.

Why not lend support to support such players?

"A FAN."

DEMPSEY REPUDIATES KEARNS AS MANAGER

Announces That He Will Not Recognize Any Engagements.

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 18.—(Canadian Press).—If Jack Kearns persists in his efforts to represent Jack Dempsey in the negotiations for a bout with Harry Wills, the negro contender, the heavyweight champion will cast aside his gloves and forget about fighting until his present contract with Kearns expires. Dempsey made this clear in a statement to newspaper reporters to-day.

"I understand that Kearns and the New York Boxing Commission are to meet to-morrow and have forfeits posted for a match with me for Wills.

"I take this means of announcing again to the Boxing Commission that Kearns has no authority to sign for me, and anything done by him in my behalf cannot bind me."

$25,000 FORFEIT POSTED

NEW YORK, Aug. 18 (Canadian Press).—Tex Rickard, fight promoter, and Jack Kearns, manager of Jack Dempsey, each posted $25,000 forfeit this afternoon for the Dempsey-Wills match. This action was taken immediately after the New York State Athletic Commission had reinstated Kearns and granted him a license to do business within this state. The Commission ruled that in case Dempsey refused to live up to the terms signed by Kearns, that Mullins could claim $25,000 forfeit posted by Kearns.

RIVALRY IN NEATNESS AMONG GROUPS IN ROTARY BOYS' CAMP

Fifty Boys Have Settled Down to Duties and Attractions of Camp.

FIELD DAY AUG. 20

A most enthusiastic crowd of boys arrived in Rotarian cars on Monday of last week. One half the fifty boys who reported were veterans of former years with fond memories of the camp life which is ever attractive. In wonderfully short order they were divided into units under the following leaders:

Archie McBride, Fred White, Russell Lucas, George Weir, Charles Dorrington, Leslie Rodgers.

Camp Employment

McBride had been so neat and clean last year that his group had the honor of taking camp duties for the first day. Tremendous competitions occurred in regard to cleanliness and neatness of bunkrooms, and the first round of rivalry in this realm was won by the group "White Fangs" led by Red Lucas.

Midgets.

The group of midgets under Leslie Rodgers are hot stuff. In cooperation they are showing a fine brand of team-work, except early in the morning when alacrity is required on "up-getting" for physical training and a dip.

Weir's Brigade

This outfit has shown an outstanding loyalty to one of the veteran Rotary Camp leaders, George Weir. George is so useful around the camp that everyone wonders how his father can spare him for two whole weeks. His mechanical ingenuity was demonstrated the first day by the suspension of the bunk lantern on a piece of manilla rope. Patent was applied for but not granted before similar contrivances were to be found in other bunk-rooms.

David and Jonathan

The concert the first night contained a gazoo duet by Campers Lucas and Weir. The next day they played another duet on the ballfield—not with gazoos. These features promise to enliven future evening programs in the recreation room of Camp Rotary.

Variety Concerts

The first night in camp was conspicuous for the program in which so many boys with such a variety of talent figured. Like many other bashful boys some Rotary youngsters have to be coaxed to get their little star to shine, but the ultimate choruses, comedy stunts, athletic and gymnastic tricks provided a first night thrill which still abides n the hearts of Peterboro's most appreciative audience.

New Equipment

It enables the boys to spend much more of their time on the water. The Club is to be congratulated on this addition to camp equipment.

Visitors

Rotarians of Peterborough have been quite regular in visits of inspection to the camp. On Sunday President Seels and Mrs. Seels spent several hours with the boys and in his announcement the President told the boys what a fine crowd would be up to the Camp via South Beach Hotel on Thursday to be present at the Annual Camp Field Day.

Further records of the boys and camp activities will appear during this week.

JACK HOBBS THE GREAT CENTURION

TAUNTON, Somersetshire, Eng., August 18. — Canadian Press. — Jack Hobbs, the Surrey cricketer, made another century to-day in a match between Somerset and Surrey, yesterday. He scored his 126 century, thus equalling the world's record set by W. G. Grace, in 1904. His feat to-day eclipses all records, and makes him supreme in the sport.

A century is the scoring of 100 or more runs during one period at bat.

COUNTRY BOWS AT BECK'S BIER

Federal, Provincial and Municipal Representatives Pay Last Respects to Sir Adam.

CHURCH SERVICE.

LONDON, Ont., Aug. 18 (Canadian Press).—Shrouded in a pall of sorrow London today, with representatives of the Province and the Dominion, paid final respects to the late Sir Adam Beck, K.B., LL.D., K.M. Thousands of citizens were gathered around St. Paul's Cathedral from early morning until after the close of the public services to do honor to the memory of one whose achievements have meant so much to London.

The cathedral was crowded to capacity from the time the doors were thrown open to the public, about 11 o'clock, until the services closed shortly before 2 o'clock. So dense was the crowd that it was almost impossible for people to move.

Following a private service held at his residence, "Headley," the remains were conveyeod to the cathedral, where they lay in state from 11 o'clock till 12.45. The casket was banked with hundreds of magnificent floral tokens sent from all sections of the Dominion. Lying in the casket, Sir Adam appeared as if he were taking a natural rest. Thousands of Sir Adam's admirers passed by the casket, which was surrounded by a guard of honor.

The Public Service.

The public service which commenced at 12.45 was most impressive. Bishop Williams delivered an address which was conceded to be one of the most touching and inspirational ever delivered under similar circumstances. Prayers were offered by Very Rev. Dean Tucker. Services opened with the singing of a hymn, "Jesus Lives," as the processional. Psalm 90 was next in order, followed by the reading of the lesson taken from the 15th Chapter of 1st Corinthians, by Rev. G. O. Lightbourne, as rector of the cathedral. After an address by Bishop Williams, the hymn "Unto the Hills," was sung, followed by prayers offered by Dean Tucker. Then the congregaton, kneeling, sang Nunc Demittis. "Forever With the Lord," was the recessional hymn.

The family pew, occupied by immediate members of the family, was beautifully decorated with flowers from patients of Queen Alexander Sanitorium and patients from the Westminster Hospital and by the London Parks Commission.

Ushers for the service were chosen from the London Conservatives Association and from the London Health Association, and the Rotary Club.

Governments Represented.

Right Hon. George P. Graham and Hon. H. B. McGiverin, represented the Dominion Government at the funeral services here, and went on to Hamilton. Right Hon. Arthur Meighen was also in attendance.

Three special cars attached to C.N.R. trains 21 and 27 brought a large representation from Toronto. Hon. Howard Ferguson, Premier of Ontario, and members of the Provincial Cabinet were in one car. Mayor Foster, members of the city council and board of control of Toronto, with city officials, occupied one of the special cars, while members and officials of the Ontario Hydro-Electric Commission came in a third one. The Canadian Manufacturers' Association was represented by John M. Taylor of Guelph and other officials.

There was a good representation from the Canadian National Railways, including A. E. Warren, general manager, Central region.

THEATRES

AT THE CAPITOL

THEATRE PATRONS GLAD THEY TOOK A CHANCE.

"Gambling is an instinct in most people, and that instinct is satisfied in a small way by attendance at the Capitol Theatre this week. The management has arranged a 'Take-a-Chance Programme.' Everyone who attends the performance takes a chance. However, they are rather on the inside tracks. This review will not tell you the story of the feature presentation, nor the artists who ensure its appeal, but does remark for your information that the bill is excellent and the well-known stars who are featured seem to excel in the roles in which they are cast.

"Heading an attractive and well-balanced bill is a rapidly moving comedy, featuring—well, visit the theatre and you will see for yourself. We must say it is a good comedy; a laugh is given in every foot of film, and there are many hundreds of feet. One snickers, warm up to the presentation, and then laughs outright, and as the reels are shown the laugh continues longer and louder, until the climax leaves one exhausted from merriment.

"Coupled with the feature are customarily attractive short subjects, and were it permissible to give the management away and tell about them, they would be worthy of proper recognition."

As announced, we witnessed as good an act has been in Peterboro for many moons. The same program will be presented to-day and to-morrow.

AT THE ROYAL.

"SHOCK PUNCH" WITH DIX A KNOCKOUT.

"The Shock Punch"—and it's not a story of prize fighting—opened at the Royal Theatre yesterday. It's a Paramount picture starring Richard Dix, a screen version of the John Monk Saunders story, which ran in Liberty. Frances Howard is featured opposite the star.

In "The Shock Punch," Dix is a young society fellow, who would rather trade punches with a real "pug" anyday than wrestle with a tea cup. During a course of training he develops a devastating 'shock punch,' which lands on the point of the chin with lightning force.

Now Dorothy Clark (Miss Howard), Dix's fiancee, takes to fighting about as much as she would to hoop skirts, so young Savage has to promise to behave. She tells him that she won't be able to see him for some time, because she is going to help her father, a building contractor, finish a job within schedule time. The whole family fortune is wrapped up in the project.

To be near Dorothy, Dix gets a job with a rivet gang on the new building and learns that the foreman and engineer on the job are playing crooked and doing everything they can to hold up construction.

There's a real smash climax when Dix rides up twenty-six stories on a girder and comes to a show-down with the plotters, putting over the "shock punch" to good effect.

"The Shock Punch" is something to "blow" about!

AN EVERGREEN MEMORY
SIR WALTER SCOTT.

As the years pass, August 15 always remains a notable date. On this day, in 1771, was born our great and beloved novelist, Sir Walter Scott. A century ago Scott was at the highest point of his rapidly ascending curve of success and popularity. The publication of "Quentin Durward" in 1823 had been eagerly acclaimed in France, and had immediately established its author's fame throughout Europe.

The year 1824 produced only one novel, "Red-gauntlet," but this was chiefly because Scott had a great many other irons in the fire. It was in this year that he heard of the death of Byron. His generous appreciation of a serious rival should not be forgotten. Scott wrote that, in view of the genius of Byron, the author of "The Lady of the Lake," must henceforth sink into a secondary place. Keen indeed was the astonishment when it transpired that the tribute had been penned by Sir Walter himself! The year 1824 also saw the completion of the exterior and interior and interior decoration decoration of Scott's beloved Abbotsford; and in this work he took a very active part.

Friends predicted him with many gifts towards its adornment; and his son-in-law, Lockhart, in the "Life," tells particularly of a certain chair that came to him. An admirer had visited the house at Robroyston, where Sir William Wallace was betrayed. The roof was gone, but some beams of the rafters, built into the wall, still remained. As the ruins were about to be removed, the visitor had no difficulty in purchasing the old stumps from the farmer who owned the field which contained them. Planing them a little, he found the wood beneath the surface still hard as bone and susceptible of a fine polish. As a memorial of Wallace, Scott's admirer resolved to have a chair made out of these wasted blocks. The chair was modelled from an old chair in Hamilton Palace. It was neatly covered with carved work, representing rocks, heather, and thistles—fitting emblems of Scotland—and supported with targets, claymores, and Lochaber guns. On the back was a brass plate bearing the following inscription:—

"This chair made of the only remaining wood of the House of Robroyston, in which the immortal Sir William Wallace was done to death by felon hand for guarding well his father's land, is most respectfully presented to Sir Walter Scott as a small token of gratitude by his devoted servant, Joseph Train."

The chair was triumphantly borne to the canal at Kirkintilloch to be shipped to Abbotsford, the town band playing "Scots wha ha'e wi' Wallace bled," and crowds of people cheering round. It safely reached its destination.

By Christmas time the stately pile of Abbotsford was all in order; all was had been introduced into the public rooms, bedrooms, and passages, and a larger party than the house could ever have accommodated before assembled within it. Sir Walter was delighted, and in health, spirits, and fortune, he seemed at the zenith of his career. Nobody would have dreamed of the crash which, within a couple of years, was to come. It was due to no fault of his, and every one has read—perhaps with a lump in the throat—of the noble and gallant fight which he put up against "the slings and arrows of outrageous fortune." But in what he himself called "our Christ'as gambols" of 1824, Abbotsford was decorated with garlands.

He was the favorite of the reading public, the man whose society princes sought, and as yet he was practically ignorant of what trouble meant. "Without the windy attitude of mind," it has been remarked, "Scott did the things that saints do." Sir Walter was no saint, but a man who warmed both hands at the fire of life; yet great-souled generosity, as well as high-spirited honor were the very keynotes of his character. And many decades of criticism have not overturned the famous dictum of a writer well qualified to judge:—"Scott was one of the very best men who ever lived."

POLICE COURT CASES.

Two Found Guilty of Indecent Assault.

In the Police Court before Magistrate O. A. Langley this morning a case of indecent assault was brought up, on remand, and accused amending his plea to one of guilty, was given suspended sentence, being called upon to report to the Chief of Police every second Saturday for the next six months.

The charges of incest against a father and two sons were reduced to indecent assault, one of the sons being convicted and sentenced to two months' imprisonment, the charges against the others being dismissed.

START CONSTRUCTION

MONTREAL, Aug. 6—(Special). Construction of the newsprint plant [illegible] of the Port Alfred Pulp and Paper Corporation, of which George McKee was recently elected President, is being proceeded with at once. The mill, which is being built at Port Alfred, Quebec, will have a daily capacity of 200 tons of newsprint, and will be built alongside of the present sulphite plant of the company there. The new newsprint mill will use the sulphite from this plant, which has a capacity of 100 tons a day. The new mill will cost, it is estimated, in the neighborhood of $3,500,000 and the general contract has been awarded to the Foundation Company, while H. S. Taylor & Company, consulting engineers, are carrying out the design. Power will be supplied the company by the Duke-Price Company, and requirements, it is estimated, will be about 15,000 horsepower.

FINANCIAL NEWS.

General Advance In Rails Selling Halts Industrials

NEW YORK, Aug. 18 (Canadian Press).—Realizing sales in such recent strong spots as Mack Trucks, General Electric, International Harvester, and Westinghouse Air Brake, which fell 1 1-2 to 2 1-2 points, temporarily checked but failed to halt the upward movement in other sections of the Wall Street list. The rails were bid up in an aggressive fashion on reports of steadily increasing public participation. Jersey Central soared five points and more than a score of others had advanced a point or more before midday. "Soo" Preferred, Ann Arbor Common, Kansas City Southern and Denver and Rio Grande Western Preferred reporting the largest gains. Buying of the industrials was of a fore selective character, with equipments showing outstanding strength in anticipation of large railroad orders this month. Baldwin, Pullman, American Car and Foundry, and American Locomotive extended their early gains to 2 points or more before the end of the second hour. Commission houses reported a steadily increased short interest in high priced issues. Call money renewed at 4 per cent.

Declines Partly Checked On Toronto Stock Market

TORONTO, August 18. — Canadian Press. — No slackening of activity was shown on the Toronto Stock Exchange this morning, but the downward movement that set in yesterday was apparently checked in a measure though stocks have been rising for the past week continued to be marked down. Smelters and Canada Bread were leaders, former dropping a further two points at 57½ and Smelters 7-8 at 120. F. N. Burt was sold down to 60, a loss of 1 1-2, and C. P. R. eased down 3-4 of a point from its sudden jump of yesterday. Brazilian was firm but unchanged. Steel of Canada in high dealings touched new high at 89 3-4.

Wheat Traders On Both Sides Of Chicago Market

CHICAGO, Aug. 18.—(Canadian Press.)— Leading Chicago wheat operators began selling at the opening of market here to-day but almost immediately several prominent eastern houses started buying with narrow limits.

Commission houses also were on both sides of the market and this also served to produce irregular but narrow fluctuations with prices never very far from opening figures.

September wheat opened at 156 3-4 to 159 1-2, Dec. 158 to 158 1-2 and May 161 5-8 to 161 3-4.

During the first hour September and December dropped more than a point from opening, but then gained as much as the market steadied. May wheat went from 1-2 to 5-8 cents over the opening, but lost about this much later.

Corn followed the course of wheat with considerably fewer offerings and market hovered around the initial figures during the first hour. The opening was a shade down to 1-4c. up, with Sept. 103 7-8 to 104, but dropped to 103 1-2 an hour later. Oats started a shade to 1-4c. up, with Sept. 39 5-8 to 39 3-4 and held near this range. Provisions were easy.

Kirkland Lake Makes Gains In Light Toronto Trading

TORONTO, Aug. 18.—(Canadian Press).—Trading was again light, with an easier tone to the market on Standard Mining Exchange this morning. Lorrain, again heavily dealt in, eased an eighth at 9 1-8, La Rose a quarter, Barry-Hollinger and Teck Hughes each a point, and Dome 30 cents at 14.15. Keora and Kirkland Lake each improved a half point.

Excursions To Rice Lake As Attractive As Usual

"Our excursion business last week was the largest in our history," said Mr. Frank Young to the Examiner. "We have had a good season, and are booked up to the end of the month. We find that the people like the quiet and the beauty of the trips down the Otonabee to Rice Lake as much as they ever did, and the excursions have been well patronized. We are running a special on Friday, and expect that it will carry as many as usual."

EXCURSIONS DEPLETE SUPPLY OF FARM HELP

Thirty-four Men Placed During Week Here

Thirty-six new applicants were registered at the Employment Exchange during the past week, and thirty-four placements were made chiefly for farm help and bush work in the Parry Sound district. Some of the farmers in this district are being hard hit by the departure of their hired help to the West.

The Government summary for the week reads: The employment situation has improved in the province, and with the number of men going West for the harvest, the situation will become less acute for a while. Farm help is still required for the Eastern harvest, and bush work is opening up. The demand for domestics still exceeds the supply. Textile factories will soon be employing more help with the fall trade.

TREATY WITH FRANCE

PARIS, Aug. 18 (Canadian Press) —The suggestion which, it is understood her, was made by the United States War Debt Commission Belgium delegates at Washington, that a reduction could be made in Belgian army establishment sufficient to pay interest and instalments of Belgium's debt to the United States, caused considerable reaction in French Governmental circles because of military convention between Belgium and France.

This convention, which defines military obligations of Franco-Belgian alliance, is drawn with great precision. While its terms have not been disclosed, they probably call for exactly present peace-footing of Belgian military establishment. Since Belgium is not free to reduce her military expenses without revising her treaty with France.

ENNISMORE KINDLES OLD MEMORIES AS SONS AND DAUGHTERS RETURN TO CELEBRATE ITS CENTENARY FIRST COMMUNITY IN ONTARIO TO CLOSE SALOONS

History of the Township Linked With the History Of Its Parish Church.

FIRST VISITORS.

Opening Concert and Re-union Tuesday Night—Doctors Prominent Among Old Boys.

The streets of Ennismore Village are gay with bunting, the residences and stores are decorated with the national colors, and no matter from which direction the traveller arrives, or by what road, a "Welcome" streamer confronts him. The Old Boys' Re-union is in full swing, the native sons and daughters who have wandered away into new fields, are returning to renew former friendships and they are being shown the hospitality for which the people of this district are noted.

Ennismore township has probably produced as many men who have in the wide world in competition with the brighest Canadians, attained distinction in the learned professions, in business, and in other lines, as any community of the same size in Ontario.

Among the first of the old boys to arrive were the brothers John E., and Dr. Alex. Pope, the first a civil engineer in San Francisco, and the latter a dentist in Chciago, sons of the late Alex. Pope, who formerly lived on Lot nine on the Fourth concession. Forty one years ago the late Mr. Pope found himself the possessor of 100 acres of land and a family of 13, of whom 10 were boys. To keep the family together was the father's ambition but he realized that theer was not room for all of them on a small farm, in a community in which there was little chance to expand. Mr. Pope moved his family to the prairies of Nebraska, and there all but the two sons above mentioned took up land within sight of each other. They remained there for 40 years, and now the most of them are residents of California. The youngest but one of the family, Francis A., is now a Dominican priest in Portland, Oregon.

The Popes were one of the most distinguished of the pioneer families of the township. Their mother was Ellen O'Gorman, whose sister married Patrick Crough, still hale and hearty here, at the age of 84. Mrs. Pope who is over 80, is at present living with her son, John E., in San Francisco.

The pioneer of the family was the great grandfather of the present generation, James W. Pope, who was noted as the first school teacher in Ennismore. When he took up that profession, in which he had experience in Ireland, there was not even a log building to serve as an institution of learning. The teacher went from house to house to instruct the children who gathered there to meet him.

John Pope, a son of the teacher, kept for some time a hotel at Bridge north, at the same time working a small farm. Alex. Pope, his son, settled on the farm that had been deeded to his grandfather by the Crown and he occupied it until his growing family made it necessary for him to find greater space for expansion.

Preparing a History.

John E. Pope is intensely interested in his native township and is one of those who is anxious to see a history of it written. For such a work he has himself, in California, with his brother, the doctor, gathered data, which he has fyled in the archives of the public library. He urges all who can recall any incident of interest in the annals of the township to make a note of it, and leave the memorandum at the Library.

The Pioneers.

Mr. Pope's records go back to the days when the pioneers of En-

DEATH LIST MAY REACH 45 FROM BOILER EXPLOSION CROWDED EXCURSION BOAT

Twenty-nine Were Dead This Morning, Two Missing and 52 Seriously Burned — Patch on Boiler Blown Off.

NEWPORT, R.I., Aug. 19.—(Canadian Press).—Twenty-nine persons were scalded to death, two are missing, and 52 were seriously burned by escaping steam when the boiler in the excursion steamer Mackinac exploded at 5.55 o'clock yesterday afternoon while the boat was bound from Newport to Pawtucket with 677 excursionists aboard. Physicians at the naval hospital, where many of the injured are being treated, stated that they expected the death list to mount to 45 within the next few hours.

The excursionists, most of them from Pawtucket and Providence, were returning from a vacation voyage to Newport. A patch on the boiler, which had been placed there just before the departure of the boat, gave way, exploding the boiler and ripping the decks open in the middle. The majority of the injured were trapped on the first and second decks, and were sprayed with scalding steam. Nearby tugs and other craft rushed the injured to the Naval Hospital.

Feverish Rescue.

Navy rescue parties worked feverishly to get the passengers off, the more seriously injured being attended first, and as soon as a boat was filled it sped to the Naval Hospital landing.

Captain Charles E. Riggs, commanding officer of the Hospital, had summoned every available navy physician as well as priests and ministers from naval vessels in the harbor.

Inside the hospital two wards were prepared to receive the victims. So swiftly did they come that many were placed on the floors outside. Every member of the base medical corps as well as naval nurses worked with feverish haste to relieve them.

The majority of those who died at the naval hospital were in such shape, physicians said, they could only try to make their last moments as painless as was medically possible.

Last Rites Performed.

Amid the moaning and screaming victims walked clergymen of all denominations, giving spiritual aid. The more seriously injured were all in a separate room, and it was here that Catholic priests walked from cot to cot giving the last rites to some but seconds before death came.

At an early hour to-day State Boiler Inspectors Richard P. Bailey and John A. Brooks arrived here to begin their investigation of the disaster.

BURBANK BULB FLOWERS HERE WORTH $1,000

J. H. Callender, Weller Street, Displays Gladiolus in First Flower.

MANY FEATURES.

Two Distinct Colours in Both Separate and Double Flowers on One Spike.

A gladiolus of extraordinary bloom was picked this morning by J. H. Callander in his flower gardens on Weller Street. It combines a number of distinct and unique features which will be of interest to all horticulturists. There are double the number of blossoms on the spike and they circle the stem in a spiral effect. More important, however, are the two colors not only growing on the one standard, but even in what may be termed a double flower, half of which is one of the colors and the other half shows the features of the other color. And yet these doubles really appear as one flower. There are also two twin flowers growing from single "eyes."

Mr. Callander bought 31 unflowered bulbs from Luther Burbank of California, the originator of many new flowers, fruits and vegetables, and this particular spike is the first bloom from that seed. Mr. Callander said that the bulb would be worth at least $1,000 to specialists in gladiolii. He photographed the stalk and is sending prints and details to Mr. Burbank, to whom he will offer the bulb if he desires it. The spike is being forwarded to the Canadian Department of Agriculture.

BRITISH STUDYING CHINESE BOYCOTT

Ships of Britain and Japan Excluded From Ports.

LONDON, Aug. 18 (Canadian Press)—The reported new Chinese coastal regulations in which British and Japanese ships are excluded from various ports, and a boycott of international port of Hong Kong implied, have created a new angle to the situation in the far east to which the British Government is giving careful study. It is understood that the British consul general at Canton notified the government several days ago of the impending issuance of regulations but it is stated no action will be taken until full particulars are at hand in view of Premier Baldwin's desire to do nothing which might complicate the solution of present Chinese imbroglio.

AMERICANS WILL REMIT INTEREST ON PART OF DEBT

Money Actually Loaned to Belgium During War to Bear No Charge.

MORAL OBLIGATION.

Commission Felt Bound By Proposals Accepted By President Wilson.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19.—(Canadian Press).—All interest charges on money actually loaned to Belgium during the war with Germany will be foregone by the United States under terms of an agreement for the funding of the Belgian war debt to the United States, reached yesterday between the United States Debt Commission and the Belgian representatives.

The United States commissioners, with the approval of President Coolidge, agreed to allow Belgium to pay back to the United States $171,000,000 loaned during the war over a period of 62 years without interest. The balance of the debt, approximately $246,000,000, which was loaned after the armistice, will also be paid back over a period of 62 years, with some remission of interest charges. An interest rate of 3½ per cent. after the first ten years was agreed upon for this part of the debt.

The United States commission, announcing the terms, explained that "a weighty moral obligation" attached to the United States in the matter of settling the Belgian debt by reason of proposals accepted by President Wilson at the Versailles Peace Conference.

The United States Commission refused, however, to accept a Belgian proposal that payments from Germany under the Dawes plan should be used to meet the Belgian account.

FIVE TO BE HANGED.

Two Brothers Among Condemned Men in England.

LONDON, Aug. 19 (Canadian Press)—The hangman will have a busy time in the next two weeks. There are five murderers to be executed at various prisons in the north of England. The condemned men include two bothers, Lawrence and Wilfred Fowler, who were recently convicted of the murder of William F. Plommer, a boxer, at Attercliffe, Sheffield. They were members of a Sheffield gang which made fatal street attack on Plommer.

People will often give three cheers for something that they wouldn't give anything else for.

JULY BUILDING TOTAL LESS THAN LAST MONTH

But Permits Aggregate More Than July, 1924.

OTTAWA, Aug. 19. — Canadian Press.—There was a further decrease in the value of buildings authorized in 60 cities in July, when building permits issued aggregated $12,637,531 as compared with $14,651,613 in June, a decline of 13.7 per cent. The experience of the last 16 years shows, however, says the Bureau of statistics, that a reduction is usually indicated in July as compared with June. In a more significant comparison with July of last year there was an increase of $1,111,235, or 9.6 per cent. total for that month was $11,526,316.

LAUNCH BURNED AT PARRY SOUND

Fire Originated From Backfire—Six Children on Board.

ALL RESCUED.

PARRY SOUND, Aug. 19.—(Canadian Press). A motor boat belonging to J. C. Palmer, Toronto, who is spending the summer at his island at Shebishekong, Georgian Bay, took fire just as he and his family were leaving the Parry Sound dock yesterday afternoon to go home. The driver, Frank Paradis, of this town, jumped into the water, but was painfully burned about the face and arms and his hair was singed. A speeder from Scott's boat livery was the first to reach the boat and rescued the passengers, which included Mrs. Palmer and six children. The boat is almost a total loss. The fire originated from back firing. It was kept from reaching the gasoline tank by the boat being towed backwards.

22 BOYS IN THE "Y" SWIMMING CLASSES

Opportunity For Any Others Who Wish to Learn.

If there is one thing more than another that should appeal to the rising generation in this city, it is the swimming class which has been organized at the Y.M.C.A. by D. A. Loomis. The water is raised to a temperature that takes away much of the shock of a plunge in very hot weather and the depth is specially decreased for the benefit of the diminutive learners.

Twenty-two boys are now attending the class and there is room for many more. Classes are limited to ten in number and if more boys joined additional classes will be formed. Instruction in swimming is imparted every morning between 9.30 and 10 o'clock and will continue until Saturday, August 29. No restrictions are made as to age, the younger the better, says Mr. Loomis.

The classes this year have been more successful than ever. The birth of the idea was through the desire of some of the boys of the "Y" to learn swimming and when a small class was formed the institution decided that it would be well to develop this feature of "Y. M." activities as much as possible. More boys have learned to swim this year than in any former year.

A number of business men in the city have attended swimming classes at the pool and several of them have become quite proficient in the aquatic art.

PETERBORO HAS NO WORRIES OF MINERS' STRIKE

Examiner Informed That Heavy Supplies of Anthracite and Wood in Stock.

ALBERTA COAL.

One Firm Has Been Allotted Only Part of Its Requisition.

Peterboro householders have no occasion to worry over the fuel question for the coming winter. This city is at present independent of the American miners, strike or no strike. There is almost sufficient coal stored in the various yards to carry the city through the winter. If any more is required it can be supplied from the mines of Alberta.

Peterboro's Allotment.

The government allotted 25,000 tons of Alberta coal to the province of Ontario, under the special agreement made with the railway companies for transportation. Cooney and Jopling applied for 22 cars of this allotment to supply their local customers and have been allowed 10. These are now on the way and the coal will be sold to former customers of this fuel who have tried it and found it satisfactory in every respect.

It has been given out by the government that when the rush of the grain traffic is over more Alberta coal will be distributed in the eastern provinces, to be carried at special rates. If any is needed Peterboro will be given a share. New mines are to be opened in the meantime in the West.

Canada's Own Fuel.

Edward Cooney of the above firm, maintains that the Alberta coal supply has solved the fuel problem, and that in this matter the Canadian consumers are no longer at the mercy of the American operators. There is, he says, absolutely no waste in the Alberta coal as it burns down to a fine ash. It has been known to hold fire from Saturday morning until Monday morning in houses where the family spent the week-end away from home. It burns, too, without an odor.

Plenty of Wood, Too.

There are thousands of cords of good word stored in the various yards of the city. Consumers who use this kind of fuel will be taken care of just the same as those who have coal. The point is that there is no cause for uneasiness as to what may or may not happen in the American coal regions. According to the present schedule Alberta coal is undersselling the American anthracite by from $1.75 to $2.75 a ton.

HOTELS FILLED AT MONTREAL

Visitors Are Forced to Leave Trains in Suburban Towns.

TOO MANY TOURISTS.

MONTREAL, Aug. 19.—(Canadian Press).—Hotel accommodation in Montreal is quite inadequate for the tremendous influx of tourists into the Canadian metropolis, and unprecedented crowds are jostling in the lobbies of the local hostelleries, appealing in vain for rooms. Yesterday announcements had to be made on incoming trains, warning visitors en route that the Montreal hotels were filled up and that there was not the slightest chance of obtaining rooms there unless reservations had been made in advance.

Many visitors are disembarking at suburban points and engaging rooms in private houses.

Canadians Eat Majority Of "Made in Canada" Eggs

CANADA'S EGG CHAIN.

Sixty Times Round the World.

Canada last year produced nearly 2,900,000,000 eggs — and consumed almost the entire number. Of these, 2,592,000,000 were the produce of farms, and 300,000,000 came from poultry yards in towns and cities.

Last year's farm figures recorded considerable increase, production in 1923 being 2,329,000,000, and in 1923 2,426,000,000.

If last year's output had been laid end on end, they would have made a string 1,647,424 miles long — a distance equal to 60 times round the earth at the Equator, and three times that from the earth to the moon.

Canada exports few eggs, the annual average for the past three years being only 37,000,000. During that period annual imports have averaged 61,000,000 or more than double the exports.

IRELAND MAY ABOLISH MANY PUBLIC HOUSES

Closing of More Than 5,000 Recommended By Commission.

DUBLIN, Aug. 19. — Canadian Press. — The report of the government commission which has been investigating the retail liquor traffic, recommends the abolition of more than 5000 of the 13,000 public houses in the Free State. Compensation will be levied from the remainder. Further restrictions in hours are also proposed.

PRINCE'S REPLY MADE IN SPANISH

Full Quorum of Argentine Parliament Rare Event in Buenos Aires.

FETE CONTINUES.

By J. B. Powers
(United Press Staff Correspondent).

BUENOS AIRES, Aug. 19. — Argentine's beautiful capital to-day continued its fete in honor of the Prince of Wales.

The Prince's popularity is sweeping the city and has penetrated into the halls of Congress. So it happened that the Congress greeted him yesterday afternoon with a quorum present, which to the person unfamiliar with Argentine politics, may seem quite the routine thing with a Congress. Not so, however, with the Argentine Parliament, which goes sometimes for months without a quorum, and balks even the efforts of the most zealous deputies to gather one together.

But for the Prince of Wales, Cabinet crisises and political quarrels have been submerged in one united outburst of cordiality. The Senate President, Elpido Gonzales, welcomed the Prince with words of friendliness, and the Prince, to the delight of his hearers, thanked him in a few words of Spanish.

PREPARATION MADE FOR ANNUAL MEET

Invitations Have Been Sent Out to All Members of 21st Battalion.

A meeting of the 21st Battalion Club was held in the sergeants' mess at the armouries last night, for the purpose of arranging matters pertaining to the Battalion re-union, which will be held in Peterboro, on Friday, September 18.

Letters of invitation have been sent out, and it is expected that there will be the largest attendance ever present at the annual re-union.

Badges of souvenir ribbon were decided upon so that all members present on the re-union day will have cause to remember the event, and the place where it was held, while at the dinner there will be special menu cards decked with blue and white ribbons, and the battalion colors.

Invitations weer also sent out to the next of kin (male) to any deceased member of the battalion that such a member might be given representation.

A resolution was passed declaring a preference for one soldier organization throughout the Empire, and Col. A. P. Miller was appointed as the accredited representative to attend the meeting in Toronto to-day, which is being held to appoint delegates to attend a Dominion meeting at Ottawa at a later date.

VICTORIA, B. C., August 19. — Canadian Press. — After a stay of 11 days at this port the British light cruiser Cape Town steamed out of Esquimalt Harbor at six o'clock yesterday morning for Nanaimo where she will anchor for several days before sailing for Comox and Vancouver.

7,000,000 GALS. OF WATER DAILY HIGHEST RATE OF CONSUMPTION RECORDED BY PUMPS THIS YEAR

R. L. Dobbin, Manager of Utilities Commission, Reports Generally Lighter Demand This Summer.

PEAK ON JULY 15

Average Daily Consumption Has Been 265,000 Gallons — Power Peak 4,100 H.P.

An increase of efficiency in operation at the filtering plant of the Water Works is being manifested in the amount of alum used this year as compared with former years. The figures for July of the present year show a decrease of 7,000 lbs. from those of the same month in 1924.

The people are not using so much water, says Mr. Ross Dobbin, the average daily consumption being 265,000 gallons, which figures will probably be lessened in the winter months. There have been no big draughts this year, the biggest being 3½ million gallons on July 15. On the evening of that day water was being pumped at a rate of seven million gallons per day. The highest temperature of the water was 75 degrees.

In th electric department of the Utilities, the peak load for July was 4,100 horse power, the same figures as were returned for July, 1924, and 1,000 horse power less than the figures for January of this year. The total kilowattage for July was 1,035,000, the figures for July, 1924, being 1,450,000.

The electrical staff are busy at the completion of the power line to the new sewage disposal plant.

Mother Goes To Jail For Stealing Milk For Babes

NEW YORK, Aug. 19 (United Press). — A bottle of milk stolen to save her four children from hunger put Mrs. Eva Seidelman of Brooklyn in jail.

Mrs. Seidelman was arrested on complaint of Andrew Van Blarcian, an apartment house janitor, who said he hid and watched the woman take the milk.

"Sure, I'm guilty, Judge," she told the magistrate of Bridge Plaza Court.

"My husband, Joe, has been out out of work for six months. The $10 that Louis, our oldest, earns as a grocery boy is not enough. The kids were hungry, and I just had to have the milk."

Bail was fixed at $50, and when no one came forward to go on her bond, Mrs. Seidelman was locked up.

GERMANY SEEKS TOURIST TRADE

Government Reducing Wine and Room Tax—Night Life Has Faded.

BERLIN, Aug. 19. — (Special Cable.)—Berlin hotel keepers won their first battle Tuesday in the campaign to recover the tourist business which has been almost extinct since the gold mark regime with its excessive prices began, when the Finance committee of the Reichstag consented to reduce the wine tax and the tax on hotel rooms.

The move was hailed with delight in the night life district which has been as dead as the proverbial door nail more than a year, with champagne selling at $15 a bottle and carrying a 45 per cent. tax, and still wines a tax of 23 per cent.

The champagne tax has been cut more than 20 per cent. and the room tax ten per cent. The hotel men, continuing their campaign, demand the abolishment of the municipal tourist bureau, which they claim cost Berlin treasury 45,000 marks in the past year.

The bureau was established to give visitors authentic information concerning theatres, cafes, hotels and safe dancing places, but it was recently discovered that information is only given by mail and that the visitors of two and three days only receive the requested information upon their departure. Theatre folk are joining the hotel keepers against the official red tape.

Toronto Recorded Heavy Earthquake This Morning

TORONTO, Aug. 19.—(Canadian Press).—A heavy earthquake was recorded on the seizmograph of Toronto Observatory this morning. The first wave was recorded at 7.18.20 standard time, and a secondary wave was registered at 7.29.16. Vibrations were continuing at 8.56 when the record was taken to be developed. The distance from Toronto to the epicentre is estimated at 4.706 miles, the disturbance being possibly in a south-easterly direction.

BRITISH WAR RISK AS PRICE OF PEACE

Required to Guarantee Frontiers For Peace in Europe.

WILLIAMSTOWN, Mass., Aug. 19 (Canadian Press).—The Versailles Treaty assures the Dominions of the British Empire of their separate status, declared Lionel Curtis, of Oxford University, at the Institute of Politics yesterday. He next bespoke closer relations between the Dominions and Great Britain and he predicted a time when Great Britain would exchange envoys with every Dominion capital.

Mr. Curtis, discussing the question of the security pact, declared that "statemen are coming to the conclusion that in order to create a real state of peace in Europe and the rest of the world, it is necessary for Great Britain to do what she dislikes doing, giving guarantees to various powers with regard to their frontiers which in unforeseen circumstances might involve us in war."

WEATHER

Tuesday's highest temperature was again 90 degrees in the shade. The air was more moist than the preceding day, making the heat more oppressive. ENNISMORE KINDLES OLD MEMORIES ETC.

nismore were still residents of Ireland. Lords Bathurst and Ennismore, who were officials in the Emerald Isl were ambitious to establish colonies in Canada, but the people were slow in accepting the chance to begin life over again in a new world. Only a few did leave for Canada at that time, and these settled near Prescott. The glowing accounts of the new land which the settlers sent back home had their effect. When Lord Ennismore again called for colonials, there were over 50,000 applicants. Out of this number 2,024 were selected, nine vessels carried them across the sea in 1825 and one of this number the new township was settled.

100 Years of History.

One hundred years of pioneer history in Canada, is a story of hardship and danger, of undaunted courage, and of achivement. There is probably no community in Ontario where conditions are the same as they are in Ennismore, where one church parish embraces an entire township. The history of the one is identical with that of the other. The centenary of Ennismore is really the hundredth anniversary of St. Martin's parish. In this township as in all pioneer communities in Ontario, the church ante-dates the school. The religious service was held in the home before the children were taught their letters. No one died without spiritual consolation, none were buried except in consecrated ground. The imposing church edifice at Ennismore, its schools, public and continuation, the Parish Hall are the evolution of the log building in which the pioneers first worshipped and are standing monuments of the progress that has been made by a people who found a wilderness and converted it into a garden.

Two Distinguished Divines.

A rural parish that has graduated so many clergymen as St. Martin's has done, must certainly have given careful thought to the spiritual routine of its people. One of these divines attained th position of Archbishop of Toronto after having served his church as Bishop of the Diocese of London. Bishop Scollard of North Bay was born and raised in Ennismore, where so many members of that family still reside, and received first education in the township. Father Galvin of Downeyville, and Costello of Peterboro were Ennismore boys. Another graduate of the parish who has achieved distinction in the academic world is John F. Sullivan, who became inspector of separate schools in Toronto. The father of Bishop O'Brien of Peterboro, was a native of the township.

What Moral Suasion Did.

The first religious services in Ennismore were conducted by priests stationed in the Downeyville parish. The late Father Keilty, was Ennismore's first resident clergyman and he made a record for himself and his parish. When he came to Ennismore there were four hotels in what is now the village, all within a stone throw of each other. The buildings are still standing, one a small log structure that should be preserved as a landmark.

Whiskey in those days was cheap and the question of its alcoholic potency was not a matter of either scientific or political discussion. Lumbering in Ennsmore was at itshei ght and the barrooms were well patronized. That was before the Legislature had grappled with the liquor question by passing the local option law.

But Father Keilty did not require any legislative assistance to regulate the affairs of this parish. He tackled the situation alone and in a short tme had the last of the bar rooms closed. Due to his efforts, the township was the first in the County of Peterboro, perhaps in Ontario, to become dry.

A Historic Event

Rev. Father McAuley, formerly of Peterboro, became parish priest in Ennismore in 1917, succeeding Father McGuire. During the former's pastorate the Separate School, a building which is a fine example of modern architectural taste, was erected, a memorable ceremony marking the breaking of ground. Bishop Scollard held the plow which broke the sod; Father McAuley driving the team. In addition to this place of learning the township has a Continuation School. In short Ennismore township is a community complete in itself, where social activities are encouraged summer or winter and as a result the township has never met with any serious difficulty in inducing a sufficient number of young people to remain on the farm.

Reception to Visitors

The first entertainment of the reunion was held in the Parish Hall Tuesday evening when a reception was tendered the visitors who have already returned to their native place. A fine musical programme was given by local talent of which there is an abundance. Rev. Father McAuley presided. Addresses were given by some of the returned boys these including Pope brothers, Dr. Paul Maloney of Ottawa, Dr. M. G. Brick of Windsor, Michael Gannon of Ottawa and Ambrose Crough, a member of the Provincial Police force at Belleville.

As an example of the stamina of the older generation in Ennismore it may be related that Patrick Crough, at the age of 84, was busy and active in the harvest field Tuesday in spite of the intense heat.

C.P.R. OFFICIAL IS OPTIMISTIC

Bases Assertion on Government Crop Reports Issued.

BETTER THAN USUAL.

CALGARY, Alta., Aug. 19.—"The West will doubtless give a good account of itself," remarked Grant Hall, vice-president of the Canadian Pacific Railway, who was in Calgary for a few hours on Tuesday, in reply to a question as to how he viewed the crop situation. "Taking the latest Government's figures as a basis, there should be more than a good average crop harvested," he said.

Mr. Grant Hall was accompanied by W. H. McWilliams, of Winnipeg, who concurred with the former's opinion that there would be better than an average crop in Western Canada this year. He expressed confidence that the crop in Alberta would be quite satisfactory.

THE FIGHTING RANGER

By F. J. McCONNELL and GEORGE W. PYPER.

CHAPTER 28.
Out of the Past.

As Buck returned with his gang to the camp, and related to Taggart and Stella the details of the falling of the hut, an evil leer spread across Taggart's face. His hand fondled the grotesque topaz watch charm, and he said.

"So they're all dead. We've won the game."

He paused, thinking, planning his next moves, then snapped out orders.

"Rush word across the border to the boys to bring the steers back to the Marshall ranch—Then you, Buck, take some of the men and beat it back to the wrecked hut. Search the premises—everything—for that Yaqui map of Diablo. You may find it on Komi's body. And don't forget to search O'Rourke's body—you remember the piece of map he had, that you once got, but that he retrieved from you.—Hurry back to the Bar M with what you find—You, Stella, dash back to the Bar M now, and keep a sharp eye on everything. I'm going to Pico, to see Banker Dawson. By having Dawson get judgment on those bank notes against Marshall the Bar M can be seized legally. I'll join you at the ranch later. Old, Marshall is helpless, in his cell, and soon will swing. We'll have it all sewed up from every angle."

They separated, departing on their respective missions.

* * *

After a laborious climb back up the mountain, Mary, Terence and Bud found their horses where they had been abandoned on the trail beside the spot where the Indian hut had stood.

As they mounted, Terence said.

"Mary, we now have both halves of the map. If we can find that topaz we can locate the treasure, and your troubles will be ended—the ranch saved. But how to find the topaz?—"

"Do you remember Komi's last words?" said Mary. "Just before he died he said, ask my father, he knows who—and then death cut him off."

"Right," exclaimed Terence. "Come we'll ride to Pico at once and see your father."

They went direct to the jail at Pico and gained admittance to old Marshall's cell. They found him, hopeless and grieving, awaiting the end. After Mary had cheered him a bit, Terence spoke:

"We have a matter of extreme importance, Mr. Marshall. Your ranch everything, depends upon it."

He showed Marshall the two fragments of the map, and recounted the details of Komi's death. Marshall started at sight of the map— he knew what it was.

"This fragment was left me by my father," Terence went on. "The othe was given to Mary for you by Komi who said, 'The secret is in the topaz—John Marshall knows who—'but died before he could finish."

Marshall pondered deeply a moment, and said.

"Yes, yes—I remember now. Your father, O'Rourke, could read the signs. He figured out the location of the treasure—but his partner killed him to gain possession of a weirdly-cut topaz before he reached the spot. And the one and only man who can now tell you the secret of the topaz, and the name of your father's slayer, is Buck McLeod, the outlaw, the leader of that gang of cattle rustlers who have been preying upon us."

* * *

"Well, dear, we're a little bit warmer," said Terence as he and Mary left the cell and rejoined Bud, who was waiting outside with the horses. "But we must get the secret of the topaz—I must run down this Buck."

"Let's go back to the ranch, and lay our plans there, and have a little rest," suggested Mary. "I'm worn out."

"I should think you would be, dear girl, after this day."

They mounted and started for the Bar M.

CHAPTER 29.
The Wolf Unmasked.

The first to arrive back at the Bar M Ranch was Stella Montrose. Wearied after the strenuous day, she climbed the stairs of the ranch house, threw herself on a bed, and was soon fast asleep.

Mary, Terence and Bud arrived a short time later. They laid the two sections of the old map out on the living room table, and studied it.

"So near, and yet so far," said Mary. "It is useless without the secre of th topaz."

"Never mind, dear, we will be rewarded with success in the end," replied Terence. "I shall get that man Buck, and wrest from him the secret of the topaz if it's the last thing I do."

He looked at the map thoughtfully.

"The first thing we ought to do is make a copy of this, in be ter shape. Terence remarked, "It will be too inconvenient to be fumbling with two pieces."

Mary brought him a pencil and paper. He pieced the two fragments together, laid the paper over them, and traced the lines and figures of the map.

"There," he said, when he had finished, scanning his copy to see that it was correct in all its details. "That will be much handier to work with."

He folded the copy up, and placed it in his pocket, leaving the two old fragments lying on the table.

"Now the next thing to do is to figure out how to trail this man Buck, and get the secret of the topaz. Then all will be clear sailing."

He pondered, and said,

"Mary, you rest here tonight—but I am going to take the trail of Buck—this very night!"

He emphasized his intention by pounding the table with his fist, with such force that a vase, which they had placed on the edge of the table to clear the center for the map, toppled off and with a loud crash broke to bits on the floor.

* * *

Stella Montrose awoke from her slumber with a start at the sound of the crashing vase downstairs, and rubbed her eyes. Hearing voices in the parlor, she jumped up, surprised as she recognized the voices, and hurriedly descended the stairs.

Entering the living room, and carefully concealing her surprise and apprehension at finding Terence and Mary alive, she came forward, and said graciously,

"Oh, I'm so glad to see you back, safe and well. I was just having a little nap upstairs. I was unable to get your message to the sheriff—I was captured by ruffians when I dropped from the plane."

Terence was eyeing her suspiciously as she improvised her story.

"But I managed to escape," Stella went on, "and finally succeeded in finding my way back here. I was dog tired so I went right to—"

Terence jumped up, and interrupted her, shouting.

"Mary, that woman is deceiving you. She's helping your enemies."

Mary looked shocked. Stella, biting her lips, feigned indignation, and started to deny Terence's accusation, while Bud Hughes jumped to her defense, and exclaimed,

"Impossible — impossible, Terence. Why I know Stella well, we were pals together for several years in the flying circus."

Mary now also rose to Stella's defense.

"Terence O'Rourke," she said, "why must you always mistrust those who would help us most—like Miss Montrose here. And Mr. Taggart too—my father's old friend—I remember you have tried to cast aspersions on him several times too."

"Yes, and I still maintain that Taggart is crooked," cried Terence, now angry and excited. "I always suspected, and now I KNOW that Taggart is a crook—and your worst enemy!"

At that moment the door opened, and a sneering voice broke in,

"Oh, you do, do you?"

All turned to the door, and there stood Taggart himself. He had completed his business at Pico, arranging with Banker Dawson to take steps for judgment against the ranch on the notes due from Marshall, and had just arrived at the Bar M to keep the rendezvous he had made with Stella.

Taggart moved into the room, close to Stella, and with curled lips snarled,

"Terence O'Rourke, again, eh!"

Terence dropped the Idaho Bill disguise he had still been wearing, and glaring back at Taggart, cried,

"That's me."

Taggart waved his hand deprecatingly at Terence, and said with a hard, accusing expression on his face,

"Speaking of enemies—are you all blind? How much longer are you going to be deceived by this cur, Terence O'Rourke?"

"An old trick of yours, Taggart." He turned to Mary and Bud, and cried,

"Mary, I tell you I have absolute proof that this man Taggart is the cause of all your persecution—the wolf in sheep's clothing who—

He was interrupted by the door opening again, admitting Buck McLeod and his accomplices, returning from their vain search for the map at the remains of the hut, to meet Taggart here as he had ordered them.

Before they could recover their surprise at seeing the group before them, Taggart, now uncovered and desperate, cried to them; pointing at Mary, Terence and Bud.

"Quick—take care of them, bind them up and don't let them get away this time on your lives.—Stella, see, the map on the table—grab it—"

Stella seized the two old fragments. Mary dived toward her to circumvent her, but two of the rustlers caught her, and her struggles were futile. The rest of the gang had rushed in and overpowered Terence and Bud, who had fought lustily but unavailingly against overwhelming numbers.

They were tieing the three up in chairs.

"See that everything is fixed here—and fixed RIGHT," Taggart commanded Buck. "Stay here with your men and watch them till you hear further from me, and we'll take care of them later."

He strode out of the room, followed by Stella.

While Taggart gave these orders, Buck listened with a sullen disagreeable expression on his face. Taggart and Stella strode to the door. Buck sneaked out cautiously behind them, leaving his men to complete binding the prisoners.

Outside the door Buck listened to Taggart talking to Stella, as they went down the hallway. Taggart was saying:

"Did you notice how Buck acted? He knows too much. But I have a little plan, Stella, I have a little plan. We'll go to my office in Pico now and talk it over."

WEDNESDAY, AUGUST 19, 1925.

THE HARVESTERS.

Over three hundred men from Peterboro and the immediate district are speeding westward today for the purpose of participating in the harvesting of Western Canada's great wheat crop.

Every one of these men who is sincere about going to work on his arrival is of more value to this country than a score of motor tourists.

They are harvesting wealth for the whole country when they have a share in the garnering of the Western crop.

A couple of army divisions, 50,000 men from the East, are needed if the West is to harvest its grain, and if the whole Dominion is to reap the benefit of the flood of ready money that will follow.

Peterboro's quota of over 300 consisted for the most part of experienced men, who will be able to plunge into the work with a full knowledge of what is required of them and the strength and endurance to carry them through.

They will give a good account of themselves in the peaceful invasion of the Golden West by the army corps from the Eastern Provinces.

WHAT WILL BE THE END?

When one reads of lady tennis players and official linesmen being hissed by the "gallery" of fans and of an English cricket player being so "barracked" by the crowd that he declined to play the next game, there is natural wonder as to what sport is coming to in these modern days.

Apparently the tendency to abuse the opposition team and to attack the officials so common in baseball and taken for granted in that game is spreading to other sports.

We have grown used to it in baseball, but it is far from reassuring to see that the contagion has inflicted patrons of games that have hitherto been exempt from such things.

The desire to win at all costs, the inclination to view all umpires and referees as partial and dishonest, the habit of making visiting players the target for personal abuse, are features that could be well spared, even from baseball, and when they crop up with increasing frequency in forms of sport that were once noted for the gentlemanly and fair conduct of the patrons and the genuine sportsmanship of the participants, it is a matter that calls for genuine regret.

The old days may have lacked many of the modern conveniences, but at least they provided a higher standard of sportsmanship than the events of 1925 shows to be existent today.

FORETOLD IN THE STARS.

Even the "great astral complex," said to be adjusting in the planetary world, apparently foretells the end of the Peterboro Radial Railway, according to the prediction of a seer down in New Haven, Connecticut, who explains that he adduces his prophesies from the Pythagorean code.

Here is what he says is coming:

"The trolley car is doomed. Get your money out of all such stocks, for the luxurious auto bus will send trolley systems to the scrap-heap."

Many Peterboro citizens who never heard of the great astral complex and know less than nothing about the Pythagorean code are willing to wager that no matter how uncertain may be the other predictions made by the New England prophet, he is hitting right in the centre of the target when he predicts that the trolley car is doomed to extinction.

With the fate of Peterboro's street railway thus written in the stars, the desire of the Ontario Government, the present owners of the system, and the Hydro-electric Commission, which operates it for the Government, to have Peterboro take over the line as a municipal venture at a price of $150,000 seems destined to go unfulfilled.

Astronomically as well as economically, it is a case of thumbs down for the street railway.

ACTION IS NEEDED.

The biggest and most pressing task before the Ontario Government is to find a successor to Sir Adam Beck as Chairman of the Ontario Hydro-electric Commission, and it is a problem with which Mr. Ferguson and his colleagues must lose no time in grappling.

The temporary appointment of Mr. Gaby as a commissioner is merely a stop-gap necessitated by the situation caused by the passing of Sir Adam Beck, which left Hon. J. R. Cooke as the only member of the Commission.

The re-organization of the Executive Board of the Hydro cannot in the public interest be long delayed.

For many months it has been a two-man affair, instead of consisting of three members as provided by Provincial legislation.

The only surviving member, Mr. Cooke, has neither the training nor the business experience to let him be considered for a moment as a successor to the late Chairman.

At present he is the Commission, with Mr. Gaby acting as a member until permanent appointments can be made.

The Hydro-electric enterprise is too huge an undertaking to be left long in charge of a makeshift commission, and the appointment of two new members, one of whom will be Chairman, should be proceeded with as expeditiously as possible.

THE PRINCE'S TRIUMPH.

No one who knew South Africa ever doubted that the Prince of Wales would have a great and an impressive success, but every anticipation has been fulfilled and more than fulfilled. Of all the visits which the Prince has made to the States of the Empire none has been more signally triumphant than this. Enthusiasm has become a word too hackneyed to explain the temper with which he has been hailed at every point of his long progress. It has been a temper of real personal regard, almost of personal affection, strengthened and deepened by an admiration not less real for the unflagging zeal and thoroughness with which he has done his part as an honored and a cherished guest.

It has not been altogether an easy part. Not all the precautions taken could wholly free such rapid travel over so many miles and in such different conditions of living and of climate from fatigue even to a buoyant spirit and an abnormally energetic frame. The routine of official presentations and addresses must necessarily become monotonous, whatever skill is devoted to diversify and enliven them. The Prince, indeed, stated with characteristic candor at one point that he had derived more benefit and gained more knowledge from wayside meetings and informal conversations with the people than from set speeches and official programs. He has a natural love and aptitude for talking to all sorts and conditions of men and for getting them to talk freely and easily to him. In spite of platforms and addresses, he has managed to have and to enjoy an immense amount of this friendly and fruitful intercourse with the very varied company he met. He has shown once more that he knows instinctively how to adapt himself to his environment and has given yet another revelation of the simple courtesy that springs from genuine human interest in the personality and in the every-day lives and concerns of those about him. "Now that he is departing he carries with him in a more intimate and personal degree our love and respect," says Sir Charles Coghlan in a message which he telegraphs to us. "We like to see a man and cheer because we know a man when we see one," said the spokesman of the students of Stellenbosch, the very heart at one time of anti-British Nationalism. "He is the sort of man who makes himself liked; he is a sportsman and a man," was the opinion of Mr. Hertzog's colleague, General Kemp; and after the famous Parliamentary dinner in Cape Town, at which the Prince talked about the "British Commonwealth" and brought home to his Nationalist hearers that the King is as much and as immediately their King as he is our English King at home, and closed his speech with a few sentences in Afrikaans, the famous ex-Boer stalwart who was to escort him into Bloemfrontein, declared that his ideas and the ideas of his fellows upon Royalty had been completely changed. "All realize," said Mr. Conroy, "that they are people very like ourselves."

There is the secret of this astonishing personal triumph, which has been an event in the life of the South African peoples. Whether the Prince was conversing with spokesmen like General Smuts and General Hertzog, or entering with zest equal to their own into the spirit of the student welcomes, or chatting with ex-service men, or reviewing guards of honor, or receiving greetings from great gatherings of natives, or riding at the head of the farmers' commandos mostly composed of former enemies and of their sons, or shooting, or playing polo, or attending race meetings, or dancing indefatigably, or shaking hands until his hands were sore, or squatting with Boy Scouts round their camp fire, or watching parades of Girl Guides and school children—it is his unaffected simplicity, his affability in the right sense of the word, his sense of fun and his joy of life that have gone straight to all their hearts. It is not possible here to follow him from stage to stage in his long progress. It covered over 2,000 miles in the Cape Province alone, and when that Province was left the distances became still greater. Port Elizabeth, Grahamstown and East London were among the chief places visited in the Cape. At King Williamstown the Prince addressed some ten thousand Bantu natives and heard the fine singing of their women. This was one of many occasions when his gravity must have been sorely tired. One chieftain, we are told, complacently appeared in the shovel hat of a bishop and in military leggings. The number of the Basuto gathering at Maseru were many times greater, and there was pathos in the sight of the aged Jonathan Moshesh, tendering at over ninety years of age, and as "an old man who has not long to live," the gratitude of his people for the protection of the Crown and for the visit of the King's eldest son. Coming from his lips the sound advice which the Prince gave at these and other native gatherings can hardly have failed to make a deep impression. The Royal entry into the capital of the Free State, to which General Hertzog had travelled to receive his guest, was perhaps the most dramatic incident of all. The Prince's ride into the city at the head of 2,000 mounted Boers, his use of a smattering of Afrikaans as he conversed with their leader, Mr. Conroy, and with as many as possible of the men, and his review of the commando as later it passed at the gallop, meant a great deal to these men who come in from all parts of the Province and going home to tell their neighbors what they think of "one Prin." The goodwill of the ladies with whom he shook hands at Bloemfrontein may be of even greater permanence. There is no doubt that he won it.

The Prince had seen more than most South Africans themselves of the wonderful land that is their joint inheritance. "We are hoping," the Prime Minister of the Union signalled, while the Prince was still on his voyage from Nigeria, "that the welcome awaiting your Royal Highness will make the memories of your tour delightful both to you and to us." It would be a profound mistake to read too much into the events of these weeks; but it is absolutely true to say that rarely have good auspices been so happily fulfilled.—London Times.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

If there is no election this fall a whole lot of spade work is being wasted.

It is to be hoped that some of Peterboro's drivers will not feel constrained to emulate the speed that will be shown by the automobile races here tomorrow. Local motorists have broken enough records on the highways.

It takes a hot Sunday to revive the bathing question. But it may bob up again on a cold Monday in January.

Seven hundred bathers visited Inverlea Park on Tuesday. The facilities are not of the best, but the patronage indicates that many Peterboro people are glad of the opportunity to indulge in a cool dip.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

The Editor of The Examiner:

Sir.—In answer to "Inquirer," who states in "Voice of the People" that the Right Hon. Arthur Meighen has not secured a constituency, and when asked to stand for Portage la Prairie, he said he would leave it to the party there—Then he asks, Why not invite him to Peterboro. I guess he means to stand for this constituency.

Take our present representative, Mr. G. N. Gordon, M.P., and Right Hon. Arthur Meighen, and compare them, man for man, as regards character, principles, and go—or deliver the goods. I am afraid the Right Hon. Arthur Meighen who was defeated in his own riding, Portage le Prairie, at the last general election and lost his seat, would lose his head here in Peterboro (guilotined, they call it in France)—if opposed by our present member, Mr. G. N. Gordon, M.P.

Then, like the story of the two eggs—I guess Inquirer has heard that story—2 Bad.

Yours truly,
C. D.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Sir: Now, that the theological colleges are coming out boldly in the press and in books for the public, as well as in their instructions to their young ministers and teaching that what appears "incredible" to them need no longer be preached or believed in, and now that fully one-half of the Bible has come under their ban, leaving us with what we fondly and faithfully believed is the Word of God Himself, torn in tatters, we can begin to realize what this ministry is doing for us. It is doing exactly the work of all the old sceptics whom formerly it poured its scalding ridicule upon. How did this change in the views of our ministers come about, you will ask? The answer is simple. They set their own reason up against revelation. They say: "We know what religion ought to be and what God ought to have said." Hence with an inconceivable pride and boldness they say no longer that God says this and God says that but what they themselves do. We are to take as our faith in the superlative inconceivable mystery of the universe the ipse dixiit of these poor little things in our pulpits. Evolution is not in the same class with this change which our ministers would bring about. It is pitiful to see the wriggling and twisting of many of the old faithful like fish suddenly deprived of water, in their efforts to pretend that it must surely be all right or our ministers would not say it. Well, when the people begin to look into this matter they will be surprised for never in the whole history of the world has there been such an assault in high places upon religious faith. Nothing but disaster can come of it.

Which side are you on? Do you stand for a revelation which is conveyed to you and which you confirm by prayer with God himself and from which you take spiritual consolation, without which life is already hell or are you too believers in yourselves and in what you know in all things here and hereafter?

J. H. BURNHAM

To the Editor of The Examiner.

Sir.—No doubt your readers have noticed, as I have done, that the Bishop of Durham, Eng., has joined the outcry against the undress of women. The good bishop asks: "Why all this bareness and briefness?" and leaves the very obvious and terrible answer to be supplied. No sooner do we try to lay the grim ghost of whiskey than we have another and much more devastating one to face. We have been fed on the elevating character of woman, lovely woman,—how, if she only got the franchise and had a chance to exercise her full influence in the world, she would reform the world by her gracious and beautiful example. And now, after all that has come to pass she is, without one word of remonstrance from her sex, acting in a vain and wicked manner and threatening the peace and good morals of the world, so much so indeed that churches of which women used to be the mainstay are now crying out against her entire lack of delicacy and modesty and threatening her with excommunication.

The dream is o'er, the sham is over; the humbug about woman and her superior nature is exposed by herself. If she can't reform herself, and there is not one woman a hopeful exception, I am afraid, men will have to pass laws making it illegal for women to appear in the streets or in public.

Just think of the shame of it. To be barred from churches and to be the object of the scorn of the pulpit. Another idol has fallen, but it is satisfactory to know that the old talk about the elevating influence of woman will no more be heard in the land.

R.M.L.

To the Editor of The Examiner:

Sir.—The Union Theological Seminary is the largest institution for the turning out of Protestant ministers in the United States. The new book issued by it is entirely revolutionary in its scope and meaning. It declares that the old Protestant idea of The Bible being the real Word of God is no longer tenable. Much of it, such as the story of the Creation, is folklore. This modernistic view of the Bible has been held by many Protestant ministers of great prominence for some time, but it has remained for the U. T. Seminary to come right out and demand that people be allowed to think what they like. Now this book is not only an attack on the Bible, it is an attack on prayer. If prayer is the genuine thing it has been pretended, how is it that Protestants have not found out through prayer what God means? It is surely impossible to suppose that God let suppliants who knelt before Him in hope, faith and yearning, rise up with a false impression or none at all. Therefore the idea of answer to prayer must be given up. Has Protestantism been a real religion under the protection of God, and yet all this time on the wrong track. Is it to be supposed that a simple and credulous people will follow a ministry which made such terrific mistakes in the past and receive with open mouths, like poor simple beings, orders for the future what to believe and what to do from such a ministry as that?

Big things, like ocean liners, move slowly at first, but when they get under weigh, look out for them. We are weak, simple poor mortals and to leave us without a Bible and without prayer is a terrible thing that somebody will have to pay for. "Be not like dumb-driven cattle," says the poet. God will not desert us.

ORIGO.

Peterborough, Ont., August 15, 1925
The Editor, The Examiner.

Dear Sir: I was highly amused when reading the article, "'Plus Four' Clad Men on Increase," which appeared in yesterday's issue of your valued paper, not because I do not wear "plus fours" but because it is quite evident someone has been severely "pulling the leg" of your correspondent.

The suggested derivation of the term "fours" is most illuminating and original to say the least, but surely your correspondent knows better than this?

He says further that the "plus" has never yet been explained.

For your correspondent's benefit I would say that many years ago when golfing and cycling knickers became the vogue—"Rice Bags," as they were termed in the vernacular of "the man in the street"—were worn knee length or fastened below the knee with a wide band by means of several buttons. The more "rakish" however much preferred a narrow band or strap to which was attached a cunning little buckle.

The war came and went, leaving behind it those many impressions, some effeminate and many masculine. The "beauty tilt" was one, but if my memory serves me correct, it was the subalterns of the regiments in the Brigade of Guards who succeeded without doubt unwittingly—in almost perpetuating their memory by means of "plus fours."

These officers, unlike officers of other units, wear for "marching order" trousers of unusual leg width and puttees. A considerable length of the trousers being allowed to hang or bag below the knee over the puttees. This is strictly regimental but while it may not look as dapper as a pair of buff colored "Beaford cords," they are more comfortable when on foot.

Now, the sartorial craftsmen of Saville Row, London, reckon to create about everything that a well-dressed gentleman should wear, and they once again demonstrated the fact that they are not quite as slow as some believe them to be, by commercializing those "pants," which were really the pride of "the guards." Furthermore, they were not long in naming them for were not these new pants four inches longer than the previous style of knickerbockers, hence—"plus fours."

Nevertheless, they did not realise that the modern "sheiks" of even the remotest parts of the Empire would almost desecrate these by wearing them when dancing as they were intended solely for use when golfing or hiking.

So much for "plus fours," but whilst on the subject please permit me to ask who was the party also referred to in your article as being desirous of advertising canned salmon and found it necessary to change his line to read "tinned fish"? Also, in what benighted part of the country did this actually happen? Canned salmon is canned salmon, even in the drowsiest of English hamlets, just as a spade is a spade, but surely our prohibitionist friends have overlooked this or does the O.T.A. permit its sale? The same also applies to pickled cucumber.

Whatever the state of these articles may be, their names, in the opinions of these people, must have a deterring effect. Yours very truly,

—D. G. Melton.

TORONTO CATTLE

TORONTO, Aug. 19.—Trade at the cattle market yesterday opened very slow with 1,500 head of common to plain quality cattle left over from Monday. Practically no butchers were sold up until 11 o'clock. Stockers were selling fairly readily. Decent western heifers were making around $4.50 and some light steers from $4,25 to $5.00.

The calf market is steady with most calves making $9 to $11; grass calves $4.50 to $5.

The hog market was steady at Monday's advance with the thick smooths bringing $14 off cars plus $2.66 per head premium.

The lamb market opened half a dollar lower with early sales of good lambs at $13.50 and bucks at $11.50. Sheep were steady at $6.50 to $7.25 for good light stuff.

CHICAGO CATTLE

CHICAGO, Aug. 19 (Canadian Press).—Cattle: Receipts, 10,000; general fat steer trade a jumble of unevenness, weak to unevenly lower; very slow at decline; in-between grades kind of value to sell at 11.00 to 13.50, showing most decline; top, 15.25 for yearlings and choice medium weight; general steer trade 50 cents to 1.00 under late last week; some heavies 2.00 under week ago; stockers and feeders firm; active; meaty feeders lower in sympathy with fat market.

Hogs—Receipts, 21,000; opened 25 to 35 cents lower than Monday's average; closed mostly 50 cents off; bulk better grades, 140 to 210 lb. weight, 13.10 to 13.45; few select, 130 to 140 lb. averages early topped at 13.60; majority desirable, 225 to 300 lb. butchers, 12.75 to 13.10; bulk packing sows, 11.25 to 11.75; majority strong weight slaughter pigs, 13.00 to 13.40; shippers, 6,000; estimated holdover 14,000.

MONTREAL PRODUCE

MONTREAL, Aug. 19 (Canadian Press).—The enquiry from English importers for wheat, oats and barley continued good, but owing to the small supplies available and the somewhat scarcity of ocean grain room for prompt shipment, the volume of business transacted was small. A few odd loads of oats were sold to London. The prospects are that as soon as the new crop commences to move the trade will become more active.

The demand for oats in the local market showed some improvement and sales of several loads of No. 1 feed for shipment from Fort William were made at 7 3-4 cents per bushel over the Winnipeg October option and for spot supplies 8 1-4 cents per bushel over the same option was paid. There was also a little business done in car lots with local and country buyers and prices were steady. New crop local oats were offered at 52 to 53 cents per bushel.

The local market for spring wheat grades of flour was featureless, business being quiet and the tone steady. A feature of the trade in winter wheat flour was the improved demand from outside sources, and sales of several fair sized lots of old and new crop wheat grades were made.

Prices for all grades of millfeed were well maintained under a good steady demand. The demand for standard grades of rolled oats was limited, but the tone was steady.

While the volume of business in the egg market was small, prices were firm. The export trade in butter continued active and prices were unchanged. Cheese prices were reduced 1-8 cent per lb., owing to the small foreign demand.

CURB CHEESE MARKET

MONTREAL, Aug. 19 (Canadian Press).—On the local curb market yesterday there were 2,000 packages creamery butter and 2,500 boxes of cheese offered. The demand was ample to absorb all the offerings and sales of No. 1 pasteurized creamery butter were made at 39c per lb; No. 1 creamery at 38c per lb., and No. 2 creamery at 37 1-4c per lb., while the cheese sold at 20 3-4c per lb., delivered here.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, Aug. 19 (Canadian Press). — Professional activities, rather than the dictum of any economical factors, dictated the price movement of wheat during the most part of yesterday's session, due to the continued lack of outside interest. Closing quotations for wheat were 5-8 to 2 7-8 cents net lower; September $1.57 1-2 to $1.57 5-8, and December $1.57 1-2 to $1.75 3-8; with corn ranging from 38 to 5-8 cent up; oats at a shade to 2 3-8 cents gain, and provisions 15 to 47 cents lower.
